Canadian Hour Planned For June 4

Canadian composers and typical Canadian airs will be featured on the "Contented Hour" next Monday evening, June 4, when the Carnation Company dedicates its popular international NBC network program to Canadian listeners.

As an overture, Morgan L. Eastman, conductor of the orchestra, has chosen Sir Edward Elgar's triumphant "Pomp and Circumstance." This number is particularly fitting for a program given on the day following the birthday of His Majesty King George V. It will be followed by the Carnation quartet in Lieut. Gitz Rice's immortal "Dear Old Pal of Mine." The quartet will also be heard in a special arrangement of "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise," by Ernest Seitz. A special quartet selection will be "Alouette." As a finale, the orchestra and quartet again combine in a Canadian March Medley introducing "Maple Leaf Forever," and "Vive la Canadienne."

GASOLINE DRUM EXPLODES INJURING BOY

MADMAN SITS HAND ON SWITCH AWAITING DEATH

Contact Will Ignite 48 Sticks of Dynamite, Gallon Nitro-glycerine.

ALAMEDA, Calif, May 31, (AP). Highly nervous and suffering from hunger and lack of sleep, Frank Bennett to-day sat in his automobile, believed to contain dynamite and nitroglycerine, as police sought to talk him out of his mad scheme to blow himself to bits

The officers feared Bennett, weary from a sleepless night, would relax his grip on a detonation switch, believed to be wired to 48 sticks of dynamite and a gallon of nitro-glycerine.

"This is the best means of suicide," Bennett told Inspector Sturzinger and Policeman George Risso, as they talked with him as he sat in his automobile on marshlands some distance from buildings.

Sticks to Plan

Bennett, wide awake after sitting in the machine all night without food or water, received the officers graciously. But refused to be talked out of his scheme.

"I have been planning suicide for three years" they quoted the man as saying. "I considered several means and some time ago got a gun to shoot myself but I was arrested for carrying it and placed on probation.

"I was laid off as a mechanic three years ago and have been sick and in the hospital several times."

The officers urged the man to consider his invalid wife and three children. They said he wept at the mention of his family.

But he insisted he would carry out his plan, saying when he fell asleep his hand would release the switch and blow him to "Kingdom come", despite the officers' promise they would obtain work for him.

40 ARE KILLED MEMORIAL DAY

7 DIE IN PLANES.

NEW YORK, May 31. — (CP) — More than 40 deaths occurred in the celebration of Memorial Day by United States citizens yesterday a survey revealed today.

1934 PIONEERS.

PIONEERS HOME, Ark., May 31 (C.P.). — Out of the east again comes the spirit of the pioneers.

Mr. and Mrs. U. R. Calkins have arrived here from Cortland, N.Y., to settle on an Ozark Mountain farm. They made the 1,300-mile journey in a covered wagon of ancient vintage with a milk goat, cats and a dog. They left New York State March 26.

Tremendous Throng Pays Homage to Archbishop

Leaders of the religious world in Canada and a crowd of more than 10,000 persons paid homage to a beloved character in Toronto when Archbishop Neil McNeil was carried to his last resting place yesterday. The above photo shows many of the chief mourners gathered about the grave of the man who was archbishop of Toronto, but known to countless thousands all over the Dominion. More than four hours before the funeral ceremony, which was attended by notables and people from every walk of life, St. Michael's cathedral was crowded to capacity and streets were lined for blocks.

UNITED STATES FLEET PARADES FOR ROOSEVELT

COLUMN 12 MILES LONG.

Hundreds of Thousands Watch Stirring Sight—Naval Planes Perform.

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—The United States fleet, a gaunt gray armada of 96 ships and 40,000 men, paraded proudly before President Roosevelt to-day in one of the greatest pageants of United States naval history.

Sailing in from southern waters, the fleet kept the rendezvous with its Commander-in-Chief at Sea, two miles off Ambrose Lightship, near the harbor entrance.

It was a three-fold spectacle—ships in review, the planes in an aerial demonstration, and the final procession of the vessels to berths about Manhattan.

The early morning fog was dispelled by a warm mid-day sun and the column of ships, 12 miles long, came up over the horizon majestically on the sparkling sea.

With battle flags flying and guns thundering the Presidential salute, the vessels passed within 500 yards of the anchored reviewing ship, the heavy cruiser Indianapolis on which stood President Roosevelt.

Pennsylvania Leads

The United States fleet flagship, the U.S.S. Pennsylvania, under the four star blue flag of Admiral D. F. Sellers, led the line of march.

For nearly an hour the ships passed, with all men in full dress uniform and the rails manned.

As the last ship in line passed the President, the aircraft carriers released their planes, a swarm blackening the sky for half an hour, storming about in formations, laying smoke screens, flying and zooming in horizontal and dive bombings.

Thousands of spectators saw the review at sea from steamers and private vessels and planes, but literally millions lined the New York and New Jersey shores to watch the procession of ships into the harbor and to cheer:

"The fleet's in!"

2 Killed, 6 Wounded Texas Political Meet

RIO GRANDE CITY, Texas, May 31 (C.P.). — Flying bullets and flashing knives that cost two lives and caused the wounding of six persons at a political rally yesterday, brought Texas Rangers here hurriedly to-day.

The two killed were Davil Gomez and Pablo Solis, American citizens.

A deputy-sheriff, Ivario Elizondo was stabbed in the back. Five other men were wounded by stray bullets. No arrests had been made early to-day.

40-Pound Catfish

TRUSTEES WILL ABANDON MANY NATIONAL LINES

Canadian National Lines of Unproductive Nature Will Be Abandoned.

RESIDENTS MAY APPEAL.

OTTAWA, May 31—(CP)—The trustees of the Canadian National Railways contemplate abandonments of many lines of an unproductive nature, C. P. Fullerton, chairman of the Board, told the House of Commons Railway Committee here today.

He did not specify which lines it was proposed to abandon, but said the Trustees would shortly make application to the Board of Railway Commissioners for authority to proceed with that policy. Line abandonments would take place only where there was duplication of services with the Canadian Pacific Railway, Mr. Fullerton said. Residents in the areas affected would be given prior notice of the intention of the Trustees and they would be given opportunity to appear before the Board of Railway Commissioners in order to present their own case.

Business Increase

Mr. Fullerton told the committee that considerable economies had already been effected, and this year there had been an increase of 22 percent in the gross business of the C.N.R. In the first three months he

Spark From Ignition Burns Car, Gas Tanks

TORONTO, May 31 (C.P.). — A spark from the ignition in a motor caused an explosion in Earlhomes' Service Station on Davenport Road that wrecked two large gas tanks and caused $1,000 damage.

Harry Sedgewick, manager of a local radio station, and John Cairns, service station attendant, narrowly escaped death when the gasoline tank, at which the former had parked his car, exploded.

Cairns had just filled the tank in Sedgewick's car and was putting the hose back on the hook when the tank exploded, hurling fragments high into the air. At the same time Sedgewick, who had gone into the office, returned and was about to step into his car when the gasoline burst into flames. The car and two gasoline tanks were completely destroyed. The flames it is reported, shot several feet into the air.

PRISON TROUBLE RUMORS UNABLE TO BE VERIFIED

Warden Megloughlin Refuses All Comment on Penitentiary Affairs.

DISCIPLINE EASING?

Rumor Convicts Play Ball Against Orders—Shake-up Hinted.

KINGSTON, Ont., May 31.—(CP)—Verification of rumors regarding trouble at the Kingston penitentiary was impossible today because of the insistence of Warden W. B. Megloughlin to not comment in any way on penitentiary matters, but there is little question but that things are not all serene inside the big walls of the institution.

One official stated this morning that lack of discipline among convicts was noticeable. He cited one incident recently when a convict took a lighted cigarette from the warden's hand and calmly smoked it, and that nothing was done to the insubordimate convict.

At another time, he said, convicts deliberately started to play ball against the orders of officials.

Plot Against Guard

Trouble in one of the shops recently threatened to become serious, it was learned when a couple of convicts threatened to throw their guard over the railing in the shop dome, a distance of some 20 feet to the stone floor. The plot, if plot it was, was frustrated when another convict 'tipped off' the guard, who offered to take on the shop, one by one.

While no statement was forthcoming from any source official, it was reported that a shake-up in the administration of the institution is imminent.

One highofficial today said that he did not believe the late convict Sam Behan had been flogged a few days before his death and pointed out that if Behan had been beaten, there would have been marks on his body.

According to Dr. Hay, pathologist, there was not a sign of a recent injury on Behan's body, which was sent to Brooklyn, N.Y. and which doubtless was subjected to close examination there.

Report Not Received

OTTAWA, May 31 (CP)—The report of W. H. Craig, Inspector of the Justice Department, concerning the death of Sam Behan, convict, who died suddenly in Kingston Penitentiary on Saturday, has not yet been received, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice stated to-day. The Minister was not in a position to comment until he had the report.

Miss Agnes Macphail (U.F.O., Grey, S.E.), will probably question the Minister on Behan's death when the penitentiary estimates are before the House, it was learned. The estimates are not expected to be up to-day.

HELD IN JAIL

COBOURG, Ont., May 31 (CP)—Laurie Raymond and Jean Lamie, Montreal, were arrested in Brighton to-day by Night constable J. A. Gagne, when their suspicious behavious attracted his attention. Appearing in police court on vagrancy charges they were remanded until June 7th.

Seven-Toed Cats

STONEY CREEK — A new strain of cats has been developed on the farmof David McLeod, near here. Five kittens, with seven toes each on the fore paws were littered by Mr. McLeod's cat, which in turn has seven toes also. Indications also pointed to this abnormality persisting throughout one generation after another and thus a new breed of seven cats would be possible, it was said.

SMALL PACKERS BEING FORCED OUT OF BUSINESS

Selling Below Cost to Force Small Man Out, Committee is Told.

MANIPULATE HOG PRICES.

Industry is "in Hands of Mad Men," Ellis Moyer Declares.

OTTAWA, May 31. (CP).—Cut-throat competition from big packing plants, selling below cost, has driven his 30-year-old pork packing plants, selling below cost, has mentary buying committee was told tod-ay by Ellis Moyer of St. Catharines, Ont., secretary-treasurer of the Moyer Brothers Limited.

"It looks that way" said the independent packer when Norman Sommerville, committee counsel asked if he believed there was a concerted move to put him out of business in the Niagara peninsula. He said he knew of many instances of the large packers, with Canada Packes leading the way, taking away his customers by selling below cost.

"In Hands of Mad Men"

The packing industry, said Mr. Moyer, seemed to be "in the hands of mad men" who were willing to take orders, irrespective of costs. This was driving small packers out of business. About three years ago his plant killed 325,000 hogs a week but now it was down to 75,000.

The St. Catharines' packer read a letter to the committee which he wrote to the Federal Agricultural Minister in April. The letter said cut-throat competition from large packing plants and chain stores had placed the Moyer firm in a worse position than it was 30 years ago when it was formed "Until now it is all but gone. Now we are back where we started as regards volume and worse off because the costs of production are about double what they were then."

In was his opinion, Mr. Moyer

HAPSBURG DUKE PARADES VIENNA

Austrians Cheer as Representative of Old Royalty Returns From Exile.

PREMIER IN PROCESSION.

BY WADE WERNER
Associated Press Foreign Staff

VIENNA, May 31—(AP)—A member of the Imperial Hapsburg family paraded the stree . of Vienna today, and Vienna, ancient seat of Hapsburg power, applauded enthusiastically.

The representative of the old royalty was Archduke Eugene, who a week ago returned to Austria from a long exile in Switzerland.

Attired in the ceremonial robes of a grandmaster of the order of German knights, the archduke participated in the annual Corpus Christie procession. More than 100,000 persons lined the curbs to catch a glimpse of him, and he was received joyfully. Many citizens of Vienna recall him as one of the most popular of the Hapsburg family.

The new status of the Hapsburgs in Austria was emphasized by the series of official appearance made by the archduke.

Chancellor Dollfuss, President Miklas and Emil Fey, Minister of Public Security, visited the headquarters of the German knights about which Archduke Eugene's activities are centering.

Tomorrow the order of the Knights of Marie Teresa—of which Fey is a member—will pay homage to the Archduke.

JAMES MOORE IS SERIOUSLY HURT ON SMITH FARM

SKULL IS FRACTURED.

Flying End of Drum Struck Youth Who Was Standing Nearby.

James Moore, sixteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Moore of the Fourth Concession of Smith Township, was critically injured by the bursting of a gasoline drum at his home this morning.

A flying end of the drum, which was being cleaned out by fire, struck him on the forehead, crushing in the frontal bone, and causing a compound fracture of the skull.

Seriously Injured.

"The boy is very seriously injured," Dr J. A. Morgan informed The Examiner this afternoon, "and all we can do now is await developments for the next few days."

Dr. Morgan, assisted by Dr E. A Hammond and Dr. N. D Buchanan performed an immediate operation on the boy to relieve the fracture after young Moore had been rushed to Nicholls Hospital.

The drum had been emptied of its gasoline content so long ago it was learned at noon to-day, that in cleaning it out for other purposes it was thought safe to use fire. The opinion was that if any gasoline remained in the big can after such a lapse of time it would be so small a quantity that it could be burned without any danger. James Moore was standing nearby in the yard, near the barn, when without a note of warning the drum exploded, one end of it striking him on the forehead.

The C. E. Moore family is one of the best known in Peterborough County and their many friends in the city as well as the townships will be anxious for the recovery of the younger son. The father with his two boys, Donald and Jim, were carrying on their farm under the name of Charles E. Moore & Sons and both boys have been taking a keen interest in all phases of farm work.

DEFICIT FOR U.S. OF 4 BILLIONS

Treasury Next Month Winds Up Year of Peacetime's Greatest Spending.

BOND ISSUE LIKELY.

WASHINGTON, May 31 (A.P.).—A month from to-day the United States treasury ends a year of peacetime's greatest spending—but with a deficit probably little more than half the $7,309,068,211 President Roosevelt estimated.

The rate of June emergency spending, probably to be accelerated, will tell the final story of the first full 12-month fiscal period of the Roosevelt administration.

From the present outlook, however, when the 1935 fiscal year begins July 1, the year just passed will show a deficit around the $4,000,000,000 level. Elimination of the $488,000,000 sinking fund item would bring this down to around half the President's budget figure.

June spending would have to jump tremendously to push the year-end deficit any higher, for during the month nearly $200,000,000 will be paid in as second quarter installments on 1933 incomes.

Just where the public debt goes will depend on June financing operations. There is a maturity of $174,905,500 on June 15 and another of $345,292,600 on August 1.

Treasury financing plans are closely guarded. But in some quarters the expectations was for a sizeable bond issue in line with the recent treasury trend toward long-term borrowing.

N. B. Station is Wiped Out and Dozens of Farm Homes Threatened.

GOV'T SENDS AID.

Situation Eases Throughout Ontario and Quebec Provinces.

(By Canadian Press.)

A train diverted because of severe fires along the right-of-way in Eastern Quebec, reported destruction of a station, roundhouse, and other buildings at Holliday, Que and renewed fight against the fires blazing in a dozen places in New Brunswick and two in Nova Scotia were developments to-day in the spring scourge of forest destruction by flames.

From Quebec to the Atlantic Ocean forest rangers, timber limit owners, settlers and villages cast anxious eyes to the sky hoping for rain to bring relief from choking billows of smoke rolling over the woods and save their property.

The Trans-continental line of the Canadian National Railways between Quebec City and New Brunswick was reported as impassable due to fires in Kamouraska and L'Islet counties, and a train this morning was sent around the district via the Intercolonial line through Riviere du Loup and Campbellton, N.B

EVERY PROMISE OF LANCASTER'S BEEN FULFILLED

Conservative Candidate Opens Campaign With Meetings at Keene and Warsaw.

KENNEDY SPEAKS.

KEENE, May 31 (By Staff Reporter)—Firing the opening shot in his campaign for re-election, T. P. Lancaster, Conservative candidate for the Peterborough riding, addressed meetings last night at Keene and Warsaw and gave a comprehensive review of his work in the interests of the county during his five years as member in the Provincial Legislature.

He replied to charges made by W. A. Anderson, Liberal candidate in the last election, and declared that his former opponent must have been "doing the Rip Van Winkle act during the past four years and has just awakened up to find out just what progress has been made in the district around him." He maintained that he had fulfilled all promises made at the last election and in road construction had bettered his original program.

Mr. Lancaster maintained that the work he had secured for unemployed men in the district on road construction require no defence. "The men who get these jobs do not think going to work is an insult as Mr. Dewart seems to think," he stated, expressing his conviction that the unemployed welcomed the opportunity to go to work and so be removed from the demoralizing effects of direct relief. He stressed the benefits to the county that will result directly from the better transportation facilities.

Marketing Methods

Hon. Colonel Thomas L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, also addressed the meetings, explaining the methods adopted by the Henry Government to assist the farmer by opening new markets for his products. He insisted that the Ontario farmers position has improved as direct consequence of the work of the Ontario Marketing Board and if the administration is returned and the work thus be left unmolested a further great upswing will be experienced as the foundation work has been accomplished already.

Close attention was given the speakers at both meetings and the

THREE CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH

Mother Badly Scorched in Rescue Efforts as Lad Pours Oil in Stove.

TWO VICTIMS ASLEEP.

Netherill, Sask., May 31 (CP) — Three children were burned to death and their mother was gravely injured when fire which was started from at attempt to light a kitchen fire with coal oil destroyed a home here to-day.

The victims were the three children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Deakin: Gordon, aged 11; Lorne, 8; and Gladys, 7.

Mrs. Deakin has been taken to the hospital at Eston and hopes for her recovery are held. She was badly burned about the head and back in fruitless efforts to save Gordon and put out the fire.

Florence, aged 16, escaped injury although she shared in the rescue attempts; Jack, aged 14, was away after the cows, and Mr. Deakin was at his farm in the district when the tragedy occurred.

Mrs. Deakin and Florence were busy in the kitchen when Gordon poured coal oil into the stove. The oil ignited and the boy was enveloped in a burst of flame. His mother ran for blankets in which to wrap him, but the kitchen was ablaze when she returned and she finally had to abandon the boy to his fate. The other two children perished in their bedroom adjoining the kitchen.

Few of the villagers were up, and it was some minutes before neighbors came to help. At that time the entire house was blazing and could not be approached. Bodies have not yet been recovered.

PROTEST 25 P. C. PRODUCTION CUT BY N. R. A. CODES

Roosevelt Expected to Step Into Breach to Avert Serious Tie-up.

SET NEXT MONDAY.

Iron, Steel Workers on Verge of Walkout Unless Rights Changed.

WASHINGTON, May 31—(AP)—Threats of strikes in two major industries of United States—steel and cotton textiles—lay on the governments doorstep today.

The prospect grew that President Roosevelt would have to step into the breach to avert a serious tieup in both industries.

A general strike call by the United Textile Workers of America summoned cotton mill employes to leave their machines next Monday to fight against a 25 percent slash in production by N.R.A. Leaders predicted more than 300,000 workers would respond.

Battling for recognition of non-company unions—a point on which steelmasters have been adamant — the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers announced that a general strike would be called in mid-June unless its members win the right to choose spokesmen freely for collective bargaining.

The union leaders, who contend the collective bargaining guarantee in N.R.A. has been violated by employers, asked:

"Is the American Iron and Steel Institute more powerful than the President of the United States?"

No Backing Down

Thomas F. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers of America, stood firm in his strike call today.

"The issue at stake," he said, "apparently is whether the workers are willing to accept a 25 percent wage reduction. The answer, based on telegrams from our workers in north and south, is an emphatic 'no.'"

He asserted the strike call would not be rescinded unless the production curtailment order was revoked.

Troops Mobilized.

Strike threats hung over the United States steel and cotton textile industries to-day as National troops mobilized at Pekin, Ill., scene of new disorder in the capital-labor strife.

A strike of electrical workers at Toledo, O., which would shut off power in more than 1,000 factories and lights in 60,000 homes, was postponed for 24 hours, until 7 a.m. to-morrow.

Troops still patrolled Toledo's automotive strike zone, scene of two killings.

The Pekin, Ill., violence came when 100 special deputies sought to enter the American Commercial Alcohol Distilling Company's plant, scheduled to re-open to-morrow after a lockout. Pickets drove back the deputies. A company of guardsmen rushed to the scene from Quincy.

Rioting broke out on the San Francisco waterfront, where longshoremen were on strike, and 11 persons were injured. A crowd hurled rocks at police guards and the police replied with tear gas bombs. Police described the crowd as Communists.

More Cash, Please

LONDON, May 31 (CP) — Church leaders are complaining that congregations are "dodging" the collection plates.

Persons attending the St. John Possion of Bach at St. George's in Hanover Square drove up in swanky motor cars, but the largest coin left in the plates was a half-crown (62 have been intellectual to apcents).

"The people who came must preciate Bach," said Dr. C. E. Jolley, organist, "but they were so intellectual that the collection totalled only £10 10s ($47.50)."

ONTARIO NEEDS ANOTHER DOCTOR LIBERALS SAY

BOLSTERING RIDINGS.

Building Roads Which Will Not Be Needed for Years to Come.

(By a Staff Reporter)

WESTWOOD, May 31.—Flagrant political plundering of the unemployment situation by sending hundreds of relief workers into ridings where the Conservatives expect heavy opposition, was charged against the Henry Government by J. J. Duffus here last night. The workers will be expected to vote Conservative in fear that the work projects will be discontinued with the advent of a new administration, he said.

Mr. Duffus was one of the speakers at a Liberal rally in support of James Hawthorne, the Peterborough candidate, Lt.-Col., J. A. Dewart and Mr. Hawthorne also addressed the audience of more than one hundred which gathered in the village hall.

Heavy shipments of workers to projects in Hastings and Victoria and Haliburton ridings have been particularly obvious, Mr. Duffus said. The Government delayed the election announcement as long as it could in order to complete these movements in time that they could qualify as voters and great care was taken to see that they are all of voting age, he declared.

The three speakers all centered attacks on the financial record of the Government's administration.

Mr. Hawthorne

Taxation and debt go together, declared Mr. Hawthorne. The present government has been going ahead piling up such a high debt that our taxes, heavy as they are, are scarcely sufficient to pay the interest of this debt. The debt now stands at about $600,000,000 requiring annual interest of $16,000,000, he pointed out. This burden, if it continues to mount at the present rate will require soon one half of the total provincial revenue for interest, he predicted.

"Let us pay as we go," he urged, dealing with the highway question. "That is only a sound business principle but the Henry Government has flagrantly ignored it. It is now going ahead with a highway system in the north. Nobody knows

DOUBLE SAULT RALLY.

Charges Tories Offered $100 to Get False Affidavit Sworn Against Him.

BY JACK HAMBLETON

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., May 31—(CP)—Refreshed after the first good night's sleep he had had for nearly a week, Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader left here early today for a meeting in Thessalon this afternoon and another at Blind River tonight.

He addressed more than 500 persons at two separate meetings, last night, no hall in the city being large enough to hold the crowds, for Sault Ste. Marie, is throbbing with one of the hottest election campaigns in the province. Mayor James Lyons, who was also a member of the last legislature, and Dr. A. D. Roberts, youthful physician, as Liberal colorbearer, are fighting with might and main for election.

Mr. Hepburn pledged continuation of the trans-Canada highway and mentioned briefly the St. Thomas reports of what he termed a "Conservative plot," to obtain an affidavit dangerous to his reputation.

False Affidavit

"Do you know," he asked, according to press reports a group of Tories, apparently acting at the instance of the Attorney General, tried to induce a man to swear out a false affidavit concerning me, offering him $100 and a civil service job at $25 a week with the promise of an increase to $40?"

The reference came during an attack on the Civil Service Commission which he declared, would be abolished or at least reduced in the event the Liberals assumed power.

He attacked government expenditures, declaring at least nine Conservative seats would be found in the Liberal column, following the election. The Dominion Power and Transmission Corporation purchase, which cost $22,000,000, would, "cost the government six seats," he said. "The Madawaska purchase and $50,000 payment to John Aird, Jr., will cost them two more. The famous $39,000 barn at Orillia will cost them the three seats in Simcoe," he said.

Mr. Hepburn charged that Toronto was "almost in revolt" over the action of the government in appointing "Tory ward heelers" as election enumerators. He charged these enumerators had left off the voting lists names of Liberals and they had sought to "disenfranchise thousands."

Rush Point

The Willing Workers' Class of Girls belonging to the Rush Point Sunday School have completed their "Churn-dash" quilt and are selling tickets for its disposal. The girls under the able leadership of their teacher, Mrs. Ernest Curtis, are out to accomplish things and they have certainly made a very creditable beginning.

Miss Jean Pollock was leader of the recent League meeting arranging the items on the program, including the following: Topic, Jeanne Blakely; reading, Reg. McQuigge; vocal solo, Luella Keating.

The recent baseball games arranged for the boys of the Rush Point School, under Mr. Gerald Buchanan, teacher, the boys of Victoria School, under Mr. Thomas Rowson, teacher, and the boys of Blairton School, under Mr. Harold Quinn, teacher, caused plenty of pleasant excitement and fun.

Mr. Carl Barton is spending a short time at his home here after his two weeks' motorcycle trip visiting friends in Belleville and Stirling.

A full-grown deer quietly loping up the road on Sunday evening was sighted by Mr. Tom Menzies in the vicinity of his farm near the Rush Point Church. The animal jumped the fence into Mr. Menzie's orchard, thence over other fences, through several other fields and later out onto the road again and down the big hill toward the property of Mr. R. C. Buchanan.

Mr. Wm. Tedman of Belleville was the Sunday guest of Mr. Frank Banton and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Spooner and family moved from Rush Point to a residence in Old Havelock on Monday of this week.

Two Aviators Killed, Freight Plane Crash

CROYDON, England, May 31.—(A.P.)— The pilot and mechanic were killed when a French airplane struck a wireless mast in a heavy mist near the airport to-day, skimmed several houses, crashed into another and then demolished two garages, crushing automobiles inside them.

Captain Ramond De Pives, the pilot, and Roger L'Huillier, mechanic, were the victims. One of the plane's motors was thrown into a roadway, the other into a garden.

Only two weeks ago the plane was damaged in a forced landing near Croydon.

More than 12,500,000 cocoanuts were shipped from Jamaica in the first 15 weeks of this year.

PRAIRIES BAKE IN HEAT WAVE OF 100 DEGREES

SHOWERS IN NORTH.

But No Sight of Relief Farther South as Grain Shrivels.

WINNIPEG, May 31.—(CP)—Records of drought periods and downward swings of rainfall cycles were searched by farmers of Western Canada today for a clue that would indicate a break in the present prolonged drought and intense heat.

For 12 days the sun has parched the southern belt of the prairie provinces as the mercury climbed above the century mark. Scattered showers were reported Wednesday in Northern Alberta and Saskatchewan but elsewhere no break in the dry spell was in sight.

Sun blistered wheat growers in the belt where today it was 100 in the shade, and there wasn't any shade, watched their crops toasted by the sun and ravaged by grasshoppers. Millions of them in creeping, crawling and hopping advance moved through wheat fields in Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

Farmers accepted the challenge and mechanical mixers delivered poison bait, fired at the enemy by mechanical devices and by hand. One grasshopper in the course of his brief lifetime can put away 120 times his own weight of succulent material,often eating 2½ times his own weight each day.

Heat history was written into the record books when thermometers in Manitoba and Saskatchewan passed the century mark. Winnipeg recorded a temperature reading of 103 degrees—the hottest day since June 23, 1900. Unofficial readings reported 105 degrees at Morris, Man., 103, at Killarney and 101 at Souris.

Scattered showers in the northern areas brought a halt to the upward climb of wheat prices. More

Mill Takes Second Win In Town League

CAMPBELLFORD, May 31 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — The Mill registered their second win in the Campbellford Town Softball League on Tuesday evening, when they walked away from the Aces in a one-sided affair which chalked up an 18-8 count. Played on the High School Grounds before a good sized crowd of fans, the game was uneven, the Aces, although showing a fast line-up, being upable to get into their stride and play the brand of ball customary in the league. However, the breaks in the game made it interesting from the sideline and gave the spectators some real fun.

Pitching was only average, but the play registered three home runs, all of which were counted for the Mill Ingram, Palliquin, and Dr Stuart circling the bases.

The teams:

Mill — McComb p, T. Owens c, Palliquin 1b, Ingram 2b, Holmes 3b, Johnston ss, Montgomery lf, D. Owens cf, Peake rf, Dr. Stuart cf sub.

River Hebert in Nova Scotia was in danger for hours yesterday, but a shift in the wind relieved inhabitants, saving a group of farmhouses in the path of the flames, which cut a wide swath through timberland in Cumberland County.

1,200 Acres Burned

More than 1,200 acres of devastated forest lay behind this blaze which was being fought by bucket brigades composed of hundreds of citizens. Margaree Valley timber in Nova Scotia was also being laid waste by flames which caused thousands of dollars damage.

Government aid was given to homeless at Oliver Settlement, Restigouche County, in New Brunswick, where flames roared through the village. Those wiped out were being taken care of by friends and relatives at St. Quentin, White's Brook, Athol and Campbellton. National Red Cross headquarters at Ottawa volunteered aid. Tents and equipment supplied by Military District No. 7 helped to relieve congestion.

Most of the fires still flaming in the province of Quebec were over old burns, it was stated at Quebec, about 90 percent falling in this category, the result being little destruction to wood of marketing worth. The situation on northwestern Quebec and in Ontario was quiet, fires being well under control.

Lindsay Restaurant Is Damged By Fire

LINDSAY, May 31 (Specia toThe Examiner). — Fire which the firemen believed, was caused by a cigarette stub, practically gutted the interior of the Arcadian Grill, M. Georgas, proprietor, at two o'clock this morning. The damage is estimated at over $2,000. When the firemen arrived the fire had gained much headway. The smoke found its way into the Hotel Benson causing damage to the interior and forcing the guests and other occupants on the different floors to make a hurried exit. The Arcadian Grill was a modern establishment, and had recently been decorated at considerable expense.

THREE WOMEN DIE IN TRIPLE HIGHWAY CRASH

Two Cars Collide Passing Truck—Big Machine Hits Both.

SIX SERIOUSLY HURT.

Summons for Reckless Driving Found in One of Motorist's Pocket.

WOODBRIDGE, N.J., May 31 (A.P.).—A man with a summons for reckless driving in his pocket drove his car into a triple collision early to-day, and three women were killed.

Six other persons, including a little girl, were seriously injured. Two may die.

The collision occurred when a car, seeking to pass a truck which was going in the same direction, crashed into another passenger car, going in the opposite direction. One car was rolled in the path of the truck.

Two of the three women killed were decapitated by the truck's heavy wheels.

Names of the two feared injured fatally could not be learned due to their condition.

Maximilian Krigs, driver of the truck, said the two automobiles, going in opposite directions, collided and one of them was thrown against the truck. Krigs was not hurt.

The unidentified women killed were in the automobile thrown against the truck. They were decapitated.

Police said they found a Jersey City traffic summons for reckless driving, issued last night, in the possession of Michael Arsenevic, driver of one of the cars. Miss Davidovitch and her father were occupants of this car.

Lieut.-Colonel Charles Ackerman, first speaker, stated that he had been waiting eagerly to hear some definite announcement of the Liberal policies but up to the present Mitchell Hepburn and other Liberal chieftains had limited their remarks to criticism of the Government's administration. Previous to the last session of the Legislature, he said, the Liberal board of strategy had assured the people that they would expose some great scandals against the Government, but these promises to expose maladministration of Provincial affairs by the Henry Government had not materialized.

Answers Liberal Critics

Colonel Ackerman referred to some of the remarks made by J. A. Dewart at a Hawthorne meeting the previous night in Stewart Hall in which Mr. Dewart criticized Mr. Lancaster for his part in securing road construction in this district. Defending Mr. Lancaster on this score, Colonel Ackerman maintained this road work was not only supplying this county with much-improved means of travel but was supplying also work to men who otherwise would have to be maintained on relief. "Mr. Lancaster deserves utmost credit not criticism for his efforts in this regard," he concluded.

Opening his address, T. L. Lancaster said he would welcome any questions that might be asked him by the audience but he expressed the hope that the audience would refrain from interrupting Colonel Kennedy during his address.

Impartial Representation

"Never once have I let politics interfere with my work as representative of this county in the Provincial Legislature," declared Mr. Lancaster. "After my election I considered, and I believe properly so, that I was representing all parties in this county, and I defy anyone to state that I have not fairly done so."

When elected he acknowledged, as stated by W. A. Anderson, who opposed him in that campaign, that his platform consisted chiefly of a program of road construction for Peterborough County. "And I can state honestly that I have carried out my platform, carried it out even beyond what I promised to do when elected five years ago," he added.

For township roads, he explained, he had had the township rates increased from 30 per cent to 40 per cent one year after his election, which meant a real saving upon the county taxpayers. In Dummer Township the rate had been increased from 50 to 60 per cent in order that the township might carry out the promised program of improving the ninth line road to Stoney Lake. Douro's rate had been increased from 30 to 50 per cent because the township agreed to repair the Lakefield road on the east bank of the river, which Mr. Lancaster described as one of the most beautiful scenic drives in the province.

Letter of Appreciation

Largely through his efforts the "flat road," paralleling the Keene road, had been taken over by the Suburban Area Commission and much work done upon it. "I have a letter, which I treasure, from the late Fred D. McIntyre, former reeve of your township, in which he thanked me for my co-operation in this connection," Mr. Lancaster said.

"I was successful also in getting larger grants for the colonization roads," he continued. "This does not greatly concern this section of the county but it is of real importance in assisting the sparsely-settled northern townships."

The decision of the Government to take the Lakefield road into the Highway system and pave it, Mr. Lancaster said was only in keeping with his platform in the election and again he had kept faith with his electors. He stressed the fact that by paving this road a real saving was resulting to county ratepayers, since its annual cost of maintenance as a suburban road was so high.

Answers Anderson

At this point in his address, Mr. Lancaster paused to answer the criticism, that only during the last two months had he become active on road construction, levelled at him by Mr. Anderson. "If my former opponent has been quoted correctly he referred to me as a servant and that servant remark is good because that is all I have been to this county during my years in the House and a good servant too," he declared.

"Mr. Anderson must have been doing the Rip Van Winkle act and he has just wakened up from a long sleep to find out just what progress has been made in the district around him. But he was not so sound asleep that he could not come to me and ask my assistance in a larger grant for Otonabee Township. And he got my help to the tune of $2,000 which was for improving a road leading to Highway 7.

"The same gentleman in his recent speech was much concerned as to when Premier Henry was going to announce the decrease in the counties' assessment for the cost of highway construction. Well he need not have been. The reduction to 10 per cent for the counties' share for the cost of all highways now under construction comes into effect this year.

Cost of Highway Work

"I will explain further that the Dominion Government is contributing 50 cents per day to the wages of each man employed on highway construction, and of the balance of the cost the county will pay only 10 per cent. This reduces the cost to the county to approximately 8 per cent. So much for Mr. Anderson and his period of slumber."

Referring further to his activities on behalf of citizens of this riding Mr. Lancaster stated he had assisted scores of persons in connection with Crown Land patents, helped deserving cases to secure Old Age Pensions, furthered the interests of hard-pressed mothers in getting Mothers' Allowances, and helped scores of farmers throughout the county in securing loans from the Farm Development Board.

He spoke also of his work in having a game preserve set up in the county, which he stated would do much to make this district again a favored haunt for game. Lakes, rivers and streams throughout the county had been restocked with choice game fish, and the pickerel fishing this season as a result was better than for any recent year. He stressed his belief that Peterborough County must have good fishing to offer tourists if the district's tourist business was going to increase.

Roads an Investment

"Records show that in one recent year American tourists spent approximately $200,000,000 in Ontario," he added. "Don't let anyone tell you that good roads are not needed and money spent on road construction is a debt; because such expenditures are a mighty and marvelous investment which annually puts millions of tourist money into the pockets of good Ontario citizens."

Mr. Lancaster said, "The biggest thing I have done for this county is having the Department of Northern Development include the Burleigh road in its program. I spent months in convincing the department that this road should be included and its gain to this county will be tremendous. This new road will bring tourists to Peterborough County that formerly we never saw and it joins up with the great Trans-Canada highway system. I can not over-estimate the benefits."

Proud of Efforts

He declared, "Despite what Mr. Dewart has stated I am proud of the fact that I have secured jobs for unemployed men on these highway construction jobs in this county. My hope is that I can secure work for more men. Those men who have secured these jobs do not think such work is an insult, as does Mr. Dewart. I don't think the poor wants to earn a livelihood will do anything but jump at the chance to work on the highways."

In giving unemployed men such work he insisted that the county was being rid of the demoralizing effect on its manhood of relief. "Work will restore a man's self esteem. The money he earns he can spend as he sees fit, there is not strings on it," he stated.

Dealing with wine and beer he reiterated his statement that so long as he is member for this riding no restaurant in Peterborough will get a license to sell this liquor. He stated he had the promise of Premier Henry in this regard.

Hawthorne Not Dry

He maintained that although Mr. Hawthorne had signed the statement prepared for him by the County Temperance League he was not a dry candidate because his party was pledged to the same policy on beer and wine as the Conservatives. "Mr. Hepburn has pledged himself that if elected he will immediately by Order-in-Council put into force these liquor amendments," he stated. "If Mr. Hawthorne is elected he can not even oppose the passing of this amendment because he could not sit in the House until January, 1935."

"Rev. Mr. Sutherland is right he the only dry candidate in the local campaign. And he is right when he states that the Liberals are only trying to use the temperance cause to defeat me. It is the same group under a new name that opposed the Liquor Control Act. If they are so eager in the cause of temperance why don't they put a candidate in the field. Why doesn't Mr. Brethen or Mr. Petrie come out as candidate."

Difference of Opinion

He said that when Mr. Henry's manifesto was announced Mr. Hepburn said, "practically everything Henry advocates has been stolen from the Liberal platform," while Harry Nixon, Hepburn's first lieutenant, said of the same manifesto "it is all raids upon the public treasury and the people don't want to be loaded down with it."

In conclusion he pledged that if re-elected he would continue to give the same impartial attention of the affairs of the province and fairly represent all sections of the county.

Colonel Kennedy, in his thoughtful address, stated that in 1930 the Henry Government had decided that the solution to the farmer's problem was not in the growing of produce but in the marketing of such produce, and in that year the Ontario Marketing Board was formed.

In a tribute to Mr. Lancaster, Colonel Kennedy stated that the Peterborough representative had impressed members of the Legislature with his ability, courage and energy.

Only Successful Plan

The speaker stressed his claim that the Ontario Government's marketing plan was the only system aimed at improving the farmers position that had succeeded anywhere in the world. He explained efforts made to help farmers in other countries, mainly directed to subsidize farming by maintaining prices or reduce production, had failed as the Agriculture Adjustment Act was failing in the United States.

In 1933, he declared that the Ontario Government was the only government in the world that loaned money to farmers and $15,800,000 had been lent to Ontario farmers because the Government was confident that under the marketing plan farmers' financial position would improve. He explained the manner in which new markets had been opened up for Ontario farm products, under supervision by the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Not only that but Ontario's housewife had been successfully encouraged to purchase products from the province's farms.

"We are on the right track and the Ontario farmer's position has improved despite falling markets and will improve further if we are not turned aside," Colonel Kennedy said.

A. O. L. Burnese, of Toronto, also addressed the meeting.

Receives Dividends United States Funds

TORONTO, May 30.—Canadian shareholders of the common stock of The International Nickel Company of Canada, Limited, will receive their next dividend in cheques drawn on the Bank of Montreal, Montreal, according to a statement issued from the Company's offices here this afternoon.

A dividend of 10 cents per share on the common stock has been declared in United States funds for payment June 30 to shareholders of record May 31.

The Companys' statement reads as follows:

"Arrangements have now been completed, whereby our Canadian common stock shareholders will receive dividend cheques drawn on the Bank of Montreal, Montreal, in United States funds. These cheques will be honored by that bank at any of its branches throughout Canada at their buying rate for United States funds in Canada without collection charge."

ONTARIO NEEDS ANOTHER DOCTOR LIBERALS SAY

how much it will cost. All we know is that we'll have to pay for it eventually."

Help Counties

If the Government is really interested in providing work for the unemployed why has it not assisted needy counties and townships in road work they have been wanting for years, he asked. Instead of that Mr. Henry has decided to build roads which will not be needed for years to come and to fill in ditches, he said.

Mr. Hawthorne pressed his plea for the Liberal cause urging, "We want clean, honest, government. We want a government which will have the courage to economize in times such as this. In the Conservative Government we have found a body hopelessly unable to meet the situation of the day. It is time for a house cleaning."

Col. Dewart

"If the executive officers of a business concern failed to make a concern show a profit and ran it deeper and deeper into debt each year, the shareholders would fire that executive and put in a new one," declared Col. Dewart as he took the floor. "Premier Henry and his men are the executive officers and you are the shareholders in this province. They are incompetent. The provincial debt is piling higher each year. The only cure is a new set of officers."

Col. Dewart pointed to the municipal governments of Ontario as efficient, economical organizations, because no politics are involved in their appointments. It is only through party politics that an extravagant government such as the Henry Government is tolerated. If the province is to be saved, the voters must forget party politics and think in terms of business in this election, he declared.

Another Doctor

"Call in another doctor! He may be no better than the present one but he can't be worse. And I believe Mr. Hepburn will be much better. He has promised to cut expenses in half."

"In Mr. Hawthorne you have a candidate who will stand for what we want. He was brought up on the principle of 'pay as you go.' In Mr. Hepburn you have a man who will act in the interests of the people, a man who has the Federal viewpoint as well as the provincial viewpoint. We need a man who can see the good of the whole Dominion as well as the province."

J. J. Duffus

Mr. Duffus cited Mitchel Hepburn as a farmer who understands the problems of the farmer and, through years of banking experience, a man who understands sound finance. Even men on both sides of the fence will admit that he has strength and the courage to lead the province out of its difficulties, he said.

He asked particularly for support of the Liberal party by the younger men and women of the province. The young people are those who are going to suffer from the present extravagance, he said. "I am not going to deny that the Conservatives have at times served this country well. But I am unalterably opposed to the present leadership the Conservatives in both Toronto and Ottawa are giving. If they are allowed to continue, your homes and farms will soon be liabilities instead of assets."

Expenses In crease

"Mr. Ferguson did much to increase the expenses of the Provincial administration," Mr. Duffus continued. "But Mr. Ferguson couldn't hold a candle to Mr. Henry. Mr. Henry has been increasing the expenses at the rate of $80,817 each day." The Dominion has taken on a greater share of the pensions burden, saving the province $1,500,000 each year, he said. One million has been cut off the education bill. But the expenses keep mounting. The Government saw fit to raise the salaries of cabinet ministers from $8,000 a year to $10,000 and the Premier's salary from $12,000 to $14,000, he declared. "I say they are irresponsible spenders."

Replying to claims that the Liberal party is divided, he said, "Thank God the Liberals are allowed to have minds of their own. Mr. Henry says that any man who doesn't stand by beer and wine isn't a Conservative. Mr. Hawthorne is not going to put up with that sort of thing from his leader. He is going to do his own thinking."

MICKEY LEADS THE WAY.

A news dispatch from Geneva announces that the League of Nations has unfurrowed its brow long enough to give Mr. Mickey Mouse's back an approving pat. Moreover, its Committee on Child Welfare is keenly in favor of an international treaty to permit Mickey's and other approved films duty-free privileges in countries that are members of the League, says an editorial in the Rotarian.

For this Mickey should register glee—perhaps not as much as a glance of favor from Minnie would bring to his countenance, but glee, nevertheless. Certainly now he is a made mouse. He has brought general esteem and approbation, if not dignity, to his profession. As officially as may be, he now holds the portfolio of chortles and cheer to the world.

But the recognition is not for Mickey alone. He, after all, is but a symbol for the overlooked truth that a laugh is one of the touches that make all men kin, regardless of creed or color. Indeed, serious efforts are now being made to establish a university "chair of humor" for the purpose of placing humor alongside trade and science, music and art, as a means of popularizing goodwill and understanding among the nations.

LEADING THE WAY.

Those who refuse to admit that there is any improvement in conditions in Canada have to shut their eyes tight these days against the mass of evidence that shows that the general situation so far as the Dominion is concerned is distinctly better than it was a year ago.

It is hard, for example, to successfully offset the statement issued by the economics department of the League of Nations which compiles world statistics dealing with such things as business and employment.

The latest report from the department states that Canada led the world in the first three months of 1934 in business recovery, comparing the record for the first quarter of the current year with the same period in 1933.

The statement declares that Canada's increase was 40 per cent., while the United States, running second in the list, showed a gain of 30 per cent.

Certainly the whole trend in Canada must be upward or there would be no possibility of such a report from Geneva; the economics branch of the League of Nations does not deal with rumors or suppositions, but with hard, cold figures, and when such a body reports Canada as leading the world in the recovery parade it can be taken for granted that the statement is not based on imagination, but on solid facts.

GETTING ON THE LISTS.

While the unfortunate omission of the voters on the south side of Parnell street as a result of an enumerator's error is to be regretted, there is fortunately an opportunity to remedy this situation, and it is to be hoped that the electors who have been left off the lists will co-operate by appearing before the revising officer at the sittings on Monday and Tuesday of next week.

The mistake is doubtless aggravating, but it is surprising that after the warnings issued before the enumeration began that some one resident of the overlooked street did not take notice of the fact that the enumerator had not called; an inquiry by any one of the electors on the street before the lists were turned in would have resulted in the omission being detected in time to make a personal appearance before the revising officer unnecessary.

However, as has been said, all those eligible to vote still have the opportunity of protecting their franchise by having their names added when the revision proceedings take place at the beginning of next week.

S. T. Medd, K.C., is the revising officer for the south ward, and he will hold sittings in the County Council Chamber at the Court House on Monday and Tuesday.

While there are complaints of an occasional omission here and there, this seems to have been the only major error, and on the whole it would seem that the local enumerators have done their work with reasonable accuracy.

RAPID DEBT EXPANSION.

In these columns yesterday reference was made to the Canadian Research Institute's latest bulletin upon the accumulation of governmental debt in Canada.

Continuing this subject, it is worthy of attention that the net debenture debt of all governments in Canada, federal, provincial and municipal, increased 39.4 per cent. during the ten years from 1923-1933, whereas the increase in population was only 18.08 per cent.

The net debenture debt for all government at the end of the period amounted to $577.80 per capita, or equal to a government mortgage of over $2,600 on a per family share of Canada's wealth.

Looking into the figures, it is seen that while Prince Edward Island had the greatest percentage of increase in net bonded debt in the period, its per capita debt was the second lowest among the provinces, being bettered only by Quebec.

The decade was one of rapid debt expansion for the majority of the provinces, and their total net debts increased 96.1 per cent. compared with an increase of 42.5 per cent. in municipal net debt and 26.4 per cent. in the Dominion, including guaranteed debts for railways, etc.

Of the provinces only Quebec was able to show a surplus of current revenues over current expenditures in the ten-year period, and this after making large yearly payments into sinking fund accounts. In some of the other provinces sinking fund payments out of current revenues have been of minor account, and even then deficits were incurred. Some provinces have greatly diminished sinking fund payments in the last year and thus show a more nearly balanced budget.

APPALLING COST OF SICKNESS.

It can scarcely be credited, but according to Dr. Gordon Bates, who spoke before the Social Hygiene Council at Toronto, there are 180,000 people in Canada who are ill at one time all the year round—not always the same 180,000, of course—and the cost of their combined illness is $1,311,000 per annum. Half of that illness, Dr. Bates claims is preventible. The doctor feels, and he is quite right about it, that instead of spending so much on building and maintaining new hospitals, it would be sounder economy to spend more money on prevention, including educating people how to avoid becoming sick. One of the preventives he recommends is the compulsory pasteurization of milk.

Only a week or two ago, Dr. Robb, Ontario Minister of Health, announced a new hospital program amounting to $1,500,000. If an equal sum were to be spent on education and prevention, it would in the long run be a far more economical and useful investment. There is no properly organized system of health education in the country. People know what they have to do after they get sick, but only those associated with the medical and nursing services have personal knowledge of how to avoid the common ailments of life. Health education should commence in the public schools. The public is against increasing education costs, but if there were specially trained men and women, who could go into the schools, each having charge of so many, and give a talk and a demonstration once each week on some phase of bodily hygiene, teaching young people how to take care of their eyes, noses, mouths, throats, chests, and even more particularly their stomachs and all that pertains to that vital organ, whatever outlay was made upon such a service, would be repaid many times over in reduced sickness and hospitalization costs, and in a fitter and happier race.

There are tens of thousands of people in Canada to-day more or less sufferers from chronic ailments, who say to themselves: "If I had only known when I was younger."—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

BRITISH AND U. S. GOLF.

Any man—or woman—who can march over a British championship golf course in 66 strokes is a great golfer. That is what Little, the American, did at Prestwick on Saturday, and the fact that he did it in competition, with a championship at stake and ten thousand eyes upon him, makes his feat all the greater. No golfer, dead or living, and not excluding the great Bobby Jones himself, ever did better.

Yet Little's performance, mighty though it was, did not prove him the greatest golfer at Prestwick. Not necessarily. The greatest golfer at Prestwick, by all fair tests, was the man who played the best golf consistently throughout the tournament. That—consistent good play—not an occasional brilliant round, followed by a succession of mediocre scores, is the test in golf.

In amateur championship golf, as in most tournament golf, the luck of the draw is a tremendous factor. Also the luck of the game. Thus it often happens that a great golfer, drawn with a mediocre player when that mediocre player is "hot," or when he is getting the breaks, gets knocked out of a tournament in its early stages. Goodman and Dunlap, the Americans, and McLean, the Scotsman, are, on their records, greater golfers than Wallace, probably greater than Little, yet it was Little and Wallace who went to the finals.

This is not to detract from the American's victory. Neither is it to argue that, in their top flight, United States amateur golfers aren't superior to the British. On the record, they are superior. On the other hand, it is but fair to remember that the British amateur's attitude toward golf differs from the attitude of the American amateur. To the American amateur, to players like Jones, Dunlap and Goodman, golf is practically a profession. To the Englishman or the Scotsman, more casual, it is but a pastime. Without the American's passion for efficiency, the Briton is content to play a good game, to let it go at that. It is a matter of temperament. The American, on the other hand, wants to win, goes out to win, makes the matter of winning a sort of life work. To a man like Bobby Jones, golf became almost a sacrament.

There is something else. It is that while the Americans develop a first flight of supremely good golfers, the British have probably more fair golfers. In the United States, as in Canada, golf is for the "white-collared" classes. In England and Scotland, on the other hand, golf is for everybody. Wallace, the unemployed carpenter on the dole, in the finals for the British amateur, and putting out among others the Hon. Michael Scott, meant little in Scotland, where even the fishermen play golf. But one could scarcely imagine an unemployed carpenter in an American amateur championship or in a Canadian amateur championship, either.

So, come to think of it, Britain need not worry greatly over her golf. If golf be a good thing, then a thousand good golfers are better than a hundred stars and nine hundred without golf. Moreover, in golf, as in most other games, victory is far from being everything.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

These are the nights when both the politicians and the mosquitoes are doing a lot of buzzing around the country.

The only way to be sure of having a vote on election day is to see that your name is on the list. That is a responsibility that you should look after yourself while there is time.

Employment figures show 140,000 more Canadians at work than a year ago in industrial jobs. This significant increase shows that Canada is on the way out and leading the parade.

With the election still nearly three weeks off, there seems to be no end to the campaign charges or the campaign promises.

When it comes to the question of addressing an audience, it must be admitted that a great many candidates qualify in the dry class.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

SHERBROOKE, QUEBEC

The city of Sherbrooke, situated at the junction of the Magog and St. Francis rivers, originally bore an Indian name—Ktineketolekiak. This was interpreted into English to mean "Big Forks" thus describing the junction of the two rivers.

But in 1818, it was named Sherbrooke, after Sir John Sherbrooke, then governor of Canada, and it has borne that name through the intervening 116 years.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Mastin.)

WHY QUIT?

The cards have been dealt. We've all made our bids. The contract is established....The opponent on my left has thought for a while and made his lead. Down go the dummy's 13 cards. I'm the bidder. The bid is "four spades", doubled and redoubled. It's my job, somehow, to take 10 of the 13 tricks. How am I going to do it?

They have the ace and king of hearts, but I haven't any hearts in my hand. That's why I redoubled, knowing the doubler expected to take at least one heart trick or perhaps two. The first lead is the heart king and I trump it. I take out all the trumps. My partner has some strong diamonds in dummy. I go over there and play them, discarding all but one losing club on them. On the thirteenth trick I surrender a losing club, but I make six spades, 12 tricks in all....I have, in fact, made a small slam, but it doesn't count. In this game you must bid for a small slam or you don't get it. It's not like auction bridge, where you get all you make. This is contract, where you must say in advance how many tricks you intend to make.

So I feel humiliated. Somehow or other, because I had no hearts in my hand I should have known I had a good chance of making 12 tricks. ....I might as well quit this game. I'll probably never learn to play it properly. I'll always be making the wrong lead, discarding the wrong card, making the wrong bid, never get all that I should out of my cards.

Then why don't I quit?

Why don't I QUIT....Because that would be a silly thing to do. I LIKE THE GAME, that's why. Even if I never get the complete hang of it, I'll always like it. I win an occasional victory. Once in a while I have a chance to pat myself on the back. I don't always make silly mistakes....It's not so different from life. You don't quit life just because you make a few mistakes, because you don't reach the peak of your development in one little interlude of living. Life isn't all fun, either. You make such silly mistakes in living. You bid wrong in that, too. Throw away high cards. Underestimate or overestimate your power. Mislead your partner and are misled by him and suffer humiliations....But as long as you're getting something out of it you continue to play that game, too....and hope to do better next time....That's why I wouldn't think of quitting!

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Ruth Connors,
R.R. No. 2, Lakefield, Ont.

The handwriting as delineated on your card for analysis reveals tenderness and loving kindness. You are not argumentative or combative, because you are esentially a peace-loving individual. Your talents are well developed, especially as far as imparting knowledge is concerned. You seem to be able to read the sensitive thoughts of others, and so proceed with the utmost caution when trying to assist another. You have a rather well expressed artistic tendency. This may be in the manner in which you wear and arrange your household appointments. You are unobstrusive and never 'push' yourself in where you feel that your presence is not appreciated. You are susceptible to kindness, and would go to any length in order to repay a kind deed done in your behalf. It is people like you who make this world a better place in which to live. Your number is 4. Birthsign, Aquarius the Man. You are ruled by Uranus. April and August your best months. Saturday your lucky day.

Verda Connors,
R.R. No. 2, Lakefield, Ont.

Your handwriting as portrayed on your sample for analysis reveals a tender nature. You are friendly and very pleasant. You have a delicate sense of humor, but never let it border on vulgarity, nor do you allow yourself to 'mix' with those whom your better judgment tells you are not your type. You have the necessary qualifications with which to become successful in the business world, either in an office or where your good taste would assist you in selling specialties. Couldn't you study color schemes with a view to bringing out your artistic talents? Then dress only in the colors which suit your individual taste and style. That bent in some of your letters shows that you often allow yourself to be coaxed to do things because of your generous and sympathetic nature, which you heartily regret afterwards. Travel should interest one of your type, because of the mental relaxation it would offer, and the new ideas you would have an opportunity of learning. Your number is 8. Birthsign, Capricon the Goat. Ruled by Saturn. March and November your best months. Tuesday and Saturday your lucky days.

Miss Frances Elizabeth Jackson,
169 Edinburg St., Peterborough.

Your handwriting as portrayed on your sample is expressive of a gracious, ingenious personality. You are demonstrative and affectionate. You are able to deal easily with the public, therefore, I might suggest a position where you would be obliged to come in daily contact with them. Your tall upper loops reflect an idealistic and romantic side to your nature. You are magnetic and intuitive yet somewhat inclined to be anaytical and desire to know what the reason is for everything. The study of new and progressive ideas should interest you. Your mind seems to be exceptionally adaptable and intelligent. You appear to desire clothing of the best quality, and you do not feel physically or mentally well, if not clothed as you desire to be. Your number is 5. You are born under Aries the Ram. You are ruled by Mars. June and July are your best months. Tuesday your lucky day.

Willie McNaught,
R.R. No. 11, Peterborough.

Your handwriting is very immature for one of your age, but perhaps you have not been able to attend school very much. However you are energetic and could be trained to use what energy along well directed lines. I fancy you like to build things don't you? It might be road making, putting in cement foundations for home, or working under supervision in a contracting business. Farming also might interest you for a time, but I think you would outgrow your interest in that line, for lack of variety.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THE PEACE OF SOUTH AFRICA

On this date, in 1902 the war between Great Britain and the South African Republics was brought to a close by the signing of a treaty of peace at a little burgh known as Vereeniging. The signers were Sir Herbert Kitchener and the Commander DeWet....The present generation can not understand the delight with which the news of the peace was received in Canada. We had followed the campaign with interest not only because it was Britain's business but also because for the first time Canadians were fighting side by side with British regulars on distant soil. Canadian blood had been shed in defence of the flag; today at various places throughout Canada monuments pay tribute to the lads who went to the aid and died for the old grey mother; and we were glad it was over.

We also (some of us at least) were glad because we were sure that all would come right in the end and that South Africans would forget the unhappy conflict provoked by Kruger. We were justified! The treaty involved the disappearance of the Transvaal Republic and the Orange Free State, and their absorption into British South Africa, but it also granted the recognition of the Dutch language in the courts and schools, and, unprecedented in history, it actually granted three million pounds to compensate the Boers for the damage done to their property by a war which they had themselves provoked!

The post war policy of Britain in South Africa was daring, but it was vindicated. Within two years Boers and British were sitting in the same parliament. Eight years to a day from the signing of the treaty the Union of South Africa, came into existence. Four years later when Germany defied the world South Africa gave its answer. Botha and Smuts were among the war leaders and the peace counsellors of the British Empire. Britan's magnanimity bore fruit a millionfold.

Popular Astronomy

THE MOON

Ben Jonson in his Hymn wrote this to Cynthia

Queen and huntress chaste and fair,
Seated in thy silver chair,
Now the Sun is laid to sleep,
State in wonted manner keep.

BY H. W. L. MAHOOD

The Buddhists have been very eager students of the heavens. They still teach their children legends about the stars and the planets. Instead of teaching school children in Canada legends, they are taught modern scientific astronomy. The school children at school in Western nations and the school children at school in the Far East are as far apart in instruction as is legend and science. We admit that there are some exceptions. Western education is invading the East. The progress is slow.

Read this charming Buddhist legend. The god Indra was one day walking through the woods disguised as a Braham. He met a monkey, and a fox, and a rabbit travelling together. He pretended to be starving, and asked them for something to eat.

All three started off at once to find food. The monkey came back with a bunch of mangoes. Canadians know but little about mangoes. Neither did this writer before travelling through Mexico. The mango is a warm climate fruit. Like the date it is a rich and luscious fruit. The Mexicans generally have a good laugh watching Americans or Europeans who have not travelled much trying to eat mangoes. But the Chinese and Japanese are as skilled eating them as they are eating rice.

The fox brought a pot of milk he had stolen. The rabbit came back empty handed. He was not at his wits end. Buddhism is exceedingly hospitable to the unfortunate and the hungry. Hence the point made in this legend. The monkey and the fox had shown their hospitality. The rabbit was not to be outdone. He said to the Brahman, "If you are very, very hungry, light a fire and roast me." "All right," said the Brahman, "I'll kindle a fire at the foot of this rock and you jump off into it." Immediately the fire was built, the rabbit leaped in, but was snatched from the flames by the god, and in reward for his heroic self-sacrifice was placed in the Moon, where he can be seen to this day.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Butter and cheese gained fractionally on the Montreal produce and dairy market yesterday while eggs and potatoes remained unchanged.

Butter was generally quoted at 21¼ to 21½ cents a pound. Receipts were seven boxes. Small lots to retailers were quoted by jobbers at 22 to 23 cents for solids and 23 to 24 cents for prints.

The cheese market was 9¾ to 10 cents for Ontario colored. Receipts totalled 244 boxes.

On the egg market, graded shipments in cartons or less were 20½ to 21 cents a dozen for "A" large, 19½ to 20 cents for "A" medium, 18½ to 19 cents for "B" and 17 to 17½ cents for "C". Arrivals were 2,796 cases.

Potatoes were steady at 80 to 85 cents for New Brunswick Mountains per 80-pound bag and 75 to 80 cents for Quebecs per 80-pound bag; Prince Edward Island Mountains being 95 cents to $1 for 90-pound bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 31. — Showers in Alberta and threat of more to come in all three Prairie Provinces took the steam out of the wheat market here yesterday. Longs were quick to realize profits in anticipation of a break in the drought and pushed Winnipeg Grain Exchange futures figures down 2½c to 2¾c.

There was a slight recovery from bottom levels, but support was never strong enough to effectively halt the decline, which stopped only when selling had run its course. May wheat closed at 76c, July at 77c to 77¼c, and October at 78c to 78¼c.

Meantime weather in Western Canada continued extremely hot, the mercury hovering around the 100-above mark at several points. Unsettled conditions were expected to spread eastward from Alberta, however.

After Tuesday's large foreign sales, export business was very restricted, and other buying was of a mixed character and hard to trace.

Cash grails were dull, while coarse grains encountered profit-taking and dropped sharply.

Losses of 1 to around 2 points were suffered by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Telephone, Celanese and Case. Transfers approximated 440,000 shares.

St. Joseph Street Voters Off Lists

Discovery of a further omission by voting list enumerators during their canvass of the city last week was made by the Election Board to-day. Through some oversight, no voters on St. Joseph street in polling sub-division No. 19 were visited.

As in the case of other ratepayers who have been missed, residents on St Joseph street will have to go before the revising officer in the Court House if they wish the privilege of voting.

SOUTHERN AREAS SASKATCHEWAN ALMOST DESERT

Even Virile Russian Thistle Gives Up Struggle Against Drought.

DUST BURIES CROPS.

Stock, Gaunt From Lack of Feed, Loosed in Rye Fields to Beat 'Hoppers.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 31. (CP). While encroaching hordes of grasshoppers, rapidly emerging from the egg stage, made further inroads on Western Canada's grain crops today, a wide area of the fertile farm belt of southern Saskatchewan, from which some of the most bountenous harvests in history have been reaped, was a veritable wilderness. The southern Saskatchewan conditions were disclosed in a report by Miss Dora Hind, agricultural expert of the Winnipeg Free Press.

Even the virile Russian thistle, bane of the prairie farmer, appeared for a time at least to have given up the struggle and against drought and grasshoppers in the areas of Cadillac and Kincaid, Sask.

In this district, which in 1931 was covered with swaying fields of wheat, prairie winds list clouds of dust, and sand into the air from the sun-scorched terrain. Of any crops that were seeded, there is faint indication as most of them lie buried deeply.

A 750-mile motor inspection trip by agricultural experts has revealed a picture of desolation through Saskatchewan's worst drought area, with its added affliction of grasshoppers, wire worms and pale western cutworms.

Wheat Turns Yellow

Young wheat, struggling up through fallow-land is rapidly turning yellow with 'hoppers swarming over the early-sown fields. Weary men scatter poison bait on road-sides and field edges in a vain effort to stem the damage total.

In most places in southern Saskatchewan coarse grains have not been seeded because the ground is too dry for germination. Pastures are brown and horses and cattle are gaunt from lack of feed. Many have been turned into fields of winter rye to get what little they can before the grasshoppers finish the scanty stands.

Grasshoppers have also invaded southwestern Manitoba, sweeping this corner of the province almost bare, even sagebrush and buckrush along fences has fallen before their insatiable appetite.

Drifting soil and drought has added to the devastation, and in the districts of Pierson, Stoughton and Sinclair feed for stock is at a premium. Farmers who have managed to outstay the drought are spreading poison biat for the hoppers and in many cases are getting results, but for many the 1934 harvest will be light.

STRIKE THREATS AFFECT TRADING

Reactionary Tendency on New York Board Due to U. S. Industrial Unrest.

TORONTO CAUTIOUS.

TORONTO, May 31 (CP)—Industrial shares suffered from neglect to-day, prices drifting down in scattered trading. The reactionary tendency on the New York Board, due apparently to strike threats introduced a note of caution here, and bids were mainly under the market. All groups finished lower though food and utility shares had a fair proportion of advances.

Nickel sagged below $26, closing at $25.85 for a loss of 40 cents. C.P.R. and Ford "A" took the minimum recession and Brazilian was unchanged at 9⅛. Distillery shares came out in reduced volume and only Walkers Common closed with a gain. Industrial Alcohol was unchanged at 11, Distillers Seagrams weakened ¼ and Brewers and Distillers lost 15 cents to $1.30.

SAN ANTONIO CLOSES HIGHER

TORONTO, May 31 (CP)—Volume expanded a little on the Mining Board of the Toronto Stock Exchange this afternoon and the market closed with a generally firm tone. Several of the cheaper golds, including San Antonio, McKenzie, Siscoe and Central Patricia were in demand in the afternoon and all closed higher. Senior golds and base metals were neglected and silver stocks were strong but slow except Eldorado which traded in fair volume.

The big inter-listed gold shares were held back by lethargy on the New York Board, although Teck Hughes and Wright Hargreaves had a fair turnover at unchanged prices. Lake Shore lost $1 to $50 in broken lot trades, and McIntyre weakened 25 cents. Hollinger was off 15 cents and Pioneer and Bralorne registered small gains.

WINNIPEG, May 31 (9.20 a.m.). —Sanford Evans' crop report issued last night, says in part, "After a week of excessively high temperatures and but few scattered showers, grain crops are definitely poorer and deteriorating. Important acreages in Manitoba and Alberta and the general portion of Saskatchewan are in a more or less critical condition, with the amount of permanent from drought, drifting, excessive heat and grasshoppers becoming increasingly evident each day that passed without rain. The weather map to-day showed showers and rains in Alberta, and in one or two points in Saskatchewan and further precipitation is forecast generally.

BROKERS' OPINIONS.

Jackson Bros.: We lean to the view that the sudden increase in grain trading, coupled with sensational rises in grain markets, will shortly furnish an impetus to stock market trading which will result in a definite piercing of the indicated resistance levels.

Weingarten & Co.: We do not for any particular price variations nor on the other hand a substantial uptrend, minor fluctuations from the current levels are about all we anticipate for the next few days.

Frazier Jelke: In considering the immediate market outlook, the possibility of a fairly large government refinancing operation should not be overlooked.

NEW YORK, May 31.—If one takes a calm look at the business picture, the conclusion is that the inescapable that trade is holding up better than was generally expected. In spite of numerous labor troubles and notwithstanding all adjustments caused by all kinds of political interference, the seasonal let-down in business has not been more than normal. The cotton and rayon industries have dropped off and so has coal production. Steel production is no longer advancing and has become irregular. Motor production lower but not as much as looked for. The oil industry is still showing improvement, and the same is true of copper and non-ferrous metal industry. Tobacco trade is more active and retail sales have held up well.

WHEAT PRICES SOAR SKYWARD WINNIPEG PIT

Market Closes With Level Eight Cents Higher Than Opening Monday.

CHICAGO ALSO STRONG.

Continuation of Drought in Wheat Bearing Countries Sends Prices Bounding.

WINNIPEG, May 31 (CP) — Wheat went skyward in the Winnipeg grain pit to-day with bears fading from sight and bulls ruling the field.

Continuation of drought in Western Canada's southern Prairie farm belt and in the United States sent wheat prices bounding 5¾ to 5⅞ cents higher than yesterday's close. Drought caused advances Monday and Tuesday, with a reaction Wednesday to leave prices about eight cents higher than the beginning of trading Monday morning.

Over Dollar Mark

CHICAGO, May 31 (AP)—More than a dollar a bushel was paid for wheat to-day, the first time this commodity has topped the century mark since last summer.

All future deliveries of wheat shot up about five cents soon after the market opened, July to above $1.01. Sept. above $1.02. A wave of buying orders on the strength of continued drought and high temperatures in wheat States flooded the pits.

CHIEF INJURED IN BANDIT CHASE

Two Officers, Three Citizens in Same Car Also Hurt in Crash.

ONE ARREST MADE.

THREE RIVERS, Que., May 31.—(C.P.)—While Chief of Police Jules Vachon of Three Rivers, was lying near death in hospital here from injuries received in an automobile crash during a wild bandit chase early to-day, a posse picked up Edward Machey, Montreal. The Chief had been pursuing three gasoline station bandits. Two constables and a Three Rivers citizen were injured with the Chief.

Hachey was fond limping along the highway a mile from Berthier, bleeding from a wide gash in his knee. Police said he told them he was given a lift by two men at Point Du Lac and that he knew nothing of their antecedents.

The posse followed a four mile trail of blood spattered along the highway before they overtook Hachey and questioned him.

Chief Vachon, Constables A. Desaulniers and Claude Martin, and Joseph St. Pierre, Three Rivers news dealer, were all brought to hospital here after their police car struck a tree near St. Barthelemy, 35 miles from here. The car they were pursuing crashed through a wooden fence and plunged into a small brook. The three bandits escaped into the woods. Chief Vachon's skull was fractured.

Utilities Decides To Order More Coal

Acting on rumours that coal mine workers may strike in sympathy with the iron and textile men in the United States, the Utilities Commission authorized Manager Harry Beal of the Gas Department to purchase an advance supply of coal for the manufacture of gas at a meeting this afternoon. Two car loads from Kentucky will be secured immediately.

"Can we not use Canadian coal?" R. L. Dobbin asked.

"It costs too much to take the sulphur out", Mr. Beal explained.

"The way things look in the States we may have to use it soon" Mr. Dobbin suggested.

Authorization for the extension of two gas mains, one on McFarlane street and the other on Ross street was given. The main on McFarlane street will be extended 250 feet at a cost of $315.73 and, on Ross street, 60 feet at a cost of $51.08.

Renewal of insurance on Utilities' trucks through Bradburns' Limited was agreed upon. The tender was $267.39.

HENRY CHARGES HEPBURN SHOWS C. C. F. LEANINGS

Also Accuses Latter Party of Favoring Private Property Confiscation.

HITS AT IRWIN.

Describes Ontario Tmperance Secretary as Professional Paid Agitator.

WILLOWDALE, Ont., May 31.—Premier George S. Henry moved northward to-day, carrying the defence of his Conservative government over the week-old trail of Mitchell F. Hepburn, leader of the Liberal part. The Premier motored on to Gravenhurst after addressing a meeting of his own constituents here last night, when he charged Mr. Hepburn with being "as much of the C.C.F. as they are themselves."

The Co-operative Commonwealth he said, stood for "confiscation of private property" despite the protests shouted by certain sections of the audience which constantly interrupted the Premier in the latter part of his address, and attempted to argue with the speaker until the chairman restored order and announced no further questions yould be answered until after Clifford Case, Conservative candidate in North York, had made a brief address.

One man from the rear of the hall told thePremier he would rather vote for a "Chinaman than either the Liberal or Conservative party," which he described as "two of a kind."

Tories for Law and Order.

The Premier, however, said there was a radical difference and went on to declare he and Hepburn would not "stand on the same platform because he was as much C.C.F. as they are themselves." The Conservative Party he said, stood for "law and order," for British people and institutions and progressive legislation."

Dr. A. J. Irwin, secretary of the Ontario Temperance Federation also came in for criticism and was described by the Premier as a "professional, paid agitator, who is now saying the cause of temperance is better in the hands of the Liberals than the Conservative Party.

"He now seeks to lean definitely in the direction of Mr. Hepburn in spite of the fact that for two years Mr. Hepburn tried to give Ontario a liquor manifesto. Why he not only advocated it repeatedly, but he had a broadcast arranged one night to make a public statement, but dropped it when his members in the Legislature would not follow him," the Premier said.

Affiliation with certain business corporations was outlined by the Premier, but he declared such affiliations had never interfered with his Government association, and said he never had any dealings with a company doing business with the Government. He also expressed a conviction that many people who "voted Liberal all their lives will leave the battered Liberal ship and will vote against it in this election."

Believed to be 800 years old, a skeleton has been found in a stone coffin in Brentwood, England.

WOLVES FIERCER RAISING FAMILY

Denizens of Sault's Park Mated in Tragic Animal Romance Now Have Cares.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., May 31 (C.P.). — Barney and Jacqueline, Bellevue Park wolves, are busy proving to visitors there are conditions of responsibility under which wolves will at least threaten to attack men.

Proud parents of three wolf pups, they have reverted to a state of ferocity and snarl viciously at any intruders except the men who bring their meals. And these are only allowed to slip the food through the cage door. Mrs. Barney is the fiercer of the two.

The romance of Barney and Jacqueline is interesting. Jacqueline was first seen here as a pup in Wolf Week, 1932, while Barney has long been a Bellevue Park resident. Wolk Week over, Jacqueline was moved to Bellevue Park.

But Barney already had a companion, a female coyote who resented Jacqueline as a rival and made life miserable for her. But the little wolf pup grew in strength and one day, although still smaller than her rival, she showed fight.

Battle to the death ensued, and when it was over Barney, the prize at stake, calmly licked Jacqueline's wounds while attendants removed the coyote's dead body from the pen.

Having won Barney's affection in fair fight, Jacqueline is now a mother and Bellevue Park has its wolf family to show tourists this summer.

1,000,000 Cattle Doomed

KANSAS CITY, Mo. May 31. — (AP) — A blazing sun mocked the water-hungry wheat leands of United States today, condemning 1,000,000 cattle to premature slaughter and burning down another 1,000,000 bushelsof wheat.

Temperatures that hit 106 degrees doomed the cattle. The government announced they would be slaughtered to relieve farmers in Minnesota, the Dakotas and Texas where feed shortages prevail.

George E. Farrell of the agricultural adjustment administration estimated the daily wheat abandonment due to drought at 1,000,000 bushels—roughtly $50,000. He noted that the drought conditions are especially acute in Northern States. Nevertheless farmers in Kansas, which grows a fourth or more of the wheat produced in the United States, looked with increasing concern at their blown-out and deadened fields. In many parts no rain had fallen for more than a month.

Walter W. McLaughlin, director of the Illinois Department of Agriculture, foresaw the danger of milk famines in many cities of that state unless dairy farmers receive help against the worst drought in Illinois history.

Augmenting the drought menace in the northern states were hordes of grasshoppers which have begun to feed on crops in Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana, Wisconsin and Michigan.

PARTY LEADERS INVADE NORTH, 3 WEEKS TO GO

Premer Raps Back at Opposition Charges Regarding Enumerators.

CHALLIES IN RUNNING.

TORONTO, May 31 (C.P.).—Muskoka and Algoma areas of Ontario played hosts to party leaders to-day as the Ontario general election campaign continued with about three weeks left before the citizens cast their ballots June 19.

Premier Henry was in Gravenhurst to-day to address political meetings. Mitchell Hepburn was in the Algoma country, where he addressed a Sault Ste. Marie meeting last night.

Mr. Henry in his Willowdale speech last night accused the C.C.F. of favoring confiscation of private property and branded Mr. Hepburn as a man with C.C.F. leanings. At the same time in Sault Ste. Marie Mr. Hepburn was declaring a group of "Tories" had offered a man $100 a week and job at $25 a week to swear out "a false affidavit concerning me."

Names Off Voting List.

Before visiting Willowdale, Premier Henry accused Opposition groups of spreading rumors that the Conservative Government was attempting to keep names off the voting lists. He said enumerators had found the door closed on them by housewives, who maintained they had already given the necessary election information and Mr. Henry said apparently the men who had appeared first were agents of the Opposition.

The Premier said he believed citizens with the interests of their province at heart would ascertain whether their names were on the lists.

Mayor O. J. Kerr of Stratford is rumored as an Independent candidate in Perth constituency, but the Mayor refused to comment. It is understood furniture workers and unemployed are urging the Mayor to carry the Independent banner.

Oxford riding will have a C.C.F. candidate. Sam Innes of Otterville last night was selected to represent this organization in the elections. H. L. Humphrey of Sarnia was selected Independent candidate in West Lambton at a meeting in Wilkesport, being chosen from among seven nominees.

At the Conservative convention in Hallville, J. A. Sanderson, member in the last Legislature, retired in favor of Hon. G. H. Challies, Provincial Secretary, who became the choice in Grenville-Dundas.

ANDERSON DIGS UP NEW PLANK

Supports Naming of Advisory Economic Council to Investigate Problems.

WOULD CUT LEGISLATURE.

REGINA, May 31. (CP).—Premier J. T. M. Anderson, leading the Co-operative Government of Saskatchewan in its bid for power in the June 19 elections, to-day was campaigning on a new point.

In his manifesto outlining the program of the combined Conservative, Progressive and Independent government, Premier Anderson went on record in support of appointment of an economic advisory council to investigate certain problems.

It was the second proposal for an advisory council. Previously M. J. Coldwell, leader of the Farmer-Labor (C.C.F.) party declared in favor of a planning commission. Electors throughout the province were anxiously awaiting the arrival of June 16 when the two leaders are scheduled to debate issues in Saskatoon.

Hon. James G. Gardiner, leader of the Liberal party and former Premier, was campaigning throughout the province but a previous meeting scheduled will prevent him from taking part in the Saskatoon debate. He was invited, but declined to break his schedule of meetings to attend.

Provincial Land Use

Premier Anderson's manifesto declared in favor of an advisory council "to investigate certain problems, one of which will be the utilization of our provincial land." Further explanation of the council setup and its work is expected during future meetings.

Reduction of the legislature membership was proposed also by the Conservative chieftain. The legislature just dissolved had a membership of 63 but under redistribution only 55 members will form the House after the June elections are completed. The Premier's proposal would cut the 55 membership another 13 seats to 42.

Measure to assure better returns to farmers on sale of products was promised by the Premier. Educational changes were proposed also.

Free of Campbellford; ceremony at St. Luke's Church, Ottawa, by the rector, the Rev. J. E. Lindsay.

PETHERICK—MORTON

(Examiner Correspondence).

RYLSTONE, May 31. — A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the Springbrook parsonage, on Saturday, May 19, at 11 o'clock when Alice Ruby, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Morton of Rylstone, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Fred Raymond Petherick, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel F. Petherick of Stanwood, Rev. W. H. Foley officiating.

The bride looked charming in a gown of white silk net over white satin and a rose chiffon velvet jacket to match, and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations, and maiden hair fern tied with a white silk tulle.

After the ceremony the happy couple left by motor for Kingston, Brockville and the Thousand Islands, the bride travelling in a pale green rough crepe dress and sand hat, coat and accessories to match.

STEVENS—NELSON

CAMPBELLFORD, May 31 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — A very pretty wedding, and one that was of much local interest, was solemnized on Saturday afternoon, May 26, in the ladies' parlor of St. John's United Church, Campbellford, when Miss Janet Margaret Nelson, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Nelson, was married to Martin Shaw Stevens, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Stevens, Oakmount Road, Toronto. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. C. Tait, the Wedding March being played by Albert Hazell.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a gown of white silk lace, and wore a large leghorn hat. Her flowers were Ophelia roses and lily-of-the-valley. Miss Helen Stevens, only sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, and wore a dress of white-frilled organdie, with small white hat, and carried a bouquet of roses. William Nelson, brother of the bride, was best man. The parlor was most effectively decoraetd with masses of Maytime blooms—apple blossoms, lilacs, tulips, wild flowers and ferns.

A reception was held later at the home of the bride's parents, where about forty guests sat down to supper. Later, the bridal couple left for Sudbury, the bride travelling in a grey swagger suit, with hat and accessories to match.

The bride is a very popular member of the younger set of Campbellford, and a host of good wishes go with her in her new home at Falconbridge, where her husband, a graduate of Queen's University, holds an important position in the nickel mines.

BLUE BLOODS OF POULTRY WORLD BATTLE FOR EGG-LAYING HONORS

Contest at Aggassiz Shows Barred Rocks Leading White Leghorns.

CLOSELY WATCHED.

By Central Press Canadian

VANCOUVER, May 31. — Two barred rock hens are challenging the supremacy of the white leghorns in the British Columbia egg-laying contest at the Dominion experimental farm, Agassiz, where world champions have been produced for several years. White leghorns have won the honors for several years, but this season Pennington No. 2 is leading the contest with 192 eggs in 196 days and Delta Land Co. No. 3 has a simular record. The Pennington hen, however, scored 191 points (which are awarded on the basis of egg weight), while the Delta Land producer has only 173.7 points.

The leader, a stockily-built individual with practically no comb and a keen eye, is the property of W. Pennington, an Englishman and a war veteran, who has a poultry ranch near Agassiz. Mr. Pennington has risen to the top in the poultry world and one of his hens—Dauntless Dereen — equalled the world's record last season with 357 eggs in 365 days.

Important Contest

The egg-laying contest at Agassiz —regarded as one of the most important in the world—is conducted on the most modern style under watchful care of W. H. Hicks, superintendent of the experimental farm. When the pullets arrive in the fall they are inoculated, placed in their various pens and an accurate record kept of all their movements, not only in actual laying, but in moulting, etc.

A special ration, designed to provide the best food for egg-producing, is arranged.

The Pennington bird is an aristocrat; she claims relationship with Lady Victorine, Hen No. 440, who laid at Saskatchewan University in an unofficial test 358 eggs in 365 days. This is a world record for a barred rock, although it is unofficial.

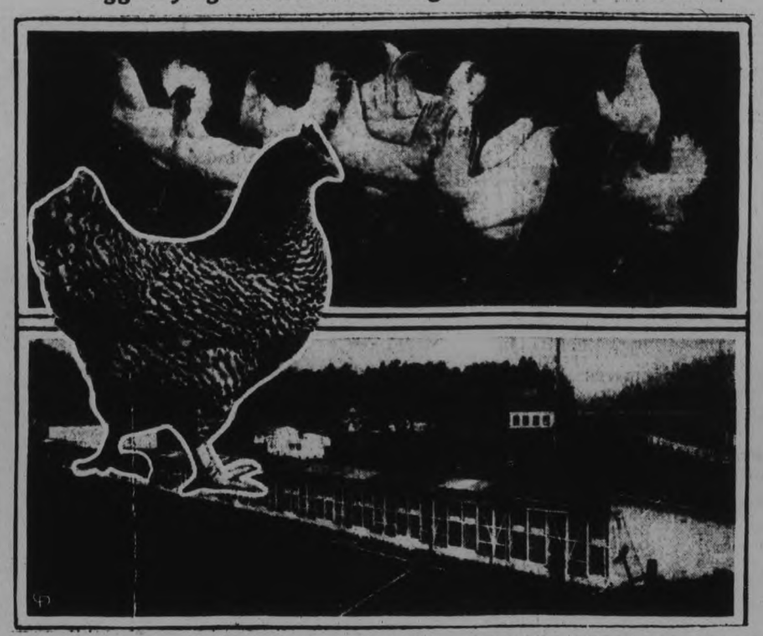
Mr. Pennington, who will not set a price on his bird, will give it a name if it wins the championship. Until then it is merely "No. 2."

Possibly of greater merit, although overshadowed by the attempt of the two heavy females to break into the limelight, is the performance of the ten S.C. white leghorns belonging to F. C. Evans, Abbottsford, that led the contest at the end of the twenty-eighth week, with 1,409 eggs and 1,618.5 points to their credit. The second pen belongs to A. W. Schofield, 1,378 eggs and 1,456.7 points. The Evans pen are magnificent birds.

Egg-Laying Contest Attracting Considerable Interest



An egg-laying contest that has been going on for several months is attracting considerable interest to Aggassiz, B.C., where white leghorns vie with barred rocks for supremacy in the hen world. At the Dominion Experimental Farm, under the direction of Mr. W. H. Hicks, two barred rocks are, at the moment, showing the way to the leghorns. It was at this farm that the famous Dauntless Dereen equalled the world record for egg-laying last year. The layout shows TOP, a pen of leghorns owned by F. C. Evans, which led the contest. BELOW, the pens in which the contest took place. INSET, Pennington No. 2, a barred rock that led all classes at the end of the 28th week.

THEATRES

AT THE REGENT

KAY FRANCIS and W. C. FIELDS

For sheer entertainment, this double bill would be extremely hard to duplicate. It gives you several hours of solid enjoyment.

First you thrill to the tragic romance of Kay Francis, in "The House on 56th Street," and then you chuckle your way along with the veteran, W. C. Fields, who is one of those old actors who know how to squeeze the last drop of fun out of small situations.

This program is presented under auspices of the Catholic Women's League, who use the funds for relief purposes.

"The House on 56th Street" opens at the turn of the century, when gentlemen with straw hats sat astride slowly-moving bicycles, when ladies wore rats in their pompadours and freakishly feathered hats and when chorines danced in long skirts and exhibited garters as a daring gesture. Kay Francis is Peggy Martin, a chorus girl who has two suitors and chooses the handsome Monty Van Tyle (Gene Raymond) and goes to pass her married life in a house on 56th Street. The main theme of the tale revolves about this house and the manner in which it serves as a tragic refuge in later years, after Peggy has gone to prison for manslaughter and come back there to act as the dealer in a crooked 'blackjack' game. The art of Kay Francis is paramount throughout. Even in ridiculous attire, she is a fine actress. The first portion of the picture is full of gooey moments, when Peggy is a beautiful, stupid girl. Later, she shows her cleverness as the crooked card player, Mrs. Stone, following trans-Atlantic lanes with her partner (Ricardo Cortez), and coming back finally to the house on 56th Street, where another tragic drama is played out. It is a memorable picture.

In the second feature, "You're Telling Me," W. C. Fields has some rich moments in the role of the henpecked, feckless Samuel Bisbee, of Crystal Springs. From the first few moments, when his pantomimic, wordless adventures as an early-morning roisterer, returning home and encouraging huge difficulties with hats and keyholes and other gadgets, to say nothing of his waiting spouse, Abigail, to the last episode, when he waves away his three servitors and whistles gaily to his old chums to come and crack a crock with him, it is a gay and chuckling affair.

Watch Samuel shoot the tires off a police car and then prepare to end it all by the iodine route; see him showing his tattooed biceps to a horrified society matron; regard his demonstration of his peerless invention for snorers, the "nose lifter-upper"; peek at his efforts to escort home a peace offering in the shape of an enraged ostrich, and then pause to observe his adventures with a foreign princess who possesses a sense of humour. If you do all these things, you will have a gay time of it, for Mr. Fields never lets the fun down for an instant. He is one of those unusual comedians who seem to be funny in spite of themselves, not because of any conscious efforts on their own part.

The program opens with a very interesting brief glimpse of the life and work of the Rev. Father Coughlin of Detroit, the famous Radio commentator. It opens with an organ playing one of the popular Latin hymns to the Blessed Virgin, and it closes with a brief address by the priest himself, who concludes a tribute to President Roosevelt with the words: "The old gold standard, the slave standard, is through forever."

La Salle Pacemaker At The 500-Mile Race

Willard Rader, driver of the La Salle roadster which set the pace for the Indianapolis speedway race this year, is reputed to have driven more miles on the Indianapolis track in races, tests and experiments than any other man on the continent. He began racing in 1911 and in 1916 turned the Indianapolis track for the first time at a speed greater than 100 miles an hour.

The honor of being chosen to provide a car to act asp acemaker and lead the fleet of racing cars off on their long grind is very eagerly sought after by automobile manufacturers; the award of this is a tribute to the speed and performance of the car chosen. Both LaSalle and Cadillac have enjoyed this distinction on more than one occasion.

As pacemaker the LaSalle started out at the head of the fleet of racers at a comparatively slow pace. As the motors warm up, the speed increased, so that on the back stretch of the track the fleet was stepping off about 70 miles an hour. As they enter the home stretch the LaSalle opened up to about 90 miles an hour and crossed the starting line wide open. At this point the pacemaker swung off the track on to a concrete spur and the long, thrilling 500-mile grind started.

BEHIND the SCENES in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. May 30.—The artistic side of Hollywood takes expression on one of the important nights set for the Hollywood Bowl "Symphonies Under the Stars" nights this season.

On July 13, Francesca Braggiotti, wife of John Lodge, the Paramount leading man and scion of the Boston Lodges, will be solo dancer in her own ballet production, "Ballet of the Seasons."

Miss Braggiotti, who is a professional dancer in her own right, will stage the ballet, design the costumes, sets and pay all the bills for the production. She will have the Philharmonic orchestra, with Sir Henry Wood conducting.

Imagine Be rt Wheeler playing a flute, and with his nose! One of the R-K-O star's ardent admirers sent him an exotic instrument from India, in appreciation of his work in one of the studio's musicals recently released in the Orient. It is a Hindu flute which is played by the nostril. Partner Robert Woolsey claims the gift was intended for Jimmy Durante.

One of London's gayer charity events is the mock trial staged annually for the benefit of King Edward's Hospital.

The yearly lark is looked forward to with great anticipation by the playfolk over there. This year Constance Cummings has the role of defendant for the fair name of Hollywood movies. Tallulah Bankhead will prepare a comic brief for British pictures.

Playwright Benn W. Levy, husband of Constance, will go on trial for deserting the stage to write for the screen. Alexander Korda will be prosecuted for producing pictures.

The whole proceeds of this social frolic go to the hospital.

Here are some curious straws to show which way the winds of ambition are blowing. They come from the entries sent in to the Hollywood casting bureau for a film corporation's snapshot search for movie talent.

Of the entries from 18 states already heard from, three quarters of them are from women, mostly married, the majority for "leading roles." One rabbi and a minister sent in snapshots for movie careers. The blondes swamp the brunettes among the women; with the men, the reverse is true. A third of both sexes are college graduates, 90 per cent of the entries are from people with jobs.

KAY FRANCIS comes to the screen of the Regent Theatre today in her latest starring picture for Warner Bros., "The House on 56th Street," a colorful drama based on the novel by Joseph Santley.

Miss Francis is supported by a sterling cast of notable players including Ricardo Cortez, Gene Raymond, John Halliday, Margaret Lindsay, Frank McHugh, Sheila Terry and William Boyd. Robert Florey directed the picture.

W. C. Fields, stage and screen comedian, who has been a featured player for many years, has at last laughed himself into a starring position. His first starring picture, "You're Telling Me," opens to-day at the Regent Theatre.

NEW COMPANIES SEEK CHARTERS IN PROVINCES

Not Apology to Federal Government—Fear Rigid Laws.

CAHAN INFORMS HOUSE.

Senate Resumes Study of Shipping Bill With Its 719 Clauses.

OTTAWA, May 31 (CP)—Fearing the strict provisions of the new Dominion Companies Act scores of new companies are seeking their charters from the Provincial Government instead of from the Federal. This information was given the House of Commons by Hon. C. H. Cahan, Secretary of State, as an illustration of the difficulties attaching to the enactment of rigid company laws.

The House spent yesterday discussing the Companies Bill, and a number of members urged greater safeguards to protect unsuspecting investors from the manipulations of unscrupulous promoters. It is hoped the provinces will tighten up their Company Laws shortly, but the House was reminded there is no assurance of this.

The new Federal law is designed to be a basis for uniform laws throughout the country, and until this condition comes about the full amount of protection desired can not be given the public.

"I suggest we remedy such evils as we can at the present time," said Mr. Cahan, "and live in reasonable expectation the amendments and reforms incorporated in this bill will be adopted by the several Legislatures and that we proceed step by step to solve the problem of company organization."

Most of Bill Approved

Most of the bill has been approved by the House in Committee, but a few clauses remain to be passed. They will be taken up to-day and afterwards the House will go into Committee of Ways and Means on the tariff and taxation resolutions of the budget and Committee of Supply on Post Office Department estimates.

To-day the Senate resumes consideration of the voluminous Shipping Bill, with its 719 clauses and 324 schedules. It has just been reported from the Banking Committee, which has devoted months of study to it.

Possibility the battle over the Translation Bill, which raged in the House of Commons, might be renewed in the Senate appeared yesterday when a number of Senators criticized the bill and urged that it be sent to a special committee. It is designed to establish a central bureau of translators to co-ordinate this work which is now carried on independently in the various departments.

Senators who spoke on the bill were agreed the translation of the Senate debates and proceedings was poorly done, but were not satisfied the bill would bring about the improvement desired.

estimated gross revenues for the current year at $165,000,000.

The problem of establishing the cooperation between the C.N.R. and the C.P.R. was beset with many difficulties. Considerable headway was being made, however, and committees were working on it all the time.

The impression was being disseminated throughout Canada that cooperation was not so effective as at first thought, several members of the committee said.

This had been strengthened by addresses delivered by E. W. Beatty, president of the C.P.R., Hon. W. D. Euler, former Minister of National Revenue, said. He asked Judge Fullerton to comment on that situation.

Mr. Beatty, said the trustees chairman was a strong advocate of consolidation of the railways, and he was properly "looking after his own interests." He had not thought fit to make any public reply to Mr. Beatty's observations. However, he would be prepared next Wednesday to make a statement to the committee, when it met again, covering the whole matter of cooperation. Judge Fullerton was asked to include in that statement his views with regard to writing down the capital of the C.N.R., as recommended by the company's auditors.

Writing Down Capital

Mr. Euler expressed himself as strongly in favor of writing down the capital.

Today's session saw the committee approving a bill providing for payment of $48,840,298 representing the estimated deficits of the system for the current year.

The bill also provided for an issue of notes amounting to $16,387,835 to take careof capital expenditures and for refunding issue amounting to $37,570,383. The measure was approved.

We are in the hands of parliament in this matter, declared the Trustees Chairman, naturally we would like it written down as much as possible.

This point was open to argument, Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister, of Railways, declared. The reduction would be in the debts owed the Government and: since no interest was paid on this indebtedness, writing down the capitalization would not mean reduction of one cent in the interest payments of the system.

Mr. Euler and Winfred Hanbury (Lib., Vancouver Burrard) both took the stand that the system was being given a black eye by its opponents, who pointed to the heavy capitalization of the C.N.R. Mr. Hanbury gave notice of his intention to move before the committee that the capitalization be reduced, probably not exactly as suggested by the auditors, but along that line.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

EVERYTHING THAT can happen on a race track has taken place at Thorncliffe. One afternoon of this week, two track records of long standing were broken. Then nobody in the thousands present had a ticket on Sparky in the daily double and to cap it all Flyer the good sprinter fell during a race and broke his neck and was later destroyed . . . Eddie Seagram is not carrying many horses in his stable this year but those he has are good ones. His latest winner being one called Irish Kid which got down in front on Tuesday last. Let's take a look at the ones that consume their oats in his barn. In addition to Irish Kid, there is Young Kitty, a double winner this year already. Shady Well, one of the best Canuck breds in training. Candy Feast who should gather in a purse his next trip to the barrier.

The big upset of yesterday's decoration day program at Belmont park was the defeat of the famous Equipoise by Ladysman. True the margin was by only the proverbial whisker and Equipoise carried the crushing impost of 134 pounds against Ladysman's' 114 over the mile and a quarter distance but it proves the old saying that "weight will stop any of them." Still it is too bad to see a nag like Equipoise beaten by nothing but too much lead in the saddle pockets.

THERE WAS a real horse race at Thorncliffe yesterday when Senator Raymond's Step Off and Pat Gaiety staged a duet the whole length of the stretch with Step Off finally getting the nod by a nose at the wire . . . Butter Beans is liked awfully well by his connections to gather in a purse and it won't be long, as he is in fine fettle, and quite capable of taking any of the platers into camp. Stefan Jr. is training well and although he has not started this year he should be ready to do business at the first asking and he always did have a liking for the Leaside Oval.

This Cantersine which finished second to March Step on Tuesday in record breaking time will not be long in entering the winners' circle. He was formerly the property of Elmer Trueman and anything that this astute horseman ever had in his barn was no dud. Charlie Meister who put over Penny Wise the other day is another smart conditioner of horses and although he has not campaigned on our tracks for some time he has not forgotten how to develop winners. He will be remembered by some of the older racing fans as the owner of Thomasine who used to be a regular winner at Thorncliffe.

DIONNE BABIES "GOING STRONG"

Now Being Nourished on Human Milk From Mothers in District.

3 IN INCUBATOR.

NORTH BAY, Ont., May 31 (C.P.). — More than 80 hours old the Dionne quintuplets, at Corbeil, are "going strong," stated Dr. A. R. Dafoe, attending physician early this afternoon. They are now being nourished on human milk, obtained from new mothers in the district and supply received this morning from the American Medical Association, Chicago.

The three smaller members of the quituplet group are now being cared for in the incubator which arrived early last evening from Chicago via Toronto. The other two are being cradled in large baskets, and appear to be enjoying relief from overcrowding.

Mrs. Dionne, whose life hung in the balance soon after tde births, is regaining strength hourly. Dr. Dafoe is well pleased with her condition, and the progress being made by his five infant patients. He looks for further gains since human milk is being fed the children.

Interest in the Dionne family is becoming more intense and widespread each day. Reports of offers to exhibit in various centres are being broadcast throughout the district every hour. Mr. Dionne is not the least excited or impressed by fortunes being cast before him. His main interest now is the welfare of his wife, the new-borns, and the five older members of the family, who require care.

Germany Celebrates Battle Of Jutland

BERLIN, May 31 (C.P.).—Germany turned back to-day to celebrate the anniversary of the greatest naval battle of modern times.

Just 18 years ago the mighty British Grand Fleet and the German high seas fleet locked in the Battle of Jutland.

The day was observed with more than usual fervor. Parades and memorial addresses were high spots of the program here.

SMALL PACKERS BEING FORCED OUT OF BUSINESS

said, the large packing plants "manipulate live hog prices" on the markets to the detriment of everyone but themselves.

Unable to Survive

Small packing plants could not survive much longer, due to the competition of the large companies who undersold them.

This cut-throat competition prevailed throughout the St. Catharines district and had been intensified in the last two years, Mr. Moyer stated.

On a few occasions his firm had bought wholesale when short of products from big packers, chiefly Canada Packers. He had found, said Mr. Moyer, his firm had paid a price higher than the big packers had sold to retailers.

The capacity of his plant was from 300,000 to 325,000 hogs per week, but it was down to the handling of only 75,000 hogs weekly, said witness.

"Do you allege the practice of big packers is to go into a territory and where there is competition sell goods at a lower price than in a territory where there is no competition?" asked Hon. H. H. Stevens, chairman.

"It appears that way," answered witness.

The Moyer plant paid wages of 25 to 75 cents an hour with the average being 45 cents, the committee was told. Executive salaries were not much higher than wages for employees.

It was his opinion, said Mr. Moyer, the cut-throat competition originated with Canada Packers. He said he knew of salesmen for that company taking orders at almost any price. Often there would be a spread of three cents a pound between different orders taken by the same salesmen.

"They do in many cases," replied witness. This concluded his evidence.

Different Prices

Canada Packers Limited sell the same products at different prices the same day, T. A. Hutchison, one of its investigating auditors said. He told of customers in Niagara Falls and Hamilton paying spreads of one and two cents a pound for the same product and said the practice extended all through eastern Canada.

Under Canada Packers' selling system, salesmen are given a list price and a minimum price, the auditor said, the latter representing cost plus interest of six per cent. The salesmen must not cut below minimum price and are expected to obtain as close to the list price as possible in order to pay their own salaries and travelling expenses. Spreads between the two prices sometimes are as high as three and four cents a pound, between which the salesmen barter with their customers.

McGILL STREET BARN DESTROYED

BELIEVED INCENDIARY.

Fire which the owner of the property believes was probably caused by incendiarism, this morning razed a large frame barn. The buildinng, owned by Frederick Doig and located at the rear of his house at 337 McGill street was destroyed along with an automobile, two bicycles, 300 feet of matched lumber and a quantity of storm windows. Damage is estimated by Mr. Doig at $700. The car was the only item covered by insurance.

Breaking out shortly after nine o'clock the fire burned with such intensity that a nearby telephone pole was badly charred while the wires broke, putting a number of telephones in the vicinity out of commission. The rear of Mr. Doig's residence, a 2-storey structure, was also scorched, and the fact that the house was saved from destruction, is solely attributable to the timely co-operation of the A. Wander Company and the Canadian Johnston Motor Company.

Charles Shaw, manager of the Ovaltine plant readily responded to a request for assistance, ordering the opening of valves at the plant which released water at the rate of 400 gallons per minute that flowed into the ditch running down the west side of Park street to the river.

The water supplied by the Wander Company was used to good advantage by a fire fighting crew with a Johnson-Tremblay pump supplied by the Canadian Johnson Motor Company, under supervision of Harry Wood, works manager.

Mr. Wood is reeve of North Monaghan township, and his own property is located near the scene of this morning's place. About a year ago he was the victim of a similar fire which occurred under suspicious circumstances, and which he also believes was due to incendiarism.

While the fire occurred in the suburban area, the City Fire Department received a call at 9.05 a.m., and responded with the chemical wagon, returning to the hall shortly after ten o'clock.

Mr. Shaw, commenting to The Examiner on the aid rendered by his firm, said, "we turned on a capacity of about 400 gallons of water per minute for almost sixty minutes."

While his firm had been glad to render assistance, Mr. Shaw said he did not know why the residents of that area did not sign up for water service. He felt that they should not delay having hydrants for their own protection, pointing out that the Ovaltine plant could not always be depended upon to supply water.

LAKEFIELD A.Y.P.A. CONCLUDES SUCCESSFUL SEA SON AT BANQUET

Activities of the Year Reviewed During the Toast Program.

ABOUT 30 PRESENT.

(Examiner Correspondence)

LAKEFIELD, May 31. — About thirty members of the A.Y.P.A. sat down to the annual banquet which was held at St. John's Parish Hall on Monday evening. After a bountiful supper had been disposed of the members came to order for the toast to the King proposed by the president, George Stenner and honored in the customery manner. The toast committee prepared the list but told no one of its contents and the speeches were all impromptu and in consequence many of them were brief but they were worthwhile. L. J. Charlton proposed the toast to the church which was honored in the usual way and the reply made by Rev. W. J. Creighton, M.A rector of the parish and pastor of the Society.

The toast to the A.Y.P.A. was proposed by Miss Graham who urged a wider vision of the importance and obligations of the branch and a more rigid following of its principals. The reply was made by George Stenner, the president who briefly reviewed its activities and who thanked his fellow member for their excellent cooperation throughout the year. Miss Lilian Mason, vice president also spoke urging even greater work in the future.

Our Future, proposed by Fred Hampton brought forth a warning to a greater sense of responsibility and a continuation of the highest ideals of loyalty and service. "The picture," said the speaker "is something to look forward to rather than to speak on."

Walter Chappell replied briefly in an optimistic vein urging a continuance of the spirit of the past, going forward to bigger and better things.

The toast to Kindred Organizations brought representatives from among the members who briefly spoke. Mrs. Mendal Smith spoke for the W. A. whose secrets she declined to reveal. Miss Woodhouse spoke for the Church Guild, hoping that the ladies present would all some day become members. Miss Winnie Payne spoke for the Girl's Auxiliary which has accomplished a great deal despite the fact that all are little girls and the hours of meeting are necessarily short, but two quilts, four scrap books and several pieces of embroidery were made and the branch is in a splendid financial position.

The Hockey Team brought a reply from the manager George Stenner who reviewed the season which had been a happy one and had not cost anything as the receipts paid its way. In the games the wins and losses were about equal. Joe Blewett also spoke and referred to the High School contributions to the team and hoped next year will see better luck in the cup contest.

The toast to the ladies was proposed by George Clappell, who in this, his maiden speech, brought down the house. Miss Grace Watson replied, speaking of the cooperation always given by the boys, not only this year but every year.

In closing, Mr. Stenner thanked the committee for the honor bestowed on him of being the toastmaster, a roll which he occupied for the first time. The annual business meeting will be held on June 11.

MILLBROOK YOUNG PEOPLE END YEAR AT SUCCESSFUL BANQUET

Over One Hundred Attend Supper in Basement of St. Andrew's Church.

ENJOYABLE PROGRAM.

MILLBROOK, May 31 (Examiner Correspondence) — Over one hundred young people sat down to the banquet served in the basement of St. Andrew's Church on Monday at 7 p.m., the event marking the close of the current season in the work of the Young Peoples' Society, the most prosperous of recent years in the organization's history.

The Y.P.S. colors, blue and gold, were featured in the ruffled runners centring the long tables, the lighted candles burning in brass holders and the shades for the lights, vases of early summer blossoms adding to the attractiveness of the tea tables, and of the large room.

At the head table were seated the guests of honor, Rev. H. B. L. Seymour, of Campbellford, who was the chief speaker, and Mrs. Seymour, the pastor and his wife, Rev. W. W. and Mrs. Jones, members of the Peterborough Presbytery Y.P.S., Mr. Stewart of Stewart Hall, Otonabee, Fred Barnard, of South Monaghan and Archie Matchett of Cavan, and the officers of the local society.

B. B. Dawson, president of St. Andrew's Y.P.S., acted as toastmaster, and when the toast to the King had been duly honored, a sing-song was enjoyed led by Mr. Dawson with Miss Francis Jones at the piano. Alan Smith, M.A., proposed the toast to Canada in a neat speech, and following its honoring "O Canada" was sung. The toast to "Our Guests" was ably proposed by Miss Beatrice Jones, Mr. F. Barnard replying, and as one of the Bay of Quinte Y.P.S. officers, bringing greetings from that body.

By way of variety a sextette, Misses Mary Burnham, Bryar Edmunds, Beatrice Jones, Ken Kidd, Bob Dunford and Gordon Muspratt sang an action song, "Neighbors," which was appropriate and warmly encored. Reeve P. Stinson had the honor of proposing the toast to "Our Young People," emphasizing especially the value of the hostess organization in the lives of the young folk of the church and community as an ally to the parents in helping to arrive at right decisions, on their own responsibility, for the advancement of the Kingdom interests, and the development of a Christian citizenship. Gordon Muspratt replied suitably, and a duet, "There's an old spinning wheel in the parlor," (in costume) was sung by Beatrice McDowell and Gordon Jones.

Rev. Mr. Seymour

Rev. Mr. Jones introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. Mr. Seymour, recalling that he had been at the conference when the three brothers of this one family, at their mother's special request, were ordained at the one time into the Christian ministry. As Field Secretary for Albert College, Belleville, Mr. Seymour had had a wide experience travelling thousands of miles over the Dominion and coming into practical touch with the young manhood of our land.

Shortly to be a neighbor as he has been called to the Springville circuit as pastor, Rev. Mr. Seymour was accorded a warm welcome when he rose to deliver his inspiring address, the key-note of which might have been considered 'stewardship' emphasis being placed upon the opportunity and responsibility of the young people in the new social order that is bound to come soon in the life of our nation. Pointing out that the followers of the Young Galilean outthought, outlived and outdied the very best that the Roman Empire could produce, the speaker went on to show that this also is an age of new movements and young people, by being master of the circumstances under which they live, by developing a personality of their very own, by having a will of their own, are called upon to prepare themselves for the new order that is coming.

"Up and on" was the motto suggested, with preparation as the key-note of the day, and trained intellects to grasp the truths that come out of the teachings and practice of Jesus Christ. "We have in this land a virile, Christian young people such as this society represented here to-night is fittingly training, and I am not afraid to trust them with the creating and carrying forward of a new social order that must come, and a new life, permeated with the spirit of Christ Himself."

Mr. Seymour was given prolonged applause as he concluded his address, and following a selection by the Serenaders' orchestra, the comedy "The Duchess bounces in" was presented. Jean Burnham reading the story from behind a screen, while the characters acted out its ridiculous story. Taking part were "The Orchestra" William Ridge leading, Gordon Jones and Jack Arundel playing mouth organ and flute; "The Situation," Bryar Edmunds; Lady Vera Boudoir, Helen Mitchell; her dashing lover (who entered by the window) Ken Kidd; the stern Duke, her father, B. B. Dawson who pursued his eloping daughter on roller skates; and the Duchess, her mother, Bernice Smith, whose interference brought about a happy ending to the love story.

Jack Stinson moved the vote of thanks to the mothers who had served the banquet. Mrs. M. Weatherup, Mrs. P. Stinson, Mrs. D. Lunn, Mrs. G. E. Burnham, Mrs. J. Sloan, Mrs. E. Mitchell, Mrs. E. C. Thornton, Mrs. F. A. Kidd and Mrs. E. C. Richards and Martha Earle seconded a motion that was accorded hearty applause.

Rev. Mr. Jones dismissed the gathering with the blessing.

Miss Frances M. Douglas of Winnipeg, co-authoress with Thelma Lecocq of the current best-seller, "Britannia Waives the Rules," a satire on England, is shown aboard the Alaunia at Montreal just prior to sailing for England to see just what she's written about; "if they'll let me in," she remarked.

MRS. ROBERT SKEEN IS 90 YEARS OLD

Pioneer Resident of Chandos Township Celebrates Birthday—Apsley News.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LASSWADE, May 31. — Mrs. Steen, one of the few remaining pioneers of Chandos township, celebrated her ninetieth birthday on Sunday, May 27th. Born in 1844, in Donegal County, Ireland, Mrs. Steen came to Lasswade 63 years ago, to join her brother Andrew Wilson, who had a few years previously located there, and has lived in this settlement ever since. She is in possession of all her faculties, her memory being remarkably keen, and her native wit and humor as smart as ever. Mrs. Steen celebrated her birthday by taking a motor ride over the road, which, when she first travelled it was nothing but a trail through the forest. Among the family gathering in honor of the event were a daughter and a great grandson, both of whose birthdays fall on the same date as Mrs. Steen's.

Revise Prize Lists.

The directors of the Apsley Agricultural Society met in the town hall on Monday evening and revised the prize list for the annual fall fair. An application to use the fair ground for baseball matches by the road camp teams on Sundays was unanimously refused. The camps are given the privilege of using the grounds free of charge every week night if required.

Both Chandos and Burleigh and Anstruther Municipal Councils have promised grants of $10 to the Society. The president, Mr. Malcolm Tucker, and the Rev. C. A. G. Spence were appointed to canvass the merchants of Peterborough for special prizes for the fair, as it was felt that Peterborough has most of the business of this district. A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Spence for his donation of a silver cup, which it was decided to offer for the best horse shown on halter, the cup to be won twice to become the property of the winner.

On motion of the president a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the ladies who made the quilt sold at the Society's dance this month by Mr. Miles of Lakefield, for the handsome sum of $20.40.

DR. MOORE RAPS SWEEPSTAKES

United Church Moderator Also Denounces Senate for Stand Taken.

HITS AT BEER SALE.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., May 31. (C. P.)—Praise for the House of Commons and denunciation of the Senate at Ottawa for the stand taken on the bill designed to legalize sweepstakes in Canada were voiced last evening by Rt. Rev. T. Albert Moore, Moderator of the General Council of the United Church, speaking before the Bay of Quinte Conference in annual session here.

The Moderator said that he hoped the last had been heard of the bill, which the Senate had tried to foist on the country, and stated that the General Council of the church had issued a strong statement setting forth the evils of gambling, a copy of which had been sent to every member of the Senate and the Commons.

Both of the old-line political parties in Ontario also came in for criticism from Dr. Moore for their stand on the liquor question in regard to the freer sale of beer and wine and he advised his audience to select the best men in their respective ridings and vote for them on election day.

Mentioning the now celebrated Corbell quintuplets, Dr. Moore stated that to-day, 16 years after the close of the Great War, world peace was not assured and the babes born yesterday, to-day and those which will be born to-morrow are not safe from the horrors of war. While the quintuplets were all girls and would not have to go to war, yet if war came in their lifetimes, they must suffer the hardships and perils imposed by such war.

Dr Moore praised the unceasing loyalty of the members of the United Church and stated that its total revenue for the year had amounted to $1,736,856.

Members of the conference will pay a pilgrimage to the grave at the Blue Church, Augusta Township, of Barbara Heck, "foundress of Methodism in North America" on Thursday afternoon.

"YOU CAN PROVE TO YOURSELF HOW LONG OLD DUTCH WILL LAST BY PUTTING THE DATE ON THE NEXT PACKAGE YOU BUY."

"THAT'S AN IDEA, AND I'LL DO IT. I'VE NOTICED ALREADY HOW MANY MORE THINGS YOU CAN CLEAN WITH OLD DUTCH."

"Seismotite" (pronounced sis'-mo-tite) is a fine, scratchless cleaning and polishing material of volcanic origin. It cleans more things, cleans quicker and doesn't scratch. Seismotite particles cover more surface because they are flaky and flat-shaped like this That's why Old Dutch goes further and does more cleaning per penny of cost. Rockefeller Seeking Complete Seclusion Flees Northward To New Jersey Estate

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 31 (AP) — John D. Rockefeller, Sr., approaching 95, wants — and has just about attained—complete seclusion from the world at large.

The man who built one of the world's largest financial domains from a sitting of turkey eggs—he made his first dollar from a hatching of turkeys—has ceased being interviewed by newspapermen and wants to spend his declining years in peace and quietude, surrounded only by his family and intimate friends.

Shortly before he left The Casements, his Florida estate, Mr. Rockefeller walked downstairs, hitched up a chair near the office of his private secretary, Ward Madison, and said:

"We will be leaving shortly. There will be no interviews, but I am happy to make this statement," and he dictated the following:

"I have had a very pleasant winter, and I am much improved. I am very grateful for the kind treatment of everybody and I hope to return early in the autumn."

W. Sibley who died in Hornsey England, at the age of 91, played bowls until just before his death.

The Weather

The mercury soared to 86 degrees to-day to record the highest temperature of the present year. It was two degrees in excess of the former high reading, recorded on May 4.

While May has been a month of variable temperatures ranging from frost at nights in some sections of the district to midsummer heat, it has also won doubtful distinction as being an exceedingly dry month. According to Walter Peters, the rainfall precipitation for the month has only been 1.68 inches, which he states, is fifty per cent short of the normal rainfall at this period of the year.

TORONTO, May 31 (Synopsis).—Pressure continues low over the Western provinces and north-west states, with an area of high pressure covering the northern portion of the continent, and another deep low area off the Straits of Belle Isle. Heavy rains have occurred in Northern Alberta, with light showers in many other parts of the Western provinces.

Georgian Bay—Moderate winds; partly cloudy. Friday—Fresh south-east to south winds; partly cloudy; probably some local thundershowers.

Northern Ontario — North to north-east winds; fair. Friday—Easterly winds; cloudy and probably showers.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valley—Moderate to fresh south-west to north-west winds; fair; a little cooler to-night. Friday—Moderate to fresh north-east to east winds; partly cloudy; probably followed by scattered showers in Western districts.

I.O.D.E. URGED TO ADOPT POLICY IN CASE IMMIGRATION RESUMED

Great Strides Made Among Newcomers in Western Provinces

MUCH WELFARE WORK.

TORONTO, May 31. (CP).—The time is at hand for the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire to study conditions and "prepare to adopt a suitable policy when immigration is resumed" said the report of the immigration committee presented today to the national chapter conference by Miss R. Joseph of Quebec City.

"The provinces are unanimous in reporting that the welcoming of newcomers has hardly entered into their calculations this year" said Miss Joseph's report, "but great strides have been made in the distribution of the I.O.D.E. naturalization certificates."

British Columbia reported giving of naturalization certificates this year mostly by visiting persons in their homes, though Trail presented 72 at a public ceremony. "It is particularly gratifying," said the report, "to know that Chilliwack Municipal Chapter has been received into the hearts and homes of the Mennonite colony in their district and the convenor has discovered that the Mennoites possess refinement and culture in no yay second to that of which we are so proud to boast."

Presentation of certificates in Ontario is particularly widespread, said the report, with Windsor and Essex County leading the province, 693 cards having been given either by the municipal convenor of court officials. In many parts of the province there are "follow-up" visits to recipients. Two Polish recipients in Blind River wrote they hoped to be able to live up to the principles embodied in the certificates. London does a great deal of work at a community centre for foreigners, said the report.

"Apart from Canadianization work," said Miss Joseph in her report, "all provinces report a large volume of welfare work done among the settlers in their midst."

FRENCH STAND PROVES SHOCK ARMS PARLEY

Officials Predict it May Cause Germany to Denounce Versailles Clauses.

SIMON'S PLEA RIDICULED.

Barthou Points to Budget as Proof Germans Are Re-arming.

GENEVA, May 31. (C.P. Cable). The World Disarmament Conference took time out to-day apparently in an attempt to recover from the shock of a speech yesterday in which France's spokesman said his country would not consider any scheme involving re-armament of Germany, a remark interpreted as meaning France wants no arms pact.

The speech, delivered caustically by Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, had the immediate effect of throwing the conference into a state of extreme pessimism. Some authorities went so far as to say they believed it might cause a complete breakdown of negotiations or even denunciation by Germany of the disarmament clauses of the Versailles Treaty.

Others, however, professed to see in parts of the Russian plan a foundation on which the conference might be rebuilt. They were impressed by the proposal of plump Maxim Litvinoff, indefatigable Russian foreign commissar, that the conference be turned into a permanent organization to safeguard peace.

Supporters of the Litvinoff plan said it might provide means of collaboration for the United States, Russia, Japan and Germany, none of them a League of Nations member, without asking them to join the League or subscribe to its pledges.

M. Barthou attacked Germany and accused it of re-arming despite provisions of the Versailles Treaty, and ridiculed Sir John's plea for consideration of the British plan. Sir John had pressed for consideration of the British plan as the one disarmament scheme before the conference, but M. Barthou said:

"Ah, paternity has its illusions. But Mussolini, who is certainly not a man incapable of paternity also has his child. It is a healthly child of good constitution. You ought to know it, my dear colleague, and already, my friend. It was put into your arms, January 30, 1934.

"But I ask myself whether, being a good father, you can be a good godfather."

The septuagenarian Foreign Minister, speaking at Geneva for the first time, prefaced his speech with a remark that he intended to speak plainly. His sally against Sir John brought considerable laughter, but appeared to leave Sir John unruffled.

The British statesman said afterwards M. Barthou was accustomed to speaking before the Chamber of Deputies in Paris and that this was his first appearance before an international gathering.

The French spokesman's attack on Germany was caustic. He argued the Reich had admitted it was re-arming by the official figures of its own budget. He said it was as though Germany had said indirectly, but clearly:

"What do your conversations matter? What do your guarantees of execution matter? Since Sept. 14, 1933, when I abruptly withdrew from the league I have regained my entire liberty. I am using it. So much the worse for you who debate, who negotiate. I am strong with my rearmed strength."

BLINDS AND GAS STOVE
An old lady living in warm rooms would be glad to get a little gas stove on which to do her cooking in the hot weather months. She would also like a few window blinds.
If any of these things are available, please telephone Miss McCarthy at The Examiner and they will be called for.

NOT ROAD WORKERS
Rumors that about half the audience which nicely filled the town hall at Warsaw last evening to hear an address by T. P. Lancaster, Conservative candidate, and other speakers on his behalf, were young men from the Burleigh Falls' road camps were checked today by The Examiner. It was established from a reliable source that not more than a dozen men from the road camps were in the audience and that all these are residents of in and around Warsaw.
It was learned also that the same courtesy will be extended of permitting men to leave the camps to attend meetings of opposition candidates when such are held in Warsaw.

SHOPPING WITH ANNE

Velvet ribbon is adorable on the leghorn hats that are so new for the sumer days.

Speaking of taffeta you will just have to rustle yourself something in taffeta if you would be smart this summer. The three-piece suits of this lovely material are adorable —Gloves, Hats, Blouses—We saw a very sweet little dance frock in "Heaven Blue" the new blue shade, while shopping the other day. Wouldn't it be perfectly lovely to dance in. We are all going to dance a lot this summer—"The intoxication of the dance is with us again. Not a feeble wiggling in a jam, nor a conversational sidling down a floor, but abandon in the Viennese manner. You dance until you swoon on a sofa from the breathless swoops of the waltz"—so says Harper's Bazaar. 'The Summer Gardens' is such an ideal setting for pretty frocks and dancers. Mose Yokom's music is divine — they are having such large crowds of pleased patrons — and do you know Ferde Mowry and his Orchestra are playing there this week for 4 nights. We shall see you often at "The Summer Gardens" we hope.

This year we have two ideas at the one time in many things—Twin sweaters—One of our stores has the smartest line in a fine wool —the pullover in a lovely lacy stitch —tiny pearl buttons and a jacket to match in a finely knitted wool—and they also will include a skirt of the same attractive knot—they will take your measurements and when finished they fit just you.... It is a bit difficult sometimes to get things just your size—The price of these lovely knitted garments is amazingly low for the quality and appearance of the article.

Vacation days are drawing near and naturally our thoughts turn to "What new clothes shall I get." Of course you must have a bathing suit....What would a holiday be without swimming....This season the stores are showing the darlingest ones—lovely shades, new soft wools, and such freedom of action, we saw a lovely one in two shades of blue—to accompany these you may have slacks and a shirt, if you would preserve the lily whiteness of your skin—slip them on after you dip and you can lie on the sand and relax without acquiring a sunburn and a flock of freckles.... Navy blue slacks and a white shirt are very smart—they are easy to make—but really the stores have such lovely ones at such low prices it is hardly worth your while to make them.

If you are holidaying in town little tailored linen suits will be so smart, they may be in brown, black, yellow, any shade you like, with them you can wear a little lingerie blouse—another idea is a frock of navy sheer crepe worn under a lovely jacket of shell pink — with this should be worn a large navy hat—light over dark is a new and stunning idea this year. Try it.

Bulges and rolls are out this summer. You must have a smooth, trim, sleek silhouette. Your figure must be lithe....You must wear a Foundation Garment....The new ones simply sheath your hips with slenderness. They have longer, smoother lines, they are lighter—yet give the needed control. They are soft and smooth—There is a model for every figure.

* * *

A smart tennis dress could be made of white linen with buttons down the back. With this could be worn a coat of checked linen with brown as the predominating color. Our stores are carrying a splendid assortment of lovely materials that could be made into attractive dresses and suits for the warm days that are coming.

* * *

Long gloves are the rage in smart circles where dress sleeves are short. They are made of thin materials like organdie and georgette, but otherwise remind one of the days of the early 19's.

QUINTUPLETS 50 YEARS AGO

BRANDON, Man., May 31 (CP)—Prof. A. H. Foster of Brandon College to-day recalled the birth of five children to Mrs. Adam Murray in New Brunswick 50 years ago.

Birth of five daughters at Corbeil, Ont., while most unusual, was not a Canadian record, he said, although he believed it would be if all five children lived.

The five children born to Mrs. Murray died, said Prof. Foster.

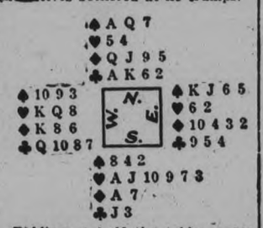
IT BOTHERED NO TRUMP DEFENDERS

Here is a hand which half the tables played for 3 no trumps in a duplicate game. The other tables played the hand for 4 hearts. All except one pair of defenders found themselves bothered at no trumps.



Bidding at half the tables went: North, 1 club; South, 1 heart; North, 2 no trumps; South, 3 hearts; North, 3 no trumps. The division came here. Half the South players let the game call go. The remaining half bid 4 hearts.

The opening lead against no trumps was the 5 of spades. West played the 9. The Q won the trick, and the declarer led a heart. West's Q (or K, according to the whim of the players) won. The 10 of spades was allowed to hold the next trick. The ace won the third lead of spades.

North led his last heart, took the finesse and lost to the high honor held by West. Having no more spades, West led his fourth best club. It would have been unpardonable for the declarer to allow East in, so North played his K of clubs. Had East held the missing Q of clubs, and won on a finesse by North, East would have won a fourth lead of spades. Two spade tricks, two heart tricks and a single club trick would have killed all chances for game.

The declarer led his Q of diamonds, and let on the finesse, giving the defenders their fourth and last trick. Whether West led a club or a diamond, the remaining tricks and game must be won by the declarer.

One of the most elementary rules of play at no trumps is: "When dummy has only a single card of reentry and a long established suit, the first duty of the defenders is to remove that re-entry card, at all costs."

At only one table was the above rule observed. When West won his first heart trick at that table, he led his K of diamonds, taking out dummy's ace and rendering it helpless. The declarer led back dummy's last diamond, winning the trick with his own J, then as a forlorn hope North led his heart. He saw East play the 6. North had won two spade tricks. If he won with dummy's ace of hearts it would give him a single heart trick. He had won two diamond tricks, and he could win two club tricks. That amounted to seven tricks, with another diamond trick due him. He had to risk the finesse to go game. He lost the finesse and went down two tricks on his gamble to go game, instead of deliberately going down a single trick.

HONORING AUTHOR OF "MAPLE LEAF"

Alexander Muir Gardens to be Formally Opened After Years of Planning.

TORONTO, May 3' (C.P.).—After 20 years work, Toronto has now a memorial to the Lancashire boy who came here and grew up to write "The Maple Leaf Forever." It is not finished yet, but when it is it will be one of the city's most beautiful parks.

North on Yonge Street, the 'Alexander Muir Memorial Gardens" keep alive the memory of the schcolmaster who wrote that stirring song to the maple leaf. The gardens will contain a number of the best specimens of maple that can be obtained.

Near its entrance is the formal section of the garden, laid out with precision, and the rose arbor which will contain more than 1,000 bushes. In another section is a rock garden, more than half finished. A small stream was diverted from its course to provide a 50-foot cascade. Walks have been built throughout the garden and a fountain will spray water into a pond full of water lilies. A large informal section will look like a natural wood.

The Garden was designed by Edwin Kay, noted Canadian landscape architect, whose design was chosen by a committee from those submitted in a competition open to designers throughout the nation. The committee in charge of the project which has worked since a short time before the Great War hopes to arrange for the formal opening of the garden by the Governor-General.

In the middle of the approach to the garden from the front gate is a large panel of stone in which authorities expect to place a bronze or lead plaque bearing the chorus of the famous song Muir wrote.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

Perhaps the most important event in the life of a healthy set of teeth is between the fifth and sixth years of age. It is at this time that the first permanent teeth come in. The reason that this time is so important is that the first permanent teeth are very likely to be mistaken for baby teeth and treated as such. In other words, neglected.

The temporary teeth are 20 in number, five on each side of the midline in both the upper and lower jaws. The first teeth to come in in front appear about the sixth month. Then every few months the other temporary teeth come in, successively filling the jaw from the midline to the back. By about the end of the third year the last of these teeth, the temporary molars, are in place. The next tooth to appear, about two or three years later, comes in exactly behind the last temporary tooth. It is the first permanent molar.

It does not replace any temporary tooth, and because it appears in the place and order of succession which the temporary teeth follow, it is naturally regarded as another baby tooth.

This first or six-year molar is frequently less tough than other permanent teeth, and if decay has been allowed to appear among the temporary teeth, this first, permanent tooth is very likely also to become infected.

The parents says, "Oh it's just a baby tooth," and it is allowed to go on until finally the decay is so great that it has to be pulled. This leaves a permanent defect in the jaw, and a succession of events is started which results in the loss of all the teeth in the head.

The future happiness of the child is dependent on this much as anything else:

THAT THE PARENT REMEMBER THAT ABOUT THE FIFTH OR SIXTH YEAR THE NEW TEETH THAT COME IN AT THE BACK OF THE JAW ARE PERMANENT TEETH AND MUST BE CAREFULLY CONSERVED.

Questions from readers:

W. W.: "Is codliver oil good for a person who is normally healthy?"

Answer: For children, yes. For adults, possibly. It does no harm in either case.

M. D.: "Please give me information on how to get rid of warts."

Answer: Probably the best method is to expose the wart to the X-ray. It simply melts away in about three weeks. Another method is to use formalin, an ounce bottle of it, and every once in a while invert the bottle so the bottom of the cork is moistened, and touch the wart with the end of the cork.

FLINT, Mich., May 31 (C.P.) — A Pere Marquette passenger train struck an automobile carrying seven persons on a Memorial Day trip to a cemetery here to-day, killing four of the occupants and injuring three others so seriously that they are not expected to live.

The dead: Assad Rizik, 55; his daughter Josephine, 20; Ronnie George, 4; and Freddie George, 6. All were of Flint.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

Not so long ago the editor of a woman's feature page came to New York City for a brief stay. We met for tea and, as women will, we did a bit of gossiping on various and sundry topics. We finally got to talking of beauty and the methods of achieving it. And the one thing that this editor stressed was the fact that she'd noticed so many young girls with spotty, rough-looking complexions.

Girls in their 'teens really should have smooth, flawless complexions Of course, when women grow older their skins sometimes become somewhat coarsened. But no youngster should possess a coarse skin. Often a coarse, large-pored skin results from the too hearty consumption of rich foods, pastries and fats. The tiny openings are overworked and become enlarged in their efforts to expel the fatty excess.

The first step in the treatment of a coarse-pored skin, therefore, is to give attention to the daily diet. Rich, heavy, fatty foods should be almost totally abstained from, and fresh fruits, vegetables and fruit juices substituted.

Thorough cleansing of the skin is also essential in treating an enlarged pore condition. The skin, you know, is quite elastic. And when dirt and grime accumulate in the pores, they stretch and distend these minute organisms. The deeply embedded impurities must therefore be removed in cleansing, as well as the surface impurities. If this is accomplished, the pores will be able to contract and the surface of the skin will appear smooth and unblemished.

A weekly astringent face mask, such as the egg pack described in my "Beauty Culture" booklet, is most effective in the correction of an enlarged pore condition. A good astringent lotion, however, should also be used daily on the skin if the pores have become enlarged. An excellent astringent for this purpose can be made of a 4 per cent solution of boric acid and eight ounces of witch hazel. This astringent not only closes the pores and refines the skin, but is also very soothing and healing for any blemishes on the face.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Coco Butter

Irma: The coco butter may be purchased in cake form in any well-stocked drug store. It should be warmed to an oil before it is applied.

Complexion

Brown Eyes: It would be impossible for me to print my entire method of clearing the skin of blackheads, pimples and enlarged pores in the small space. The accompanying article contains some suggestions, however, and the process is fully outlined in my "Beauty Culture" booklet.

Cosmetics

Anita: I think that a soft peach shade of powder, soft orange rouge, and light lipstick, would blend harmoniously with your coloring.

EDITOR'S NOTE: To obtain Miss Glad's pamphlets on "The New Figure" and "Beauty Culture" write, care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, and ten cents in coin for each, to cover cost of printing and handling.

The band will be at the Gardens for the remainder of the week, completing its engagement on Saturday night.

The members of St. John's Men's Club were "at home" to their friends at the Parish House on Monday, and upwards of a hundred members and guests spent a very pleasant evening. Everything went with vim and vigor and everyone seemed to have a real good time. Prizes for the various games were drawn for; the lady winners being Mrs. George Groombridge and Mrs. F. A. Dainton, while the lucky men were Messrs. G. Groombridge and A. Dainton. A feature of the evening was the draw which had been arranged to provide funds for the annual picnic; the first prize, a floor rug, was won by Mr. Gilroy, and the second, a box of chocolates, by Miss Jenkinson. After the service of supper it was a case of "On with the dance, let joy be unconfined," and a very pleasant evening closed about midnight with the singing of the National Anthem. This gathering was the finale of one of the most successful and encouraging seasons the club has ever experienced; it has formed a weekly means of social intercourse and get-togethership for the men of the parish, whose appreciation has been shown by a large, regular attendance. The next activity of the club will be the annual picnic to be held in Jackson's Park on Saturday, July 14, and members and friends are asked to keep this date in mind and to consider this intimation as a formal invitation.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

When the architecture of your house is a distinctive type, not only is it good decorating, but more interesting, if your furnishings comply. If your house, for example, is the friendly cottage type, with a winding iris-bordered walk, and a knocker on the door, keep the other side of the threshold correspondingly informal and congenial.

* * * * * * *

Sometimes, of course, when you are not starting from scratch, you have furniture that you would not ordinarily choose as best suited to your cottage type of house. But even if this is your problem, while it is then not possible to conform in all details, it is entirely feasible to conform in spirit, and it is that prevailing spirit that counts.

* * * * * * *

For a conforming, informal simplicity you must discard all geegaws. Why not donate all your pink and red paper roses in those several vases to the next community rubbish sale? If you have your share of gumption, explode any inhibitions and send along the family "white elephant", and any old stuffed parrots.

* * * * * * *

If you can't bear to part with your elaborate bric-a-brac, bead-fringed lamp shade, and lavishly embroidered sofa pillows, relegate them to an unused closet shelf.

* * * * * * *

Treat the windows in a candid way. Elaborate overdraperies have their function, but are an affectation in the modest house.

* * * * * * *

Try a permanent slip-cover for that worn satin or velvet chair. If your rooms are too crowded with furniture, give some of the pieces a rest in the attic. Do everything you can for a reasonable and inviting simplicity. Make your home as attractive as possible and your friends will love to visit you, and it will be so much more pleasant to live in.

PETERBORO BRANCH W.C.T.U. ENJOYS SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Activities for Past Session Reviewed by Officers at Annual Meeting.

CURRENT PROBLEMS.

The annual meeting of the local W.C.T.U. was held, as usual, in the Y.W.C.A. Green Room yesterday afternoon, with a good attendance.

The president, Mrs. J. H. Rowe, occupied the chair, and conducted the two opening sessions, devotional and business. The first opened with "Onward, Temperance Soldiers," after which Mrs. Rowe offered prayer, asking for guidance in the important business of the day, all joining in The Lord's Prayer. The 23rd Psalm was chosen as the Scripture lesson, and was read by Mrs. Lundy, and again earnest prayer was offered by Mrs. Throop.

The business session consisted largely in the reading of annual reports by officers and superintendents of departments, showing that real temperance work was being done all along the line with a special impetus being made at the present crucial time.

The report of the recording secretary, Miss Might, deserves special mention, as it gave in a clear and concise form the doings of the whole year. There are 69 members enrolled at present, and the Union lost three members by death during the year—Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Weese and Mrs. Doxsee.

Good Financial Year

The report of the retiring treasurer, Mrs. M. A. Morrison, was read by the acting treasurer, Mrs. E. Wand, and showed a good financial year.

At yesterday's meeting, on motion by Mrs. Throop and Mrs. Moore, $25 was voted to the budget fund.

As corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. H. Cunningham gave an account of many letters received and sent out, showing a busy year in this department.

Temperance and Sunday Schools superintended by Mrs. J. Fairbrother, has had very successful results, and it is very evident that the children and young people are steadily and surely being reached through this branch of the W.C.T.U.

Along somewhat the same lines is the department of Scientific Temperance being conducted under the capable direction of Mrs. Wand.

Mesdames Armstrong, E. Manning, J. A. Spencer, reported respectively on Anti-Narcotics, Flowers, Sick and Visiting departments, and noted much good work being accomplished.

The press secretary, Mrs. Jean Wager, outlined the work of her office for the year and asked for the co-operation of the superintendents. She gave credit to her local paper, The Examiner, for their generous treatment in giving space each month for reports of meetings.

A vote of thanks was tendered The Examiner by motion of Mesdames Fairbrother and Moore.

Mrs. H. E. Connolly, contest superintendent, reported a very successful year.

Clip Sheet Exercise

"The Next Step" was the interesting topic of the clip-sheet exercise, led by Mrs. Rowe; the following ladies taking part: Mesdames Lord, Allen, Cunningham, Kerr, Ingham and Armstrong.

The question chiefly involved was this: Since the sale of intoxicants is legal in Ontario already, what is the particular danger of any additional method of sale? If there has been no demand for this legislation by the majority of the people, how comes it that it has been passed by our provincial representatives, with only nine men voting against it?

What can an advocate of Temperance do in the present desperate circumstances? We are struggling not only with the age-old evils of intoxication, but with a wealthy, organized traffic which assails the freedom of representative government in order to extend its trade and influence and destroys all spiritual and material value that education and religion create.

The answers gave definite proof that "temperance" while not wealthy in money values, holds two great weapons against their enemies. These are the franchise and prayer.

It is safe to say that women are waking as never before to the power of their franchise and the next election will soon see the result. A spiritual discussion followed.

Cobourg Convention

Mrs. Throop announced the third annual county convention of Peterborough-Northumberland W.C.T.U., to take place in Cobourg on June 12th, and Mesdames Fairbrother, Allen and Tyler were elected as delegates.

Mrs. Cunningham expressed regret that Mrs. Morrison, the treasurer, who had given faithful service in this office during the past three years, asks to be relieved this year. A sincere vote of thanks and tribute for her work, was tendered Mrs. Morrison, by Mesdames Kerr and Moore, and was heartily endorsed by all the members present.

The election of officers was conducted by Mrs. A. B. Cunningham, and the following officers were elected by acclamation:

President, Mrs. J. H. Rowe; 1st Vice President, Mrs. A. J. Throop; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. J. H. Spencer; 3rd Vice President, Mrs. J. W. Kelly; Recording Secretary, Miss E. Might; Treasurer, Mrs. A. B. Cunningham; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. W. H. Cunningham; "Y" Secretary, Mrs. G. K. Tyler.

Other secretaries and superintendents to be appointed by the above executive at a later date.

This was the last regular meeting of the year, but a picnic meeting will be held at Inverlea Park, July 5th, to which all W.C.T.U. members are cordially invited.

Chryse Chora was a name given by the ancients to a part of India comprising the present Burma and the northern part of Pegu.

SEE CRITICAL MOMENT IN JUNE ON EMPIRE TRADE DEVELOPMENT

New Zealand, Australia Meat Trade Pacts With Britain End Then.

NEW DEAL COMPLICATED.

LONDON, May 31 (C.P. Cable).—The Times said to-day a critical moment in development of Empire trade will arise at the end of June when arrangements made at Ottawa in 1932 to control importation to the United Kingdom of meat from New Zealand and Australia come to an end.

A similar moment, it added, will occur at the end of August, 1935, when undertakings regarding importation of eggs and dairy produce from the Dominions expire.

Negotiations for new arrangements, it said, will be a complicated task involving balancing many conflicting interests, not all of them purely economic.

Neither the industrial policy of the Dominions nor the agricultural policy of Great Britain, it maintained, can be judged merely by its effect on the national balance sheet and social and, in a broad sense, political, considerations must be taken into account.

The Dominions, the Times continued, have defined loosely the limits they intend to observe in developing their secondary industries. It added it was equally necessary and was rapidly becoming more urgent that the British Government be equally clear about the objects and limits of its agricultural policy.

The newspaper, commenting on a speech in Ottawa Tuesday by Stanley M. Bruce, Australian Minister to the United Kingdom, said Mr. Bruce, during his visit home, in New Zealand and in Canada, had done good service to the Empire by helping the Dominions understand the economic position of the United Kingdom.

When he returns here, it added, he can do equally good service by helping the British Government and people to understand the position in the Dominions.

MRS. A. METTERS DIES SUDDENLY

McDonnel Street Resident Dies Few Minutes After Getting Up.

BORN IN ROSENEATH.

Shortly after a rising from her bed this morning, to which she had been partially confined for the past six weeks with a bruised hip resulting from a fall Mrs. Alfred Metters of 414 McDonnel street, was stricken with a seizure, and died within a few minutes. She was 70 yearsof age.

The tragic occurrence happened shortly before nine o'clock. Mr. Metters, who is a C.N.R. employee told The Examiner, he had returned from work to find his wife in the act of getting up. "She was in good spirits and was laughing and joking," he stated, "when she took a stroke and died."

His wife, Mr. Metters further stated, sustained a fall six weeks ago, and since that time had been almost wholly confined to bed with a badly bruised hip. Otherwise the health of Mrs. Metters had been fairly good, it is said.

A daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Dunnett, the deceased was a native of Roseneath, and had resided in Peterborough for about twenty years.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Metters, is survived by one daughter, Mrs. F. Thompson of Oshawa; four brothers, William, 420 McDonnel street; James of London street; Joseph of Alnwick and John of Hastings; and two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth McMillan of Toronto and Mrs. John Scriver of Lang.

Funeral services are to be conducted at the family residence at nine o'clock on Saturday morning, followed by interment at Thacker's Cemetery, Roseneath.

ATLANTIC FLIERS CHARGE PLANE TAMPERED WITH BEFORE HOP-OFF

TO PRESS CHARGES.

LONDON, May 31 (C.P.)—Capt. George A. Pond charged yesterday that the aeroplane in which he and Lieut. Cesare Sabelli recently flew the Atlantic had been maliciously tampered with before they left New York.

Claiming that he had definite proof, Pond traced trouble the fliers encountered to the alleged sabotage before the take-off. He said he would attempt to fasten the guilt on someone when he returns to New York.

"We have evidence of three types of tampering," Pond said. "There were strips of cardboard in the oil tank and a tin 'fillercap' in the oil line. The main feed line from the rear of the gas tank was definitely shut off and the water canteens, one of which I filled myself, were emptied.

"Fortunatey foreign articles in the oil tank line did not prevent oil from getting through, though they may have restricted the flow somewhat. Tampering with a gas tank is most serious and could not possibly have happened accidentally."

Has No Proof

NEW YORK, May 31 (A.P.)—Officials of Floyd Bennett Field yesterday disclaimed any knowledge of alleged tampering with the trans-Atlantic plane of Capt. George A. Pond and Lieut. Cesare Sabelli.

"If anyone was guilty of sabotage," said Neal Grignon, inspector of Floyd Bennett Field, "Pond has no proof that it was committed here."

Inspector Grignon said that the fliers themselves were responsible for the condition of their plane, explaining that Pond and Sabellie were given free rent and use of the field, and that in exchange they had signed the usual release, promising to guard the ship.

The Leonardi Va Vinca was not housed at Floyd Bennett Field all the time prior to the take-off Inspector Grignon said.

DENIES DEPARTMENTS IN CHURCH OVERSTAFFED

TORONTO, May 31 (C.P.).—Replying to charges of E. A. Brown, of Kingsville, made in an address to the London conference of the United Church at Sarnia, Rev. D. D. Bryce, general secretary of the Missionary and Maintenance Fund, denied to-day that various Church departments in Toronto are overstaffed and that no salaries had been cut.

"Since the consummation of union there have been reductions of 38 per cent. in the staff up to June of last year," he said, "and further reductions are planned, to be effective next month.

"Salaries have also been reduced and a general 25 per cent. cut was made effective two years ago and is still in force. If present conditions of stress continue, further reductions in both salaries and personnal will be made this year."

TRIES TO WRECK STONE CRUSHER WITH DYNAMITE

Two Explosions Cause Excitement in Fitzgerald's Wood Yard.

STOPPED BY ENGINEER.

Wanted to Wreck Crusher So As to Sell It For Scrap Iron.

A section of the city was not a little curious as to the cause of two heavy explosions occurring within less than a couple of hours of each other early yesterday afternoon. But the only reason that there were not more concussions was because of intervention of the city engineer, who exercised his authority to forbid the somewhat indiscriminate use of dynamite within the city, for the purpose of wrecking an old piece of machinery.

As a result of the ban, four tons of bulk scrap metal is lying in Fitzgerald's wood yard near the Murray and Bethune streets bridge that spans the Jackson Park creek. Removal of the weighty piece of cast iron, which at one time served a useful term as a stone crusher, now presents no little problem to Henry Sararas.

Mr. Sararas, a philosophical, good humored gentleman, undertook the task of breaking up the machinery which is to be sold for scrap. But when he accepted the job from Mr. Muldavey, Bethune street iron and junk dealer, he assumed an undertaking that even upset his usual poise and equanamity of disposition.

Obtaining permission from the superintendent of the wood yard, for the use of some space in which to work, Mr. Sararas did so with the explanation that he had an old boiler to break up. Apparently he did not consider it necessary to explain that he intended to use dynamite in the operations. Had he done so, it is doubtful if he would have been granted permission to use the yard.

Old Stone Crusher

The "boiler" which had been spoken of by Mr. Sararas turned out to be a 4-ton stone crusher mounted on steel wheels, which was laboriously towed into the wood yard. The massive casting was impervious to the recurrent blows of a heavy sledge hammer.

Undaunted, the resourceful Mr. Sararas resorted to dynamite. Planting a half stick of the explosive on top of the casting and packing it down with wet earth, he set the fuse for the first charge around about half past one o'clock. A resounding blast resulted, which hurled a small scrap of metal, according to a nearby resident, so far as to strike the Jopling building on Murray street. Apart from that little or nothing resulted.

By now Mr. Sararas his equanamity undisturbed stood along with the little crowd he had attracted, finally deciding that he would have to increase the strength of his dynamite charge. A young man, engaged in mowing a near-by lawn offered his assistance in the ballistic endeavours of the redoubtable Mr. Sararas. He even went so far as to prepare the charge.

Open Confession

The Examiner had arrived at the scene meanwhile, and the reporter is unashamed to confess that he waited the second explosion concealed at a very safe distance behind a stout brick wall. The explosion that accompanied the second charge was more violent than the first explosion. It hurled a large piece of metal for a distance of several feet; split large fissures in the casting; and made the leaves in nearby trees detach themselves from the branches, much as they might on a windy day in autumn.

Mr. Sararas was quite pleased at the results as he figured upon a third stick of dynamite, which he considered would just about consummate his labors. But at this point the wood yard superintendent intervened, to point out that he could not permit any further blasting on the Fitzgerald property, as he considered the operations were a danger to life and property.

Mr. Sararas good-naturedly demurred. He couldn't see any danger in the proceedings at all. The force of the explosion goes downwards, he explained, with a broad grin indicative of his absolute unawareness that his action might result in injury to some of the bystanders, or to damage to nearby property.

"Aint Killed No One"

His volunteer assistant, didn't require so much persuasion. He readily withdrew when the danger was pointed out to him, stating, "I planted the second charge and it ain't killed no one, but I'm through with it right now."

Mr. Sararas was not to be so easily side-tracked. He had undertaken to break-up the casting, and he was bent on doing so. He started to prepare a third charge, tamping the moist earth into an opening in the casting, preparatory to planting the dynamite, and meanwhile philosophizing upon the conduct of his fellow humans, who chose to run counter to his preconceived ideas.

The crowd that had gathered, gradually melted away to watch the procedure from a safe distance. The old man with the dynamite, had the stage to himself. He placed the stick into the opening he had prepared for it; was in the very act of starting the fuse, and scurrying for shelter, when the wood yard superintendent hurried forward to relay the message from the city engineer, that brought operations to a close.

It is quite probable that by now Mr. Sararas will have regained his equanamity and poise, and that he will possibly have figured upon a means of getting the casting out of the wood yard, and of breaking it up for shipment to the foundry.

CRAWLING ABOUT WITH LUMBAGO

Here is some useful information for anyone troubled with that uncomfortable complaint, lumbago. A woman writes:

"For years I suffered from lumbago. During wet weather, I could only turn in bed with great effort and pain, I was so stiff and ached so much. Two years ago I had both lumbago and sciatica, and crawled about for a fortnight, feeling very sorry for myself and looking 103 instead of 33. Someone said, 'Try Kruschen Salts,' so I did, and I have taken them ever since, with the result that I hardly ever get a hint of lumbago these days." — (Mrs.) G. P. C.

Why is it that Kruschen is so effective in keeping lumbago at bay? Simply because it goes right down to the root of the trouble and removes the cause, which is an impure bloodstream. The six salts in Kruschen keep the bloodstream pure and vigorous by promoting a clockwork regularity of all the organs of elimination.

SENATE DEBATES ITS ABOLITION

"VICTIM OF PROPAGANDA."

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, May 31. (C. P. Cable).—The Irish Free State senate to-day was involved in a debate on its own abolition and the question before it was whether it prefers to commit suicide or be executed. It was believed generally the senate would choose execution.

The bill before the chamber is that already passed by the Dail Eireann to legislate it out of existence. Whatever they do the senators will be out of jobs in a year, for the constitution will not allow them to balk the bill longer than that.

Thomas W. Bennett, chairman of the Senate, took the usual course last night of joining in the debate and declaring the chamber had been the victim of dishonest propaganda by the government and its supporters.

Mr. Bennett maintained a single-chamber government such as that proposed by President Eamon de Valera would lead inevitably to revolution. The president, he warned, might find someone ready to play "Robespierre to his Danton or Lenin to his Kerensky."

He remarked sardonically that under the bill they were discussing the president had been gracious enough to confer immunity from arrest on His Majesty should the King visit the Free State Parliament Building.

He added he did not think the day of the senate's dissolution was at hand because "we have justice, honor and truth on our side."

ONTARIO FRUIT TREES ARE DYING WINTER EFFECTS

Baldwins, Greenings Hit in East, Spys Suffer in Western Areas.

NIAGARA ESCAPES.

Hay in Perth, Norfolk Suffering From Lack of Rain.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture yesterday reported it would probably be mid-July before extent of damage through winter killing was known so far as the fruit crop of Ontario is concerned.

Many trees have taken on a sickly appearance, the department reported, and a great number will die.

The chief suffers in eastern Ontario, said the department, appeared confined to apples of the Baldwin and Greening varieties, while in western Ontario the Northern Spy was most affected, although it was believed the Niagara district had not suffered so much in this respect.

Brantford reported to the Canadian Press yesterday the continuance of drought, following the severe winter when an all-time record low temperature of 43 degrees below zero was reached, would play havoc with fruit output. Setting of blossoms on trees was light, and many trees either winter-killed or suffered badly. Strawberry plants are now flowering, but with very warm weather recently and only one shower since the spring planting, conditions appeared anything but encouraging to growers. The ground in the Brantford area is parched, pastures are shrivelling up and there is a shortage of fodder. Fall wheat suffered severely.

Small Fruits Hit

From St. Catharines came word there has been practically no damage to fruit trees in the Niagara district through lack of rain. Light field crops have suffered slightly, but nearly all damage has been confined to vegetables and small fruits.

In areas adjacent to Toronto, the drought was causing worry to dairy farmers and cattle breeders.

Oxford County's apple crop would be reduced 50 per cent, Harvey E. Longworth, president of the Oxford Fruit Growers' Co-operative, Ltd., predicted. Baldwin apples suffered greatly during the winter, he said.

The hay crop in Perth County is badly in need of rain, and farmers believe if rain comes even withing a few days the crop will still be poor. Little more than an inch of rain fell in the area during May. Other crops have also suffered.

Waterford, in Norfolk County, reported serious losses among fruit trees and small fruits. Because of the drought many farmers are plowing under acres of wheat and other grains. Hay crops were believed entirely lost unless rain comes quickly.

Fraser River Salmon

Restigouche or Gaspe Salmon is available from about the 24th of May to the end of August, being caught for commercial purposes off the coast of New Brunswick and as far north as Labrador.

The pink, fine flesh of Restigouche Salmon is of finest texture—comparable to the finest Scotch and English Salmon.

Baked Restigouche Salmon
Select thick steaks of Restigouche salmon or a whole piece of suitable size. Wipe with a damp cloth. Place fish on a rack in the roasting pan. Dust with flour, then generously with butter or shortening. Bake in a moderate oven (350° to 375° F.) until the fish will separate easily. For a large piece of fish allow 10 minutes per lb., and 10 minutes extra.
Baste frequently during cooking. Garnish with lemon slices and parsley for serving.

Oven Fried Salmon Steaks
Select thick steaks of Restigouche salmon. Coat with seasoned sifted dry bread crumbs, dip in diluted beaten egg, then coat completely with seasoned sifted crumbs. Put generously with melted fat and bake in a very hot oven, (475° to 500° F.) until done. Baste frequently during cooking.

MOTOR CITY CLUB RESIGNS FROM TORONTO ULSTER LOOP

Resignation Made Necessary By Financial Trouble—C.O.B.L. Executive to Consider Application at Belleville Meeting.

OSHAWA LOSS TO BELLEVILLE ON 24TH TO COUNT IF SCHEDULE IS REVISED

Following their resignation Tuesday evening from the Toronto Ulster Stadium Baseball League, the Oshawa Dukes applied for entry as a full-time playing club into the Central Ontario League yesterday, the application to take effect at once. President Hugh Brown of Oshawa wired Secretary Newt Thompson of Belleville to this effect, after a conversation in Peterborough earlier in the week with President Max Swanston of the C.O.B.L.

The Oshawa Club, which had received permission to play in the Ulster League this summer on condition it also played an interlocking schedule with C.O.B.L. teams, has been having trouble financially. Some of the Dukes' regular players have been unable to get off work to play ball and the team consequently hit a bad losing streak which resulted in small gates. This fact, coupled with the high guarantee demanded by Ulster League teams to play in Oshawa—these teams refusing to cut their guarantee demands in view of the circumstances—decided the Oshawa executive to resign from the Toronto circuit. Their resignation was accepted at an executive meeting of the Ulster League Tuesday night.

Early this week, President Hugh Brown phoned Max Swanston and inquired what the attitude of the Central League would be if Oshawa were to apply for a regular berth in this loop right away. The C.O.B.L. president invited him to come to Peterborough and talk it over. This was done, and Mr. Swanston got in touch with the three other Central League clubs. While Kingston was not altogether in favor of letting Oshawa back, the Belleville and Peterborough clubs were, and the league officers. President Swanston assured Mr. Brown that "We'd be glad to see you back, and we'll forget previous differences."

Yesterday, Mr. Brown wired the C.O.B.L. secretary and applied for a regular berth for Oshawa, the Dukes to play the same number of games as the other teams in the league, and the games already played in this circuit—including an Oshawa loss to Belleville—to stand. However, he also asked for a guarantee to Oshawa of $25 from Belleville and Peterborough for games in these latter places, and $35 from Kingston. And he requested several Saturday twilight games for Oshawa in the other towns in the schedule. As these are matters that must be threshed out by the league, President Swanston ordered an executive meeting of the C.O.B.L. in Belleville this Sunday afternoon, when Oshawa, Peterborough, Kingston and Belleville delegates will discuss these points.

If everything can be worked out satisfactorily, the C.O.B.L. will revise its schedule to include Oshawa on a full-time playing basis, and the loop will again consist of four active teams. General hopes of this were expressed last night by local senior club executive members, who were pleased at the prospective "return of the prodigal" as one officer stated.

Keene Softball Nine Beats Havelock 10-7

HAVELOCK, May 31 (Examiner Correspondence).—The league softball game between Keene and Havelock played at the local park last evening, resulted in a defeat for the local team, Keene carrying off the long end of a ten to seven score.

The visitors gave a splendid exhibition of fast playing throughout the game, and played almost errorless ball. The home town team usually well able to hold its own, appeared to be excited early in the game, and Kemp the pitcher was obviously not up to his usual form. Stewart Miller for Havelock made the one star play of the day, when he romped in with a home run after a strike to right field, and made the second tally for his team. Kemp and Chiles each made two tallies, Hill and Matheson each added a singleton to the score.

The line-ups:

Havelock— Voyer, Hunter, Kemp, R. Hagerman, Mathison, Chiles, Kemp G., Hill, Miller.

ALBANY GAINS FIFTH POSITION IN KNAPP RACE

TORONTO LEAFS SPLIT.

Home Runs Feature as Montreal and Buffalo Divide Pair of Slugfests.

(By The Associated Press)

Except in the matter of gate receipts, where fine weather aided in making the turnstiles click rapidly, only one out of eight International League clubs was able to reap much benefit from the Memorial Day doubleheaders.

Albany Senators took both games of their bargain bill with Baltimore for a spurt which sent them up from seventh place to fifth in the standing. Behind the fine hurling of a couple of Boston Braves "farm hands," Bob Brown and Dick Barrett, they defeated the Orioles 6-3 and 4-1. Brown, making his first start as a Senator, gave nine walks, but only seven hits to get the better of an argument with Pete Appleton. Barrett followed with a five-hit hurling job against Cliff Melton.

Other Games Divided

All the other bills were divided, leaving the race for the top unchanged. Rochester's league leaders took the second game from Toronto Leafs, 6-3, behind John Berly's three-hit flinging, after Toronto had slugged out six runs in the first inning and won the opener, 9-8.

With 14,000, the day's biggest crowd, looking on, Montreal and Buffalo featured home runs in a pair of slug-fests. Jimmy Ripple socked two as the Royals won the first game, 9-6. Greg Mulleavy and Ollie Tucker contributed circuit swats to Buffalo's 4-3 triumph in the second, then Frank McGowan singled in the winning run.

Even Break for Bears

Newark's second place holders could get no better than an even break with the comparatively lowly Syracuse Chiefs. After smacking out a 9-1 triumph behind Walter Brown, one of their pitching aces, the Bears "blew" the second game, 5-4, as errors cost Floyd Newkirk a chance to ring up his seventh straight mound victory in a duel with Big Tim McKeithan.

BILL CUMMINGS SETS NEW MARK IN SPEED EVENT

135,000 SPECTATORS.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31 (AP) — On the sun-scorching brick of the Indianapolis motor speedway, Wild Bill Cummings has achieved the victory he decided on 20 years ago.

As 135,000 spectators looked on, the 28-year-old driver flashed past the finish line yesterday to win the annual 500-mile race at the record-breaking average of 104.863 miles an hour, and collect about $40,000 in prizes and awards.

Cumming won by just 27 seconds from Mauri Rose of Dayton, O., who chased him for the last 50 miles to the closest, most sensational ending in the 22 years' history of the track.

Smashes Former Mark

Cummings' time was 4:46:05.20. The Indianapolis youngster and Rose both smashed the former speed mark of 104.162 miles an hour set by Louis Meyer of South Gate, Calif., in 1933.

Thus did the daring veterans of the speedways defeat the plans of race officials, who thought to place a clamp on the excessive speed by limiting gasoline allotments to 45 gallons for each little racing car. Not one of the 20 cars forced out of the running failed because of too heavy fuel consumption.

BUD WENGER SOLD TO QUEBEC STABLE

Dick Walsh of Hastings Disposes of Two of His Thoroughbred String.

HASTINGS, May 31 (Examiner Correspondence). — "Dick" Walsh, prominent local horseman, has disposed of two of the best members of his string to a group of sportsmen at St. Hyacinthe, Quebec. Bud Winger, who came under the eagle eye of horsemen three years ago, when he won the Futurity at the Canadian National Exhibition, and for the next couple of years burnt the tracks in Ontario, has been the leading purse-getter for the local horseman. Last year "Bud" who was in charge of "Sted" Craig of Smith's Falls, campaigned on the Quebec circuit where he caught the fancy of his Quebec buyers. Bucko Jr., the other horse to leave the district, has done most of his racing on tracks in Central Ontario, where he was very successful last fall. Horse lovers in this section will watch with interest the progress of these two speeders in the French province.

The 1934 scheduled series got under way last night and nobody knows who is going to be the winner. There was a hundred percent. attendance and the boys certainly did put on the pressure right at the start.

But there is one thing about this good old game of bowling that appeals to us, and that is the spirit of good fellowship that prevails during the games and long after the scores are in. Everybody shakes hands with everybody else—a kind of a round robin idea—some shake hands because they won—others just shake hands—anyway no matter how you look at it, it sure does make everybody feel at home.

The greens were in fair condition we would just like to pass on as a gentle hint that the ditches would look a lot better if we could just replace the sand with nice round pebbles.

It can be done—and done very quickly and with very little expense—we just mention this in passing and we know it would be greatly appreciated by the bowlers.

238,000 FILL STANDS IN 8 MAJOR CITIES

Memorial Day Attendance at Ball Games Betters Opening by 53,000.

DODGERS DOWN A PAIR.

Cleveland Indians Divide Double With Chicago—Two Easy Wins for Cards.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., A.P. Sports Writer.)

The season's biggest turnout of fans had made the first of the holidays which fall within the baseball season a pleasant memory to major league magnates to-day, although it might rankle a bit in the minds of the players of five clubs which failed to win a game.

In all, about 238,000 fans filled the stands in eight cities, bettering considerably the opening day turnout of 185,000. The largest throng of the day, 70,000 gathered at the Yankee Stadium to see New York and Washington divide a pair of brilliantly played games. Brooklyn made the next best showing, setting an Ebbets Field attendance record of 42,000 for the Dodger-Giant bill which brought two defeats for the home club.

At New York, Earl Whitehill held the Yankees hitless for 8 1-3 innings, then was removed after giving the one New York hit in Washingtons 1-0 triumph. The Yanks evened the count and remained close behind Cleveland's league leaders by taking the second game, 5-4, in 11 innings, although held to five blows.

Cleveland also was held to an even break, dropping the 12-inning opener to Chicago, 8-7, despite Sammy Hale's two homers, then winning the second contest, 5-4, when Hal Trosky hit three homers in a row.

Boston Divides Pair

Philadelphia and Boston split a morning and afternoon program. The A's took a 5-3 decision in an early encounter marked by the first appearance of Boston's brother battery of Ferrel, and the Red Sox came back with a 2-1 triumph behind Dusty Rhodes' five-hit flinging.

Three of the four teams involved in the National League battle swept twin bills, while the fourth, Pittsburgh, lost twice and skidded down to fourth place. The Chicago Cubs accounted for the Pirates' downfall by scores of 7-2 and 5-4. Chuck Klein's 13th homer helped win the opener, while the second game went 11 innings before Larry French walked in the odd run.

Easy Wins for Cards

The league leading St. Louis Cardinals took two easy victories from the last-place Cincinnati Reds, 9-6 and 9-2, piling up 29 hits in the two games. New York Giants captured second place from Pittsburgh by walloping Brooklyn, 5-2 and 8-6, and had additional cause for celebration when Lefty Watson Clark pitched his first full game in the opener.

Boston Braves also won two games, beating the Phillies 10-4, and 5-1, but suffered a setback in the opener when Ed Brandt, star southpaw, pulled a muscle in his pitching arm and had to retire in the third inning.

By C. J. P.

Well, folks, it looks very much like we're going to have Oshawa back in the Central League this summer. We mean as a full-time playing team, without any of this interlocking business. They want back now, and most of the C.O.B.L. executive wants 'em back, so it just remains to thresh out the details. If they're threshed out to everyone's satisfaction, the Dukes will be in this loop Monday, as a four-team loop. Of course, the C.O.B.L. games already played will count in the standing, and that includes the game Oshawa dropped to Belleville May 24th in the morning.

• • • • • •

President Max Swanston has called an executive meeting of the C.O.B.L. in Belleville Sunday afternoon and the details will be discussed and everything settled. And Oshawa will be in—that's a cinch. If they're not, what can they do for the summer? You see, the Dukes resigned Tuesday night from the Ulster League in Toronto, so they'll be anxious to get in this circuit and no doubt the Petes, Nats and Ponies will agree. We know the former two are willing, provided Oshawa drops its request—which looks like a bluff to us—of a one-sided guarantee and is reasonable about dates for games. Kingston isn't fussy about having them back at all, but Kingston always kicks anyway. It was Kingston in the first place that demanded Oshawa's return to this league, so why kick now that Oshawa is willing?

• • • • • •

The Ulster League insisted upon the high guarantee which Oshawa promised Toronto team to play in the Motor City. This was okay when the Dukes started, but they lost a bunch of games and their gates fell off. They couldn't afford the guarantee and wanted a reduction. Toronto teams refused to lower the tariff, so Oshawa resigned. Their resignation was accepted. But Prexy Hugh Brown of Oshawa had previously played safe by asking Max Swanston could they come back in this loop. The latter said he was "willing to let bygones be bygones" and would be "glad to have Oshawa back," is the C.O.B.L. teams would. Belleville and Peterborough signified their willingness, so that was that.

• • • • • •

It wont do our loop any harm, it will help keep senior ball alive in Oshawa, and it should mean a bigger and better circuit up this way another year. No doubt, Oshawa has had a lesson in getting mixed up with Toronto circuits and will henceforth stay in the C.O.B.L. where it belongs. But the Dukes don't want to pull any big bluff at the meeting Sunday and ask for too much. Right now, we know Kingston will be against giving them a thing, and possibly the Belleville and local executives will feel the same way. Oshawa must be prepared to come at least halfway—no more dictating—as they're in a tougher spot than the other Central League teams.

• • • • • •

Personally, we're glad the way things are working out. We like to see Oshawa playing here as they always provide a lot of opposition, whether it's baseball, hockey or football. The Dukes have dropped a number of games so far this year, but it's because they have been unable to field a full team. But in another two weeks, the rush at General Motors will be over and the players can all get off for games. They will be strong then. And a fighter, and smart dude, like Hugh Brown would be an asset to the C.O.B.L. executive, too.

• • • • • •

Belleville Nats are here this Saturday for a league game and we expect Jack Williams, Indian veteran and star southpaw flinger, will be called upon to pitch. Can't say who will get the local tossing assignment yet. Don't think the Mills' outfit will be any soft picking like they were last year. No, sir-ee. They went right into Kingston last eve and got a 4-4 tie, in fact leading the Ponies most of the way. Casey pitched most of the game, with Williams going in as a relief thrower. Jamieson pitched for Kingston. H. Smith of the homesters hit a four-bagger and Vaughn Jack of Belleville got three hits in four times.

• • • • • •

Going out to Omemee last p.m. in their rainbow-bright new uniforms, Westclox gals—champs of their softball loop last year—played a swell game in all departments to grab off a 21-8 nod. They have two newcomers in their outfield in Thelma Harris and L. McNaughton. The Alarm Lasses state Omemee looks very promising and their hitting should make them a real contender this year. Mary Pickett and Jean Parsons, formerly with Park Hill, are strutting their stuff now with the O's.

• • • • • •

Max Clarke, chairman of the Quaker Tennis Club writes: "Dear Sir— As chairman of the Quaker Tennis Club, I have been trying for some time to get together sufficient clubs in Peterborough to form a league for players who do not play in the Kawartha League. A meeting is being called for 7.30 Friday night, June 1st, at the Y.M.C.A. Five clubs have already given their approval for the forming of this league and will be on hand Friday. I would be grateful if you would mention this in your daily column as there may be other clubs who would join with us in such a league. However, it will be necessary for them to have representatives at this meeting as we intend to draw up the schedule immediately. Trusting you will grant us space in your paper, I am, etc."

Sport hash: It was 12-11 for Central over Prince of Wales in their school softball game the other day . . . . Cogs' lineup for their E.P.L. game tomorrow appears in today's paper . . . . We've scooped Toronto papers and others on Oshawa's withdrawal from the Toronto Ulster League and application for entry to the C.O.B.L. . . . . Western City League in Toronto is threatening to go outlaw 'cause Bill Smith of the O.B.A.A. got the T.A.B.A. to suspend a player for "telling him off."

ATLANTA, May 31 (C.P.). — While Wild Bill Cummings was roaring around the speedway to victory at Indianapolis in the Memorial Day race, a young sprout named Tommy Spikkleback was doing a spot of racing for himself here.

Tommy Spikkleback, it should be said, is an agile horned toad. He won the Tech high stakes yesterday in the annual classic, the "Horned Toad Derby."

Tommy Spikkleback beat some 100 or so competitors to the finish line in the Derby.

When interviewed after the race, Tommy said (through his interpreter and owner, Walter Williams) that his victory was due more to the somnolence of his opposition rather than any special ability of his own. However, he undoubtedly was a little puffed up over his triumph.

St. James' Juveniles Win By Close Count

St. James' Juveniles, the best finishing team in the Church League, pulled another game out of the fire last night to nose out the Murray Street 13-11, and assure the Saints a place in the play-offs. Coming from behind, when they were trailing by 4 to 0, Ponies knotted the count in the sixth and after three more innings the game was called on account of darkness.

DAVIS TO FIELD POWERFUL SQUAD

Last Year's E.P.L. Champions to Meet Fosters on Friday Night.

Manager Darcy Davis will field a powerful Cogs' squad in the East Peterborough Baseball League their first scheduled game this Friday against Fosters. Last year's champions, on paper, appear stronger now than they were in '33. While the team is not made up of oldtimers, still youthful veterans predominate. There is plenty of hitting strength, defensive promise and some real hurling available.

"We realize we are in Class 'A' ball now," Manager Davis said last night, "and we have lined up what we consider a good team." He would not say whether he had any other prospects in mind besides those listed below.

The pitching staff will include: Russ Kitchen, Percy Vannest, Lefty Billingsley and Casey Masterson. Cack Rogers and Cliff Cadd are both experienced catchers, the one not doing the receiving probably playing in left field. Moore and Wilson are the other outfielders. Infielders are: Rooke on first, W. Crary on second, Padgett at short and Mein on third. This team shapes up as being the one to beat for the E.P.L. title this summer.

Clockmakers Defeat Omemee Girls 21-8

Westclox Maidens, last year's champs of the Ladies' City and District Loop, showed their oldtime form when they tangled with the Omemee girls on the latter's diamond last eve, and hammered two pitchers for sixteen clean hits, and a 21 to 8 victory.

The losers showed plenty of batting power but Barb Blade, hurling for the Clock-Makers was able to keep the hits scattered, in every frame except the fourth when two singles and two doubles sent four counters across. Aside from this rally the Omemee squad failed to threaten, and eight of them went out swinging. Valerie Hart, centre-fielder slammed out a homer for the losers, and D. Sherin started the four run rally with a double. Jean Parsons accounted for the other extra base hit when she drove out a double in the fourth with the bases loaded to send in three runs.

The teams:

Believes Petes Hit Stride On Saturday

Knotty Lee put the Petes through a hard two-hour drill in Stevenson Park last night in preparation for their scheduled game with Belleville at three o'clock here this Saturday. He had them batting for half that time against lefthanded twirling, and followed it up with a lively infield workout that had the players sweating hard at the finish. Knotty said.

"They'd better take this game Saturday or some of the fans will be figuring they're no better than last year's team." He himself thinks they will get going shortly and show everyone they are the best team in the league. He believes they are considerably stronger than the 1933 squad and will hit their stride soon.

Peeney Mills' Nationals will be at full strength for this game and anxious to set the Petes down in their first clash of the season. The oldtime rivalry between these clubs always means a lot of fun for the fans. Who the different pitchers will be is unknown yet but at any rate, a good ball game may be expected when the Nats and Petes hook up. Ken Colling and Shiner Johnston will umpire.

BOWMANVILLE BEATS COBOURG.

BOWMANVILLE, May 31.—Bowmanville took second place in the Lake Shore League last night when they won a 11-10 victory over Cobourg in a scheduled game on the High School campus. The game was featured by fast and ragged plays, with Bowmanville having the edge on the play throughout. Gibson pitched the first three innings for Cobourg, and was then withdrawn and Ibey was placed on the mound, but with no better effect. George Piper pitched the entire game for Bowmanville.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

READ THIS FIRST

John Tait, stepson of wealthy Lady Tait is engaged to marry Lucy Burnham, a widow. This is resented by Alysia Naylor, John's cousin, who has been making her home with her sister Etta, and her brother, Claud, at Tait's abode in England. Alysia tries to spoil the romance by using her own fiance, Reggie Claridge, to win Mrs. Burnham's affections. Lady Tait sees her stepson talking to a beautiful young girl, whom she dislikes at once, in a hotel lobby at Vichy where she and her new friend, Mrs. Burnham, are stopping. The girl, revealed as Gillian Dundas who has been blackmailing Tait through a past indiscretion, talks of Tait to a strange-looking young man in another hotel. Meanwhile Claridge arrives from England, introduces himself to Lady Tait, and is immediately taken by Miss Dundas' beauty. The hotel manager arranges a sitting with a Moroccan sorcerer for Lady Tait, John Tait, Mrs. Burnham, Claridge, Claud Naylor, Miss Dundas, and a Mrs. de Souza who employs Gillian as a companion. Suddenly the Arab vanishes. Claridge writes Alysia that he has failed in his quest to separate her Cousin John and Lucy Burnham. Claud Naylor and some of the others return to London from Vichy. At an art gallery young Naylor runs into Lady Ida Westmacott who at one time was engaged to John Tait.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 11

Claud did the gallery methodically, marking a few of the pictures that interested him most. There was one in particular . . . it reminded him of . . . its price turned out to be a little beyond the sum at which he had assessed it in his mind, and it was characteristic of the young man that he wasted no time in tergiversations or dallying with the thought of buying it in spite of that. With a civil word of regret that his finances would not permit him to follow his fancy, he walked away. Many another man in his place would have considered that he could well afford to buy the thing, but Claud was caution itself. Back at the house in Chelsea, John and his stepmother found the two Naylor "girls" busily superintending the packing of their own effects.

Lady Tait insisted on her nieces taking up their quarters with her at Great Cumberland place until the wedding, when they could both go down to the cottage, and there make further arrangements. She included Claud, too, in this invitation, or rather summons. In his case he was to stay until his chambers should be ready for him.

That done, she left the younger generation to talk about hidden lighting, and geometrical furniture, and busied herself with the morning papers and her letters which she had brought with her. She wanted a final word with the decorators as to putting all this down to her account. Until then, she shut herself into the library, thankful that there is no modern substitute for books and bindings.

John came in presently. He was charmed with everything. Delighted, as he said, that his cousins were so pleasant about leaving his house—his father's house—which had been a home to them for some years now.

Lady Tait was not in a good humor, he found. She was annoyed at finding that some of the more gossipy papers had published her intention to settle &30,000 of his father's money on John when he married, and still more annoyed at a letter which had arrived for her this morning as a result of that announcement. It was one of those that she had brought with her.

"I didn't intend to show it to you," she said as she produced it, "but I have every confidence in your good sense." Still she fingered it. Something startled showed for an instant in John's clever but rather reckless-looking dark eyes, but the look passed as he saw the writing on the envelope.

"Is it from the Riccis'?"

She nodded almost fiercely.

"From Hudson's wife?"

"She never was a wife." Lady Tait spoke in a low tone, a tone of positive loathing. "She was a horrible vampire. She took everything from my boy and left nothing but the drunken shell of him. Yes, the letter is from her."

Stretching out his hand for it, John read:

"Your Ladyship—

"I have read in the paper just now that you are giving your stepson &30,000 when he marries next month, and that all the rest of your husband's money is coming to him when you die. This is a wicked thing to do. That you would like me to die of hunger I can understand. You have always hated me. You were jealous that it was me and only me your son loved. I knew that the one time I saw you. But why should you hate the child of your only child? Why should your son's son have nothing, and this stranger to you have all? Give him the &30,000 if you like, but give your own grandchild something too. If you do not you will be sorry, and this John Tait will be sorry too. I give you a warning. You had better take it.

"MARIA RICCI."

Tait laid the letter down slowly, thoughtfully.

"You mustn't mind my saying that one can understand why she feels a little bitter," he said quietly, looking at her with something placating in his smile; "&30,000 is a splendid wedding present to Lucy and me, but after all, wouldn't it be possible to make some sort of an allowance to her boy, Hudson's son? The fact that she married her cousin so soon after Hudson's death ——"

"Makes no difference at all." Lady Tait flashed hotly. "I'm not an unjust woman. But neither am I a simpleton. That child wasn't Hudson's child! Don't let yourself get sentimental, John. I was afraid of this when I hesitated about showing you that letter. Maria Ricci and her cousin and all her family lived on my son, sponged on him, fattened on him. They taught him to drink. You know what we went through during the four years before he died. Four years during which he was never sober——" She turned her anguished face away, tears in her keen eyes.

"It was that hurt to his head when he was hit by the falling chimney," John said, laying a gentle hand on her twitching fingers. "And one can't but allow that they were very good to him at the time."

"Of course they were!" she had conquered her softer emotion again. "They guessed how profitable a young man struck senseless just outside their wine shop might be. And, of course, he fell in love with this Maria. And, of course, they got him to stay with them so that they could all live on him. Oh, don't talk of it!" She shuddered. "It was horrible! Horrible! You, too, tried to get him to come home and give her up, and you, too, failed."

"It wasn't love at the end." Lady Tait spoke in a stifled voice. "She frightened him. In some way she dominated him until he had no will of his own. Horrible! And all the time there was this cousin, Guido Ricci . . . and that dreadful child, his image! Even Hudson never ventured to talk of him to me after the once. Even he guessed the truth. The child is the image of the Italian."

John stuck to his point. It was one he had often broached before and always in vain.

"That would be a good argument if Ricci weren't her cousin. As it is, the boy might merely take after his mother's people—a grandparent, say."

"A cousin, I say!" There was the flush of anger in her cheek. "Not another word, John. Don't you suppose I know what I'm talking about?" John did not. He very much doubted if any one except Maria and her cousin knew the truth. But something in his talks with the Italian woman had made him think she had really adored the young Englishman whom a targic fate had literally flung into her arms one warm summer evening when he turned a corner, was caught by a falling chimney, and was never the same again. Some injury to the brain or nerve cells too deep for medical knowledge to find, had turned a pleasant, level-headed young man, who had taken a good degree the month before, and intended doing something with his talents, into an ineffectual drunkard, whom nothing could rouse, who drank himself steadily to death after four years of life in the gutter.

John privately believed that the boy, born six months after the marriage in a registry office, really was Hudson's child, and as such the only descendant of the woman facing him.

"In law the child was his," he said stubbornly.

"Law!" Lady Tait's tone was scorn itself. "Let her go to law, then. She had the thousand that his grandmother had left Hudson, unhappily. Or the Ricci's would soon have let him go. He and she and they together spent every penny of it ——"

"Still," he urged, as she fell silent, "couldn't you do something for them as a matter of prudence? These Sicilians, the Riccis are Sicilians aren't they, can be very vengeful."

For use in isolated districts, a train, fully equipped as a hospital and motion picture theatre for the showing of educational films, is to be run on the South Manchurian Railway.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, June 1

The planetary configurations bearing rule on this day are mainly of an adverse or malefic nature, although it will be a very lively and exciting state of affairs both private and business. In the latter there may be some substantial gain in real possessions or in rewards for industry and hard work. A spirit of enterprise and high tensions prevail. In personal associations also, in which particular discretion is called for. Be careful in employment.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very active and strenuous year but one not notable for high results, excepting in the matter of hard work with its rewards and accumulations. Sudden change and reversals are possible, and employment may develop inharmonies and censure. In private associations discretion is advised lest regrettable turns arise. Journeys are presaged.

A child born on this day should be versatile and talented in business and probably the arts, but it may be restless and temperamental, and not fortunate in love.

More than 146,000 cases of oranges were exported from Australia in the last year.

PIONEER METHODIST IS HONORED BY BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE

BORN 200 YEARS AGO.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., May 31. — (C.P.).—Members of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church this afternoon joined in a pilgrimage to the grave of Barbara Heck, who founded Methodism in North America. Residents of this district also took part in the pilgrimage to the grave in Augusta Township.

At the grave on the shores of the St. Lawrence River tribute was paid to the life and services of Barbara Heck. It was the 200th anniversary of her birth.

Members of the Montreal and Ottawa Conference met the members of the Bay of Quinte Conference at the monument erected in memory of Barbara Heck 25 years ago by Canadian and United States Methodists. Rev. C. R. McQuade of Oshawa, president of the Bay of Quinte Conference, presided at the services, and Rev. Dr. R. M. Hamilton of Brockville, a student of Barbara Heck's religious career, delivered an address.

Descendants of Barbara Heck, living in Augusta Township, stood by the graveside at the Blue Church. It was in Augusta Township that the noted religious leader and her husband, Paul, settled, following the American revolution.

Born In Ireland.

Barbara Heck, whose maiden name was Ruckle, was born in Tipperary County, Ireland. Converted to Methodism at 18 years of age, she became noted for a quiet but zealous piety. With her husband, Paul Heck, she came to America in 1760 and established the first Methodist Church in New York City.

With a group of other settlers, the Hecks moved to Canada in 1774 and 1778 took up land in Augusta Township, near the village of Maitland. The Heck home was opened to the first Methodist itinerant preacher in Canada, William Losee, in 1790. And Paul Heck led class meeting until his death in 1792. Barbara lived until 1804 and was buried in the cemetery surrounding the Blue Church.

Her first Bible, which she carried from youth to old age, is a treasured relic in Victoria College Library, Toronto.

THE OLDEST SOLDIER?

DRUMHELLER, Alta., May 31 (C.P.). — Drumheller is not to be denied the "oldest soldier in Canada" title. The first claimant here lost out when George White of Amherstburg, Ont., laid claim to the honor, but to-day A. M. Charters, 86, who came to Drumheller district in a1 ox cart, put in his bid.

Charters enlisted with the Canadian forces in 1862 at the age of 14, and in 1866 served in the Fenian Raid. He was awarded a medal for services. The newest "oldest soldier" was born in Norfolk County, Ontario.

Tanners Gain Lead In Hastings League

HASTINGS, May 31 (Examiner Correspondence).—The Tanners advanced to undisputed possession of first place in the Hastings Softball League on Wednesday night, when they defeated the Clerks, 23 to 17, in an exhibition of softball that provided everything.

Scoring 12 runs in the first period the Counter Dusters looked to have their first win in the bag. The Tanners kept fighting hard, shoving over five in the third, three in the fourth, and going to the front in the fifth with a batting spree that netted them six runs and the lead. Dr. "Doug" Hay kept switching his line-up in an effort to pull out a win, even benching himself, but the Tanners wantai their hides and took them home.

Queen Mary School Defeats King George

Queen Mary had little trouble handing King George the sour side of a 28-7 score in a School Softball League game yesterday afternoon. The winners played nice ball throughout. The teams:

Oshawa Juniors Win Opener Over Cobourg

OSHAWA, May 31.—Combing the offerings of Waghorne and Turpin for eight hits, Oshawa Cubs handed Cobourg an 8-6 defeat in the opening game of the Lakeshore Junior Baseball League at Motor City Stadium last evening.

The Oshawa team was forced to twice come from behind when they bunched their hits in the fourth and sixth frames for three runs on both occasions. Leo Lamoureux started on the mound for Oshawa and pitched four-hit ball in the six innings he worked. Two errors, a walk and two men hit by pitched balls, however, gave the Cobourg squad two runs in three separate innings.

TULIPS BLOSSOM FROM HIS ASHES

"King" of London's Street Musicians, Once Well-to-do, Desired No Grave.

LONDON, May 31 (C.P.).—In the ashes of a strange man who once earned $20,000 a year as a street violinist spring flowers grow, for Albert William Rigden has no grave.

When Rigden died this month he asked a woman friend to scatter his ashes in the tulip beds of her garden. His death, doctors said, resulted from 18-year-old war wounds suffered at Ypres.

Known as the king of London's street musicians, Rigden sat for many years in a wheel chair and caused pedestrians to stop in amazement at his playing. His bow slid over the strings of a genuine Stradivarius.

Rigden was never rich. He was once a church organist. He could play almost any instrument. His collection included a banjo and a saxaphone. Although he made a lot of money he had little. He gave most of it away. For 18 years he sought unsuccessfully to gain a war pension.

In his youth Rigden ran away from home and went to sea. He circumnavigated the globe three times and fought in three conflicts, the Boxer rebellion, the South African War and the Great War.

Once Luisa Tetrazzini, the famous Italian soprano, passed Rigden's stand in Fulham and heard him playing. She stopped and sang to his accompaniment before an astonished crowd.

Plans Trip Across Atlantic in Canoe

BENSON AVENUE SAILOR TO TRY OCEAN VOYAGE

SAILED SEAS FOR YEARS.

(By Keith Copping)

Peterborough, Ontario, to Peterborough, England, in a canoe! That is the project which John Smith of Benson Avenue, 24-year-old sailor, announced calmly and with a degree of modest reluctance to The Examiner to-day. In about two weeks' time he intends to shove off the banks of the Otonabee in a sixteen-foot canoe on a paddle which will take him down the St. Lawrence to St. John's, Newfoundland, and thence straight across the Atlantic to Ireland.

Impossible? Your reporter also thought his leg was being given a pull.

"Are you actually serious about this?" we asked. "It just can't be done!"

"Certainly I'm serious," he replied. "I've been planning this for eight months now. I know I can do it or I wouldn't attempt it."

Yes, Mr. Smith is serious. For the past eight months, while sailing as an able seaman on American coastal vessels in Atlantic and Pacific waters, he has been analysing carefully the various problems involved. With his plans practically complete, he returned to his home here about a month ago. And right now he is busy seeking a canoe of the proper type and arranging for the food rations and equipment he will carry with him. He is confident that his start will not be delayed more than fourteen or fifteen days.

Publicity Shy.

Able Seaman Smith is a husky young fellow. Five years' work loading and unloading cargo in every port along the coast from Montreal around to Seattle and Vancouver as a member of the crews of fifteen to twenty differ-

St. Joseph Street Voters Are On List

In a letter to The Examiner, Sheriff F. J. A. Hall, returning officer, remarking upon a news paragraph appearing in last night's issue stating that the voters on St. Joseph's street, had been left off the enumerator's lists, states: "I find on looking into the official list handed to me by the enumerator that there are nine names on that list whose address is St. Joseph's street. As this is a very short street I am satisfied that these are all the voters living on that street and their names are properly on the list".

A check-up by The Examiner at the source from which the information was obtained yesterday, and pubished in good faith, reveals the fact that while the names are on the official list handed to the returning officer by the enumerator, they were left off the copy of the lists sent to the political committee rooms.

How the Camera Caught Prince George

TWO ARE KILLED LEVEL CROSSING

Aged Farmer, Young Nurse Struck Shortly After Leaving Station.

NEAR EXETER.

EXETER, Ont., June 1 (C.P.).—Two persons were killed here at noon to-day when their automobile was struck by the Canadian National Railways London-Wingham train at a level crossing.

They were: Miss Eleanor Lindenfield, 20, London, Ont., and Adam Burke, 65, of Dashwood.

Both were believed to have been killed instantly. Miss Lindenfield, a nurse-in-training at Victoria Hospital, London, had arrived on the train at Exter a few minutes before the accident. Mr. Burke drove here from Dashwood to meet her, and was driving across the railroad tracks on his way home when they were struck.

The crossing is a mile and a quarter from the station. There are no protective devices, but there is a clear view. The station can be seen from the crossing.

Coroner Dr. P. J. O'Dwyer, of Zurich, ordered an inquest into the deaths. The bodies were taken to Dashwood.

Pilgrims To Use Tent As Fire Razes Church

UNION CITY, N.J., June 1 (AP)—In the shadow of the charred, fire-wrecked Church of St. Michael's Roman Catholic Monastery laborers worked to-day to erect a huge tent to supply a place of worship for the parishioners and pilgrims who throng each week to this noted shrine.

Plans were being made, meanwhile, for the reconstruction of their church destroyed in yesterday's spectacular fire. Rev. Edward Goggin, Monastery pastor, announced that the work of rebuilding the destroyed structure would get under way as soon as possible.

The ruined church and the adjacent auditorium were covered by insurance, Father Goggin said, but it could not be learned if the insurance was sufficient to meet the fire's damage, which was variously estimated as between $500,000 and $1,000,000.

A Coop Hermit

CHICAGO, June 1.—(C.P.)—Police found Abe Hinkley, 61, a nude hermit, living in Frank Flanigan's chicken coop. They attempted to take him to a hospital, but both Flanigan and Hinkley objected. Hinkley said he had been living in the coop for 12 years.

DIONNE BABIES BILLED FOR FAIR

Father Signs Contract $250 Per Week, Including Expenses, 30 p.c. of Receipts.

ALL CARE PROVIDED.

NORTH BAY, Ont., June 1 (CP)—Rev. D. Routhier, Parish Priest at Corbeil, announced to-day that Ovila Dionne, father of the Corbeil quintuplets, signed a contract yesterday with the Tour Bureau of Chicago to exhibit the five girls born last Monday, at the World's Fair, Chicago.

The contract was signed yesterday at Orillia, the priest stated, and the Dionne quintuplets will be exhibited when Dr. D. A. Dafoe, attending physician, declares the mother and children are ready to travel.

The agreement, the parish priest said, specifies that if nothing happens to the children and the time is not too late for the fair, the Tour Bureau will provide special transportation for the entire family, the grandfather included, doctor and nurses. The Bureau will assume all costs of the trip to Chicago, including salaries of attendants.

The remuneration at the fair was fixed at $250 weekly, including expenses and 30 per cent of all receipts.

In the interval Dionee is to receive $100 weekly and the family will remain at home under Dr. Dafoes' care until the physician declares them fit to be moved.

Meanwhile, the quintuplets, now past the 100th hour since their birth last Monday morning, were reported progressing favorably.

PRESENTED TO KING

LONDON, June 1 (CP Cable).—Harry Oakes of Niagara Falls, Ont., President of Lake Shore Mines, and Thomas Bull, of Toronto, were presented to His Majesty to-day by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner in London, at the King's third and final levee of the season.

DETECTIVE SHOT CHASING GUNMAN TORONTO STREET

Suspect Fires Point Blank as Police Stop Pair for Questioning.

PURSUIT LASTS BLOCKS.

Officers Wound Fleeing Man and Arrest Both He and Companion.

TORONTO, June 1.—(CP)—In a running gun fight between police and two men they were attempting to question, Detective William Greaves, of the Toronto police, and George Hamilton 29, were wounded here early today.

Hamilton has been charged with attempting to murder Greaves and with shooting with intent to kill other officers. Neither of the wounded men is in serious condition. They are being treated at Toronto Western Hospital.

Greaves was hit in the right shoulder and right hand and Hamilton in the right foot. Police say Greaves and another officer stopped Hamilton and Charles Smith at Queen and Euclid streets to question them. Hamilton is alleged to have drawn a revolver and fired point blank at the detective, hitting him in the shoulder.

Greaves and another officer chased the men for several blocks through alleyways, Hamilton and police halting several times to shoot. In one of the exchanges Hamilton was wounded and Greaves was hit in the hand. Smith took no part in the gun fight and was charged with possessing burglar's tools.

Both arrested men said they came here recently from Western Canada. Smith was born in Toronto.

Spotted Outside Store.

Greaves and Plainclothesman David Swann were patrolling their division in an automobile when they saw Hamilton and Smith acting suspiciously near a tobacco store. When Swann jumped from the car and seized Smith, Hamilton is said to have drawn a revolver and ordered the officer to release him. Swann swung Smith in front of him as protection and called to Greaves. As the latter left the car Hamilton is alleged to have fired four shots at him.

One shot severed the stray that held Greaves' holster and it clattered to the ground. Despite his rapid loss of blood he recovered the weapon and opened fire. The men ran along Queen street and were outdistancing the officer when Constable George Moore joined the chase. He followed Hamilton into a yard and when the fugitive took refuge under a verandah the officer struck him over the head with the butt on his gun and effected the capture.

Hamilton was shot as he stood in a laneway and fired the bullet that entered Greaves' hand. The officer saw the flash of his revolver and fired at the spot.

Erie, Niagara River Lowest On Record

FORT ERIE, Ont., June 1 (C.P.).—Water in the Niagara River and Lake Erie during May was lower than at any time of which record has been kept, United States geodetic survey records released today show.

Instead of returning to normal this spring as was predicted last fall, the water level continued to drop, amazing old-time residents who have never seen it so low.

At some spots along Niagara Boulevard in Fort Erie South, where the water at one time extended close to the Niagara line of the Michigan Central Railway, it is now possible to walk out many feet from the normal shoreline. At Thomas dock, where for years a fleet of fishing boats tied up in deep water, the dock itself stands on dry land.

NOT RE-BUILDING

TORONTO, June 1 (CP)—Directors of the Clifton Hotel, badly damaged by fire last winter, decided at a meeting here to-day not to rebuild. The affairs of the company will be wound up.

A Man-Hater?

On the west side of Mark Street, about halfway between Douro and Hunter streets, a purple grackle — commonly known as the blackbird—holds sway. It is a man-hating bird and for several days has been swooping down on passers-by from a tree, probably in an attempt to frighten away people from the vicinity where its mate hatches. School children and adults, too, are shunning that side of the street at this point, fearing the sharp beak and claws of this angry guardian. At noon to-day a young man passing under the tree was startled to hear a sudden sharp clucking at his ear and feel the brush of a wing across his face. Twice more the feathered attacker swooped directly at his head before it finally rested on a branch and swore angrily at him in bird language as long as he was within earshot.

35,000 SAILORS INVADE N. YORK

U. S. Fleet Visits City First Time Since 1918 for 18 day Stay.

$1,000,000 TO SPEND.

By BENNETT WOLFE.

NEW YORK, June 1.—(A.P.)—Steaming into New York harbor behind the flagship of its training commander-in-chief Franklin D. Roosevelt, the United States' navy was anchored to-day for an 18-day stay.

The fleet was in for the first time since 1918, bringing 35,000 bluejackets, their spirits high in anticipation of their long holiday and the bright lights of Manhattan and their pockets jingling at least $1,000,000 for spending. Wednesday was their pay day.

The men-o'-war, on dress parade, swung into the harbor last night after passing in proud review before President Roosevelt. Cheering crowds jammed the waterfront and all available points of vantage to see the big grey fleet come in.

The colorful sea show, delayed two hours by fog, took place just outside the bay, hidden by a thick haze from the sight of landlubbers. The immense throngs wanted patiently, however, and sent up a tremendous cheer when the President's ship, the cruiser Indianapolis, steamed into view.

With guns booming and bands playing the battle fleet—88 ships in all—passed before the President as he stood on the communication deck of the Indianapolis, anchored a mile off Ambrose Lightship.

First came the flagship Pennsylvania of Admiral David F. Sellers, commanding the navy's entire fleet. When she crossed the bow of the Indianapolis, the Pennsylvania fired the Presidential salute of 21 guns —and the show was on.

2 Mail Sacks Stolen With $17,000 Cash

CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa., June 1. (AP)—Two sacks of mail, one containing $17,000 in cash, were stolen in Conshohocken to-day by five men dressed as laborers. They were masked and carried pistols.

They held up a mail messenger and two other men snatched the sacks from the Reading Company station platform, where they had just been thrown from a train, and fled in an automobile, travelling toward Norristown.

One sack of registered mail held the money sent from the Federal Reserve Bank in Philadelphia to the First National Bank of Conshohocken and was intended for the payrolls of seven factories. The money was in small bills.

RELIEF BILL JUNE 15.

OTTAWA, June 1 (C.P.)—All the Provinces have been advised by wire by Hon. W. A. Gordon Minister of Labor, that in view of the lateness of the season, the agreements under which direct relief is shared by the Dominion, provinces and municipalities, shall remain effective so far as the Dominion is concerned until June 15. The hope was expressed that after that date, for the summer months at least, the provinces would be able to handle their own direct relief requirements.

U.S. IS PREPARED FOR DISCUSSION WITH DEBTORS

"SACRIFICE TO PAY."

No Legislation This Session —Understanding Hinted With Britain.

(By the Canadian Press)

As the British government remained silent today while President Roosevelt transmitted a war debts message to the United States Congress, it was thought in some quarters in London the two administrations were agreed on the procedure to be followed when the next instalment comes due June 15.

Parliament in London adjourned for the week-end without any announcement regarding the expected British note to Washington, and in view of the government's silence it was thought a way had been found whereby a token payment might be made—as on the last two occasions — without Britain being considered in default.

The Roosevelt message did not mention any nation specifically but repeated the United States was willing to receive representations from any debtor concerning its problems. It did however affirm the belief that debtor nations should make "substantial sacrifices" in an effort to meet the payments.

President Roosevelt, in a report to Congress, held out a promise for discussion of revision of present funding agreements to any European debtor nations who ask and present "special circumstances relating to means and methods of payment."

Important Factor.

He indicated what "special circumstances" would be considered by emphasizing that factors would be whether the nations are utilizing their resources for "recovery purposes" or make a "reasonable payment" on the debt owed, or are

FIVE HOUSES BEING BUILT

27 PERMITS.

Reflecting the increased activity in the building trades in the city, building permits issued last month at the city engineer's office totalled 27 for a total estimated value of $33,415. Included in these permits is the $18,500 addition to the Dominion Woollens and Worsteds' plant at Auburn and five new dwellings totalling $10,700 in value.

May's record of permits brings the total permits issued to date this year to $65,730. Last year to the end of May the total was $96,950 but included in this was the permit for the erection of the Immaculate Conception Church at a cost of $68,900. During the same period in 1932 permits issued totalled a value of $51,540.

Aquarium Pet

WINDSOR, Ont., June 1.—(C.P.)— Weighing 215 pounds and measuring 7 feet four inches from snout to tail, a sturgeon gave three Lake Erie fishermen a busy half hour battle before being landed. It now rests in a fresh water tank at the home of John Brunner at Arner and is attracting considerable attention.

Mr. Brunner estimates that some 60 pounds of caviar will come from the fish, but he is not investigating further in hope he may be able to sell the fish to some aquarium. He already has been offered $100 for his prize but he estimates that it will bring more than that if he sold it on the New York market.

216 CANDIDATES NOW IN FIELD AFTER 90 SEATS

Sixty Straight Fights, Five Four-cornered, 24 Triangle Battles Listed.

NO ACCLAMATIONS.

Tories Lead With 89 Entered, Liberals 87, and C.C.F. 23.

(By the Canadian Press)

The battle lines are drawn for the Ontario General election. With less than three weeks to polling on June 19, a total of 216 candidates are in the field for the 90 seats. There will be a fight in every seat. Today only one riding is without two or more candidates — Russell — but there a Liberal will be nominated Saturday night to oppose the former member, C. A. Seguin.

Record number of candidates in any one seat is contesting Windsor-Walkerville, one of the many ridings changed by last year's redistribution act. Five nominees, including Mayor David Croll of Windsor, are seeking the election.

There are five four-cornered contests in prospect and no fewer than 24 triangle battles. The remaining 60 seats will see straight fights, barring possible late nominations. There are still 12 days to go before nominations close.

One reason for the fact no seat is being allowed to go by acclamation is of course the drastic reduction in number of ridings. For the 1934 general elections the number of seats have been reduced from 112 to 90, and in the process many old ridings have been merged, enlarged, or swallowed up in surrounding seats.

Interesting Features

The redistribution tangle has brought about many interesting features in the new campaign, chief of which is the Conservative nomination in the new Grenville-Dundas riding, virtually a straight merger. James A. Sanderson succeeded former Premier Howard Ferguson as the Conservative member for Grenville, has just stepped down in favor of Hon. G. H. Challies, Conservative member for Dundas.

Sixty-nine members of the last Legislature and several members of former Legislatures are seeking seats in the 19th Legislature. Among the veterans are William David Black, Conservative member who was first elected for Addington in 1911. W. J. Bragg, Liberal in Durham, is seeking his fifth term since 1919.

With nominations virtually complete, the Conservatives head the roster with a candidate in every seat but one. That is Kent East, where the former Liberal member, D. M. Campbell, is being opposed by Ray King, Independent.

The Liberals have 87 candidates in the field, having no candidates in Brantford or Hamilton East, and still waiting nomination in Russell.

The co-operative Commonwealth Federation is the third largest group with 23 candidates nominated. Nine Independents, five Communists, two Independent-Liberals, and one United Farmer candidate bring up the roster.

NATIONS UNEASY GRAVE OUTLOOK ARMS PARLEY

Henderson Fighting to Save Situation, Postpones Session to Wednesday.

TIME FOR REFLECTION.

Nation After Nation Stresses Need of Security Before Arms Pact.

(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

GENEVA, June 1 (CP Cable).—Opening this afternoon's session of the World Disarmament Conference President Arthur Henderson announced the next session would be postponed until Tuesday in view of the gravity of the situation. Then, as speaker after speaker stressed the need of security before an arms pact, he extended the adjournment to Wednesday.

This will permit leading delegates to consult their governments over the impasse that has arisen between the French claim for security and the German claim for re-armament.

Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary, leaves for London tonight.

Sir John earlier said privately he saw little prospect of achieving anything important at present in Geneva. It was his call that the conference get down to realities that provoked the firm French statement against any concession to Germany.

Henderson's announcement was made at the opening of the conference session to-day after adjournment since Wednesday. He said the further adjournment would give opportunity for reflection and to find the road to a practical decision.

Situation Grows Worse

He took a serious view of the present status of the conference, he said. Serious contemplation had led him to the conviction the situation was much more grave than at any time since the parley opened in February, 1932.

"It cannot be settled merely by making speeches," he declared.

Continuing the general discussion, the Polish spokesman threw cold water on the Russian proposal to turn the conference into a permanent peace conference. Previously Britain had also rejected it.

Joseph Beck, Foreign Secretary of Poland, declared the scheme proposed by Maxim Litvinoff would lead inevitably to reform of the League of Nations, and it was difficult to believe that such a task could be imposed on the conference.

Poland, mindful of the objects of the conference, he added, had made no changes in its defence budget except in the way of reduction.

In the name of European neutrals, Richard Sandler of Sweden then brought forth their joint disarmament proposals, which in the light of the Franco-German deadlock have been mentioned as affording perhaps the best way out.

On behalf of the Swedish, Danish, Norwegian, Dutch, Spanish and Swiss delegations, he proposed:

Big Decrease Shown By Births In City

Births showed a big decrease in May over the same month last year, it was reported to-day at the City Clerk's office. Births totalled 78 during May a year ago, but last month there were only 38.

Marriages showed an increase last month over May, 1933, there being 16, six more. Deaths numbered 39 last month, an increase of 11 over a year ago.

Lloyd George Fights Great Heath Fire

CHURT, Surrey, England, June 1 (C.P.).—David Lloyd-George, wartime Prime Minister of Great Britain, fought despite his 71 years to-day against a great heath fire which broke out a few hundred yards from his country home.

The blaze was one of the biggest in the history of Surrey. Because of the present drought, it spread so rapidly that a detachment of 400 soldiers was rushed in trucks from Aldershot to assist Lloyd-George and his men in the battle.

They were equipped with gas masks, picks and shovels. They worked stripped to the waist, feverishly digging trenches to stop the spread of the fire and beating out the flames. The blaze was still raging late this afternoon.

Callander Doctor Old Madoc Boy

QUINTUPLETS ADD TO FAME DR. A. R. DAFOE

Brilliant Obstretician Has Brought Over 1,400 Children Into World.

OLD SCHOOL PHYSICIAN.

Was Born in Madoc of United Empire Loyalist Stock.

CALLANDER, June 1.—The successful birth of the Dionne quintuplets at Corbell, near here, was a triumph for a country practitioner who has brought between 1,400 and 1,500 children into the world.

Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe is an old-school physician who has practiced in Callander for twenty-eight years, and he says the Dionne event was "similar to what any country practitioner encounters."

Admirers of the middle-aged physician call him the most brilliant obstetrician in the north and are gratified that the country doctor has become widely known through the Dionne case.

Dr. Dafoe comes of a family of physicians. His father was one and his brother now practices in Toronto. He was born in Madoc, Ont., of United Empire Loyalist stock and attended college in Toronto, graduating in 1908.

He has attended many unusual cases and assisted at the birth of quadruplets in Burke's Falls some years ago, but none of his patients have attained the fame of the Dionne girls.

Speaking of his years spent in the north, the physician remarked that things are much easier for the country doctor now that he is able to use an automobile to make his calls. In the days of poor roads he travelled thousands of miles through all sorts of weather with a horse and buggy.

He has had to contend with the usual inconveniences of the rural practitioner, lack of hospitals, the poverty of patients, difficulty of travel and of securing the proper assistance and aids to the profession.

Recently a meeting with a North Bay woman recalled to a former nurse a case which he attended 20 years ago. A woman attempted to commit suicide by shooting, and Dr. Dafoe travelled over a lake by sleigh to attend her. He found a bullet had blown away a part of her brain and she had been lying on a cold floor for four hours. Through his expert care she recovered and now is living in North Bay.

Toronto Livestock Review

TORONTO, June 1.—(C.P.)—The British bacon market which rose steadily throughout the week and which at the close showed no signs of weakening lent its impetus to the hog division of the Toronto livestock market this week and shoved it up 40 cents. A 600-head heavier run than the previous week failed to slow up the Toronto market.

An unusual burst of warm weather sent sheep prices crashing down and the division closed $1.50 lower for the four days' trading. Price changes on cattle were confined to a 25 cent lo ss on weighty steers and bulls. No changes were recorded on calves and lambs. Receipts on all classes were heavier with lambs showing the greatest increase with a jump of 1,000 head.

Cattle trading was draggy for the greater part of the week, but light receipts toward the close enabled a Monday-holdover of 1,200 to be reduced to 200 at the close of Thursday's session. Exporters paid $5.50 to $6.36 for weighty steers at the opening but none sold higher than $5.75 for the balance of the week. Medium to good steers sold mostly at $4.75 to $5.50.

Choice butcher cattle were steady at $5.00 to $5.35 with a few top at $5.50. Fed calves ranged from $5.00 to $7.00 according to quality and two loads of western yearlings sold in fed calf range at $5.75. Good butcher cows brought $3.50 to $3.75 and light cows moved up to $4.00. Bulls closed from $3.00 to $3.25 for good butchers and at $2.50 to $2.75 for bolognas and heavies.

Store cattle trade was almost at a standstill throughout the week with practically no inquiry from outside points. Milkers and Springers sold firmly at $45 to $50 for tops with two loads being shipped into the Province of Quebec.

Conditions on most pastures were reported as backward with rain needed badly throughout Ontario. Exporters shipped 320 head of cattle to Great Britain, including a few cars of heavy bulls. A half dozen loads of killing cattle were shipped to Montreal.

Under receipts of 2,700 head, calf prices remained unchanged, with trading fairly active. Common to medium vealers made the bulk of the run, selling from $3 to $5.50 cwt. A few good and choice vealers sold at $6 to $7.

The hog run was heavy at 4,700 head. Bacons closed 40 cents higher for the week at $8.40 f.o.b., $8.75 off truck and $9.15 weighed off car. Reports indicated the British market was still strong. Choice lambs averaged about 68 pounds and sold from $11 to $12, closing with tops mostly at $11.50. General opinion was that too many lambs had been marketed in an unfinished condition. A few culls sold at $6.50 to $8, but slow trading forced many to be shipped back to the country. Buyers claimed too many culls would diminish the demand for good lambs. Sheep fell into a warm-weather slump and dropped to $3 cwt. for tops, with culls, heavies and bucks selling at $1 to $2 cwt.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were:

	Cattle.	Calves.	Hogs.	Sheep-Lambs.
This week	5,253	2,733	4,768	3,360
Last week	5,072	2,334	4,143	2,394
1934 to date	107,709	47,326	106,747	53,543
This week, 1933	4,941	2,770	5,161	3,572

Tax receipts in Germany have been greater this year than in the same period of 1933.

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID CHILDREN

"Billy" West and Miss Valerie Yvonne Died From Injury and Burns.

HASTINGS YOUNGSTERS.

HASTINGS, June 1. (Examiner Correspondence). — Hastings citizens as well as a very large number from the surounding district, joined together on Thursday afternoon to pay solemn tribute to two youngsters who died on Tuesday from injuries and burns received in two fatal accidents that shocked the community.

At two o'clock Rev. S. H. Hill of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church opened the service at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William West, Front street, W., for their six year old son, William Albert, who died on Tuesday morning. "Billy" as he was affectionately known was of a very sunny disposition and had won his way into the hearts of the residents of that section of the village where his parents reside.

"Billy's" death came the result of a fall from the roof of the summer kitchen of his home, when he landed stradle of an ice cream tub which was being used as a rain barrel. The accident happened one week previous to his death.

The bearers were Messrs. D. Hassett, S. MacDonald, F. McCarthy and O. Philips.

Interment was made in Trent Valley Cemetery.

The funeral services for little Miss Valine Yvonne Sherwin, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Sherwin were conducted by Rev. S. H. Hill of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church at 3.30 at the family residence, where a very large number of sorrowing friends were present.

The deceased youngster whose tragic death on Tuesday cast a shadow of deep gloom over the entire district, sustained her fatal injuries on Tuesday morning while playing with matches her clothing caught on fire despite the frantic efforts of her mother to smother the flames the youngster had received such terrible burns that she died ten hours later in Nicholls hospital, Peterborough after every thing possible in medical aid had been done.

The small, white coffin was carried from the home by four young friends of the family: Messrs S. Whitred, C. Scriver, R. Scriver and F. Richardson.

Interment was made in Trent Valley cemetery.

Emperor Kang Teh of Manchukuo donated $35,000 to the Hakodate fire disaster fund.

SMALL PACKERS BEING FORCED OUT OF BUSINESS

Selling Below Cost to Force Small Man Out, Committee is Told.

MANIPULATE HOG PRICES.

Industry is "in Hands of Mad Men," Ellis Moyer Declares.

OTTAWA, May 31. (CP).—Cut-throat competition from big packing plants, selling below cost, has driven his 30-year-old pork packing plants, selling below cost, has mentary buying committee was told tod-ay by Ellis Moyer of St. Catharines, Ont., secretary-treasurer of the Moyer Brothers Limited.

"It looks that way" said the independent packer when Norman Sommerville, committee counsel asked if he believed there was a concerted move to put him out of business in the Niagara peninsula. He said he knew of many instances of the large packers, with Canada Packes leading the way, taking away his customers by selling below cost.

"In Hands of Mad Men"

The packing industry, said Mr. Moyer, seemed to be "in the hands of mad men" who were willing to take orders, irrespective of costs. This was driving small packers out of business. About three years ago his plant killed 325,000 hogs a week but now it was down to 75,000.

The St. Catharines' packer read a letter to the committee which he wrote to the Federal Agricultural Minister in April. The letter said cut-throat competition from large packing plants and chain stores had placed the Moyer firm in a worse position than it was 30 years ago when it was formed "Until now it is all but gone. Now we are back where we started as regards volume and worse off because the costs of production are about double what they were then."

In was his opinion, Mr. Moyer

YOUTH STICKS TO FIRE STORY

Claims Blaze Started From Cigarette as He Was Robbing Store.

HUNT GROCERY MANAGER

ST. THOMAS, Ont., June 1 (CP) —Under stiff questioning, Walter Vaughan, 15-year-old St. Thomas boy, at enquiry yesterday into fire at Aylmer Inn on April 16 stuck to his story that he accidentally set fire to the building by throwing away a lighted cigarette butt while he was robbing a grocery store in the Inn building.

Vaughan, who helped fight the fire at the hotel, made his confession to Inspector Gruenett of the Criminal Investigation Department at Toronto. He said he had left Aylmer police station where he was sleeping as a transient with the intention of robbing the store and getting groceries to take with him on his way to Montreal. While in this act the cigarette he tossed aside set fire to a pile of papers and the blaze got out of his control.

Later when brought up for preliminary hearing he repudiated this confession, but this morning he declared his story as told Inspector Gruenett was true. He said he had repudiated the confession on the advice of George Banks a fellow prisoner in the Elgin jail, and of his mother.

The hearing being conducted by Joseph Sedgewick, of the Attorney General's Department before Chief Fire Marshal Heaton, was not concluded yesterday morning but at the request of Mr. Sedgewick was adjourned sine die to give the enquiry a chance to call Robert Burton. Burton was the manager for Miss Vera McConnell of the grocery where the fire started. He has not been in Aylmer for two weeks and efforts to locate him have been unavailing.

The bodies were found Thursday by a next door neighbor. Roy Lowe, who investigated after seeing none of the family around the house. The shooting is believed to have occurred Wednesday night.

533 FAMILIES ON CITY RELIEF

Reduction Made Possible Through Increase in Amount of Highway Work.

MORE WORK EXPECTED.

There are 99 fewer families on relief in the city now than a month ago, A. G. Metheral, relief officer, reported last night to the Finance Committee of the council.

There are now 533 city families on relief, Mr. Metheral said. The reduction has been made possible by the opening up of employment on highway jobs and increased activity in several local factories.

More heads of families will in all likelihood be placed in employment on highway work within the next week or two, Mr. Metheral added, which should further reduce the number of families receiving relief and so decrease the city's burden in this connection.

Mr. Metheral asked that he be granted a month's holiday this summer, pointing out that he had been overworked for months on end and felt the need of a rest.

Mayor Denne stated, "I think you are entitled to the holiday. You have certainly earned it." Other members of the committee agreed unanimously.

LONDON, June 1 (C.P. Cable)—"There is no suggestion that we desire to modify the Ottawa agreements in any way whatsoever," declared Hon. Walter Elliott, Minister of Agriculture, in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, dealing with the government efforts to improve the domestic dairy products market.

The Minister was speaking on the money resolution under which a subsidy may be paid for milk used in the manufacture of dairy products here.

"We set our signatures to the Ottawa agreements and they stand. We make no proposals for any reduction of milk product imports from the dominions—none.

"Those who suggest that some pressure has been brought to bear on the dominions to reduce their dairy imports into Britain are under a complete misapprehension," he declared.

Improvement Shown In Tax Situation

That Peterborough's picture of unpaid taxes is gradually getting less sombre was pointed to the Finance Committee of the Council last night by Alderman G. A. Macdonald, chairman of that committee. "During the past month $12,000 in 1932 and 1933 back taxes have been paid, I have been informed by the tax collector," Alderman Macdonald said.

"Our situation as regards taxes is certainly improving very nicely," he concluded.

Voters' List Revised For Hastings Riding

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, June 1. — Judge L. V. O'Connor, of Cobourg, Revising officer for the County of Northumberland, was at the local Council Chambers on Wednesday night to revise the voters' list for Hastings in the coming provincial election. J. M. Baker, clerk of the village, was his assistant. Thomas Hall, K.C., of Cobourg, was present on behalf of the Liberal party, as also were Messrs. Reeve, G. B. Stevenson, J. J. Collins, H. G Fairman, J. L. Doherty and A. B. Smith. Messrs. L. E. Kelley and A. M. Brooks were present for the Conservatives.

CO-ORDINATE HEALTH SERVICE

City Council Will Discuss Full Time M.O.H. With School Board.

CLERKS UNDERPAID.

Before the definite appointment of a full-time Medical Officer of Health for the city members of the Board of Health will interview the Board of Education to learn what jurisdiction over school health matters will be granted such an official by the Board, it was decided last evening at a meeting of the Finance Committee of the Council.

In urging this action Alderman Malcolm McIntyre explained he had given much thought to the best method of co-ordinating health services in the city and he urged that the whole question should be taken up very carefully with the Board of Education.

It was Alderman Macdonald's opinion that the new Medical Officer of Health will be very busy the first year reorganizing the city's health program and he could for that period at least give little attention to the health of the school children. Alderman McIntyre said, "We must give and take with the Board of Education." Alderman Tuggey was of the same opinion and urged a conference.

Standing Still For Months

Mayor Denne declared, "The Board of Health has been standing still for some months. There is a lot of work to be done. The new Medical Officer of Health will be busy uniting the health services."

Alderman Soan said he had been assured by a member of the Board of Education that the Board would welcome a conference with a Council committee on health matters. "Dr. Robb was amazed that there was a separate doctor for attending to school health matters," recalled Alderman Stocker.

It was decided unanimously that the Board of Health should discuss the whole health question with the Board and seek some definite plan of co-operation.

As a result of the check-up made of the salaries received girl clerks in the city offices, it was found that four were receiving slightly under the minimum wage of $11 a week. Three were receiving $570 a year, two dollars less than the minimum scale, while the other, a temporary employee in the Relief Office, was being paid $10 a week. It was decided to increase all to $11 per week.

The resolution from the Central Relief Board urging the Council to exempt houses constructed this year from taxation for two years in order to increase building activity, was received.

SUNSHINE WORK IS OUTLINED TO CLUB

Twenty-Five Cases on Waiting List for Kinsmen to Deal With.

Work of the Kinsmen Club Sunshine Committee of which he is chairman, was last night outlined to the club membership by Henry Toole, at a dinner meeting held at Empress Hotel. President C. Alex Sollitt occupied the chair.

Stating that twenty-five or more cases still remained to be investigated and otherwise dealt with, Mr. Toole called for volunteer workers and distributed record cards, in order that children still awaiting eye treatment might have their needs attended to without further delay.

He also dealt with the work that has already been accomplished by his committee, mentioning particularly the extensive co-operation given in the work by Dr. Ralph Honey. While the club's service work program, is a children's eye preventive clinic, the chairman of the committee stated that in many special instances unemployed persons on relief had been provided with assistance by the club, in making replacements where new eye glasses were needed.

Immediate Past President H. H. P. Johnston officiated at the initiation into membership of Robert K. Stanley. The latter made brief acknowledgment in which he expressed the intention of contributing a large measure of support to the work of the club.

MAKING UP THE LISTS.

The test that has been given the new enumeration system suggests that the plan, which if efficiently carried out, would provide an accurate and up-to-the-minute voters' list might be materially improved in future campaigns.

One change should certainly be to give the electors a longer period to check the lists before the enumerators turn them in.

In the present case the enumerators had until Saturday night to complete their work, and many of them handed over their lists then and posted up copies in their sub-divisions.

That did not give electors who had been missed an opportunity to hunt up the enumerator in their own district and have their names added, a much more convenient and simpler system than having to appear before the revising officers.

If a period of, say three days, following the canvass could be left open before the enumerators turned in their lists there would be ample time for these officials to make the necessary additions and corrections, and the subsequent work of the revising officers would be correspondingly lightened.

To secure an absolutely correct list in the time allotted and with no opportunity for voters to check up is a task of some difficulty, and it is not to be wondered at that some names have been omitted.

POINTED QUESTIONS.

The Citizens' Research Institute in its study of governmental expenditure, some of the figures of which have been published in these columns during the last day or two, asks some pertinent questions that are well worth the attention of all governmental authorities.

In the first place, the Institute wants to know, in the face of these debt increases, how it is that Canada has suffered any depression if the governmental spending theory of prosperity which now seems to attract so many is sound.

Here are some of the other pointed queries:

Is not a continuous yearly deficit on current operations a clear indication that the expenditure load is greater than the community can carry?

If this is so, does additional borrowing sound like a sensible solution of the problem, or should expenditures be cut to the level of existing revenues?

How can governments go on year after year spending more than they collect out of current revenues without meeting the inevitable day of reckoning which comes to individuals who attempt to pursue such a course?

With the return of more bouyant governmental revenues instead of this being seized upon as an excuse for governments to expand expenditures should not the following steps be taken?

(a) Keep expenditures, current and capital, within the limit of income for a number of years.

(b) Take steps to lighten the tax burden by a removal of so-called emergency taxes and increases in rates imposed in the last two or three years.

COMPULSORY PASTEURIZATION.

Kingston is the latest Ontario city to adopt compulsory pasteurization of milk, a by-law to that effect passing the City Council by a large majority the other night.

The movement for insisting upon a safe milk supply is steadily growing in Ontario, although there is still a very large percentage of communities in the province where the health of the people is not safeguarded by pasteurized milk.

A recent summary shows that of 38 cities in the province compulsory pasteurization is already in force in twelve, and Kingston, it is expected, will bring the total so protected very nearly up to the half-way mark.

The situation in regard to towns is not nearly so satisfactory.

The figures are to the effect that compulsory pasteurization is in force in thirteen Ontario towns, while four others have 100 per cent. pasteurization without compulsory legislation.

In 128 other towns in the province only a part or in some cases none of the milk sold is pasteurized, a condition that is causing concern among the majority of health authorities, who point out that, through raw milk epidemics of typhoid and paratyphoid fever, scarlet fever, septic sore throat and diphtheria may result, while there is increased infantile mortality through intestinal infections.

On top of that is the fact that from 15 to 25 per cent. of bone, gland and abdominal tuberculosis develops from bovine origin, and proper pasteurization is the only sure safeguard.

WEAPONS FOR MEN.

The following editorial from the current issue of the Financial Post so faithfully puts into type the thoughts of a large proportion of the electorate that The Examiner has no apologies for giving its readers a chance to digest this timely article.

With well over two weeks of the election campaign still left, the rival parties in the main are devoting more time and energy to abusing each other than they are to dig out and discuss what should be the important issues of this election.

This trend is so pronounced that the rebuke administered by the Financial Post should be accepted by politicians generally as necessary and desirable.

Here is what the Post has to say:

"Both Ontario and Saskatchewan are in the throes of election skirmishing. It is to be expected that the skirmishing will be unusually intense, and unusually significant.

"Only to the unthinking or the debased will the election's interest centre about the amount of mud-slinging and dirt which is tossed back and forth by the contestants. But judging by recent election speeches, and recent election chit-chat, this element will be well satisfied with the coming contests.

"This is to be regretted. To the Canadian imbued with real public spirit, ill-founded charges that this man or that benefitted from party slush funds; that this public officer was found intoxicated under the wheel of his car, or that this man's wife attended teas when she should have been doing social work, will only leave a sense of disgust and nausea. Surely now, if ever, the issues confronting all parties are serious enough, big enough, to provide all the ammunition required for headline-hunting party organs without dragging in ridiculous charges which are patently untrue and patently laid with one eye on the daily press.

"Party spokesmen should realize that while, unfortunately, there still exists the element who gobble up such stuff, who allow it to influence their vote, more and more are the public becoming interested in and cognizant of civic affairs. And less and less will they tolerate election ammunition composed of frothy and petty 'scandals.' It is a necessary evil of our elective system that the vote of the man who revels in 'hot' elections is just as effective as that of the man who makes a real study of Canadian affairs. But the evil is one that is diminishing every year, as voters become more and more cognizant of public affairs.

"It would seem that the point has now been reached when candidates for public office could afford to lay aside the childish toys of bygone elections, and pick up the larger, more manly weapons which present-day world conditions have given them."

A PRIVILEGE OF "FREE SPEECH."

It would be difficult to pack into half a column of type more exaggeration and misrepresentation than appear in the report of a meeting held in Toronto by the Labor Education Association. The subject under discussion was the Dominion Government's plan of relief camps for single men.

James F. Marsh, an official of the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress, took the lead in the hostilities. He said 50,000 men distributed through 103 Canadian camps were "employed by the Department of National Defence at 20 cents a day to construct 'military fortifications'."

It is true there are 103 camps. Never at any time has their population exceeded some 25,000; to-day it is less than 16,000—one-third of the number stated. The men are not "employed" by the department in any sense of the word, or at any wage. Camps are opened to meet one phase of the unemployment situation. Nobody is drafted into them, or held in them by contract or compulsion. A man enters of his own free will, leaves when he wants to leave. So long as he remains he is fed and clothed and housed, receives an allowance—not a wage—of twenty cents a day with which to purchase such small necessities and luxuries as are not included in his regular supplies.

Nor are any of these men employed on the construction of military fortifications. It should not be necessary to point out that Canada has no interior forts and plans none, spends less on military affairs per capita of population than almost any other nation in the world.

This disposes of but one sentence. There are more allegations. Mr. Marsh pointed out, apparently as something utterly reprehensible, that "tracts of land were being drained, levelled and graded for airplane landing fields." This is true, and has nothing to do with military effort. Landing places conveniently situated are a requirement of any civilian flying development, and it is this which the department has in mind. New buildings "costing millions," he went on, were under construction through relief-camp labor on the site of the Royal Military College at Kingston. It is true a start is being made on another building which will be part of the R.M.C. establishment, but it won't "cost millions" by a long shot.

Mr. Marsh concluded with the declaration that he had reports of "military routine" and "soldiers' training" in some camps, and Mrs. Jean Laing, of Toronto, repeated the charge of military training, and added that a censorship of camp mail existed.

There is no military training, no censorship of mails into or out of the camps. Men may write when, how, and as they wish, to whom they wish. There is not even a system of physical training. The salute is not exacted, and the men never line up except when they go to draw their allowance.

It is unfortunate, we think, that persistent and not too scrupulous attempts are made to discredit the relief-camp scheme, to persuade the public that there is something iniquitous about it. If it had not been instituted the Government would have been attacked, and with justice, for permitting unattached men to roam the country instead of providing maintenance for them under decent conditions.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

After the revising officers finish their work next week urban electors will not have another chance to get on the lists. Better make sure of your vote.

In some of the constituencies enumerators apparently went after names with about the same zeal as United States police have shown in pursuing Dillinger.

Communist candidates in Toronto can always get into the headlines by being arrested. That is one way of securing campaign publicity.

It would be interesting to know just how many voters in Ontario could name one plank in Mr. Henry's election manifesto or one item in Mr. Hepburn's pre-election statement.

PEOPLE IN "DITCHES"

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—It is to be hoped that the great mass of the people hitherto prosperous and reasonably happy will wake up to the fact that they have run on the rocks and that no hope is ever promised them of rescue. They are in the "ditches" alright enough and do not seem to be able to get out.

Dear Sir:

The Women's Auxiliary of the U.W.F. wish to thank all those people who gave so willingly to the Unemployed Picnic of May 24th and made it such a success.

We would like to thank you all individually but the names are so numerous we have to thank you all collectively.

DR. CAMERON'S LECTURE

To The Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—Dr. Cameron says that State medicine would do away with the desire of the doctor to make discoveries.

It is the State that is now appealed to at once to take the matter up and provide funds when a discovery is made. Research bureaux under State control would do a hundred times more for the people if not for the doctor than at present.

ENTITLED TO VOTE

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Sir,—With your permission I wish to correct a misunderstanding with some of the voters who are of the opinion that because of receiving relief and unable to pay rents, poll tax, etc., deprives them of having a vote in the coming provincial election. Such is not the case, having all other necessary qualifications, the only ones exempt from exercising their franchise are those as stated in the Election Act, section 17, which reads "No person shall be entitled on the voters' list or shall vote who is a prisoner in a gaol undergoing punishment for a criminal offence or is a patient in a hospital for the insane or is maintained in whole or in part as an inmate receiving charitable support or care in a municipal house of refuge or house of industry.

THE MARKETING BILL

Editor of The Examiner:

Just what are the principal points of the Marketing Bill, or the Natural Products Marketing Act, 1934, to give it its official title? It is a measure designed to secure for farmers in Canada a more orderly marketing system than at present prevails, one that will operate to their financial advantage without unfairness either to distributors or consumers. It aims to prevent manipulation or exploitation and to provide machinery for regulating the movement of products in such a way as should tend to stabilize prices.

The Bill does not make provision for price-fixing or restricting production. It proposes to establish a Dominion Marketing Board to regulate the marketing of natural products which will co-operate with local boards and any marketing board or agency established by a provincial government to regulate the marketing of any natural product.

A representative number of persons engaged in the production and marketing of a natural product may petition the Dominion Government and submit a scheme to regulate the marketing of such natural product by a local board which will function under the supervision of the Dominion Marketing Board established in Ottawa. The local board will be a creation of those who desire such a board in a given area and will be administered by them through persons whom they elect to the Board. This board under authority of the Dominion Board may have power to collect charges or tolls from persons engaged in production or marketing of regulated products; to establish a fund for the necessary expenses of the board and the creation of reserves or the pooling of returns. The Board will also have power to withhold a product from the market or to forward it to a specific market and may pay compensation or loss sustained on an order of the Board, but no compensation shall be paid in the case of a regulated product withheld because the grade is considered unsuitable for a particular market or because of government restrictions applying to that market.

A local board may be established by a pool and the necessary percentage of voters favouring the scheme to warrant its further consideration shall be stated by the Minister.

The Bill also gives the Government power to limit or restrict the importation of a product which is competing with a product subject to regulation by a board, and also power to restrict the export of products from Canada when it is in the interests of producers to impose such a restriction.

Part 2 of the Bill provides for the determination by investigation of what may be termed a fair spread for the marketing of a natural product; and also that persons who charge in excess of such an amount shall be subject to certain penalties.

Representations have been received from farmers and their organizations, first in Western Canada and later in Eastern Canada, stressing the necessity of the Dominion Government enacting marketing legislation and the Marketing Bill is therefore designed to meet their needs.

It is evident, therefore, that the Marketing Bill is a democratic measure to meet the considered and expressed desire of the farmers throughout Canada.

Foreign Affairs

EUROPE AND ARMS

The armament firms in neither Europe nor America are idle. These scares are sure of doing one thing among others. A war scare taken seriously by any nation improves industrial condition for the time being.

The War "Scare" Is A Persistent Headliner

It may chisel away some of the depression. But the improvement will not be stable. War does not hold one element of permanence. Not war in any form but peace that makes for established prosperity.

A glimpse at the activities of the armament firms of Europe and America will indicate the effect of the war scare. There is an international arms market. That market is brisk. The tenseness of men and firms active on that market remind one of the hectic situation between 1910 and 1914. Nations like America and Great Britain are making larger investments in death dealing implements than in forces that make for peace.

Speculators are abroad wherever there is international friction. They are buying, they are selling arms and the raw materials of which arms are made. Big bankers are sending representatives into war zones. Information gathered by these men is given to people who have money for investment in the best markets. The advice being given is to invest in industries that provide raw materials for armaments. Some of the bigger armament firms have special representatives on the international highways taking orders for up-to-date arms. The armament industry in America is simply crowded with orders. The armament markets are to-day the busiest and most profitable in the world. Of this we shall have more to write later.

LATIN AMERICA

Chester T. Crowell has travelled some and made a study of the industrial needs of Central and South America.

Has Potential Machine Production Outrun Human Needs?

Fifty years ago Canada and all the western part of the United States was a wide open field for mowers, and reapers, and threshers. To-day Central and South America and Mexico are as wide open. Their industrial needs are as great. There is a difference in the racial demands. Schools must prepare the way to a higher civilization. Seventy-five percent of the natives neither read nor write.

Latin America has a population of one hundred million. On the farms the natives at work in Mexico plough as Abraham ploughed. Their automobiles are ox carts. Produce is taken to market on the back of the mule. Disease that lurks in dirt carries off the people as a cyclone mows down the woods. Pure water supplies in cities like Mexico City would reduce disease ravage by fifty percent. The natives are half starved and miserably clad because of the obsolete methods of distributing their supplies of foods and wearing apparel.

Poverty and need create just as good a market as cash in the bank. This the civilized nations have not discovered. Prepare the way by giving the native the goods that are not material and the market will draw like a magnet. The population of the world is estimated to be roughly two billions. One half of this incomprehensible mass of people are living on a level below that of the Latin Americans. Contacts with travellers have acquainted these belated peoples with the higher standards of civilized peoples. They are awakening. The awakening means Their awakening means new markets.

The Evolution of Banking

Evolution is a familiar word. Humanity has not remained as it was. It has always been on the upward march. There have been long periods of seeming standing still. Unrest, discontent, weariness come with such periods. They are the tokens of incubation. Then from the shell of the old comes forth the new. Rest is not to be found with things, however good they are, when they become static. The human must become or perish. Everything human finds the inmost secret of its being in change. There are the unchangeable things. But they are not human. It is because of them that the human must change to live. Thus it will ever be. Evolution does not encompass beginnings nor does it endgird the horizon of the future. Evolution is only a name. It serves a purpose. It gives voice to a process. It calls attention to the One who speaks and it is done, to the One who thinks and we think after Him. It is kindling and inspiring to think of all human efforts in this light. Many human activities are so cold when viewed apart. But they ever become as warm as life in the process of becoming. Banking is one of the major human activities. Each human racial fragment has developed its own methods of exchange. The evolutions have been as various as the races. For some the process has been very slow. For some it has been swift. The world is the field of the best. The best system in banking will create for itself a business environment. But the best of human endeavor is never final. Valuable banking material has been placed in my hands by a Peterborough friend. From this source, and from others, and from contacts with the banking system of Canada, and that of the United States, and that of Mexico, and of European nations, a series of articles as circumstances will permit is contemplated.

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Red Williams

A DOUBLE ANNIVERSARY FOR KINGSTON

This day marks the anniversary of two important events in the history of Kingston, Ont. On June 1, 1836 the Portsmouth penitentiary received its first inmate. One June 1, 1876 the Royal Military College was formally opened for the reception of pupils.

Kingston is proud of the later and rather ashamed of the former, though it has received considerable economic value in the near future that has passed in the money expended, although it is to be doubted if this contrabalances the "stigma" which many residents of the Limestone City consider attaches to the vicinage of the great prison. Still we must have penitentiaries somewhere, and a record of history shows that Kingston fought hard enough in the beginning to get the "plum" which the penitietiary was thought at the time. Like most Canadian institutions there is considerable scandal ataching to the "pen" from its very beginning. It was the cause of a sensational debate in the Parliament of the old Province of Canada when John A. Macdonald made a bitter attack upon George Brown, the only time that the finger of accusation was ever pointed at the Reform leader. Since there have been troubles in organization, a few internal revolts, and a continued interest by oppositionists in the House of Commons; but on the whole the history of the Portsmouth penitentiary compares favorably with that of any penal institution in the world, especially with those in the United States (How the American criminal dread a Canadian penitentiary!) and Kingston might rather boast that if it has the "pen" near at hand, it has one of the best conducted in the world.

The Royal Military College, on the other hand, is a constant source for pride in all loyal Kingstonians. The R.M.C. is as good an advertisement for Kingston as is Queen's University. Both add so much lustre to the city that the shadow in the suburb can be dissipated in conversation by boastings as to the successes in war and peace of the alumni of both. Both political parties can claim a share in the credit for the R.M.C. First proposed by the Macdonald government not long after Confederation. The act creating the college was passed by the Mackenzie ministry in 1874 and it was opened two years later with Lieut.-Gen. E. A. O. Hewitt, R.E., as its first commandant. From its inception the College has been a credit to Canada, a nursery of soldiers in war and of civil engineers who have fought the forces of nature in the wilderness and aided in the creation of the Canada of to-day. Mos people regard the R.M.C. as a purely military school and think of its graduates as men who had led in all the fighting which Canadians have done for the past 60 years; but the R.M.C. has been more than that. Its engineers have been path-finders, bridge and railway builders and important factors in the up-building of Canada. No wonder Kingston is proud of the R.M.C.

SPENT HOLIDAYS ON CRATER LAVA

East Indian Likes His Vacations Hot in the Volcano Belt.

MONTREAL, June 1.—(CP). — Few people would choose the steaming floor of a volcano as a camp site for a holiday, but J. J. Richard, here on a visit from Batavia in the Dutch East Indies, spent 10 days amid the vapor clouds in the crater of Raoeng, Java's most active volcano.

Living as he did with 50 active volcanoes nearby, Mr. Richard became an ardent volcanologist. The acid fumes reduced the fabric of his tent to crumbling powder and burned away the face coverings of the gas masks worn in an attempt to penetrate the central cone of the crater. One advantage of his selection of a temporary home was that he did his cooking by scraping away the dust and setting his pots on the hot lava beds.

The first time he descended into Raoeng was in 1929, just two years after a very serious eruption. In 1932 with a large party he again descended into the crater which is approximately 2,000 feet deep.

Last year he made a third descent and this time stayed for 10 days. Concerning the many disturbances and eruptions in the section of Java where he lives, Mr. Richard attributes these to the earth's crust being particularly thin in that area.

BRITISH MARKET IS RESPONSIBLE FOR HOG PRICES

Overseas Trade Only Thing That Has Kept Price of Hogs Up.

$3.50 IN CHICAGO.

Differential System of Hog Buying Leading to Better Breeding.

OTTAWA, June 1 (C.P.). — Free entry into the United Kingdom market was responsible entirely for increased hog prices in this country, James A. Law, general manager of the Montreal packing firm of Wilsils Limited, told the Parliamentary Mass Buying Committee to-day.

Hogs were selling in Chicago at 3½ cents, while Montreal offered 9¼ cents, said Mr. Law. This spread he insisted, was due to Canada being able to enter the United Kingdom market, chiefly for bacon as a result of the Ottawa agreements.

The differential system of hog-buying was established on the Montreal market six weeks ago at the suggestion of the Federal Department of Agriculture, Mr. Law told the committee. He insisted the differential system led to better hog-breeding because it meant premiums for the better grades.

The Montreal packer ran into a flood of questions on the differential system, members of the committee arguing with him it would improve breeding to pay premiums but not to penalize farmers for the lower grades.

J. S. McLean of Toronto, President of Canada Packers, Limited, was on the stand a few minutes, explaining the auditing system in vogue in his organization. He will continue later this afternoon.

MIDDLE GOLDS SHOW ADVANCES

Gains Up to 35 Cents Were Boarded for San Antonio and Little Long Lac.

SENIOR GOLDS QUIET.

TORONTO June 1 (C.P.). — Several of the medium-priced gold shares were whipped up to higher levels to-day on the mining section of the Toronto Exchange on heavy volume of buying. Gains up to 35 cents were boarded for San Antonio and Little Long Lac. Senior golds were quiet and base metal and silver shares showed few price changes.

One of the new listings, Grandoro, boarded to-day for the first time, traded in heavy volume at 50 to 51 cents, most of the buying reported to be for the account of Vancouver parties. Gold Belt Mining, another B.C. issue listed to-day, came out at 46 in low volume.

San Antonio's rise to 4.50 was on heavy turnover. It closed at 4.45 for a net gain of 33 cents. Stock has been steady and strong over recent weeks. Little Long Lac moved up 30 cents, and closed at 5.70, up 20. Siscoe gained 3 to 2.19. Sylvanite 3 to 2.77, and Central Patricia added a cent.

Dave Schoales, 25, young Fort William iron-worker, won his second successive victory in the twenty-tieth running of the Daily Times Journal ten-mile road race at Fort William, May 24. Schoales led a field of thirteen to the tape, setting the pace from the pop of the gun to finish in 55 minutes and 26 seconds, 24½ seconds slower than his last year's time. Bob Young, Fort William, came second and Paavo Lahde Sudbury, third. Upwards of 20,000 viewed the classic from vantage points along the winding route.

WHEAT COLLAPSES IN CHICAGO TRADE

CHICAGO, June 1. (AP).—Grain prices, after advancing to new seasonal highs for all deliveries, collapsed to-day under a deluge of profit-taking and stop loss selling orders just before the market closed.

Bids were in wild confusion in the final break that carried values down in some cases below Thursday's close.

TERRIFIC HEAT CLOSES SCHOOLS

Iowa Town Reports 111 Degrees—Cooler Weather, Showers Promised.

GRAIN RIPENS TOO FAST

KANSAS CITY, June 1. (AP). Middlewestern farmers ripped another sheet off the calendar today and hoped that June would bring an end to a drought described by the United States weather bureau as" unprecedented."

Their hopes were buoyed somewhat by forecasts of probable thunder showers, cooler weather and unsettled conditions in the Mississippi valley.

The showers, however, were not expected to bring anything but slight relief from high temperatures which supplied an anti-climax yesterday to a month of dust storms and extreme aridity.

Temmperatures of 103 degrees were common in Kansas and Missouri yesterday while their northern neighbors sweltered under the full blast of the heat wave.

Inwood, Ia., topped the day's record with 111 degrees and Aberdeen, N.D., was not far behind with 110. Schools in several cities were dismissed. The Illinois Bar Association in session at Waukegan suspended activities to permit delegates to seek relief.

Wheat not already burned or blown out was ripened rapidly, causing farmers in Oklahoma and southern Kansas to rush their harvesting plans. Statisticians said that one third of Iowa's corn crop lay ungerminated in the soil due to drought.

INDUSTRIAL LEADERS OFF

Nickel Down 75 Cents, C.P.R. Closes Under 15 and Brazilian at New Low for Year.

LOSSES PREDOMINATE.

TORONTO, June 1.—(CP)—Some of the usual leaders of the industrial list were given a shake down on the Toronto Exchange today, including International Nickel, C. P. R. and Brazilian. Nickel dropped through $26, off about 75 cents, and C.P.R. closed under 15. Brazilian at 8⅞ was at new low for a year. Losses predominated throughout the list, and volume was heavier in the afternoon session.

The interlisted group reflected the depressed note of the New York Exchange. Ford 'A' closed ⅜ off at 20⅝. Industrial Alcohol held a gain of a small fraction but the other distillery stocks including Walkers common, Distillers Seagrams and brewers and distillers were unchanged or lower. Brewery stocks were slow recessions of ⅛ to ¼ coming out for Brewing Corporation and Canada Bud.

CUBA HOLDING TROOPS READY

Series of Anti-foreign Outbreaks Show No Sign of Abatement.

FIND BOMB AT BANK.

(By Edmund A. Chester, Associated Press Foreign Staff)

HAVANA, June 1 (AP)—The Cuban Government held its army in readiness to-day to combat further disorders as a series of anti-foreigner outbreaks showed no sign of abatement.

Grave concern was felt by authorities, their responsibility increased when President Roosevelt signed the treaty dismissing the United States' 33-year-old privilege to intervene—the Platt Amendment.

Col. Fulgencio Batista, Commander-in-Chief of the army, ordered all soldiers at Matanzas Garrison to be held in barracks. Similar instructions were given the Havana Police Force.

PROBING DEATH CALEDONIA GIRL

Case Takes Startling Turn Following Discovery of Letter by Detectives.

NO ARRESTS MADE.

HAWKESBURY, Ont., June 1.—(C.P.).—Startling developments are expected from investigation of the death of Therese Lavac, in her early 20's, of Caledonia, Ont., which occurred the latter part of last week. Inquiries are being conducted by the Provincial Police and Dr. E. R. Frankish, medico-legal expert, of Toronto, has made a post-mortem examination. Portions of the body were taken back to Toronto by Dr. Frankish for further analysis, and when his report is ready Coroner H. H. Kirby will hold an inquest.

Detectives making inquiries into the girl's death, it is understood, have discovered a letter alleged to have been written to the girl by a man in the neighborhood, in which it was stated, "I cannot tell you what to take now, but I will see you to-night." The letter containing this statement is said to have been written the day before the girl's death, but whether or not it had been sent to or received by her could not be learned.

As yet, no arrest has been made and no persons are detained as material witnesses.

U.S. IS PREPARED FOR DISCUSSION

spending for "unproductive nationalistic" purposes.

In some official quarters the President's statement concerning possible conferences was considered significant as a prelude to Great Britain's note on the debts question expected here any time.

Sir Ronald Lindsey, the British Ambassador, is understood to have made overtures to the White House for a disoussion.

With the next due date two weeks from to-day, there arose democratic contentions, that Republicans were filibustering to keep Congress in sessions past that date.

The Presidential message in the main was a factual recording of the debts status, as to defaults, token payments and the like.

At the end, however, he emphasized that the debtor nations have been told "again and again" that they have full opportunity to discuss their problems with United States.

"I suggest," wrote Mr. Roosevelt, "that in view of all existing circumstances no legislation at this session of the Congress is either necessary or advisable."

Talking with reproters about Republican tactics in Senate and House the last few days, representative Byrns—the Democratic leader—said, "They hope, apparently, to embarrass the administration."

"Events of the last few days clearly indicate that the Republicans in the House and the Senate are engaged in a concerted filibuster to force Congress to remain in session until June 15, and perhaps later."

Borrowed From People

Recalling that money represented by the war debts enabled "successful conclusion of a war which involved the national existence of the borrowers," President Roosevelt said it was "in turn borrowed by the United States Government from the people of the United States."

"Our Government, in the absence of payment from foreign Governments," he added, "is compelled to raise the shortage by general taxation of its own people in order to pay off the original Liberal Bonds and the later Refunding Bonds.

"It is for these reasons that the American people have felt that their debtors were called upon to make a determined effort to discharge these obligations. The American people would not be disposed to place an impossible burden upon their debtors, but are nevertheless in a just position to ask that substantial sacrifices be made to meet these debts."

Sacred Obligation

"We are using every means," he wrote, "to persuade each debtor nation as to the sacredness of the obligation and also to assure them of our willingness, if they should so request, to discuss frankly and fully the special circumstances relating to means and methods of the usual manner, despite the President himself being in Massachussetts to attend the graduation of his son, John, from Groton School.

Repayment of the debts, the President reminded, "has gravely complicated our trade and financial relationships with the borrowing nations for many years."

"At the present time, Finland remains the only foreign government which has met all payments on its indebtedness to the United States punctually and in full."

"We shall continue to expect the debtors on their part," said the President at another point, "to show full understanding of the American attitude on this debt question.

Britain Has Way?

LONDON, June 1 (AP)—An impression that Great Britain has found a way to avoid defaulting on her debt payment to the United States gained strength in official quarters to-day as Parliament adjourned for its week-end recess.

It was felt certain that Great Britain is ready to make a token payment, thereby keeping open the whole question pending a bi-lateral conference to settle the Anglo-American debt problem. The Government, however, kept its own counsel.

It has been recognized for some time that the only question relative to making a token is whether Great Britain can avoid being classed a defaulter under the Johnson Act.

The reticence in official circles was regarded in some quarters an indication that Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and President Roosevelt have reached a solution of the problem and are merely awaiting an opportune time to make a public announcement of an adjustment.

WINNIPEG, June 1. 2.30 p.m.—New highs were made in grains to-day on the advance with further investment buying not yet clearly indicated.

Later in the day, despite the fact that moisture is still lacking, liquidation of some long lines was going on and this was especially in evidence near the close. There was a fair export demand during the day and a fair volume of business done. Coarse grains followed wheat during the day, strong early, but weakened somewhat on liquidation toward the close. Cash demand fair.

WINNIPEG WHEAT UNDER THURSDAY

WINNIPEG, June 1 (C.P.).—After fluctuating in a range of three cts, most prices on the Winnipeg grain exchange to-day finished ⅞-1 cent lower compared with yesterday's prices.

Nervousness of traders at the strong advances during the week—a net of about seven cents after allowing for to-day's drop—was reflected to offset high export business of 1,000,000 bushels. Cooler weather over the West, although not ending the drought, was another factor.

Final prices showed the July future at 81⅝ cents and October at 83⅝ cents. At one time the July option showed a gain of 2⅜ cents and the October 2¾ cents over yesterday's close, but the nervousness caused the set-back. Some profit-taking was done. The close was the low mark of the day.

THE BROWSER

Once in a while you read a book you know you aren't ever going to forget, and that's how the Browser feels about Lewis Browne's "How Odd of God". Mr. Browne begins very simply with: "I want to tell you about my people. I want to tell you about them because today, even more than in all the past a glare is on them and your presence fills your ideas."....There aren't so many Jews in the world. There never have been many. There are more Koreans, more Nigerians, more Punjabi. "Yet for all that, we seem to glut the earth; you see us and hear of us everywhere. And this obstrusiveness on our part disturbs you. Naturally."..Mr. Browne proceeds to explain how and why the Jews have survived....They are the only people that ever decided in adversity that they were God's people, not in prosperity as most other races do. When Yahveh crushed them, they said, "We were warned that if we did not repent, Yahveh would punish us. And see how he has afflicted us. We are his children."....But Mr. Browne does not believe that the Jews have survived mysteriously under their persecution....He says that the Jews exist BECAUSE of persecution. Wherever hatred, persecution, intolerance had died down to indifferece the Jews have ceased to exist. With incident after incident, illustration after illustration, Mr. Browne makes this point—and beneath the natural pity and horror in the man, the Browser thinks that Browne is not unhappy about the persecution of his people, and that he prefers they should live in such anxiety and suffering as has come to them in Germany than that they should live safely with their identity forever lost in the melting pot of the world....Roy Helton's "Nitchey Tilley" is an oddly alluring book. It will not be a best seller, but it's more than worth reading....About a boy who was brought up by a world-hating old doctor on a North Carolina mountainside, where he hardly saw anybody and was warned never to go to the city. But the old man died and he left home the very next day. Because he wanted to see things and because in his heart was a burning desire to discover "what men are for"....Well, he never did learn, though he asked a passel of questions and did a power of suffering, before he learned that the mountain girl who came down the hill with him was the girl to be with him all his enduring life....A different book and not the sort the Browser usually recommends, but... Roy Helton has been a hobo and he can live on 7 cents a day.

Knut Hamsun's 600-page novel, "The Road Leads On", will be published in June....Gelet Burgess has a wish-bone which is insured for $1,000....A thirty-fifth edition of Edwin Markham's "The Man With the Hoe," with a revised version of the poem, has been published....John Palmer's life of "Ben Jonson" is a good book about that manly poet. Richard Crookes and John Charles Thomas sing his "Drink to Me Only" gloriously, but no woman can sing his "Have You Seen But a White Lily Grow" as tenderly—sweetly—thrillingly as Alma Gluck did....French critics compare Louis-Ferdinand Celine ("Journey to the End of the Night") with Rabelais Montaigne, Flaubert, Zola, Anatole France, Strindberg, Huysman, Hemingway, and Dos Passos...We'll see!...A motion picture will be made out of "Mutiny on the Bounty" and "Men Against the Sea"...."Anthony Adverse" is still THE best seller. "Work of Art" and "The Oppermanns" led for a week or so, but "Anthony" is now practically perennial....Evelyn Scott in the American Spectator remarks that few women writers dare to be as emotional as the men; they specialize on cerebral productions. That goes into the Browser's list of Things I Never Thought of Before.

William Beebe has gone to Bermuda to do a McGinty stunt and if he comes up again will write a book called "Half Mile Down"....Max Miller's next book will be "The Second House From the Corner."....Alexander Woollcott is making a motion picture "short"....The Duttons are enthusiastic about Warner Hooke's 'Striplings", and say: "It may be too outlandish for some of you. If occasionally, it brings a blush of shame to your cheek, we apologize and ask your forgiveness. ....The Guggenheim awards have gone to Conrad Aiken, Kay Boyle, Albert Halper, Alexander Laing George Milburn, Isidor Schneider, Leonard Ehrlich, and Younghill Kang; $2,000 for study abroad....Down in the Huntington library in Pasadena they kill bookworms by putting the books in a vacuum and pumping in thylene oxide and carbon dioxide gas. On Sunday, June 10, the Bishop of Toronto will hold a Confirmation service in St. Thomas' Church, Millbrook, at 7.30 p.m., and after the public service a reception will take place in the parish hall when an opportunity will be given all friends to meet Right Rev. Bishop Owen on his initial visit to the historic parish of Cavan.

Among those from Millbrook who motored to Peterborough and attended the "House of Rothchild," were Mrs. T. C. and Miss Vanita Ingram, Miss Etta Needler, Miss Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Burnham, Mrs. (Rev.) Franklin Bannister, Misses Jean and Mary Burnham, Dr. H. A. and Mrs. Turner, Miss Beatrice Turner, B.A., and several others.

Mrs. (Rev.) Franklin Bannister, of Canton is spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Hall, while her husband is at Brockville, attending the annual Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church.

Rev. W. W. Jones, Millbrook, Rev. Mr. Cooke of Fraserville, Rev. Dr. Lang, Cavan, and other clergymen of the district, are in Brockville this week for the annual Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church. It is expected the conference will ratify the change by which Rev. Mr. Jones goes to Cardinal in the Montreal Conference, and the minister from that circuit, Rev. Mr. Siscoe, will come to Millbrook. In his student days Mr. Jones labored in the Montreal Conference as assistant to the late Rev. David Winter, at Winchester.

Mrs. Mary Weldon and the Misses Florence and Etta Weldon, of Lindsay were recent guests of Mrs. L. H. Rae and her sister, Mrs. Elisabeth Armstrong. Mrs. Armstrong leaves shortly for an extended visit with her family at various points in the West, and at California. Mrs. Sage, of Peterborough, will stay with Mrs. Rae during her sister's absence.

The Sunday School of St. Thomas' Church will change from 2.30 p.m. to 10 a.m., beginning Sunday, June 3, and continuing for the summer months. Evening service will be at 7.30 instead of 7 for the same period. The annual silver tea of the Junior W.A. will be held on June 6 at 3 p.m. in the Parish Hall, and the senior branch will have a sale table at the event, which will be featured by a good program by the juniors under Miss Margaret Simpson, superintendent.

The Cosmos Club is holding its annual street fair and dance on June 7 on King street, Millbrook, with George Wade and His Cornhuskers providing music and good prizes offered for various competitions. The cowboy singer will accompany Wade for the occasion. A silver service, donated by R. A. Wainman, goes to the holder of the lucky number as an extra prize to be drawn for during the evening.

Rev. S. C. Moore, B.A., B.D., who is connected with the temperance department of the United Church, will preach in St. Andrew's, Millbrook, on Sunday, June 3, morning and evening, and at Falls Line in the afternoon, the pastor being absent at conference. The Sunday School of St. Andrew's now meets at 10 a.m. for the summer months, with preaching service at 11 o'clock.

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterborough's Leading Handwriting Analyst for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Miss Rita Elizabeth Thornton, R.R., Peterborough.

Your handwriting delineates you as a clever person, gentle, refined and honest. You are kindhearted, sympathetic and energetic. All your capital letters portray artistic tendencies and excellent taste as regards personal clothing. Work where routine and detail were necessary should appeal to you, but not if under too strict supervision. You have an excellent imagination, a fairly even disposition, normal will-power, and a generous characteristic. There is a noteworthy portrayal in the terminals of your letters, which describes the ability to make yourself complete tasks, which have allowed yourself to commence. Your capital 'R' is indicative of a keen interest in out-of-door recreation. There is a slight nervous tendency noted in your writing, but it is typical of you because you cannot domineer.

James Herman McCall, Westwood P.O., Ont.

Your handwriting shows that you are inclined to be very impatient and restless. Sometimes you are reserved and secretive, then you forget that you wanted to be secretive and you tell the very thing you had determined not to. We might term this characteristic versatility, but I think at your age it should be indecision. Engineering, drawing, mechanics or woodwork might interest you, but you will have to learn to control your emotions and try to concentrate definitely upon one subject if you are to make a success of it. That tall 't' of yours indicates visionary imagination, and should lead you gradually along the path which you have chosen for a life work. You are born under the sign of Gemini the Twins with Mercury as your ruling planet. This should endow you with keen mental powers, so have courage and 'know' that you will be successful, and that the means to be successful depend entirely upon your own efforts. Your number is 22, a most inspirational number. April and August are your best months. Friday your lucky day.

Salina Smithe, Fort Hope, Ont.

Your sample of handwriting is as interesting study for graphology. It is so variable in shape, size and formation that I feel sure you are a very difficult person to understand, you seem to be cautious and reserved sometimes, then you appear to throw discretion to the winds and cannot keep a secret no matter how hard you try. Your 't' bar crossings indicate an obdurate will-power. This, of course could be developed into stability and power if you try very hard to overcome your nervousness. I believe that you are a youthful person, so no doubt your letter formations will change into those of more definite characteristics as you become more mature.

Helen Lawrence, R.R. No. 6, Peterborough.

The handwriting as delineated on your sample for analysis, with its tall upper loops shows that you have a will of your own, that you are of the leader type although the formation of some of your other letters gives the general impression that you would like very much to be a leader, but that you are afraid to express your honest opinions for fear of hurting someone who has held the floor too long. Your noteworthy characteristic is that you have a happy faculty for gaining, and imparting knowledge to others. Teaching should come natural to you. It is a fine gift. You have a remarkable talent of creating word pictures with which to demonstrate your meaning. You are honest and happy. You will give praise where it is due and will not say unkind things behind one other's back. Your 't' bar crossings denote normal will-power and, as the crossings are placed near the upper extremity of the letter imagination and original ideas are evident. Refinement and tender sympathy are noted in the general outlines of the signature.

HEPBURN SEES FIRST LIBERAL WIN 30 YEARS

Claims Victory in Ontario Will Bring General Election in Few Months.

REAL HOUSE-CLEANING.

Would Oust Lieutenant-Governor—Chief Justice Able to Sign Order-in-council.

BLIND RIVER, Ont., June 1. —(C.P.).—Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader, entered Sudbury to-day to carry his appeal for power at the Ontario general elections, June 19, to the people of the nickel belt. Mr. Hepburn told a Blind River audience last night that for the first time in 30 years a Liberal Government would come into power on June 19.

The Liberal leader declared here last night that a Liberal victory in Ontario would bring a Dominion general election within the next few months. He declared: "Tories, tariffs, taxes, trials, tribulation and troubles are synonomous."

Mr. Hepburn came here from Thessalon, where employees of a lumber concern voted to lose half a day's pay to attend the meeting.

There would be a thorough House cleaning if his party was elected, he said. Expenditures would be reduced, Mr. Hepburn added, as he attacked the Ontario research foundation which he said duplicated the work of the Dominion foundation.

"It is useless and should be abolished," he declared. "Let us get into office and we will save you millions by dispensing with these useless services and we will do so with considerable gusto."

Less Pomp and Glory.

"There'll be no more Lieutenant-Governors in the Province of Ontario until we get out of this era of depression," he continued. "Premier Henry wanted the pomp and glory, for Sir William Mulock, the Chief Justice, had managed very nicely to sign the few Orders-in-Council required since it only took about half an hour a week."

Mr. Hepburn was referring to Premier Henry having the vacancy filled when Hon. W. D. Ross retired as Lieutenant-Governor.

Two meetings will be addressed in Sudbury to-day by Mr. Hepburn. His Blind River address was in support of Len. Miller, who is contesting Muskoka-Algoma against Hon. Dr. J. M. Robb, Minister of Health.

Mr. Miller charged Dr. Robb with failing to support lumbermen during the strikes last winter. All Dr. Robb did, he said, was to send Provincial Police into the district.

BENSON AVENUE SAILOR TO TRY OCEAN VOYAGE

ent freighters and passenger ships, have given him a set of biceps capable of propelling a canoe a long way. He has a pleasant smile and a genial manner. Shy of publicity, it was with difficulty that the reporter got his consent to write this story. He said that he wished to set off on his venture as quietly as possible in order to save his mother from worry.

"But you'll be as famous as Lindbergh if you get across," we suggested.

"I suppose so. But I am merely doing it to prove to myself that it can be done."

Smith admits that the problems are difficult. From here to St. John's, Newfoundland, will be easy, he claims, despite the fact that he intends to shoot the rapids on the St. Lawrence on his way down. Once he sets out from Newfoundland for Ireland the difficulties will begin, he says. He feels certain from his experience with the sea that a canoe will take the great ocean swells even better than a large ship, and to keep his craft from shipping too much water from the breakers, he has designed a special cover. The canoe will be ballasted with five hundred pounds of fresh water and "hard tack," a concentrated food preparation with a high and varied vitamin content.

Over Two Months.

The adventurous sailor is allowing between two and three months for the crossing of the Atlantic, hoping to average more than twenty-five miles a day over the 1,800-mile expanse. He is counting on the assistance of the prevailing westerly winds, but is not going to carry a sail. That wouldn't be playing cricket, he explained, for it is to be strictly a paddle all the way. He will try to keep as near the ship lanes as possible for fear he drinks more water than he has calculated on or runs into some other difficulty.

"When will you sleep?" we asked.

"That's going to be a problem. I'll have to sleep whenever I get the chance. If necessary, I have found, I can go five days at a time without sleep."

Well, despite the fact that the young man spoke rather confidently about his plans and preparations, describing the containers he is making for water and food and explaining that they will float so that an upset will not mean disaster, we were still doubtful about the idea. But maybe Mr. Smith knows more about the sea than we do. He ought to, for a couple of years ago he spent ten months at sea without sighting land. He was on a whaling expedition in the Cape Horn region of the Pacific Ocean.

Weathered Storms.

The mother ship of the expedition was an old square-rigged windjammer sailing out of San Francisco, he related. When they would sight the "blow" of a whale, a small crew would put off in a light auxiliary boat and harpoon the creature. The harpooned whale sometimes towed them forty to fifty miles from the mother ship before it died, one putting up a battle for forty-eight hours. Separated from the mother ship, they would often be forced to weather severe storms for many hours in the frail craft before getting back to safety.

And certainly he has his share of courage. He is an accomplished diver and swimmer, and, he related, has always enjoyed displaying his ability in this line to his amazed seafaring companions. (It is true that few sailors can swim or dive.) Once in the harbor at Los Angeles he climbed to the tip of a boom eighty feet above the water and made a plunge for the entertainment of a considerable gathering of spectators. And the point which Mr. Smith makes in telling the story is not the fact that he was plunging eighty feet through the air, but the mere fact that his bathing suit was stripped from his body by an unhappy landing when he hit the water! Of course, he has had particular cause to remember that feature of the incident.

Bucket of Steam.

He has received in the past five years the formal initiation into the fraternity of the sea which all good seamen receive. Not long was he on his first ship when the boatswain sent him down to the engine-room for a bucket of steam. And it was on the same ship that they told him that a good drink of sea water was the best thing for sea sickness. Wanting more than ever to die after he had taken that advice, he was immediately ordered to clean out the paint locker!

The use of the sextant for "shooting" the sun was one of the many things his experience on the sea taught him that will come in handy in his paddle across the Atlantic, Mr. Smith declared.

"With a sextant and an accurate watch I'll be able to reckon my position as I go," he said. "All I need is plenty of nerve, and I guess I have that or I wouldn't be starting out on this."

Well, here's luck to you, sailor!

POLICE PROBLEM IS REMOVED WHEN BOYS RECEIVE BICYCLES

Chief Newhall Explains Measures Boys Take To Satisfy Cycling Desires.

A policeman's paradise might easily be a place where every youngster over the age of ten had a bicycle all his own, according to Samuel Newhall, Peterborough's veteran chief constable.

"To own and ride a bicycle is easily the greatest wish of every boy when he reaches a certain age," explained Chief Newhall. "An adult, unless he has worked with boys and understands them, can not fully appreciate what the possession of a bicycle means to the average Canadian boy. A bicycle opens up a whole new world to him; it widens his sphere and interests; on a bicycle he can get to places and see things he would otherwise miss altogether. Then there is the thrilling exercise of just cycling along with his companions.

Should Concern Parents.

"But the very fact that some unfortunate lads don't have bicycles leads to a pack of trouble for police officers," the chief added emphatically. This problem of the boy without his own bicycle is big and it is one to which Chief Newhall, during his 30 years of police work, has had to give much thought, and it is his belief that parents should be more concerned with it.

"So strong in our boys to-day is this desire to have a bicycle that many a lad, forgetful of all his home-training in honesty and the property rights of others, can not resist to steal bicycles to ride," he pointed out. "Many fine boys have been brought to the station in this connection. I usually deal with all such cases myself, and always advise the parents to buy their boy a wheel.

"Now and then we come across the case of a boy whose parents can not afford to buy him a bicycle. We had one such only a week ago. This particular lad was constantly stealing bicycles, just taking them for rides. I finally cited his case to a kindly citizen who bought him a wheel. That boy is no longer a problem for us."

May Become Racket.

Most bicycle thefts are of this kind, but there is the exceptional case of the older boy who makes the stealing of bicycles a racket, according to Chief Newhall. "And such a misguided, who is on the direct path to a life of crime, probably started out by simply trying to satisfy his desire to peddle a wheel," he commented.

Such thefts could be greatly reduced and the work of police in retrieving stolen bicycles much assisted, in his opinion, if cities would adopt a simple system of licensing bicycles. This plan was approved by the Chief Constables' Association of Canada, of which organization Peterborough's chief is a past president, and has proved successful in several municipalities. Outlining the system, he explained, for a small fee of 25 cents each bicycle owner would receive from the police department a small license plate which would be securely fastened to his machine. The number of the license plate would be recorded at the station, and if the bicycle was stolen could easily be traced and identified by police. Such licensing would of necessity be compulsory, concluded the chief.

HENRY PLEDGES STRICT ECONOMY FUTURE PLANS

Charges Hepburn Drawing Federal Indemnity While Campaigning in Ontario.

IN SEAT ONLY 4 TIMES?

Pictures Conservative Party as United Group at Gravenhurst Rally.

BY ERNEST BURRITT

Canadian Press Staff Writer

GRAVENHURST Ont., June 1. —(CP)—Premier George S. Henry today pushed further in Northern Ontario, motoring from here to Parry Sound, the most northerly point he will touch on his present election campaign.

The Premier left here after an 18-hour stay during which he addressed a large gathering in the Opera House and patients of the Muskoka hospital where he addressed encouraging words over a loudspeaker throughout the scattered buildings.

The Premier assured his audience last night that his government, if re-elected, would continue a course of progress and development, but also would continue what he described as a strict economy program and Conservation of its assets.

United Group

He pictured the Conservative Party as a united group and denied what he called suggestion by Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal Leader, that disruption had occurred between the party and "my old friend Jim Lyons (Mayor James Lyons) of Sault Ste. Marie.

Mayor Lyons, he said, would be campaigning for the Conservative cause throughout the next two weeks. This, he said, he considered a fitting reply to the Liberal Leader's suggestion.

Mr. Henry belitted promises of Mr. Hepburn to reduce provincial expenditures by 50 per cent and predicted that chieftain's personal defeat at the polls.

After the election, he said, Mr. Hepburn would be found seeking re-election at a by-election which would be necessitated by his retirement from the House of Commons in order to run for the Elgin seat in the Legislature.

"$1,000 a Day Indemnity."

The Premier said he had heard hints that Mr. Hepburi, although a member of the House of Commons, had appeared in that House only four times during the current session. He added: "I presume he has been drawing his indemnity—indemnity to the tune of $1,000 a day," which, he suggested, was "more than Mr. Hepburn's lawyer henchmen are getting for going around the country speaking from a Liberal platform."

Mr. Henry said economy had been practised during the regime in Ontario of the Conservative Party. In a review of his Government's accomplishments he described acquisition of the Abitibi Canyon power project as "one of the best investments and best purchases this Province has ever made."

Mitch Hepburn's Private Fortune Teller Predicts 67 Seats For Liberals In June

SUDBURY, Ont., June 1. (CP). The stars say Mitchell F. Hepburn will be elected Premier of Ontario June 19, the Liberal leader disclosed to-day. For the first time he told the story of his personal and private fortune-teller, who has "called the shot" perfectly so far in Mr. Hepburn's political career.

The soothsayer, whose forecasts have just about stopped the Liberal chief from laughing at them, told Mr. Hepburn he would win 67 seats at the provincial elections. He is a St. Thomas hotel-keeper, Albert P. Conley.

Years ago when a Conservative held West Elgin, when Mr. Hepburn was content to work his farm and had no intention of entering politics, Mr. Conley told him he would be the next member for the constituency.

The stars, as interpreted by Mr. Conley were right that time and later they foretold Mr. Hepburn's election to the party leadership in Ontario.

"I still thought it was a joke," Mr. Hepburn said of the leadership prediction. "I was shortly to take a trip to Florida and had no idea of returning before the convention.

"I came back sooner than I though, I would, my friends insisted on my taking the leadership and I was elected. Mr. Conley was right again."

In two elections, the leader said, Mr. Conley forecast his majority within 50 votes. "I don't know how he does it," he said. "He just tells me 'It is written'."

BAPTIST ASSOCIATION HOLDS ANNUAL MEET AT LAKEFIELD

Rev. John McLaren Speaks at Pastors' and Laymen's Conference.

REPORT READ

LAKEFIELD, June 1 (Examiner Correspondence)—The Peterborough Association of the Baptist Church met in the Lakefield Baptist Church on Tuesday morning for a two-day convention. It is eleven years since the association met last in Lakefield, and there have been many changes particularly among the ministers. The morning of Tuesday was given over to a devotional service, registration of delegates and getting the opening ceremonies over. A high spot in the program was an address on Grande Ligne by Rev. A. W. Small of Montreal. Another feature was the reading of the obituaries of the past year.

The following were read:

Lakefield.—May 8, 1933, David Darling, who had for many years had an official place in the church. Dec. 17, 1933, Walter Northey, one of those who are faithful. Dec. 16, 1933, Hugh Kidd. March 2, 1934, Mrs. L. Hunter.

Gilmour Memorial.—Mrs. Alex. Sanderson, Mr. John Archer, Mrs. Bella Jopling.

Campbellford.—Percy Hall.

Colborne.—April 1, 1933, Mrs. Mary Masters, after a long period of suffering and helplessness. Dec. 18, R. N. Turney, former trustee and prominent worker after long period of physical disability.

Belleville—Mrs. Clarke.

Sidney—Mrs. Sarah Swetman.

Picton—Charles Prior, Nov. 16, 1933, clerk and senior deacon. Rev. J. B. McCormack. Mr. Nathaniel Curtis.

Murray Street, Peterborough.—Miss Mary Kidd, J. M. Payton, William Darling, Mrs. M. Blewett, Mrs. W. A. Boyce, Mr. W. Kemp, Harry Chapman.

Flowers were placed in memory of these as the names were read.

The address of the Moderator, W. O. Trusdale of Belleville, was given. Luncheon was served by the ladies of the Lakefied Baptist Church.

Conference Held

In the afternoon a pastors' and laymen's conference was held, with an excellent address by Rev. John McLarin.

The ladies met for a meeting of the Mission Circles and Bands, with the president, Mrs. H. Weidmark of Picton, in the chair. Mrs. L. J. Pettit of Peterborough gave a Bible reading and explanatory talk. Mrs. W. B. Walker of Lakefield gave the address of welcome, speaking of the popularity of Lakefield as a tourist town and its many attractions.

Mrs. Omer of Norwood replied, hoping that in this conference that there would come a closer contact and fellowship with God.

The roll call of Circles and Bands showed a real interest which felt the call to help those in greater need than we ourselves, even when the membership was small and the reports, while reflecting some of the financial depression in decreased giving in some cases, nevertheless there was a splendid response.

Reports Presented

The following presented tabloid reports:

Circles.—Belleville, Campbellford, Cobourg, Colborne, Gilmour Memorial, Lakefield; Peterborough—Park Street, Murray Street; Picton, Port Hope.

Young Women's Circles.—Belleville, Murray Street Circle, Murray Street Willing Teen, Peterborough Park Street.

Bands.—Cobourg, Gilmour Memorial, Peterborough Park Street, Peterborough Murray Street, Port Hope.

Mrs. James Young, of Gilmour Memorial, in giving the Mission Band report, urged a greater cooperation of the mothers in the work and a more sympathetic interest in both mothers and older sisters. Mrs. Young illustrated her talk with some work of the Band of her own church. One little girl, Maxine Kidd, sang a solo and ten boys and girls gave an exercise showing the part the dimes play in mission work, and in the end the boys held up the dollar sign which the ten dimes had made.

Mrs. Cummer gave an address on home missions, prefacing her talk with a short historical sketch of the work. Fifty years ago Rev. Alex. Grant travelled this country as Home Mission Superintendent, following the example of Rev. A. B. Timothy, who presented the work of Foreign Missions to the women at a meeting in London, and on Nov. 21, 1884, there was an organization meeting of the Home Mission Society, and on Dec. 12 of the same year thirty-seven delegates representing eighteen churches met, and the Home Mission Society was born with its slogan: "Canada for Christ."

Mrs. Elmore Harris was the first life member. Work was begun and carried out among the Scandinavians in the West, and Rev. Alex Grant labored faithfully till his untimely death by drowning in Lake Nipigon, and in order to perpetuate his memory a memorial chapel for the Scandinavian work was built in Winnipeg.

Miss Anna Phelps was a pioneer woman worker and was for years at Royce Avenue, and was then transferred to East Windsor. Miss Phelps is now dead and $5,000 is required to build a suitable building for the New Canadians as a memorial to her splendid work.

Mrs. Chaplin sang "My Task" very sweetly, and the beautiful words offered a challenge to service which we could not help but feel.

Miss Janet Robinson, a missionary on furlough for India, gave a very interesting talk, saying that finance was not her strong point. "You are at the end which raises the money, and I am at the end which spends the money," and in spending she tries to be careful so as to always have a surplus. If we make the associaton full of faith and obedience to God our budget will be met, and there will be no deficit.

She told of the work in Christ's field of two native girls in India; Jemima and Josie. She gave a vivid description of the work among these people, and her appeal was a stirring one. Her love for her work and her cheery faith was a genuine inspiration.

Miss M. A. Nicholls of Peterborough, chairman of the Nominating Committee, herself for many years the beloved Director of the Women's Work, presented the report of the Nominating Committee, which was adopted as follows:

Evening Session

The evening session convened at 7 o'clock for a devotional and song service period, led by Mr. H. O. Trusdale.

The civic welcome was given by Reeve A. B. Burrows, who heartily welcomed the Association, and hoped that they would enjoy their visit. Lakefield is honored by this august assembly and it is the earnest wish of the village and its people that God will bless you in your deliberations, and that you will return.

The report of the Directress of Circles and Bands was given by Mrs. R. C. Weston, who presented the 48th annual report. Fifteen out of twenty churches are contributing 15 Women's, 4 Young Women's and 12 Bands. Seven Circles report a slight increase. There are 328 women in the association not yet enrolled, and a strong effort to interest them was urged. Contribution, while slightly less, are still good and eight Circles have slightly increased their givings. More than $700 was sent to Home Missions and more the $900 to Foreign Mission Work, with contributions made to the Indian work. $1,059.33 was raised for all purposes. White Cross boxes were sent to India and other special work accomplished. The decrease in contributions amounted to $107.10.

Rev. A. H. Jones of Belleville introduced Rev. E. K. Smith of Port Hope, a new pastor in the Association. Mr. Jones gave a brief sketch of the history of the Association, which is the mother of all the Association. In 1785 Reuben Craniel, an 18-year-old lad, converted at 16, came to Prince Edward County from the States and went about preaching as an active member of the Baptist faith. He settled at Colborne in 1798, when the first church was built. Elder Joseph Wing, for fifty years ministered to three churches in Prince Edward County. The first association was formed in 1802 and was known as the Thurlow Association. In 1816 the Haldimand Church was built, and in 1844 there were 15 churches and is was known as the Rawdon-Thurlow Association. In 1871 a division was made as the territory had widened out, and the Eastern Ontario Association was formed, but that outgrew its bounds and the Toronto Association, with 91 churches, was formed. Then in 1887 the Whitby-Lindsay Association was formed, and in 1888, when the meeting was held in Peterborough, the Peterborough Association was formed and named, and is carrying on in direct line for 136 years.

The evening session was known as McLaurin Night, and for a good reason, as the highlights were two Dr. McLaurins; no relation to each other, but both powerful and convincing speakers, and leaving no doubt in the minds of the capacity audience that the bestowal of the D.D. degrees was no mere accident, but well deserved.

Dr. C. C. McLaurin was introduced by Rev. R. D. Wright of Gilmour Memorial Church.

A discussion followed regarding the advisability of holding evangelistic meeting to stimulate the weaker churches, but several expressed doubt of the value owing to the fact that those who really need evangelistic meetings simply will not go.

Dr. Schutt urged strongly that an organized effort be made along these lines. In this discussion, Rev. G. T. Webb, Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, Rev. C. H. Schutt and Rev. A. H. Jones took part.

Rev. L. F. Kipp spoke on the subject of the Canadian Baptist and social service. He urged a greater interest in the church publication and a more general subscribing to it. It is well worth while and brings you the news of other churches.

Asks For Support

The socal service board asks for support in their enormous work and with the work increasing so rapidly there is real need of increased support.

Dr. C. H. Schutt, superintendent of Home Missions said that in spite of hard times and decreasing revenue they had not permitted a single Home Mission chapel to close its doors and the difficulties have been tremendous. The real secret of the fall off is in difference and if we cannot revive the churches what is our future to be. There is no lack of interest in dancing, bridge, and basball, but there is lack of interest or enthusiasm for the things of God. The Oxford groups have been active, but the speaker is personally more interested in Baptist groups, but if the Oxford group is stimulating a greater zeal for the work of Jesus Christ we must wish it success. The pressing need of the Home Mission work is one which is real and compelling, and one we cannot overlook.

The afternoon session opened with Rev. Arthur Hale in charge of the devotional exercises, after which the report of the Nominating Committee was read and the following declared elected for the coming year:

Moderator, Rev. George Downing, Norwood.

Vice-Moderator, W. P. Tickell, of Port Hope.

Convenor Historical Committee, Rev. R. D. Wright, Gilmour Memorial.

Ordination Council, Rev. G. K. Tyler and W. P. Tickell.

Local Home Mission Board, Rev. Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, Peterborough, chairman; A. B. Mann, Gilmour Memorial; E. W. Young, Park Street Peterborough.

Association Budgets Committee Rev. Arthur Hale and Rev. W. B. Walker.

The report of the Resolutions Committee was ready with the first thanking the kind hosts and hostesses of the Lakefield Baptist Church for their hospitality, the Reeve for the civic address of welcome, and the speakers and all who contributed to the success of the program. The second was a resolution urging opposition to the loosening of the L.C.A. for the sale of the beer and wine, and urging the members of the association to vote for the candidate who opposes any such measure.

Professor A. L. McCrimmon, LL.D., of McMaster University, was the first speaker, and he spoke on McMaster, the University of the Baptist Church. After forty-three years in the service of education, the speaker was surely qualified to speak on this subject. He is the author of a brochure on the Educational Policy of the Baptist Church. Montreal, Woodstock, Toronto the headquarters of this Baptist University of Ontario and Quebec. The first building in Montreal now in the hands of the Roman Catholics, was found to be poorly situated and the headquarters was moved to Woodstock, where there was a school for boys and girls also. Later the girls were moved to the Moulton College, Toronto. The university was moved to Hamilton a few years ago, and have ample room for future expansion. The advantage of a smaller college gives a greater opportunity for personal contact with the students, which is even more important than the academic side. This college, with its 155 graduates, needs our prayers and support, for it is the official training school of the Baptist Church for the ministry, and two-thirds of our ministers are McMaster graduates. The others have come from other countries or from the West or the Maritimes. There are 767 students registered at McMaster, most of them Baptists, but a number of other denominations are taking the Arts course. Dr. McCrimmon urged more personal work by the members of the church, it is all left to the pastor as a rule, and he is working his heart out.

Dr. George T. Webb spoke on the subject of religious education and prefaced his remarks by sending a message of sympathy and good wishes to Rev. (Dr.) John MacNeill of the Faculty of McMaster, a delegate to the World's Baptist Conference in Germany, who has been very ill. This resolution was carried unanimously. The work among the children is the most valuable asset you have and it is worth carrying on to the best of our ability. Jesus put a little child into the midst of them as an object lesson. The question is asked when should education begin for a child. This a big question but we all know it should begin early in life and should be primarily the task of the parents. Religious education should be begun at an early age and should also be the parents' part to begin, not to leave it to the Sunday School. When boys and girls are old enough to go to Sunday School there is the step into the wider social life. Children often go to Sunday School at 3 years old and for them there should be a nursery class. If the school is large enough for a division it is wise to divide the ages as it means better progress which keeps pace with the natural development of the child. If possible take 9, 10 and 11 years old as one group and the 12, 13, 14's are another group, then from 15 to 17 in another group and the 18 to 24 group.

The Sunday School is an integral part of the church and not in any way a separate entity. In a Sunday School seek the minimum of machinery and the maximum of efficiency. The difficulty of securing literature has been largely met by the department but there are still many schools who get their literature from the States. Other bodies have good literature published in Canada.

Evening Session

The evening session marked an entirely new epoch when about two hundred and twenty-five young people representing the Baptist Young People's Unions of this association packed the church to capacity and put into the closing session of the conference the spirit of youth. Youth, ready to serve and anxious to take its part and this spontaneous response, put new courage into those who have found the last few years a hard struggle. It was as though a mighty voice called "Here we are to bear our part, to keep the work going on and the churches open."

The introductory song service was led by Rev. L. M. Smith of Campbellford, then Gordon Young of Park Street, Peterborough, took the chair as president of the association B.Y.P.U.

Miss Dorothy Ough of Port Hope the secretary, read the minutes of the autumn rally held in Park Street Church, peterborough and also gave a brief resume of the convention held in Montreal recently, where she represented this district.

Two delightful numbers were given by the Murray Street ladies' quartette under the direction of Mr. Arthur Collison. The numbers were "Steal Away" (unaccompanied) and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul".

The roll call of Unions brought some interesting information regarding the distances travelled to reach this rally:

Belleville, 3 present, distance 90 miles; Campbellford 14 present, distance 44 miles; Cobourg 6 present, distance 50 miles; Eddystone 10 present, distance 60 miles; Gilmour Memorial 14 present, distance 10 miles; Norwood 7 present, distance 20 miles; Murray Street, Peterborough, 72 present, distance 10 miles; Park Street Peterborough, 27 present, distance 10 miles; Port Hope, 38 present, distance 43 miles; Lakefield, 28 present; Sidney, 5 present, distance 70 miles.

The attendance banner was presented to Miss Armstrong, president of the Murray Street Socley. An invitation was received and accepted for the autumn rally in Cobourg on Thanksgiving Day.

Y'S MEN'S CLUB WINDS UP SEASON

Annual Picnic Will be Held at Boys' Camp June 6.

The last regular supper meeting for the current season of the Y's Men's Club was held last night in the dining-room of the Y.M.C.A. with 100 per cent. attendance. No special speaker was scheduled, but President Jack Boyd gave an interesting talk on "Money, Past and Present," and showed the club several of the coins he has collected in the last few years, some of them dating back to 1726.

The annual picnic of the Y's Men's Club is being held at the Boys' Camp on Clear Lake on the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, June 6.

SENATE AGAINST CANADA LEAVING LEAGUE NATIONS

McRae Claims More Time Should be Spent on International Affairs.

SHIPPING BILL ADVANCES.

Clause for Adoption of New Marine Flag Rejected For Present.

OTTAWA, June 1.—(C.P.)—International affairs will be the subject of further scrutiny in the Senate in future if Senator A. D. McRae of Vancouver, has his way. Through his motion that Canada withdraw from the League of Nations, Senator McRae provoked perhaps the most lengthy debate on International affairs ever held in the Canadian Parliament.

The motion was rejected yesterday without a recorded vote, but just before the long debate closed Senator McRae expressed the opinion the Senate should give more attention to foreign affairs in future than it had in the past. Next year, he said, he would propose a special committee to invade the field.

The League had many more defenders than critics in the Senate, the debate revealed. None were willing to give the International body a certificate of perfection but there were few who thought it useless. The debate, however, ranged widely over the subjects of war, peace, disarmament and International cooperation.

The Senate took another major step yesterday when it gave third reading to the voluminous Shipping Bill which has been before the Senate Banking Committee for a long time. The bill now goes to the House of Commons. Numerous amendments attached by the committee were adopted yesterday with the exception of the one providing for a new marine flag.

The committee proposed to substitute a green maple leaf for the coat of arms on the fly of the present flag in order to make it more ready identifiable at sea. Arguments against the change were chiefly that a marine flag should be based on the national flag and that no change should be made until Canada obtained a national flag. To do so would be to put ship-owners to the expense of buying new flags now and perhaps having them scrapped in a year or two if a national flag were adopted.

Opposition members of the House of Commons had their annual fling of criticism at affairs of the Post Office Department yesterday, when estimates came up.

Souvenir Album

Hon. Arthur Sauve, Postmaster-General, was sujected to a barrage of questions and suggestions relating to the appointment of postmasters and mail carriers, particularly in thePrivince of Quebec.

The incident of the printing of a souvenir album for the meeting of the Preparatory Committee of the World Postal Conference last year was recalled. The booklet cost $4,000, and Mr. Sauve said its publication was against direct orders. The Deputy Minister and the Secretary of the Department had been suspended and later reinstated. They had since been superannuated.

The lower House approved the remaining clauses of the new Companies Bill in Committee of the whole, and that measure now stands for third reading.

To-day the House will go into Committee of the whole on the Bank Act, taking up the non-contentious clauses. After that, it will return to the estimates.

OVERNIGHT CAMP FOR YOUNGSTERS

There is to be a leader for each group of ten.

An athletic meet on Saturday which will enable boys to qualify for badges in Boys' Work and enable Sunday school and other boys' groups to compete in the National Athletic contest will be the feature of the camp program. Events at the meet will be a 60 yard potato race, running high jump, running broad jump, shot put and throwing the baseball for distance. Competitors are to be divided into five age and weight classes.

The evening program on Friday will include vespers, a camp fire, various stunts and a music hour. L. W. Copp, Doug. Loomis and J. C. McClenaghan are acting on the camp committee.

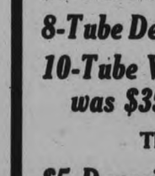
LIFE INSURANCE PROVED TRUE TO EVERY RROMISE HOLDERS FIND

Paid One Hundred Cents os Dollar Through Years of Depression.

FUNDS ALWAYS AVAILABLE

[From the Annual Address of President J. H. Lithgow to the Canadian Life Insurance Officers' Association].

Throughout four years of stress, 1929, 30, 31, 32, thousands of policyholders lost their savings through speculation, were threatened with loss of their homes or became unemployed, resulting in many cases in desperate need of funds which were available from no other sources. Under such circumstances they reluctantly turned to their life insurance policies, to the funds which were theirs and which, in a world of sinking values, were still worth their full value. The fact that so many availed themselves of that privilege in order to meet the emergencies to provide for which their policies were in part taken out, should not be regarded entirely as in the nature of a social loss. The payment of cash values in such circumstances represented the discharge of one of the important functions of the institutttion of life insurace.



J. H. Lithgow

The cash values paid during the four years mentioned, amounted to no less than $204,014,665. The distribution of such a vast amount of which much the greater proportion was disbursed since October of 1929, cannot be regarded but as of high social and economical significance. It is well that we should remember that, except for the claims put forward by the agents of the companies during the prosperous years on behalf of life insurance, much of this sum would have been unavailable.

In the earlier stages of the depression, someone was good enough to say that the life insurance business was depression-proof, and for a time perhaps many of us engaged in it believed, or at least hoped, that such was the case. However, as the months passed, we realized that like all other lines of business, it had not only old problems to solve, and in accentuated form, but new ones as well.

In the meeting of these problems, and I believe I am safe in saying that they have been met and reasonably solved, immense benefit has accrued to the institution of life insurance and to ourselves. We have been reminded, if any reminder were necessary, of the serious character of the enterprise, of the long-term nature of the contracts into which we enter and of their importance to our policyholders and beneficiaries. One of the effects of the renewed study of the business in its various aspects has been, I believe, that panies to-day, are operating more efficiently and economically than at any other time in their history.

The overcoming of the difficulties with which the institution has been faced, has served to enhance its reputation in the public mind, while on the part of those responsible for its conduct, there has been experienced a renewal of faith in the part which it plays in our economic life, a fresh appreciation of the wisdom of conservative courses of action, and a deepened sense of responsibility, if that were possible, to those whom we seek to serve.

OLD INN PASSES HOT-POT FAMOUS

King's Arms at Kandal Served Enormous Pie to Christmas Travellers.

LONDON, June 1 (CP)— Passing of an old coaching inn, the King's Arms in Kendal, will cause regret on the part of many people who have broken a journey to the Lakes or to Scotland at the King's Arms. The inn, which has been closed and will soon be torn down to make way for other business, has had a long history.

It is first mentioned in 1696, when it was kept by a Mrs. Rowlandson, famous for her hot-pot. It has had many well-known landlords, one of whom, Alderman Christopher Fenton, was four times Mayor of Kendal—in 1768, 1774, 1781 and 1782.

The King's Arms was a well-known coaching house. The north mail arrived at 11.30 p.m. and the south mail at midnight Horses were changed and there was time for a tumbler of "fresh milk, one fair lump of sugar, two tablespoons of rum, with a passing thought of nutmeg grating on the top of all."

The King's Arms was famous for its food as well as its drink, and in 1641 the landlady gave the Commercial Travellers' Association for their Christmas dinner a pie which contained "two fat geese, two large turkeys, four fowls, two pheasants, four grouse, two hares, four prize rabbits, three tongues and eight pounds of beefsteak and ham." Its circumference measured seven feet, and it was 10 inches in depth.

Many inns up and down the country could tell similar tales. The King's Arms was distinctive because it had not changed. The rooms, the staircases, the twisting and turning passages, and the mysterious changes in floor levels remained mercifully unmodernized. The two entrances to the yard remained as difficult for a motor car to enter as they had always been.

Offered "Swap" To King George

LONDON, June 1 (C.P.)—A 12-year-old schoolboy of Lemberg, in Poland, has achieved fame as a stamp collector and a correspondent of King George.

The lad heard that King George possessed a rare collection. He screwed up his courage and finally wrote a letter to Buckingham Palace proposing that the two enthusiasts should "swap" some of their treasures to their mutual benefit.

Then, one day, the King sent a reply to the little Polish schoolboy. He thanked the fellow-collector for the letter and the offer of a deal, adding that no deal was possible because the royal collection is confined to stamps of the British Empire.

F. V. CLEMENTI PASSES AWAY

Chief Clerk at Canadian National Freight Sheds for Years.

BORN RAILWAYMAN.

Frederick Vincent Clementi, member of one of the most respected and old-established families in Peterborough, passed away this morning at the residence of his sister Miss Mary E. F. Clementi, 335 Stewart street, in his 73rd year.

Mr. Clementi retired in September, 1931 as chief clerk of the Canadian National Railway Company's local freight office, upon completion of fifty-three years of honored service with three railway companies here.

His railroad career started when he joined the old Midland Railway Company's staff in Peterborough as junior clerk at the age of sixteen years. The office was then situated in the present passenger station, which has been altered structurally since that far-away period.

In his successive years of service with the Midland, Grand Trunk and Canadian National Railway Companies, the late Mr. Clementi served under seven different agents, the first being the late Thomas Gladman, and the last being the present agent Alpine Mcnab.

Born Railwayman

It may be said that Mr. Clementi was a born railwayman, for his father the late Mutius Clementi, Provincial Land Surveyor, was station agent here on the old Midland Railway, and was for a number of years secretary of the Port Hope Lindsay and Bewdley Railway Company.

Mr. Clementi's earliest recollections of railroading took him back to the time when the locomotives consumed wood fuel, and it took a train four hours to complete the journey from Peterborough to Port Hope.

Upon completion of a half century of service with the railroad, Mr. Clementi was presented with a handsome gold chain and engraved locket, the presentation being made on behalf of the staff by Alpine Macnab, in July 1932.

His father came from Hampstead, London, England, and was married in this city, while Mr. Clementi was born in the house at 335 Stewart street on April 1, 1862, from where the funeral is to be held on Monday next at 2.30 p.m., with Archdeacon Dr. R. C. Blagrave officiating, followed by interment at Little Lake Cemetery.

Predeceased by his wife, formerly Mary Stevenson, thirteen years ago, Mr. Clementi is survived by one son, Mutius Clementi of the Bank of Montreal, Gananoque, and four daughters: Mrs. Charles Gifford and Miss Helen Clementi, Reg. N., both of Clifton Springs, N.Y., and the Misses Emma and Georgie Clementi both at home, also one sister Miss M. E. F. Clementi of 335 Stewart street.

Mr. Clementi had been a lifelong member of St. John's Anglican Church, and it is interesting to note that his grandfather the Rev. Vincent Clementi was at one time Rector of Lakefield and was largely responsible for the building of the Anglican Church in that village.

It is also an interesting fact that Mr. Clementi's' great grand father, Munzio Clementi is buried at Westminster Abbey, a burial which was given him in honor of his renown as one of the outstanding musicians of his day. He died in the year 1832 at the age of 81 years, at Elm Lodge, Worcestershire.

PRAIRIES BEGIN WAR ON HOPPERS

Clouds Bring Promise of Rain and Cooler Weather to Ease Drought.

GOVT'S STEP IN.

WINNIPEG, June 1 (C.P.).—Dark clouds to-day tempered somewhat the voltage of a June sun as the weatherman allied himself with government of three prairie provinces to stamp out the worst grasshopper plague the West has experienced in more than half a century.

Relief from a searing heat wave that has baker prairie wheat lands for the past two weeks was promised by the weatherman. In addition, governments are mobilizing to aid man in his fight against crop-destroying insects.

Meeting in exceptive council, the Government of Manitoba considered steps to be taken to meet the 'hopper menace and discussed the disposition of 6,000 head of cattle faced with starvation, which must either be marketed or moved shortly to areas where pasturage is available. An announcement is expected shortly.

Cattle in the south-western portion, gaunt from foraging over pasture burned out by drought, were a matter of concern. It is believed plans will be made to feed work stock and "sustenance" animals upon which the farmer depends for food.

Meanwhile there was no let-up in the West's campaign against hordes of 'hoppers. Hundreds of organized farm units are fighting the pests over a wide front with a poison mixture distributed by the Government. One death was reported through handling the mixture.

PRESS AGAINST BACKING FRANCE

Majority of London Papers Favor Sticking to League's Peace Views.

Rothermere Stands Alone.

LONDON, June 1 (C.P. Cable).—The Daily Herald, official organ of the British Labor Party, to-day criticized editorially the attitude of France at the World Disarmament Conference as revealed on Wednesday in the attacks of Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, on the British plan and Sir John Simon.

"If Simon's speech at Geneva on Wednesday was almost barren of practical suggestions," the newspaper said, "so was Barthou's. Close reading of Barthou's speech fails to indicate in any detail what France expects of the Disarmament Conference of the League (of Nations) and, particularly, of Great Britain.

"Many French statesmen cherish the hope of a definite alliance with Britain. They are crying for the moon. The Labor Party will not support an alliance with France or any other country.

"It firmly believes in the idea and methods of the League in the maintenance of peace through pooled security.

"Conservative opinion is divided. Lord Beaverbrook, founder of The Daily Express, stands for splendid isolation. Lord Rothermere (owner of The Daily Mail) alone advocates an alliance with France, and his following is very limited. The strongest section of the Conservative Party and the entire body of Liberals still profess allegiance to the League.

"Germany is re-arming and will continue to re-arm. The question for France and other countries is whether that re-arming should proceed by agreement, under controls to which all countries submit, or on lines which Germany alone decides.

"Under which method does France see greater security?"

If you buy out of town, and I buy out of town and all our neighbors buy out of town, what in thunder will become of our town? Ever think about it?

THREE CENTRAL BANK DIRECTORS MAY BE NAMED BY GOVERNMENT

Amendment by Ralston Will Bring Bill Nearer Liberal Proposals.

SEVEN ON BOARD.

OTTAWA, June 1 (C.P.) — An amendment to the Bank of Canada Act which would give the Government power to appoint three of the seven directors of the new central banking institution is now before the House of Commons committee.

Hon. J. L. Ralston, Liberal member for Shelburne-Yarmouth, gave notice of a proposal under which clause nine of the bill, dealing with appointment of directors, would be changed materially. He proposed to strike out the old clause and substitute a new one which would bring the bill a step nearer to the principle of public ownership advocated by the Liberals.

The bill provides there shall be seven directors of the New Central Bank, in addition to the Governor, Deputy Governor and Assistant Deputy Governor. Under the bill as brought down by the Government, the first directors will be appointed by the Governor-in-Council, but when their terms expire provision is made for appointment of the entire seven by the shareholders of the Central Bank.

Col. Ralston's amendment, while providing that the original directors shall all be Government appointees, also makes provision that thereafter the board shall consist of four shareholdi directors and three state directors. In addition, the Governor and Deputy Governor appointments are made by the Government or subject to Government approval.

Coming Up Later

The amendment of Col. Ralston was not dealt with to-day, but will come up at a later sitting of the committee. While the committee discussed clause nine some time ago, that section of the bill was allowed to stand in order to give Col. Ralston an opportunity to make his amendments.

The member for Shelburne Yarmouth also gave notice of another amendment under which the Deputy Minister of Finance, or other representative of the finance department designated by the minister, would be empowered to attend meetings of the Central Bank Board and the executive committee in a consultative capacity without the right to vote.

The Deputy Minister or other representative would have the right to protest any board decision which he considered contrary to law or against the interests of the state, and his protest would come before a commission of three members, one to be named by the Finance Minister, the second by the Bank Board, and the third to be chosen jointly. In the event of failure to agree, the third member, it was provided, should be the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada.

BRITAIN PLANS GREATER CANAL

About 10,000 Men Would Be Employed in Scheme to Make River Navigable.

LONDON, June 1.—(CP).—The scheme to make the River Nene navigable from the Wash to Northampton, sanction for which is being asked of Parliament, is calculated to provide work for about 10,000 men.

If the scheme is carried out, boats, for the first time, will be able to proceed from the North Sea to the Bristol Channel, and connections will be made with all the principal canal systems.

This big development is being planned by the Nene Catchment Board, under the chairmanship of George Dallas, former M.P. for Wellingborough. It is estimated that the work of deepening and widening the river could be done for about $5,000,000. Most of this would be spent on labor.

"We are very keen to undertake the work, for we believe it is of national importance," Mr. Dallas said. "As a Catchment Board we have no money, but every effort will be made to persuade the Ministry of Agriculture to agree with us.

"Work would be found for several thousands of men in Lincolnshire, Northamptonshire, Huntingdonshire and the Soke of Peterborough."

MILK PRICE JUMPS

TORONTO — Milk distributors representing 95 per cent of the 60 companies operating in the Toronto district decided at a meeting here yesterday to set the price of milk at 11 cents a quart and seven cents a pint, starting to-day. Most of the large dairies now charge those prices but some of the dealers have been selling milk for 10 cents a quart and six cents a pint.

CROLL DENIES STATEMENTS OF PREMIER HENRY

Declares Premier Has Misrepresented Him Deliberately.

VIEWS WELL KNOWN

Windsor - Walkerville Candidate Backs Local Option.

WINDSOR, June 1. — "Deliberate misrepresentation," was Mayor David A. Croll's reply to Premier Henry's statement at Campbellford, in the dry riding of Northumberland that the Liberal candidate for Windsor-Walkerville is opposed to local option and is preaching the sale of beer and wine in every roadside stand.

Views Well Known

"There is no question about my stand on the freer sale of beer and wine," Mayor Croll said. "I do not agree with Premier Henry that it should be sold only in hotels for the dress suit trade. I maintain that beer and wine should be obtainable in legitimate restaurants who are in the business of selling food first. I am absolutely opposed to the beer-and-rubber-sandwich type of place.

"I have been an advocate of local option for years, and I still am.

"I think it is unbecoming of the premier of this great province to stoop so low as to misquote and misrepresent me.

"And I would like to ask him where he stands. His utterances and actions in the past have revealed him as a sort of wobbling dry. He tries to be all things to all men; when he is in a wet constituency he is a wet; when he is in a dry constituency such as Northumberland, he tries to appear to be dry.

Queries Tories

"Where does the Conservative party stand on this beer and wine measure anyway? The premier, apparently by nature a dry, is wet to-day only for political purposes. His attitude on the beer and wine question is as sincere as his attitude on unemployment insurance, and the minimum wage for men, both of which he is willing to discuss by the yard and enact by the inch.

"My own position is clear and always has been. I am for temperance in all things, for in excess there is danger."

BOLIVIA APPEALS LEAGUE NATIONS

Uses Two Articles of Covenant in Effort to Halt Chaco War.

PARAGUAY PROTESTS.

By JOSEPH E. SHARKEY
Associated Press Foreign Staff

GENEVA, June 1 (A.P.)—Bolivia appealed to the League of Nations under two articles of the covenant yesterday to end its war with Paraguay in the Chaco Boreal of South America.

This sensational development came at the very end of a league council meeting after representatives of both nations had spoken to the assembled members.

First, Costa Durels, Bolivian delegate, invoked article 13 whereby disputing nations may ask arbitration.

He was answered by Caballero Bedoya, Paraguayan representative, who said: "We cannot allow arbitration to be a snare for the nation's good faith."

Then Costa Durels apealed for a settlement of the dispute under article 15 which authorizes the council to make recommendations for the settlement of disputes without the vote of the disputants.

The latter article is a step preceding the possible application of military measures against an aggressor nation. It authorizes the council to public a report of the dispute.

If the council unanimously agrees on its recommendations the members of the league undertake that they will not go to war with any party to the dispute which implies with the recommendation.

No Plan of Peace

The Bolivian representative announced that his nation was forced to resort to article 15 declaring that Paraguay had failed utterly to bring any hopeful contribution to a plan of settlement.

He said that, on the contrary, the Paraguayan representative had destroyed all hope of regulating the dispute under processes of meditation.

Earlier in the session he insisted that the proposed international arms embargo would mean the "finish" of Bolivia. He charged that Paraguay has a munitions factory.

Durels proposed that the war no longer be treated under the meditation article of the covenent but he passed to the arbitral clause, which means that if his demand is granted the dispute will automatically go to the world court of permanent justice for settlement.

Attacking the proposed munitions embargo against the warring nations Durels insisted an inquiry to determine the responsibility for the war should be held first.

Paraguay, he said, in addition to having a munitions factory would always be able to obtain arms and ammunition by river shipments, whereas Bolivia, isolated from any port, would be unable to do so.

MISS ROBSON GUEST SPEAKER

OF PERCY BRANCH

WARKWORTH, June 1 (Examiner Correspondence). — The Percy Branch of the Women's Institute held their open meeting in the Town Hall on Tuesday afternoon, with a large attendance of members and visitors.

Mrs. Joe Greenly, as president, extended a warm welcome, and introduced the visiting delegate, Miss Ethel Robson of Denfield, Ont., who spoke first on the "Challenge of Age," pointing out the later years of life should be the worthwhile ones. We are spending vast sums on education to produce a fine type of men and women for Canada, but we who are standing with our backs to Eternity have the task of interpreting life to the coming generation. We lay a foundation, Middle Age consolidates. Age completes what youth commences. For youth, life is an adventure experimenting from which Age gets the results.

It is not easy to accept the responsibility of growing old, but evasion is not possible.

Miss Robson was warmly applauded.

Short addresses were given by Mrs. C. McCoun and Mrs. Clarke of Campbellford.

Mrs. Lorne Evans gave a humorous recitation. This was followed by a piano solo by Mrs. Puffer. The vocal duet by Mrs. K. Zufelt and Olive Bowen brought to a close this part of the program. Miss Robsan was called on again and spoke for a short time on the "Sacrifice of Mothers." Before closing, Miss Robson recited a number of poems of her own composition.

The serving of lunch brought to a close a pleasant and profitable afternoon.

Her suffering and pain is past;
We know she has gone to realms of love,
And in heaven has peace at last.

WEIR'S OUSTING IS EXPLAINED

Sought to Direct Radio Commission's Policies, Negligent in Duties.

REPORT TO HOUSE.

OTTAWA, June 1.—(CP)—Circumstances surrounding the dismissal of E. A. Weir as director of programs for the Radio Commission have been laid before the Radio Committee of the House of Commons by the three members of the Commission, Hector Charlesworth, chairman, Thomas Maher and Col. W. A. Steel.

Mr. Weir the commissioners said in a submission last night had been dismissed because he had not been efficient in performing the duties assigned to him, had sought to direct the policies of the Commission and to step out of his own field. He had been found lacking in the performance of routine and duties and deficient in executive capacity.

Some time ago Mr. Weir appeared before the committee and charged he had been jockeyed out of his position as a result of an understanding between Col. Steel and Mr. Maher.

Due to Mr. Weir's negligence in arranging English programs while Arthur Dupont was quietly and efficiently working on the French end, Mr. Charlesworth said, there was a predominance of excellent French programs on the air for a time. Mr. Dupont had been made director of programs for Eastern Canada and Mr. Weir had been assigned to the west but the latter had adopted a "sullen attitude" towards Mr. Dupont.

MINING OPERATORS

A series of photographs which picture the activities of prospecting parties of the Monarch Great Bear Syndicate and the ruggedness of the country about Great Bear Lake are now on view in the Roy Studiow window. The pictures were taken by Stewart Cotton, son of Alderman Robert Cotton, who went into the Great Bear Lake district during the winter. Both modes of transportation — the airplane and dog team—used by prospectors are graphically illustrated in these photographs, and an impression of the intense cold is secured from the Eskimo-like garb found necessary by the prospectors engaged in the work of uncovering new gold finds.

KIWANIS HEARS REV. SUTCLIFFE

Friendship is Fundamental Ideal of Kiwanis, Speaker Says.

HUMANITARIAN WORK.

"Why make a friend?" asked Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe as he addressed the Kiwanis Club on the ideals of Kiwanis at luncheon to-day. In answer he quoted Dr. J. A. Hutton, "I doubt whether there is a deeper thing to say about our life in this world than just this: It is all so wonderfully contrived that it seems to have no other object than to discover to us our need of friends'."

Rev. Sutcliffe declared friendship to be the fundamental on which Kiwanis ideals should be based. Jesus did not say, "Give!" or "Provide!", he called. He directed His followers to make friends.

"One part of friendship is to do things for others," the speaker continued. "Another part of friendship is to take what others do for us. Ye arethey that have continued with Me in My temptations.' Jesus said in this regard. What we need in this world are more people who have Christian virtue of standing by."

The humanitarian work which Kiwanis carries on is an indication that Kiwanians appreciate the fundamental ideal—making friendships, Rev. Sutcliffe concluded.

J. L. Pettit introduced the speaker saying that no man could be better fitted to speak on the ideals of Kiwanis than Rev. Sutcliffe. Introduced to the club by Kiwanian Robert Haddow, Bill Brown of this city sang two 17th and 18th century balalds. He was accompanied by Martin B. Chenhall.

PIANO RECITAL WELL ATTENDED

MUSICAL PLAYLET.

The annual recital by piano pupils of Miss Lily Bacon, A.D.C.M., A.T.C.M., held on Tuesday evening in St. John's parish hall, was well attended and the various numbers received much applause, the Rhythm Band, in particular, creating a great deal of interest.

A touch of color was added to the program by an illustrated poem entitled "Curious Cradles,' depicting cradles used in different lands. This was done by seven girls who were dressed to represent the various countries, complete with cradles and baby dolls. Those taking part were Barbara Bothwell (Canada); John MaGee (North American Indian); Doris Fausett (South America); Katherine Hendry (Africa); Mary Masters(India); Vera Barnes (China); Jean Hendry (Japan).

A novelty was introduced in the form of a musical playlet entitled "Musicland Courtroom," which was greeted with enthusiasm and much favorable comment. The members of the Rhythm Band took part in this attraction, which had a setting in a Courtroom in Musicland. A little girl is brought in and is tried for misdemeanors, by the judge, while the folk of Musicland fill the benches and witness stands. Each in turn tells the many injuries that Gladys has done to him or her, but the judge suspends sentence for a first offender, as she promises to do better in future.

The program of piano pieces by the pupils was also well received, with the stage effectively decorated with wicker furniture and ferns.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

While paging through one of my famous anthologies the other day I happened upon a poem of Tennyson's that I'd never read before—"Lady Clara Vere de Vere". One phrase in it struck me as particularly applicable to beauty problems. It was "Her manners had not that repose which stamps the caste of Vere de Vere."

While Tennyson was casting a slur at the high born lady in his verse, the lines suggested a most annoying trend in our modern beauties who are living in a much more high powered age than the haughty Lady Vere de Vere, and hence are acquiring a lot of nervous, but unnecessary habits that detract from their charm.

Repose and serenity are two words that modern gals should study. For there's nothing quite so annoying as a girl who is continually twitching her hands, tapping her foot, wriggling about in her seat, or drumming on things. Such lack of serenity is not only disturbing to others but betrays the girl's own lack of poise and self-confidence.

Few people are ever conscious of the fact that they possess these defects. Yet their fidgeting and twitching are most obvious to their associates—and most disturbing. The lass who really wants to make a good impression on people should let them see that she is calm and composed. For outward composure always implies reserve strength and self-confidence.

The serene, well-poised woman is always free from flutter. Because she makes no futile movements, her movements and gestures have meaning. Because her hands do not wave or wiggle idly, when they DO move, they seem to contribute to her expressiveness. In contrast, the woman who fidgets and seems ill at ease cannot give expression to her feelings naturally. Her tension prevents her from exercising her powers. She acts fussed. And she appears fussy to her associates. Her gestures lack all charm and meaning.

If you are of this type, you can correct the condition and increase your calm and pose by learning to relax. Withdraw all nervous energy from your muscles. Let them lapse into quiescence. Cultivate complete repose, and your gestures and movements, when you do make them, will contribute to your expressiveness and charm.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Reducing

R. Baum: The reducing course outlined in my 'New Figure" booklet is guaranteed to take off eight to ten pounds in two weeks. The diet should not only help to reduce your weight, but should assist in clearing your skin as well.

Brown Spots

Kathie: To remove those brown spots, apply a solution of hyposulphite of soda and watef, one part of the chemical to eight parts of water.

Standard Weight

Elizabeth: I think that a girl 22 years of age and five feet three inches tall should weigh about 123 pounds.

EDITOR'S NOTE: To obtain Miss Glad's pamphlets on "The New Figure" and "Beauty Culture" write, care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, and ten cents in coin for each, to cover cost of printing and handling.

Sweet As Honey

"SWEET AS honey, lady!" That is what the vendors say when they want to sell you some fruit.

And sweet as honey does Mary Carlisle, pretty young screen player, look in this smart long summer coat which, by a peculiar coincidence, is made of honeycomb pique.

The double-breasted closing is effected by means of nautical brass buttons, and the trimmings are navy blue middie braid, giving the fashionable nautical touch, you see.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

Dental caries, or dental decay, or the formation of dental cavities, has been considered up to within a few years ago due exclusively to the lodgement of bacteria on food particles on the teeth, and the destruction by the bacteria of the superficial enamel. This theory, while it cannot be entirely abandoned, certainly is not the whole story, and recent work has shown that destruction of teeth is partly a nutritional process.

Let us examine the nature of dental caries. To do so the anatomy of the teeth must be understood. A tooth consists of three layers, or structures. The other layer, the enamel, is the hardest tissue in the body and, therefore, furnishes an extremely strong defensive wall. Underneath it is the dentine which, while it is fairly hard and contains calcium, yields very rapidly to decay as soon as it is attacked. Underneath the dentine is the third layer, the pulp, which puts up no resistance to infection whatever.

Plainly, tooth infection begins by the breaking down of the protective wall of the tooth—the enamel. This enamel contains 95 per cent of calcium or lime salts, and caries of the enamel appears to be a solution of these lime salts. It is generally supposed that the dissolving of enamel is done by acid produced by the action of bacteria on food particles. Objections to this theory are that all mouths contain germs which are capable of doing this, and yet all mouths do not have dental caries. Also that the caries begins in small spots, whereas one would suppose that if it were due to the action of bacteria on food, it would attack rather large areas of the enamel.

Decalcification of the enamel, or the beginning of caries, can be seen as small white spots on the surface of the tooth. It is now supposed that this decalcification—and the theory is backed by strong experimental evidence—is due to nutritional defects from improper diet.

In experiments made at Mooseheart on over 300 children, the conclusion was that pyorrhea and dental caries can occur in children who are receiving a quart of milk, one and one-half ounces of butter, a pound of vegetables, half a pound of fruit and nearly one egg a day. These foods do not, therefore, contain substances that prevent the diseases mentioned. The addition of a pint of orange juice and the juice of one lemon to a diet that is adequate in all other respects, supplies something that leads to a disappearance in a majority of the cases.

These experiments, it seems to me, are not sufficiently confirmed to allow us to say that the older theory of external infection has nothing to do with the case. Brushing the teeth regularly and cleansing the mouth and spaces between the teeth is still as important as it ever was.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

It is the little annoyances in a home that are apt to be disrupting to it as great differences. The former seem too trivial to bother about, while one is braced for the latter. That is to say the person who does the annoying things feels it is picayune to be bothered by them, and so makes no effort to correct or give up practicing them. This same person might be very careful not to do things which would arouse actual wrath in another as the results would be distressing.

* * * * * * *

Aid so it is well to take a sort of stock of ourselves once in a while, and see if the repetition of small annoying acts is getting one the nerves of those with whom we are in constant contact, even though it seems ridiculous. We can become obstinate in refusing to see the other's point of view, in which case we really are difficult.

* * * * * * *

It is when the age limit of punishment has been passed with children, when they must be permitted to be their own guides, except for kindly and tactful suggestions which are never in such a limit, if love is underneath, it is then that annoying habits make themselves felt in a home. When there is disregard for such trivial matters as returning borrowed articles, and this is a habit, there either is constant heckling about each occurrence, or after repeated offenses, a sudden outburst of stored up grievances. There is nothing to be offended about in occasional forgetfulness to put a borrowed article in its right place after having made use of it. It is when the occasions become frequent that trouble is brewing, or outspoken remonstrances are made. The peaceful atmosphere of a home can be rent by such trivial and inconsequential occurrences.

* * * * * * *

Disregard of another's wishes is the real crux of the matter. And when the owner of a unreturned article is in a hurry and needs whatever the article may be, and cannot find it immediately, an outburst is due. The whole trouble may be over a handkerchief, a pair of stockings, an umbrella, a spool of thread, a pair of scissors, a book. No longer is it just that. The comfort of the entire household may be at stake.

* * * * * * *

A husband or wife soon find some small habits of the other get on their nerves. Then it is no longer a small matter. Either the habit of the person must be given up, or the other get immune to its annoyance. When there is reciprocity, and each tried to do his or her part, the matter become again trivial, but unless this happens there is likely to be a case of "incompatibility of temperament" ruinous to a home.

* * * * * * *

And after a separation, when too late, it is sometimes realised that there was nothing big in their troubles, that affection was underneath, but refusal to try to live harmoniously had brought about the miserable climax.

It Bothered Heart Defenders

About half the tables played the hand shown at no trumps as detailed yesterday. The remaining tables played the hand at 4-hearts

	♠ A Q 7 ♥ 5 4 ♦ Q J 9 5 ♣ A K 6 2
♠ 10 9 3 ♥ K Q 8 ♦ K 8 6 ♣ Q 10 8 7	W. N. E. S.	♠ K J 6 5 ♥ 6 2 ♦ 10 4 3 2 ♣ 9 5 4
	♠ 8 4 2 ♥ A J 10 9 7 3 ♦ A 7 ♣ J 3

At every table except one, the opening lead was the fourth best club. The rule of eleven showed that East held only a single card higher than the 7, so the lead was allowed to run and Declarer's J won the trick. As is the case at most New York duplicate games, to make the matches more interesting, the best players sit North and South the poorest players sit East and West. This will account for the fact that the play at nearly every table ran alike. South led his ace of diamonds, followed by the 7. West was in with his K.

At all tables except one, South had prepared for what was to come, by establishing in Dummy clubs and diamonds upon which to discard losing spades, if that suit were next led. West had no option. He led his 10 of spades and the ace took the trick. South discarded a low spade upon dummy's good Q of diamonds. Then the ace and K of clubs were led. Upon the second club South discarded his last spade. Having disposed of all losers aside from those in trumps, a heart was led from Dummy, and the 9 finessed, losing to West's Q.

West led his 9 of spades, but the declarer ruffed, led his ace of hearts then lost his third trick to the K of hearts, just going game. Only at one table did the opening lead of the 7 of clubs fail to give South game. At that table South won with his J of clubs, then he led a spade and lost his Q to East's K. East led back his 2 of diamonds. South jumped with the ace. Then he led his last club, winning with dummy's K. Upon the ace of clubs South discarded his last diamond. The heart finesse of the 9 lost to West's Q. West led his 10 of spades. The declarer won with dummy's ace, and led Dummy's last trump, hoping to pick up the missing K, by finessing the 10, but when that lost he went down a trick losing two spade tricks and two trump tricks. As it turned out, the other method of play was better for South, although why most players in South's position preferred it is hard to say.

At the one table where the opening lead was the 10 of spades, the declarer lost two spade tricks, two heart tricks and a diamond trick, going down two tricks.

UNIFIED SYSTEM IN CANADA IS ONLY SOLUTION OF BIG PROBLEM DECLARES PRESIDENT OF C.P.R.

Reasonable Solution is Possible is Conclusion of E. W. Beatty.

NOT PHANTOM DEBT.

MONTREAL, June 1. — "With a soundly administered unified system Canada would be able to anticipate within a reason period of time, a balanced railway budget and would be able to finance any justifiable extensions which expanding settlement and development might in future demand," E. W. Beatty, K.C., Chairman and President, Canadian Pacific Railway, declared before the Canadian Political Science Club here recently. Mr. Beatty, discussing "The Canadian Transportation problem" made a thoroughly comprehensive and thought-provoking survey of the physical and political events leading up to the present alarming situation created by the Canadian National Railways debt, and emphasized that his suggested solution, unified control under private administration, was the result of more than fifteen years of intimate contact with and study of the problem.

"I have tried to impress on you the immensity of our railway problem and to convince you that a reasonable solution is possible and that a plan is before you, if you will accept it." He summed up. "I urge on you to give the whole matter earnest thought and study. I have lived with it for over fifteen years; I have tried to view it always from a national standpoint, proud of the fact that throughout its existence the Canadian Pacific has proven itself to be a good citizen of Canada. It repaid with interest the help it received from Canada during its early struggles."

The urgency of the situation from the viewpoint of the taxpayers and the country at large was ably outlined by the President of the Canadian Pacific. "The railway debt of Canada at end of 1933 was $2,895,799,134, and is increasing daily. It has reached intolerable dimensions and must not only be controlled, but reduced. It constitutes the greatest obstacle to the refunding of our national, provincial and municipal obligations, which refunding is necessary if we are to keep our financial house in order and keep taxation within endurable limits. "It is not a phantom debt which can be disposed of by book-keeping entries. But an undischarged mortgage on the industry and the resources of the country. The business property which we have to show for the expenditure is not self sustaining. The proposal to write off a proportion of the debt has the support of certain publicists whose record on counsel on railway problems up to the present consists of the following:

1.—Unrelenting opposition to the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway.
2.—Enthusiastic support of the construction of the G.T.P. and Trans-Continential Railways.
3.—Equally enthusiastic support of the Canadian Northern enterprise.
4.—Support of the acquisition of all major railways, save that of the Canadian Pacific, by the Government.
5.—Support of the policy of unrestrained competition offered by the Government Railways to its competitor, during the last ten years.
6.—The maintenance of the duplication, and, in places, triplication of facilities we now enjoy, whether or not bankruptcy is just round the corner.

They now propose to add support of an endeavor to wipe out, by book entries, inescapable loss resulting from policies previously advocated by them, and to be parties to a calculated deception of the Canadian taxpeyr as to the extent of the yearly contribution he must make to meet railway losses.

Little Promise of Relief

"The policy of compulsory co-operation, although it is being given a fair trial, offers little promise of substantial relief. Founded on expediency—not on reason and experience—it does not touch the heart of the problem. I make that statement deliberately and with confidence, because no man of any experience in railway operations has had the temerity to attempt to indicate that the possible economies from co-operation could conceivably be more than a small part of those to be reached through unification, according to the estimates compiled by experienced and competent railway operators.

"The only rational plan yet submitted—which meets the situation by assuring more net operating revenue to apply on the obligations of the Canadian National, and to provide a reasonable return to the owner of the Canadian Pacific—is that of unification for administration purposes; the administration to be free of political control with all its costly implications. One critic of the plan dismisses the estimated economies under the proposed scheme as illusory. He says that the field for saving has been occupied by the economics made by the individual railway companies during the past few years. They are not of the same character, or even related to the permanent savings which could be effected by the economic use of existing facilities and by the abandonment throughout the country of duplicate and triplicate services and trackage.

Estimation of those savings were made at various times by the late Lord Shaughnessy, by the late Sir Henry Thornton, by Mr. Fairweather, economist of the Canadian National, and by the present officers of the Canadian Pacific. These submissions can be regarded with respect as the fruits of deep study, conducted by men of experience. All of their estimates, though made at different times, are very similar in result. The estimate presented by the Canadian Pacific to the Royal Commission was examined and analyzed by independent railway economists of standing and repute in the United States, and was pronounced unassailable.'

In the beginning, Mr. Beatty said that he had endeavored to prepare a paper which would not leave its author open to the criticism of prejudice. Consequently, he had used only official or certified figures preceded by historical references, the accuracy of which was unassaiable. "Heretofore," he commented, "all our transportation problems have been settled under political or community pressure. The present situation must, I take it, be dealt with from the same standpoint of sound national economies and from no other angle."

Canada's railway problem emerged from its background in a startling and menacing form. In 1910 this problem did not exist. The Grand Trunk was soundly entrenched, the Maritime Provinces were served by the Intercolonial Railway, and the Canadian Pacific economically built and carefully managed, was in a safe financial position.

Within three years Canada had entered on a series of railway adventures which had shortly developed into 'a veritable rake's progress'. The provinceof Manitoba purchased the lines owned by the Northern Pacific Railway in that province, and immediately leased them the Canadian Northern railway. The Canadian Northern had consisted of a few isolated lines built largely on government credit, and with limited earning power. Fortified by this generous accession of mileage the organization of the Con Northern built branch lines in Manitoba, in Saskatchewan, and Alberta. Through lines were constructed later. The financing had the merit of simplicity. The cost was estimated, the governments of the provinces guaranteed the bonds, which because of the guarantee found ready sale. The trunk lines received a direct bonus from the Dominion government and when the system expanded the company made an issue of perpetual debenture stock, and later on convertible income debenture stock on its own credit.

"It is not unfair to assume" Mr. Beatty said, "that these issues commended themselves to investors only because the provincial and federal governments were already heavily involved in the enterprise and because of the outstanding success of the Pioneer Transcontinental railway, the Canadian Pacific, the weakness of the system pursued was that it involved retaining at all costs the favor of those who had it in their power to provide guarantees, and this meant adjusting the program to suit political extingencies.

Whole Edifice Toppled

The weakness, in the end, brought the enterprise to ruin. Encouraged the guarantees and direct financial assistance from governments the promoters went on to envisage a transcontinental railway and when they crossed the rockies and invaded the territory east of Lake Superior the whole edifice toppled. By 1913 the company was in difficulties, during the war period it had received distress aid from the federal government and in 1917 the government of Canada by payment of $10,000,000 acquired the entire capital stock of the company and took over the property.

"It has been stated sometimes that the collapse of the Canadian Northern afforded an example of the evils of private ownership of railways and that its failure was due to personal greed and overweening ambition. That may be answered by the assertion—easily capable of proof —that the whole enterprise was conducted from the beginning in an atmosphere of political bargaining, that politics were its very breath and that political consideration were responsible for the two main extensions which brought about the final catastrophy, the story of the Grand Trunk Railway was an even more dismal chapter. This company became desirous of sharing more fully in the rapidly increasing traffic of the Canadian West, and an agreement was finally reached, with the government whereby the government undertook to build a railway from Moncton to Winnipeg at its own expense, it to be taken over by the Grand Trunk for operation on completion, at a rental after seven years, of three percent on the cost of construction. The Grand Trunk through a subsidiary company was to build a railway from Winnipeg to Prince Rupert the government guaranteeing the bonds to a specified amount and reserving the right to designate the standards of construction in signing the contract the directors and officers of the Grand Trunk were censurable in that they failed to protect their shareholders.

The cost of the government portion far exceeded original estimates. The cost of the Grand Trunk Pacific likewise exceeded estimates, due, allegedly, to insistence by the government help, blanketing or anticipating a number of the lines built or projected by the Grand Trunk Pacific. The latter road failed to pay its way; the Grand Trunk, after advancing $26,000,000 to it, found it impossible to supply further sums to keep it in operation, or to take over the National Transcontinental in accordance with the contract, and was compelled to appeal to the government for relief from the liability.

The policy of attempting to adjust a railway building program to considerations of politics had another failure to its credit, a point emphasized by the railway commission of 1931-32. Its report says: "In a little more than ten years the whole railway situation had passed from a position of manageable cost and moderate expansion, to one of financial confusion and over-extension."

In 1916 the government of Canada having advanced a total of 90,000,000 dollars to the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk Pacific appointed the Drayton Board of inquiry to investigate the general problem of transportation.

Majority and minority reports were submitted. The government did not agree with either in its entirety. They did not adopt the method of control proposed but placed the railways under a board of directors appointed by the government, and holding office at its pleasure.

"This in effect," Mr. Beatty said, "meant political control."

The policy of the Canadian National in its early stages was to coordinate its line; avoid capital expenditures; and to refrain from challenging the position of the Canadian Pacific in fields where that company had pioneered. "In 1923, following a change of directorate and of management, that policy was discarded," Mr. Beatty continued. "It became the object of those in charge to establish a position of primacy at all costs, to duplicate or surpass every facility furnished by the Canadian Pacific, and regardless of the effect on the general credit of the country and in despite of its past services to Canada, to reduce the privately-owned railway to a condition of inferiority. Abundant evidence of this will be found in the public utterances of those in control of the Canadian National, and in the pages of the report of the Royal Commission."

Apostles of Gloom

The Royal Commission found five Dominion Parliaments had voted unstinted financial support to the administrators of the National system. Those who suggested a halt were stigmatized as apostles of gloom, or as disloyal to the country. A rude awakening came with the depression and it became evident that railway debt of the country could only be set down in figures of astronomical proportions, and that the Canadian Pacific had suffered severely in the defensive battle which it had been compelled to wage. In 1931, at Mr. Beatty's suggestion, the chief executive officers of the Canadian National proposed to a committe of Parliament that a Royal Commission should be appointed to investigate the transportation situation in Canada. This Royal Commission found that cash outlay of the Dominion Government and the guarantee of securities for the railways now comprising the Canadian National, had up to December, 1931, amounted to $2,487,916,406, with the total capital liability as $111,806 per mile. As a comparison, the Canadian Pacific had an interest-bearing debt outstanding to the amount of $26,671 per mile, and if its capital stocks were included the total outstanding was $54,638 per mile.

The contention that the Canadian National debt should be written down to an amount upon which the managers of the property could be reasonably expected to earn a return was stigmatised by Mr. Beatty as "a distinctly dishonest form of bookkeeping," which would give a completely distorted picture; would not relieve the burden of the taxpayers and would tend to lull the public into that sense of security and well being which has been the cause of so many of our railway misfortunes. The Dominion Government could not go through the Bankruptcy Court without permanent destruction of the national credit.

The Royal Commission found that the capital expenditures during the nine years under review totalled $456,945,456, no part of which was earned. Interest at 5 per cent on the capital expenditure made in the nine years meant a permanent addition of $22,817,272 to the annual interest bill.

The Canadian National losses during the period were $456,063,195. The Canadian Pacific net income after payment of interest was $312,879,978.

Mr. Beatty referred to the finding of the Royal Commission that it was in the larger sphere of policy that political considerations led to unwise and unnecessary capital expenditures. Comparisons showed that branch liens built by the National cost an average of $15,867 more per mile than branch lines constructed by the Canadian Pacific. On the mileage built by the Canadian National in the period the excess cost was $30,073,201. From figures set out in the report it has been calculated that if the Canadian National had been able to reach the same operating ratio as the Canadian Pacific, an additional sum of $230,207,457 would have been available to apply on deficits.

Mr. Beatty referred to the Royal Commission's sharp criticism of the administrative practices of the Canadian National, and said that the Canadian Pacific suffered more than any other individual or institution from the course followed by the Canadian National. As the largest single taxpayer in the country, the Canadian Pacific had helped to pay the bills for a campaign organized for its own discomfiture.

The Royal Commission came to the conclusion that conditions as they were could not continue if the nation was to remain solvent. Plans for amalgamation or unification for administrative purposes only were rejected on grounds which seemed to him insufficient. A change in the form of administration of the Canadian National, and the imposition of a statutory duty on both railways to pursue measures of co-operation was finally adopted. Mr. Beatty reviewed the progress of the co-operative effort, and said that it was becoming more apparent that accomplishment in this field was strictly limited. The measures which have been put into effect involve an estimated annual joint saving of a million and a quarter dollars. Other measures were under consideration, and the Canadian Pacific desired to give the fullest effect to the policy enjoined. There were two reasons for this; first, because the Canadian Pacific was anxious to save money, and secondly, at the best it was not anticipated that the results would bring substantial relief. It was not proposed to leave the Canadian Pacific open to a charge that it did anything to wreck the plan. The railway structure of Canada was unsound, and more sweeping measures were necessary. It was useless to suggest that return to normal conditions would solve the problem. The greatest annual revenue which the Canadian National ever enjoyed was $304,591,268 in 1928, from which it saved $44,449,780 for interest. That was only 33.3 per cent for the amount necessary to pay interest at 5 per cent on the total debt as at the end of 1931. If the Canadian Pacific was earning sufficient to pay interest, there would still be a recurring economic loss of many millions in the effort to maintain duplicate facilities. Wisdom would seem to insist on the elimination of preventable waste.

Mr. Beatty had recommended unification of the two railway systems for the purpose of administration only, when he appeared before the Royal Commission and had stated that unification would result in a saving of 75 million dollars in a year of normal traffic, which amount would be increased as the trade of the country expanded. The Royal Commission had declined on three grounds, monopoly, fear of unwieldiness, and consideration of future conditions. Prejudice against monopoly lost its force because railways no longer enjoyed a monopoly of transportation. Their rates were disciplined by waterways and road vehicufars, and the public interest was fully protected by the Railway Commission. Intelligent decentralization as applied by the Canadian Pacific and other organizations of similar size overcame the fear of unwieldiness, and the commission itself, in proposing the arbitral tribunal desired to entrust the chairman of that tribunal with power more arbitrary than that which would be possessed by the chief executive of the unified system. In dealing with the third point, Mr. Beatty thought that the commissioners Instead of turning their eyes toward a nebulous future might have reflected on the main lesson of their enquiry, which was that privately and publicly-owned railways could not operate in competition without serious injury to both." I would not fear the verdict of the future on an arrangement which promised immediate and ever-increasing relief to a generation which is hard put to it to find the means to carry on the private and public business of the country," Mr. Beatty declared.

Displacement of labor would be overcome through the normal turnover. The unified system employees would find that regularity and security of employment which under present conditions is denied them.

Mr. Beattie, in discussing the canals, questioned if the taxpayer would continue to favor the free use of those facilities, and declared that it was most unjust that gas-driven vehicles should have free use of the highways provided at public expense. It was hoped that all provinces would agree to uniform regulations for the removal of the essential injustice in the present situation. There might be some truth in the old saying that competiaion was the life of trade, but carried to extremes, competition, by placing too great a burden on trade, may become its assassin, a rational treatment would be to assign the field of each form of transportation and to place regulation of services, and rates under the control of one body.

Canadian Sailors Replace Crews Of New England Schooners

When the Gertrude L. Thebaud docked in New York on a trip to encourage the sale of fish, her skipper, Captain Jimmy Abbott revealed that his boat, from Gloucester, Mass., had an all-British crew of sailors from Nova Scotia and Newounfdanl. He lamented the fact that sailors are disappearing from the shores of New England and are being replaced by these "foreign" crews. The Thebaud is the boat that has several times challenged Nova Scotia's famous Bluenose to race for the fishing schooner championship of the North Atlantic. Only once has she ever been able to beat the Bluenose, and that in an exhibition race. The layout shows LEFT, the Bluenose, RIGHT, the Gertrude L. Thebaud. CENTRE, Captain Abbott, and TOP, fishermen hauling in nets off the Grand Banks. Abbott stated that sailing vessels are the only means yet of successful fishing in these waters.

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF., JUNE 1.—One of the funny mishaps of the week was the stocking hunt that the Hal Roach importation from Denmark, little Lilian Ellis, made Sunday afternoon on Wilshire Boulevard.

She arrived in Hollywood with runs in her stockings and spares locked in trunks that were left behind. So she made the rounds of the exclusive shopping district, rattling and knocking at the doors of the closed shops until a patrolman investigated.

It took a long time and much broken English for the officer to discover that the girl from Copenhagen wasn't breaking in, merely thought that American shopkeepers slept on the floor above the store as they do in Denmark.

Lilian is now going to English school for dear old Hal Roach studios.

SINCLAIR BEHIND LIBERAL PARTY VICTORY, DEFEAT

Mrs. George Henry, Premier's Son Enter Campaign on Leader's Behalf.

2 C.C.F. NOMINATIONS.

Cabinet Ministers Have Over 20 Rallies Planned Before Voting Day.

TORONTO, June 1 (CP)—More than twenty meetings are planned for Ontario Government Cabinet Ministers in the three weeks left before the citizens cast their votes at the polls June 19, with Premier Henry and Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal Leader, continuing their campaigns to-day, the Cabinet Ministers were ready for a campaign that will sweep the province from Rainy River in the north, to the eastern boundary.

Premier Henry delivered two speeches yesterday at Gravenhurst and to-day he goes to Parry Sound. Mr. Hepburn speaks in Sudbury today following visits to Thessalon and Blind River yesterday, when he accused the Conservative Government again of reckless expenditure and declared if his party attained power there would be no Lieutenant Governors in the province until the depression was overcome.

Premier Henry addressed the patients of the Muskoka Hospital and later at a public meeting when he declared Mr. Hepburn would go down to defeat on June 19 and then after resigning his seat in the House of Commons enter the by-election to regain it.

Sinclair Pledges Support

W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., who was succeeded as Liberal Leader in the House by Dr. George A. McQuibban, told an Oshawa meeting he would support the Liberal Party in victory or defeat. He promised "unswerving support."

Mrs. George S. Henry and the Premier's son, George, Jr., entered the campaign in the Government leader's behalf yesterday. Mrs. Henry upheld the Conservative administration's record in an address at St. Thomas, and George Jr., spoke before the Ward Four Branch of the Women's Liberal Conservative Association in London.

Two C.C.F. Candidates were nominated last night. They were William B. Robinson for Toronto Parkdale riding and Andrew Glen for South Ontario constituency, Mr. Sinclair's riding.

The Line-up

Premier Henry will speak at Owen Sound June 8, and the meetings announced to-day for the Cabinet Ministers follow:

Attorney General W. H. Price at Kingsville, June 7; at Petrolia, June 8; at Blenheim, June 8.

Hon. Charles McCrea, Minister of Mines, at Sarnia, June 8; at Simcoe, June 9; at Port Colborne, the evening of June 9.

Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests, at Fort Frances and Rainy River, June 4; at Port Arthur, June 5; at Fort William, June 6.

Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, at Kapuskasing, June 6; Iroquois Falls, June 7; Englehart and New Liskeard, June 8; at Warren, June 9.

Han. W. G. Martin, Minister of Public Welfare, at Sydenham, June 7; Brantford and Fergus, June 8.

Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Minister of Highways, at Waterloo, June 6; St. Thomas, June 8, and Goderich, June 9.

Prominent Conservatives who sat in the last Legislature also have arranged numerous meetings for the remainder of the campaign.

DEPRESSED BY ACUTE ACIDITY

There can surely be no doubt about the effectiveness of a remedy for acidity that can give such permanent relief as in this woman's case:

"I suffered for many years from acidity in various forms," she writes. "At last it became so acute that every morning I woke with a gnawing pain and a great depression of spirits. I tried Kruschen Salts and the effect was magical. The pain subsided and the depression lifted like a cloud. I have taken the daily dose of Kruschen ever since. That was about five years ago, and the Kruschen does not lose its effect."—(Miss) E.M.H.

Kruschen is so effective with acidity because it neutralizes acid, takes all the torment out of it and gently expels it from the system. And by stimulating your organs of elimination to perfect regular action, Kruschen will prevent this harmful acid from ever accumulating again. After that you'll experience no more misery after meals.

FAVORABLY IMPRESSED WITH LOCAL DISTRICT

Arthur H. Fannin, visitor to this district from New Mexico is very favourably impressed with general conditions in this section of Canada. Conditions he described as being "very good" as compared with what they are in Albuerque, where Mr. Fannin is a railroad employee, according to his own statement.

It was the unfamiliar license plate on Mr. Fannin's automobile, in which he covered 2,200 miles in journeying here with his wife, that attracted the attention of The Examiner on George street recently.

Mr. Fannin is visiting with Robert Lloyd of Warsaw. His wife was formerly Miss Edna Darling, of Warsaw, he said.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

I've said it so many times I'm almost ashamed to repeat it — all faults can be traced to incorrect hip action.

The kind of hip action a player has in his swing is always indicated by the way his feet move, so that the wrong foot action means a poor swing.

In other words, all you have to watch during the swing is this foot action. It tells the whole story. Yet there isn't one player in a thousand who pays any attention to his lower extremities.

You can't walk or get around when your feet are in bad shape. Likewise, you can't feel well if your feet hurt you. Well, your golf swing can never be any better than the action of your feet.

New "Kellys" For Dodgers as Giants Lose 6-2

PIRATES DROP THIRD STRAIGHT ON CHICAGO LOT

Cubs Sweep Series Against Pittsburgh to Share Second Place in Race.

CARDINALS BEAT REDS.

St. Louis Goes Ten Innings to Get 3-2 Verdict Over Cincinnati Reds.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

A sudden slump on the part of Pittsburgh Pirates, or perhaps the newfound strength of Chicago Cubs to-day had painted a few new highlights in the National League picture.

After battling their way up to the league lead last week, the Pirates ran into their first losing streak of the season when they dropped a doubleheader to the Giants Monday then took it on the chin three times in a row in Chicago. As a result they were down in a fourth-place tie with Boston today while the Giants and Cubs were tied for second, a game and a half behind St. Louis Cardinals.

Following their double holiday triumph, the Cubs continued their slugging ways yesterday by battering out an 11-5 decision as Chuck Klein contributed his 14th homer and Guy Busch his seventh mound victory to the festivities. Klein's swat overcome a three-run Pittsburg lead in the first, then Babe Herman took charge, driving in three runs and scoring two more.

Dodgers Get New Kellys

Brooklyn Dodgers earned the new hats that had been promised them for every victory over the Giants when they staged a seventh. Al Lopez, shifted from behind the plate to third base, made two hits in the big inning.

The Cardinals increased their lead by beating the Reds 3-2 in 10 innings, getting their deciding tally when Buster Mills was hit by one of Paul Derringer's pitches and scored on Frank Frisch's double. Boston gained its share of fourth place in an off day, bracketed with the Phillies.

ORIOLES HAVE BRIGHT CHANCE VACATE CELLAR

LEAFS LOSE 2-1.

Rochester Swatsmiths Collect Thirteen Safeties Off Keith Frazier.

(By the Associated Press)

Though they're still mired deep in the International League cellar prospects of Baltimore Orioles are looking up as a result of the patient handling of Manager Joe Judge.

The same team that won only nine of its 29 games has captured three of nine for judge, thus playing .333 ball for him as against .275 before he arrived on the scene. That improvement is too slight to get the Orioles out of last place for some time but there are indications that the pitching staff, weakest link on the team, is beginning to take hold of itself. Judge's pitchers have delivered five complete games in their last nine compared with only seven in the Orioles' first 29 contests.

George Granger failed to add to the complete game record yesterday but he lasted long enough to get credit for Baltimore's 6-4 victory over Albany Senators. A Senator rally in the ninth sent Granger to the showers with one man down. Pete Appleton came in and shut down on the attack after one run had scored. Errors by the Senators gave Baltimore two runs in each of the first and fifth innings and paved the way for the Oriole triumph. George Puccinelli led the batsmen with two doubles and a single.

Pace-setting Rochester increased its lead over Newark to 2½ games by beating Toronto, 7-1, while the Bears were dropping a 9-4 decision to the Syracuse Chiefs.

Frazier Hit for 13

Ray Harrell pitched five-hit ball for the Red Wings who banged Keith Frazier for 13 hits, including three doubles and a single by Ival Goodman and three singles by Tommy Carey. Jimmy McCloskey's fine relief twirling helped Syracuse spill Newark. After the Bears had drummed over four runs and obtained 11 hits off Ralph Judd in the first four innings, McCloskey came in to blank them with four hits the rest of the way. The victory returned Syracuse to fifth place, a half-game ahead of Albany.

Jack Salveson kept Buffalo's swatsmiths under subjection and Montreal earned a 7-3 victory. It with a close battle until the eighth when the Royals pushed over six runs. Bud Clancy figured in the scoring of all three Bison runs, solving Salveson's delivery for a home run and two singles.

Lowly Chisox Score 8 Runs in Second Inning to Defeat Cleveland Indians 12-5.

LEADERS BEATEN.

(By The Canadian Press)

The top-ranking trio of the American League went down in order in a series of slugfests. The lowly Chicago White Sox rose up in the second inning and scored eight runs off Belve Bean and Ralph Winegarner to defeat Cleveland's league leaders 12-5. Zeke Bonura's 12th homer and Hal Trosky's ninth wound up the affair.

Washington bunched hits expertly with New York errors to rout the second place Yankees 9-3. The Yanks made four mis-plays, three of them in the ninth when the Senators tallied five times. St. Louis Browns knocked off Detroit Tigers, third place holders, 11-3 with the aid of circuit swats by three rookies—Ray Pepper, Harland Clift and Al Bejma. Boston and Philadelphia.

BOBBY ROSENFELD TO COACH NOT COMPETE IN EMPIRE MEET

Rumors Popular Fanny May Turn in Suddenly to Try and Break Records Set at Rest by Sports Star Herself—Through With Active Competition.

(By Steve Robertson—C.P. Staff Writer).

TORONTO, June 1 (CP)—The next best all-round woman athlete to the Texan Babe Didrickson is probably Fanny (Bobby) Rosenfeld of Toronto, who is just as inactive competitively as the American Olympian. The Babe is idle because no one will pay her to work professionally and Bobby has just retired.

But Bobby only made up her mind to quit a few days ago. There had been whisperings that when the British Empire Games trials came around, the tall and humorous Miss Rosenfeld would suddenly snatch a javelin or something and throw it after a record. Bobby quashed these rumors.

"No," she said, "they don't need to worry about me at the trials. I won't do anything unexpected. I'm all through with competition. You can't get back into shape in a few months after you have been out for four years. This year there will be enough for me to do coaching these girls. I'm not in training now and won't be."

The fact is Miss Rosenfeld has become a coach. There have been few—if any—woman coaches rated highly enough to be given charge of a national team and take it overseas. So the games committee has expressed rare confidence in Bobby and nothing will interfere with her efforts to justify that.

In women's sports, Bobby Rosenfeld a few years ago starred in more games than Lionel Conacher found time to dabble in. She went to the 1928 Olympic at Amsterdam as a sprinter and weight thrower—not a common combination. Incidentally she competed in the half-mile. She scored points here and there and wound up by racing a great leg on the Canadian relay team that won.

Bobby was the second best sprinter on the Dominion team—Myrtle Cook was the best—and when the No. 1 dasher was disqualified in the 100 metres final for false starts, Bobby almost won the race anyway. They called Betty Robinson of United States first, but there was considerable howling over the judges' decision.

They used to say Miss Rosenfeld was the only woman hockey player who shot the puck like a man. No softball player in the major Toronto leagues could hit harder or play the infield as well. Percy Page probably wouldn't have minded having Bobby on his Edmonton Grads basketball team.

This field boss of the Canadian Empire team will be able to talk business to every one of the youthful stars in her charge this summer. She knows their business from hard experience.

Eastenders Clinch Berth by Taking 12-4 Decision Over Knox.

Mark Street Bantams cinched a playoff berth in the Church Softball League last night by taking a 12-4 decision over Knox. Score Third Win Over Mexico to Enter the European Rounds.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 1 (AP)—A straight-set victory by the United States champion doubles tennis team of George Lott and Lester Stoefen, yesterday ended whatever faint hope the Mexican Davis Cup team had to win the North American zone series.

With Wednesday's two singles victories, the United States triumph yesterday gave the team a three-to-nothing lead which not even the highly improbable sweep of the two remaining singles matches Saturday by the Mexicans can overcome.

The score of yesterday's win for Lott and Sotefen over Dr. Ricardo Tapio and Eduardo Mestre, Jr., was 6—4, 6—4, 6—4.

Manush Going Up

Heinie Manush did most of the hitting for the Big Six yesterday and regained second place in the standing when Joe Medwick failed to get a blow in five attempts and slid down to fourth, an eight-point drop. Manush connected four times in six trips to the plate, sending his average up 10 points to .393. Billy Knickerbocker hit twice in five tries for a one-point gain, while Sam Leslie dropped three, hitting one out of four. The other Big Six members were idle.

TITLE FIGHT SUFFERS BECAUSE OF ROSS-McLARNIN AFTERMATH

Rumors Certain Lighter Pair Will be Rematched Later on in Summer.

"COMISH" TAKES HAND.

(By Edward J. Neil, Associated Press Sports Writer).

NEW YORK, June 1.—Out of the shadows thrown by the glare of the Ross-McLarnin battle to-day crept Primo Carnera's 15-round heavyweight title defence against Max Baer in the Garden Bowl on Long Island, June 14.

It staggered out into the spotlight chiefly through denial of rumors that Madison Square Garden was contemplating a postponement to give the faithful time to recover from excitement of crowning Ross double champion, time to mull over the second great match on the open air schedule.

"They'll fight on the 14th, absolutely, unless something beyond the Garden's control, such as injury or illness to either Baer or Carnera, interferes," said Col. John R. Kilpatrick, forcefully. "There's been something positively sinister in the way these rumors have been travelling around that this match will be put over. I can't deny them too strongly."

Even with a heavyweight championship duel, as colorful as any since the Dempsey Tunney battles, only 14 days away, the arguments over Ross' acquisition of the welterweight throne, something no lightweight champion ever before accomplished, still filled the air.

Chief among these is the question whether Ross will also defend his welterweight championship every time he fights in defence of the leightweight title. The experts are about evenly divided. The New York Athletic Commission will decide formally to-day.

Brown Favors Separate Bouts

The commissions' attitude was indicated yesterday when Bill Brown, one of the three members and the best informed on ring matters, said in his opinion Ross could defend the 135-pound title without risking the welterweight championship.

"He won them in two separate fights," Brown said.

"It doesn't seem fair to force him to make the lightweight limit of 135 pounds for one match and have the welterweight crowd riding on the result, too, when he might be an entirely different fighter if he were allowed to train and weigh in closer to the 147-pound limit."

While there was nothing definite to announce, it seemed certain that McLarnin and Ross would be rematched here for a return bout late in the summer. Now that he has recovered somewhat from his disappointment, the Vancouver belter is eager for another chance at Ross. Barney is equally willing to accommodate him, for the Irishman appears the only rival on the horizon capable of helping him draw a banner gate.

Meanwhile Baer and Carnera are training almost in obscurity, the challenger at Asbury Park, the champion at Pompton Lakes, both in New Jersey. So far, Carnera has made the best impression. Baer's sparring partners have been cuffing him about freely in his workouts.

FIRST APPEARANCE BELLEVILLE SQUAD

Nats Strengthened Up Considerably Since Last Year—Petes Shaping Up.

Belleville Nationals play the Petes at three o'clock to-morrow (Saturday) afternoon in Stevenson Park, it being the first appearance of the Belleville squad here this year. The Nats have been strengthened up considerably since last season, their 4-4 tie in Kingston Wednesday proving this, and they should give the Petes a real old-time battle. Local fans, who will likely be out again in large numbers, will recall the stirring finishes put up in the past by the Quinte team here, the locals losing more games through ninth-inning rallies to Belleville than any other club.

While Manager Mills has four good twirlers in Jack (Chief) Williams, Casey, Utronki and Ernie Smith, the former is likely to get the call to pitch here. The one-time star southpaw, re-instated this year, appears to be making a real comeback and might hand the Petes a bad licking with his sharp curves and change of pace. Knotty Lee is uncertain yet as to his starting hurler, though Spook Scriver appears the likeliest bet at present. Both teams will be at full strength and anxious for a win, so fans can be sure of another memorable Belleville-Petes' ball game.

CRICKET

The following cricket players have been selected to play against Trinity College Schools at Port Hope tomorrow and are asked to meet at the Paragon rooms at one o'clock: Mawhood, Williams, Gore, Hamilton, Dyer, Lawrence, Binks, Langhorne, Lorne, Stuart, Mitchell, and reserve Coleman.

Nearly two-thirds of the new automobiles registered in Australia this year were from America.

A Grim Rumor

CHICAGO June 1— (AP) — Rumors spread yesterday that Charlie Grimm was about to be deposed as manager of Chicago Cubs in favor of Jack Lelivelt of the Wrigley-owned Los Angeles team, but President William Walker denied them.

"So far as I know, the matter of changing managers in mid-season hasn't been discussed," the Cub President said.

TIREMEN TAKE 12-5 VICTORY

Tom Montgomery Gives Sparkling Five-hit Performance on Johnston Mound.

BRINTONS BEATEN.

Behind five-hit pitching by Long Tom Montgomery, Johnston's Tires played sparkling ball to grab a 12-5 decision over Brintons in last night's City Softball League game at Central. A large crowd saw the Tiremen put the blast on Ross Currie for eight runs in the third inning, after getting one in the second, and continue to pepper away at Bill Abbott to shove two more home in the fifth and one in the sixth. Monty allowed four hits and five runs the first two innings but blanked the opposition the rest of the way with one hit in the sixth in a fine display of twirling. He fanned one and walked four.

Abbott struck out three, walked four and alowed six hits. Currie struck out one, gave one walk but was nicked for nine blows, seven of them in the third. The losers kicked in with five costly errors and allowed several scratchy hits, besides showing some poor baserunning. Deck's team, on the other hand, fielded smartly and took advantage of all the breaks. Allen, McQuade and Dorrington all showed neat catches and Ellis made several nifty putouts on first.

Montgomery led the clouters with a homer, double and single in five. Allen got a triple and single, McQuade and Anderson two singles each. Crary a double and single and Dorrington a two-bagger. For Brintons, Currie hit a homer in the second with one on. The only other hitters were Smith, Bradshaw, Weir and Williamson. Three double-plays marked the snappy contest, an Abbott-to-Smith-to-Dugan one for Brintons, and a Dorrington-to-Ellis-to-Dorrington and a Dorrington-to-Stanger-to-Ellis pair for Johnston's Tires.

The Teams

Brintons—H. Dormer, 3b; Smith, 1b; Bradshaw 2b; Weir, lf; Dallin, cf; Williamson, rf; Currie, p; Abbott, p; Dugan, c; G. Dormer, ss; Sturgeon, pinch-hitter.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse, Soccer Softball, Bowling, etc.

By C.J.P.

General expressions of satisfaction were heard around town yesterday from baseball officers and fans over Oshawa's application for entry into the C.O.B.L. as a full-time team. And it is felt that this entry will be brought about at Sunday's meeting. There was some doubt expressed as to Oshawa's strength in view of their losing streak in the Ulster League this season, but we don't think there will be anything to worry about there. Oshawa officers explain that they have never been able to get all their players out together either for a practise or a game yet, but with the rush season at General Motors over in about two weeks, all players will be available again. The Dukes showed fans here they were good last year, and when at full strength, they should be even better this season. Don't worry about them—they may bowl us over regularly this summer!

• • • • • • •

Winter-time arguments over the Oshawa baseball question are forgotten now, and sportsmanship on all sides should mark this latest development. Personal feelings have no place when sports are at stake, and we hope everything is ironed out at the Belleville meeting Sunday. We like the Motor City sportswriter's attitude: "It's quite a right-about-face for the Oshawa Club to make but there is a saying that 'a wise man changeth his mind, a fool never.' The Oshawa officers believed they were right when they fought for a release from the C.O.B.L. but now it is financially impossible for them to play in the Ulster loop and as the C.O.B.L. teams are going to be sportsmen and not take advantage of the Dukes' situation, everything should be plain sailing within a week."

• • • • • • •

Jack (Chief) Williams, the star Indian veteran southpaw, is the probable choice to pitch for Belleville here tomorrow, and if the fork-side disher-up of curves has any of his old cunning left, fans can look for a mansized battle. At any rate, there is enough of the old rivalry between the Nats and Petes to ensure a real ball game. If Jack pitches, Peeny Mills will catch. We don't know for sure who will hurl for the locals, though Spook Scriver is the logical choiceif his arm is okay. Should be another big crowd on deck.

• • • • • • •

Tonight at six bells down at the Exhibition Grounds, Cogs and Fosters meet in an E.P.L. ball game. It will be the first showing this year of Cogs, last year's champs. Meantime, Fosters have shaken up and strengthened their lineup and hope to break in withe win. Manager Darcy Davis has a powerful looking squad on paper, and while they don't pay off on paper, still Cogs will hustle its rivals plenty in this summer's race. Look at the pitching staff: Kitchen, Vannest, Masterson and Billingsley; with Rogers and Cadd catchers. The infield and outfield are pretty much the same as last year. We haven't heard who will pitch, but it ought to be a pretty fair contest.

• • • • • • •

Fred Waghorne, Sr., past president of the O.A.L.A., was down this way from Toronto yesterday doing missionary work in lacrosse. He dropped in to see us and told us he felt that following tonight's lacrosse meeting in Cobourg, he expected we'd have a good intermedite league of Cobourg, Port Hope, Millbrook and Peterborough. He said Norwood was not interested and Campbellford was unlikely. As for Belleville, he thought they would be put in a group with Madoc, Tweed and Trenton. Mr. Waghorne would like also to get the Inter-County Loop to affiliate.

• • • • • • •

"Don't think lacrosse isn't coming back," he told us. "Why, do you know that in Toronto and Western Ontario now there are more young lacrosse players than the O.A.L.A. had in its palmiest days? These youngsters will revive the game in a few more years. Yes, we have all kinds of players, but the game isn't attracting the crowds it should." Mr. Waghorne recalled refereeing an O.H.A. playoff game of the Petes in Parry Sound back around 1906. He said it was one of the hardest he ever handled, the northren lumberjacks throwing everything at the Petes when they were licking the home team. "Peterborough had a mighty sweet hockey team that time," th oldtimer who looks only about forty, added.

• • • • • • •

With the colorful Bert Deck holding down the third-base coaching box and rending the evening quiet with his hair-rasing yells, the battling Johnston's Tires handed Brintons a 12-5 whipping at Central last p.m. 'Twas a good softball game for the winners, as the lanky Tom Montgomery was pitching five-hit ball, while his teammates were pounding two pitchers and turning in some lovely fielding. Abbott, who replaced Currie on the Brinton mound, went better, but the Rubber Lads weren't relinquishing their lead. Lefty Sturgeon's players didn't look so hot in any department. The game was featured by two homers and three double-plays.

• • • • • • •

According to the Belleville paper, the Nats had it over Kingston like a tent Wednesday but a couple of bad decisions by the umps and a couple of tough breaks held them to a tie. Well, the box score showed them ahead on everything but runs—but it's' runs that count. The Quinte scribe points out that the Nats and Peaks are now tied for the leadership and adds: "Saturday the locals travel to Peterborough where they meet the tough Petes' nine and where the Peay players tell us they were lucky to win last Saturday." Sure, they were lucky—getting all the breaks in one big inning. Still, they came through with some nice timely hitting to help their luck along. Looks like a mighty well-balanced C.O.B.L. this summer.

• • • • • • •

Grab-bag: Lot of local sports around tonight if the rain holds off; they're listed elsewhere under "Daily Sports Menu" . . . . If Scriver isn't pitching here tomorrow, Archie Deyell will likely be selected (we admit we're only guessing) . . . . At Sunday's meeting in Belleville, C.O.B.L. officers, two delegates from each club and the sportswriters will be the only ones present—the usual audience will have to stay outside . . . . Fashion-Crafts will be shaken up for their game tonight with C.G.E. at Central, and maybe a player or two from Omemee will be present.

Coach Duffy Lewis Faces Heroic Task In Taking Poundage Off Pair Of Braves

Both admit weighing 236 pounds, but their mates insist that these pachyderms are talking about their batting averages and not the figures the scale records when they step on it. Manager Bill McKechnie also has grave doubts.

"If you guys weigh only 295, he demanded, "what makes you, Hogan, so slow going down to first; and you, Elliott, such a mess when you try to cover bunts? I'll bet both of you are close to 300, but you're not going to be for long."

The manager ordered them to report to Coach Duffy Lewis every night after the players and spectators have left the park. Duffy, who takes great pride in the fact that he weighs no more now than when he was a member of the Red Sox' great Hooper-Speaker-Lewis outfield combination, knows just what is required to take down the poundage.

He stations Elliott in left field and Hogan in right, in order to avoid a frightful collision, and then makes them chase the baffling drives he whales out. Now and then the chasers catch one of them, but Lewis keeps them pounding until darkness sets in.

PERILS OF PAULINE STAR COMEDY

To-night will see the commencement of the Friday night tournaments. These little series are just about the best games we have throughout the season, in as much as all the boys are mixed with entirely new bunch every Friday evening.

All the news about these tournaments is printed on page 3 of the schedule book and we are asking you to look up this page and see what it is all about.

However, don't forget to be out on time—this is very important—and bring 25c along with you—that is important, also, and if you will just co-operate a little, it will make things more pleasant and easier for everybody.

The ladies' section of the club played their frist schedule games yesterday. We were not tipped off that there was going to be opening ceremonies and therefore we are not in a position to pass on what took place.

However, we do know that the ladies have a greatly increased membership this year and are looking forward to a most enjoyable season.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

READ THIS FIRST

John Tait, stepson of wealthy Lady Tait, is engaged to marry Lucy Burnham, a widow. This is resented by Alysia Naylor, John's cousin, who has been making her home with her sister, Etta, and her brother, Claud, at Tait's abode in England. Alysia tries to spoil the romance by using her own fiance, Reggie Claridge, to win Mrs. Burnham's affections. Lady Tait sees her stepson talking to a beautiful young girl, whom she dislikes at once, in a hotel lobby at Vichy where she and her new friend, Mrs. Burnham, are stopping. The girl, revealed as Gillian Dundas who has been blackmailing Tait through a past indiscretion, talks of Tait to a strange-looking young man in another hotel. Meanwhile Claridge arrives from England, introduces himself to Lady Tait, and is immediately taken by Miss Dundas' beauty. The hotel manager arranges a sitting with a Moroccan sorcerer for Lady Tait, John Tait, Mrs. Burnham, Claridge, Claud Naylor, Miss Dundas, and a Mrs. de Souza who employs Gillian as a companion. Suddenly the Arab vanishes. Claridge writes Alysia that he has failed in his quest to separate her Cousin John and Lucy Burnham. Claud Naylor and some of the others return to London from Vichy. At an art gallery young Naylor runs into Lady Ida Westmacott who at one time was engaged to John Tait. Back at Lady Tait's, the latter shows John a letter from her dead son's wife, an Italian woman she despises, demanding money for her son, Lady Tait's young grandson.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 12

Tait himself had long ago offered to provide a good school for the boy, but the ex-Mrs. Hudson Tait had refused his offer with scorn. John thought that she had an idea that any taking of money from him might invalidate her claims to the fortune of her dead husband's parents.

"Nothing this woman can say—or do—nothing any of her family can say or do, would make me alter my determination not to let them have one penny. One farthing! On the contrary." And this time there were glints of fire in her quick brown eyes. "On the contrary! It would be only by the grace of heaven that I could give one of them a crust of bread if they were starving. They ruined Hudson. Would you ask me to help her, if she had held my son down under water till he was drowned? Well, that is what she did. Held him down in the mud till he died of mud. Strangled by her, and mud. Oh, don't talk of it! Give me that letter!" Her fingers quivered as she took it back. "Let her threaten! Let them do what they like! Let them! and mind you, John, no yielding on your part. You've a soft streak in you that you must fight. That something in you I can't quite count on. You must stand firm in this." Her eyes, inexorable, held his. He only sighed and shook his head stubbornly.

"If you feel any scruples about accepting my wedding present and ultimately the rest of your father's money ——" Her forboding tone finished the sentence.

What could John do? He was dependent on his stepmother for his luxuries at any rate, and the very fact that Lucy was so well off made him the more grateful for the promised gift which, added to his other means, would enable him to be independent of his wife.

He hastily expressed these feelings. She looked at him shrewdly, and yet kindly. She was very fond of John.

"Something's bothering you. You haven't been yourself at all lately, except by an effort."

"I haven't felt quite up to the mark," he replied hastily. She looked at him a second longer, her head on one side, playing with her beautiful rings. Privately she was certain that it was connected with money troubles. Whether rightly or wrongly, however, truthfully or not. John always suggested a certain indifference to money. He gambled in a mild way, she knew, and suspected deeper plunges.

He did not come to lunch, excusing himself over the telephone to Lucy in a voice and manner that suggested that something was worrying him. But he gave no explanation of his absence, not even when he arrived at three to drive her to a furniture sale in Hanover Square that she had wanted to see. He was late, and apologized with a rather forced humor for it. He was all on edge, she thought, so was his driving. Finally, when he tried to turn into a "no entry" street, he turned to his companion.

"Do you mind if we do the rest on foot, darling? My road sense seems to've deserted me for the time being."

Lucy was thankful to get out. It had not been John's fault just now that there had not been a rather nasty squeeze between two buses. She hinted as much, half laughing up at him. Suddenly her smile left her. She made a half clutch at his arm with a little gasp.

Tait followed the direction of her eyes and stood still too. Facing them on the pavement was a news vendor's stand. And directly in front of them was the announcement on one of the boards: "Lord Mills found shot. Arrest of valet."

In a second Tait had bought two copies of the paper, motioned to a taxi, and helped Mrs. Burnham in, jumping in after her.

"Where to? Oh—the park. Just keep on driving round and round till I say when." After which he handed his companion one paper and unfolded the other. Each read how Lord Mills had been found shot through the head in his study, a revolver beside him. And that the police had arrested his valet on suspicion of having had a hand in the death.

"How terrible!" Lucy was the first to speak. Her eyes had been as much on her companion as on the paper. "He was a fellow chairman or director or something with you on some of your tea companies, wasn't he?" He nodded. His face was gray. She slid one of her soft little hands into his. He had a delightful hand, had Tait. The sort of hand that belongs to a good friend. Firm and warm.

"I didn't know he was such a friend of yours," she said sympathetically.

"He wasn't. But that valet of his saved my life at Paschendaele. I got him the place because he can't take a situation where there are stairs. To've arrested good old Brown for Mills' murder! Darling, I must leave you." He stopped the taxi. "Sorry, but I have some things to see to at once, that can't be put off."

"I'll go back to Great Cumberland place. But you'll come to dinner without fail," she insisted.

He shook his head. "I'm afraid I can't. I've several very important things to do. Besides—I should be no fit company for you today."

"But your cousins will be there!" Her voice was aghast.

"Well?" He contrived to smile. "They like you immensely. They must."

She smiled back a little wistfully. "I'd like to think so. But I am stealing you from them. Taking their home from them they might say."

"They'd die before they thought, let alone said, such a thing!" he retorted with affectionate exaggeration.

She touched his hand again.

"I've met them at lunch, you know. Alysia dislikes me officially as it were. Oh, yes, she does. But Etta dislikes me personally."

"Nonsense, darling!" he said firmly, but for once rather as though his mind were elsewhere, and when she had driven off, his face might have been set on a swivel, so swiftly did it alter, so dark and brooding did it become in an instant.

Claud Naylor, too, was reading the same piece of news in the same edition of an evening paper. He, too, was much shocked. Mills was a typical bon viveur when he had last seen him. Somehow murder—and it was obviously a question of that since the valet was detained—seemed very far from that good-natured, easy-going man of the world.

Mills had apparently been quite alone in the flat except for his valet. Lady Mills and his daughters were in Yorkshire. She belonged to the county, a member of a very rich and powerful old family. Mills was but a self-made man's son, and was credited with having long ago run through the fortune that gave his father his peerage. The paper was very guarded as to exactly what had happened in that lonely study in that empty flat.

John would be shocked too, Claud reflected. Mills was on some of his companies, besides being an acquaintance. The news would startle Miss Dundas as well, if, or rather when, she should learn of it. For some one had told him only yesterday of having seen Mills about a year ago, driving about a good deal around Trouville with a remarkably lovely girl in his car. A few adroit questions, and the girl had certainly sounded unmistakably Gillian Dundas, added to the fact that she had been to Trouville. Claud hoped grimly that the news of Mills' death would shock Miss Dundas very much indeed. The idea of her allowing a man old enough to be her father to drive her about alone in his car. Claud nearly stepped off the curb into a passing bus at the thought—general thought, of course. Applicable to any girl and any elderly man. His indignation, he assured himself carefully, was strictly impersonal.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, June 2

An eventful, progressive and prosperous day is heralded by the planets both by lunar and mutual aspect. Success in employment, support and friendly recognition of honors from superiors and those of power and high standing. These may be approached with confidence of promotion, favors or financial increase. There may be something in the way of surprise attending this. Personal relations will also furnish their need of pleasure and progress. Be circumspect, however, in such affiliations.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a very happy, prosperous and progressive year, with employers and those in authority ready to recognise merit and outstanding talent in a substantial manner. Surprises in this relation are in store with new contracts as well as honors. Private affairs also thrive, affording much pleasure, but herein be discreet, as overindulgence may arise.

A child born on this day should have diversified talents, fitting it for important place in life, with success with superiors and those in power and prestige. It may have much social activity, especially in a romantic way.

Following usual custom the Circulation Department at the Public Library will close at 8.30 p.m. instead of at 9 p.m. during the months of June, July, and August, while the reading room will remain open until 9.30 p.m. every night throughout the week. HIGH CHAIR AND CRADLE

A family with many children and no means to buy surplus articles would like to have a high chair and a cradle. If these are available, please telephone Miss McCarthy at The Examiner, and we will call.

We would like to thank all the kind and generous people who have from time to time answered these requests for various articles. If they could see the joy that their donations bring to many a home where even an old cast-off article is welcomed with genuine gratitude, they would be glad, we are sure.

PRESENTATION IS MADE

Oscar H. Gledhill, having severed his connection with the Dominion Woollens and Worsteds Limited, Auburn Mills, was presented last evening at his residence, 558 Gilmour street, with a beautiful brief case from the mill foremen and office staffs, as a token of appreciation for his efforts expended during his two years with the concern as mill superintendent.

Frank Irons made the presentation on behalf of the foremen, after which John Condon expressed the good wishes of the office staffs.

Mr. Gledhill was greatly surprised and expressed his appreciation for the thoughtfulness, co-operation and fellowship, extended to him by his colleagues, during his term of office.

HANDLING MONEY ORDERS

Sub post office No. 3 located at M. E. Finn's drug store at 647 George street, is now authorized to handle money orders in addition to all other kinds of postal business, according to Postmaster Charles Lacheur.

"The sub post office now has the facilities for giving the public in the north end of the city complete postal service," the postmaster stated.

BAND REUNION

All arrangements have been completed at the Salvation Army Temple for the re-union to-morrow and Sunday of the members of the famous Peterborough Temple Band which, in 1914, represented Canada at the Salvation Army Congress at London, England. It was learned to-day that 28 members of that band of 20 years ago will attend the re-union. Special services will mark the occasion at the Temple and a reunion dinner will be held to-morrow evening. In the afternoon the bandsmen will parade to Little Lake cemetery to decorate the grave of the only member of the band of 1914 who has died in the intervening years.

BAND CONCERTS OPEN

The band of the Peterborough Rangers will open the outdoor concert season in Victoria Park on Sunday night and a fine program has been arranged for the occasion. The band is in good shape for this series of concerts and citizens will be glad to know that they can look forward to some splendid programs. For many years the concerts given by this organization have been a treat to music lovers, first as the 57th Regiment band and more recently as the Rangers' band.

HOLDING HIS OWN

The condition of James Moore, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Moore, who was critically injured by the bursting of a gasoline drum on the Fourth Line of Smith Township yesterday morning, was, late this afternoon, reported at Nicholls Hospital to be "holding his own."

"We cannot say much more, except that the boy is holding his own, and is conscious at times", The Examiner was informed on inquiry at the hospital.

Campaign Notes

A largely attended Liberal meeting was held last night at Ennismore. The candidate, James Hawthone, was assisted by R. R. Hall, K.C., and J. J. Duffus. This week's itinerary in the country will be wound up by Mr. Hawthorne's engagement at Bridgenorth. He will be accompanied by John Dewart and Alex. Elliott. The chairman at last night's meeting was Daniel Holland of Ennismore.

C.C.F. meetings in the country will be held in the open-air, and it is understood that some, if not all, the local meetings will also avoid public halls. The dates announced from Rev. J. A. Sutherland's committee rooms to-day are as follows:

Norwood and Havelock, June 2.
Warsaw, Monday, June 4.
Bridgenorth, June 5.
Peterborough, Wednesday, June 6, with Frank Regan, K.C., of Toronto, assisting the candidate.
Stewart's Hall, Otonabee, June 8
Peterborough, Saturday, June 9, Dr. L. Teskey, Toronto, assisting the candidate.
Peterborough and Keene, Monday, June 11, E. J. Garland, M.P. of Bow River.
Bow River, Sask., assisting the candidate.
May's School North Monaghan, Tuesday, June 12.
Ennismore, June 13.
Indian River and Lang, June 14.
Lakefield, Friday, June 15. Dr. Lorna Cotton, Toronto, assisting the candidate.
Douro, Saturday, June 16.
Peterborough, June 18, the wind up.

Rev. Mr. Sutherland, M.A., has planned an exceedingly busy two weeks. He will speak at all his meetings, and has experienced and capable assistants in the persons of E. J. Garland, Frank Regan, and Dr. Lorna Cotton. Some local speakers are joining him in his tour. It was stated, among them being William Leader, and Sam S. Staples of Cavan Township, former member of the Legislature from Durham County supporting the Drury Government.

The revision of the voters' lists next Monday and Tuesday affords the last opportunity to electors of making sure that their names appear in the list. And if your name is not on the list when you go to vote on election day, you simply cannot be given a ballot. Every elector should see that her or his name is on the list. The hours during which the revising officers will sit are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

For District Number 1, comprising the polling sub-divisions from 1 to 10, S. T. Medd will preside in the County Council Chamber at the Court House

For District Number 2, sub-divisions 11 to 15, Magistrate Langley will preside in the City Council Chamber.

For District Number 3, sub-divisions 19 to 24, Judge Ruddy will preside in his chambers at the Court House.

For District Number 4, sub-divisions 25 to 33, George J. Sherry will preside in the main Court Room at the Court House.

For District Number 5, sub-divisions 34 to 39, V. J. McEderry will preside in the Community Hall, Ashburnham.

The residents of the south side of Parnell Street are located in polling sub-division Number 3, and as their names were inadvertently omitted from the enumerator's list, they should apply for registration to S. T. Medd in the County Council Chamber next Monday or Tuesday.

Information regarding polling sub-divisions and places, and the listing of names can usually be obtained conveniently at the Conservative Committee Rooms in the Denne Block, Water Street, at the Liberal Committee Rooms on Charlotte Street, or at the C.C.F. headquarters on Charlotte Street.

Hon. Leopold Macaulay is speaking at Havelock to-night at a big meeting in the interests of Peterborough's Conservative candidate, T. P. Lancaster.

Mayor H. N. Carr, of Campbellford, Liberal candidate in Northumberland, is invading Cobourg to-night. He will be assisted by Arthur G. Slaght, K.C., Toronto, Ross Gray, M.P., West Lambton, and W. A. Fraser, M.P., Northumberland.

WOMAN ACQUITTED.

MONTREAL, June 1 (C.P.).—Mrs. Wilfrid Beauparlant, charged with complicity in the murder of Joseph Donat Langlois, East Hereford, Que., was acquitted by a jury in the Court of King's Bench here to-day.

After Mr. Charles A. Wilson had summed up the case, the jury retired for 17 minutes before bringing in the acquittal verdict.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

There was little change in prices on the Montreal produce and dairy market yesterday.

Fresh No. 1 butter was quoted at 21½c per lb. for carlots or less, receipts being 8 boxes. Small lots to the retail trade were 22 to 23c for solids and 23 to 24c for prints.

Ontario colored cheese remained unchanged at 9¾ to 10c per lb. Arrivals were 469 cases.

Graded shipments of eggs in carlots or less were 20½ to 21c a dozen for A-large, 19½ to 20c for A-medium, 18½ to 19c for B, and 17 to 17½c for C. Receipts totalled 2,036 cases.

Potatoes remained steady at 80 to 85c for New Brunswick Mountains per 80-pound bag and 75 to 80c for Quebecs per 80-pound bag; Prince Edward Island Mountains being 95 cents to $1 for a 90-pound bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 1. — Wheat prices bounded up to new high levels for the current bull movement on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday. Net gains were 5⅝c to 5½c, due almost entirely to continued drought in Western Canada and the United States, and reports of grasshopper damage.

Price fluctuations were the widest seen on the Winnipeg market since the early days of the present crop year. Top levels were 6c higher, and were only slightly shaded at the close, where May wheat rested at 81½c July at 82⅝c, and October at 84½c to 84⅝c.

Offerings came chiefly from big holders, while Eastern and Southern interests combined with farmers and locals in supplying the bulk of the buying power.

Volume of trade was not large, but the bidding was so active and aggressive that prices advanced without difficulty. At Chicago, prices made the maximum permissible gain of 5c.

Demand for cash grains was again slow. Liberal buying found the coarse grains pit bare of offerings, and all these commodities were boosted to higher levels.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Driven wildly upward almost 7 cents above prices touched early, wheat late yesterday far overtopped $1 a bushel, ignoring every influence but record-breaking crop damage.

Official forecasts indicated no relief at hand for widespread drought and intense heat that Government spokesmen said were curtailing wheat prospects 1,000,000 bushels every 24 hours. Only the Federal trade limit, restricting average advances to 5 cents a bushel net in any single day, put a stop for the time being to the excited buying witnessed.

It was the first occasions since last August that wheat in Chicago had reached $1, and the impetus given by crop damage reports rushed all other cereals as well as wheat to heights unequalled heretofore this season. Hope for small grain in many parts of the nation had been abandoned, trade reports said.

Wheat closed buoyant at the day's apex, 4¾c to 5¼c above Tuesday's finish, corn 3⅝c up, oats 2¾c to 3¼c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 30c.

ANGLICANS PLAN FOR SYNOD WORK

Meeting of General Body to Take up Confirmation of Pensions Scheme.

MONTREAL, June 1.—(CP). — Preparations are being made for the 13th triennial meeting of the Anglican General Synod which will take place here Sept. 12 to 21. Many of the 26 bishops of the Upper House as well as about 130 clerical members of the Lower House of the General Synod are expected here for the meeting.

The first service will be held in Christ Church Cathedral where the sermon will be preached by the Rt. Rev. W. T. Manning, Bishop of New York. In the evening Bishop Ralph Sherman, of Calgary, will address the meeting.

The last General Synod was held in Toronto. Arising out of legislation passed at the Toronto meeting, one of the most important matters to come before the synod this year will be confirmation of the canon law regarding the general pension schemes. This has to do with a central pension fund which will be common to all dioceses of the church through the Dominion when accepted by all the synods.

Presiding over the Upper House, which is composed of bishops only, will be Archbishop C. D. Worrell, Halifax, primate of the Anglican Church in Canada. In the Lower House the sessions will open with Archdeacon F. C. C. Heathcote, of Vancouver, in the chair.

Memories of Old 'Scotch Village' 80 Years Ago

ROGERS STREET A ROUGH BYPATH HOMES HEATED ONLY BY HEARTHS AND BREAD WAS BAKED OUTDOORS

Recollections of Early Ashburnham by Annie Gow, 93 in September.

OLD SCENES ARE GONE.

Memories of the Ashburnham of eighty-five years ago when as a little, straggling, independent hamlet it was locally known as the Scotch village, when Rogers Street was but a rough bypath along which women carried baskets of clothes to wash in the river upstream when the rains failed and their cisterns ran dry,—memories almost photographic in their clarity of detail, were recalled the other day by Miss Annie Gow, one of the last survivors of the children born in Peterborough's pioneer days, now living with her niece, Mrs. David Payne of R.R. 2, Lakefield.

"All the world's a stage" where poor players strut and fret their time, and then are heard no more. And every little corner of it, too, silently witnesses the same slow change of scene, and the same gradual effacement of the families to whom it once was home and the home's pleasant neighborhood.

Such a happy locality was the corner of Hunter and Rogers Street to Annie Gow, eighty and eighty-five years ago, the place of her home and hearth and girlhood playground.

Be 93 This Fall.

Miss Gow was born on September 22, 1841, in the first house that was built at the southeast corner of Hunter and Rogers streets. She will be ninety-three years old this Fall.

Time has treated her kindly. Her mental faculties are sound and keen, her hearing, sight and speech are surprisingly clear, and she walks

SIMON'S WORK IS APPROVED

Members of Cabinet in Complete Accord With Attitude Taken.

DISARMAMENT CORPSE.

LONDON, June 2 (A.P.).—Members of the Cabinet were reported to-day to be in complete agreement with the attitude taken by Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, at the disarmament conference in Geneva.

He returned here to-day and it was indicated he will not go back to the world parley until, as authoritative quarters stated, "it is determined whether it is possible to revive the corpse" of disarmament.

The disarmament sub-committee of the Cabinet will meet Monday to take up the matter of the conference and to hear whatever word may be forthcoming from Captain Anthony Eden, Lord Privy Seal, who remains in Geneva.

Mercury in India Up to 120 Degrees

LONDON, June 2 (CP-Havas)—The streets of Calcutta, India, were reported by The Daily Herald here to-day as littered with dead cats, birds and squirrels, as the result of a heat wave which sent the mercury soaring to 115 and 120 degrees fahrenheit.

It was added that at Aliganj, United Provinces, where 150,000 pilgrims gathered for a religious ceremony, there were numerous deaths from heat.

EXPLOSION SETS OIL FIELD AFIRE CAUSING DEATHS

Flames Race Through Rich California Oil District.

A NUMBER PERISH.

Streamers of Flaming Gasoline Shoot Out From Blazing Derricks.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif., June 2.—(AP)—Damage estimated at $1,000,000 dollars by fire officials was caused in the old section of the Huntington Beach oil field early today when a gasoline blast ignited a string of oil derricks, endangering the lives of about 25 persons, most of whom had been accounted for.

Earlier reports that one death had been verified by police proved erroneous.

After burning for nearly three hours the fire was brought under control by firemen who expressed the opinion it would be miraculous if all in the district had escaped. At that time police said the heat from the ruins still was so intense that a thorough check would have to be delayed.

Authorities said the blast occurred when a loading hose, carrying high test gasoline and leading to a truck, broke, spraying the volatile fuel into a fire box.

The explosion which shook this city like an earthquake occurred about midnight and was believed to have originated in a gasoline refinery plant.

With the speed of lightning, a large area was enveloped in flames.

Five Derricks Ablaze

Streamers of flaming gasoline shot out in all directions for a quarter of a mile and almost in the twinkling of the eye, five oil derricks went up in smoke, 12 storage tanks were destroyed, several other derricks were ignited and property valued at thousands of dollars was endangered.

Firemen mobilized at the scene estimated that about $1,000,000 worth of property had been laid in ruins.

The fire burned so fiercely that no one dared enter the doomed district and it was impossible to learn readily the fate of those who lived in the area.

All Apparatus Sent

All available fire apparatus of the city was concentrated at the scene and 75 volunteers pitched in to aid the harrassed fire-fighters.

The flames were confined to the older section of the field, north of the city limits. The newer development stretches toward the ocean and embraces one of the richest potential oil centers in California. Recently it has been the center of much litigation, the state charging that producers, by slanting or whipstocking wells, have drained the rich state tidelands. Royalty settlements were effected in many instances and suits brought in others

BIG MEN NEEDED TO LEAD PARTIES MACAULAY SAYS

Minister of Highways Addresses Successful Tory Rally at Havelock.

HEPBURN WITHOUT POLICY

Lancaster Outlines His Stand on Beer and Wine Issue.

HAVELOCK, June 2 (Staff Reporter)—Discussing the respective leaders of the two major parties and the policies they represent, the Honorable Leopold Macaulay, Minister of Highways, addressing a large meeting here last evening in support of T. P. Lancaster spoke of Mitchell Hepburn, Liberal leader in Ontario as having indulged in a campaign of reckless recrimination during the past three or four years.

"These are days," the speaker stated, "when big men are needed and frankly I do not feel that Mitch Hepburn would measure up to the needs of the day."

Declaring that Premier George S. Henry, "possesses bull-dogged courage and honesty to meet the need of the day," Mr. Macaulay pointed out that behind Mr. Henry lay a long trail of experience, activity and skill which the Conservative party and the province needed.

The meeting held in the recently decorated Town Hall was presided over by Reeve Richard Sanderson. Isaac Barlow, 84-year-old president of Peterborough County Conservative Association was also present on the platform, along with Mr. Lancaster the candidate; E. J. Leeson, president of the Havelock Young Conservative Association; S. S. Joyce, described as "an old warrior of political battles" and J. F. Strickland, K.C., former M.P.P. in the old city riding.

Mr. Lancaster spoke briefly of the highway construction work carried on in this district, and of his efforts in connection with the designation of Highway 7 through

Soliciting Votes To Prove Costly

SANDWICH, June 2.—(C.P.) Getting two votes for Premier Henry is going to cost Mayor J. Reaume some money.

While visiting friends in East York he persuaded them that they should support the Premier. Then he drove them to an election headquarters to make sure their names would get on the vote list.

To-day he got a summons for speeding.

"And in the Premier's own riding," he commented as he looked at the formal document.

HYDRO BLAMED FOR INCREASE COST OF POWER

Utilities Commission Charged $20,000 More Now Than in 1929.

TOO MUCH POWER BOUGHT.

Successful Liberal Rally is Held in Bridgenorth.

The increase of 12 per cent in the cost of power to Peterborough consumers was a result of the mismanagement of the Hydro-Electric enterprise in this province under the successive administrations of the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson and the Hon. George S. Henry, John Dewart stated at a Liberal meeting at Bridgenorth last night in the interest of James Hawthorne.

Mr. Dewart took pains to point out that the announcement recently published by the Peterborough Utilities Commission, and conveyed by circular letter to the consumers of power, was not to be charged to the local Commission whose cost of operations in the distribution of power which they bought from the Hydro had been reduced during the past year.

The only item over which the Utilities Commission had control, Mr. Dewart declared, was the cost of distribution. They bought electric power on a wholesale basis from the Hydro, but they were now being charged $20,000 more than in 1929 by the Hydro-Electric Commission.

"The Hydro has been forced to increase their charges to such municipalities in the Central Ontario system," Mr. Dewart continued, "because the Commission during and since the days of the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson has purchased large blocks of power, which they have got to pay for, but for which they have not sufficient consumers. That is the simple reason, together with the high cost of the administration of Hydro affairs, as illustrated by the big salaries paid to the Hon. J. R. Cooke and the other members of the Commission, and also to Mr. Gaby and other executives."

Mr. Dewart mentioned the blocks of power bought from Quebec interests: $125,000 from the Maclaren

ONTARIO CROPS BADLY IN NEED OF HEAVY RAIN

Cooler Weather is Likely, But Weatherman Promises No Rain.

WIDESPREAD ANXIETY.

Thermometer Hits All Time High of 90 Degrees for This Time of Year.

Unless rain comes during the week-end, the Spring grain crops throughout Peterborough county and the surrounding district will be seriously, if not irreparably, set back farmers told The Examiner this morning.

After the loss of the fall wheat crop, about eighty per cent of which was winter killed by the severe frosts, and the extensive damage to the clover meadows, the present menace of drought is causing widespread anxiety among farmers who have been putting in more Spring grain seed in an effort to recover some of the loss suffered by the subzero weather of a few months ago.

This apprehension among the people of the townships is shared generally by residents of the towns and cities, who realize their dependence upon the output and the financial success of the farm.

Spring was Late

Growth was retarded by the late Spring. Rain has been so far insufficient for the season's needs, and unless there is an abundant fall over Sunday the outlook for anything like a satisfactory harvest will be heavily dimmed.

Rain is needed at once, according to the opinions received from farmers this morning. It may be too late even next week.

The los sthat may be suffered by continued dry weather during the next few weeks is beyond calculation, farmers agreed, although it is

Want Church Named Exemption Reason

BROCKVILLE, Ont., June 2 (C.P.) — The Bay of Quinte Conference, United Church of Canada, to-day approved the recommendation of the Belleville Presbytery that the general council of the church be asked to take steps to secure from the Dominion Government recognition that membership in the United Church shall be considered just and sufficient reason to exempt from military service any who may so desire it on conscientious grounds.

Stumbles Into Car Dies In Hospital

WINDSOR, Ont., June 2 (C.P.)—George Hood, who, according to the police reports, stumbled into the side of an auto driven by Leon Richards on Thursday evening died in hospital to-day.

In a statement to police, Richards reports seeing Hood about to step into the street from the sidewalk, and blew his horn. Hood stepped back, but as the auto passed him stumbled forward, striking the side of the car and cutting his head.

Coroner Crassweller has not yet decided about an inquest.

The Weather

TORONTO.—Pressure is high over Northwestern Ontario, Hudson Bay and the Maritime Provinces, with a shallow trough of low covering the upper St. Lawrence Valley and Lower Lake region. A moderate disturbance centred over Southeastern Saskatchewan and moving north-eastward has caused moderate to heavy rains in many parts of the western provinces, while in Eastern Canada the weather has been generally fair, and with the exception of Southwestern Ontario where it is decidedly warm, temperatures have been generally below normal over the Dominion.

Georgian Bay—Fair and cool to-day and Sunday; moderate north and north-east winds.

Northern Ontario—Fair and cool to-day and Sunday.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valley — Mostly fair and warm; probably a few scattered thunderstorms; cooler to-night. Sunday—Northerly winds, fair and cool.

Be No Reduction In Ontario Relief

TORONTO, June 2 (CP)—There will be no reduction of relief in Ontario as a result of the Dominion Government's decision to discontinue contributions to direct relief on June, 15, Premier George Henry said to-day.

DIONNE BABIES ARE BEING GIVEN BEST ATTENTION

One is Not Making as Good Progress as Four Other Sisters.

ADMINISTER RUM.

All Five Are in Danger of Death Every Minute Doctor Declares.

CORBELL, Ont., June 2 (CP) — One of the Dionne quintuplets, the little girl infant, who weighs about 1 pound 12 ounces, is not making as good progress as her four sisters, Dr. A. R. Dafoe, their physician, said this afternoon.

Several times the child has turned blue because of her lack of vitality and rum has been administered to revive her. This happened in the cases of the other children as well, but they show more strength, the physician said.

Must Gain Strength

He emphasized that all five infants are in danger of death every minute. Everything is being done for them that can be done, but medical science can only go so far in keeping them alive. The amount of strength they gain from the milk now being given them will decide whether they live or die, he declared.

Home Threatened

There was more excitement than usual in the farm home last night when the pipes of a stove became overheated and there was danger for a short time of fire. The children were in the next room and were never in danger, members of the family said.

Ovila Dionne, the quintuplets' father, is reported dissatisfied with the terms of the contract he signed Thursday with Chicago interests. He has received offers now which he considers better, but the promoters with whom he signed are stated to be firmly holding him to his contract.

Many newspaper people and sensation seekers swarmed around the Dionne home to-day, but none were allowed to enter.

Dr. Dafoe has allowed several pictures to be taken of the children from a distance, but now all photographers are barred. The nurses taking care of the infants find no trouble, the doctor states, in barring anyone they do not wish to enter.

Motorists Must Stop Before Right Turn

Motorists making right hand turns at the busier intersections in downtown Peterborough will henceforh be required to come to a full stop before executing the turn, Police Chief Newhall warned to-day. With no stop required, the privilege has been flagrantly abused and the rights of pedestrians crossing the streets ignored, he stated.

Pedestrians crossing an intersection in accord with the traffic signals have the right of way and no motorist has the right of running through them in any part of the city, the chief said. Members of the police force have been given street orders to repor any motorists failing to stop, accepting no excuses.

ITALY TO FIGHT FOR SELF ALONE IN NEXT COMBAT

Mussolini Tells War Veterans Does Not Pay to Help Allies.

PROMISES BROKEN.

Warns Hearers They Must Themselves to Accept Hard Times.

ROME, June 2 (A.P.).—Premier Mussolini told 10,000 war volunteers to-day that Italy will fight her next war for herself alone and not on behalf of any other nations pretending to be her allies.

"Italy's volunteers, if war is necessary, will shed their blood only for Italy," declared Il Duce. "Experience has shown them that it does not pay to help by land and sea the people who pretend to be our allies."

Mussolini was interpreted as referring to France and her Great War ally, Serbia, now part of Yugoslavia. France, he has said, did not give Italy the colonial territory promised in the London treaty of 1915, following which Italy entered the war.

The volunteers gave the Premier a tremendous affirmative shout when he asked them whether they were ready to march as in 1914 and 1915.

Ready To Fight.

They shouted "Yes" again when he asked:

"Do you feel that to-morrow, if it is necessary to fight, that victory will embrace our flag?"

Il Duce said Italy would have continued her foreign policy of collaboration with all peoples but it is necessary not mathematically certain and was not a fact, it was necessary to be prepared.

Speaking of the economic situation, Mussolini said:

"Not only are the times hard, but I also want to add that you must not hope for easier times to come.

"We must accept hard times. This is why the people are offering today a superb spectacle of discipline."

Il Duce here was reaffirming the principle of his speech delivered last Saturday in the Chamber of

PLOT FAILED.

SACRAMENTO, Calif., June 2.—(AP).—Police groped to-day for the motive in an apparent plot to wipe out an entire family with poisoned chewing gum.

Placed Gum in Purse.

Mrs. McKenzie found the chewing gum Tuesday night when she returned home from work. Only the fact that she placed it in her purse before other members of the household found it prevented a tragedy, police believed.

Similar "samples" were found at three other houses in the same block, and although they have not been analyzed, authorities believed they were not poisoned.

Captain of Police Ed. M. Brown broadcast a warning to all Sacramentans not to chew any gum samples.

Rain Soaks Parched Fields in Western Canada

SMILES CREASE FARMERS' FACES AS HOPE ARISES

Million Dollar Shower Falls Over Sun-baked Southern Area.

GRASSHOPPERS SPREAD.

Some Farmers Quit Their Farms as Bugs Lay Waste to Fields.

WINNIPEG, June 2 (C.P.).—Farmers of Western Canada looked out over rain-soaked fields today as moisture-laden clouds broke a 13-day drought and poured a million-dollar rainfall over sun-baked grain shoots. The precipitation extended clear across the southern wheat belt from Manitoba to the Western Alberta borderline.

Smiles creased the faces of drought-stricken farmers harrassed by grasshoppers and weather conditions unprecedented for half a century as heavy, black clouds tumbled life-giving showers in a steady, soaking stream.

Starting west of Calgary shortly after midnight with a brief display of lightning, the precipitation moved slowly eastward. From Maple Creek and Shaunavon came reports of moisture. Further east through the Weyburn, Mossbank, Wilcox and Moose Jaw areas came similar reports. Four hours later it had reached Winnipeg and extended into the eastern portion of Manitoba.

General Downpour

The general downpour brought hope it was not yet too late to take up the task of germination of tender wheat shoots that have lain dormant in sun-baked dust for more than two weeks. And as thunder-heads poured down the welcome moisture an army of poison-bait mixers relaxed their vigil to let nature take a hand in checking an aerial horde of grasshoppers.

The grasshoppers menace developed through a sequence of hot, dry years. Millions of them escaped poison-bait traps spread over grain fields, gardens and even trees. Grain shoots disappeared as fast as they showed above the ground. Along a 30-mile front in Southern Alberta farmers capitulated, quit their farm and turned to more fruitful areas in the north.

The general arid picture invaded the Winnipeg grain pit where price advances for the week amounted to 7¼ cents. Trading sessions were the most active since the bull sessions of 12 months ago.

BREACH WIDENS AT ARMS PARLEY

Sir John Simon's Position Grows Less Secure in England.

BRITAIN FIRM.

(By George Hambleton, C.P. Staff Writer.)

GENEVA, June 2 (C.P. Cable).—While bridge-builders were busy today in efforts to span the wide gulfs yawning between delegations to the adjourned World Disarmament Conferences, the difference in principle between the French and British remained wide as ever.

The sudden swing of the Conference towards security as the essential preliminary to an arms limitation agreement, marked in the speeches at yesterday's session, promises to intensify the difficulties of Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary.

Public opinion in England has been keenly critical of Sir John's handling of foreign affairs for some months. Difficulties in the British Cabinet have been a recurring theme of political commentators. The imminence of his retirement has been forecast often.

No Commitments.

Britain will stand for no further European political commitments than she has already assumed, notably in the Locarno Pact, and British handling therefore of the growing security demands in the Conference will be an extremely delicate matter.

Among physicians prescribing remedies for the conference's delicate condition were representatives of Turkey and the five European nations which took no part in the Great War. In each of the new plans presented before yesterday's session sponsors stressed the principle of security.

Three days ago Sir John told the Conference: "It would be an entirely new departure to transform a conference called for the purpose of disarmament into a conference for devising plans for security on the basis that no disarmament at all is possible."

This and other considerations led to hope something might come of the plan proposed by Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Switzerland, and Spain.

Their scheme was propounded by Richard Sandler of Sweden In the main its aims to bridge the gap between those who consider security the all-important factor and those who want more disarmament.

DESTRUCTION TO LIFT PRICES SCORED BY QUINTE CONVENTION

Describe Such Action Regarding Food as Barbarous and Brutal.

HERE NEXT YEAR.

BROCKVILLE, June 2 (C.P.). — Slaughter of cattle and hogs and destruction of food in an effort to boost prices brought stern criticism yesterday from the Evangelism and Social Service Committee of the Bay of Quinte Conference, United Church of Canada.

The committee's report, presented at the conference's annual meeting yesterday, described such activities as "barbarous, inhuman and brutal." The report attacked "an economy which throws coffee and oranges into the sea while famishing sons of man go without and that slaughters thousands of cattle and hogs prematurely for no better reason than to raise prices."

All exploiters, whether engaged in the "nefarious and indiscriminate" manufacture of armaments or in the "equally dastardly" manufacture of war scares or found indulging in industrial greed should be arraigned "at the bar of public opinion and before the moral judgment of mankind," the report added.

The committee also regretted the Ontario Government's intention of extending sales of beer and wine. The beer and wine legislation was described as "a political manoeuvre

PREDICT BETTER TOURIST SEASON

American Inquiries to Bureau Shows Increased Interest.

BETTER ADVERTISING.

TORONTO, June 2 (CP)—Tourists are taking to the highway, the rails and the deck-chair again. The road-map season came in with June, and unless all signs fail, the provinces are in for their biggest job of hospitality in years.

From every area across Canada comes word the itinerant schoolma'am is writing for her boarding-house guide in almost record numbers; the salmon-fancier would like to know about local waters often enough to assure some furious stream-whipping; the plain sightseer wants his cross-country chart with a new enthusiasm.

The fact is enquiries at tourist offices in the various provinces are up an average of about 25 per cent over this date last year. Indications are that legal liquor in the United States will have little effect on thet friendly invasion of Americans. The lure of the highway is stronger than the highball.

Nova Scotia First

Nova Scotia was first to report an increase in requests for information. Says A. J. Campbell, director of the department at Halifax: "Outlook for the 1934 tourist trade has improved during the past few weeks; inlividual inquirles are pouring in on this bureau.

New Brunswick joins the sister province in welcoming her "summer people" mostly from neighboring New England States, and the usual stream of automobiles is set to flow over the red clay roads of green Prince Edward Island.

Quebec's provincial tourist bureau has never had to handle so many requests for information as it has this summer. An average of 100 letters come in every day. This year especially, Quebec expects numerous voyagers from Europe — Gaspe celebrates the landing of Jacques Cartier, that early visitor who had a wide road to travel and never a signpost at the crossroads.

Increased advertising is given as the reason for a rise in prospective visitors to Ontario. At least as many inquiries from the United Sates as in other years are coming in to the office of C. C. Hele, director of tourists for the province.

QUIET BIRTHDAY DESIRE OF KING

Later he will sit at the head of the table at a family luncheon attended by the Prince of Wales and the Duke and Duchess of York. In the afternoon the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, daughters of the Duke and Duchess of York, and the two sons of the Princess Royal, Princes George Henry Hubert and Gerald David, will have tea with the King as a special treat.

MRS. A. BAYES 92 YEARS OLD

Campbellford Pioneer Observes Birthday on Friday —Born in Cramahe June 1, 1842.

HAS FINE MEMORY.

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, June 2 — Hearty and well, and carrying her advanced years with kindly good cheer, one of Campbellford's oldest residents, Mrs. A. Byers, yesterday observed her ninety-second birthday, which was marked by the good wishes and congratulations of her family and many friends as she spent the day quietly in her Victoria street home.

A charming personality, with an intellect that is keen and bright, this pioneer of the district, who came to Campbellford to live the year the present town was incorporated as a village, and watched its growth over the years with interest, is keenly alive to what goes on around her and takes more than an ordinary interest in the general affairs of the community. Having a very retentive memory, she is a charming companion to converse with, and takes a delight in reviewing her life and experiences in the community.

Born in Cramahe Township on June 1, 1842, Artie, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. P. Merrills, Mrs. Bayes spent her younger days in that district. In 1867 she married Soloman Bayes, a stone mason by trade, and in 1884 came with her family to Campbellford to reside. Mr. Bayes died in 1907, and in the town there are many residences which are monuments to his memory, including that of the family home, which he built himself and which has been the home of the Bayes' family for the past forty-seven years.

Three sons and two daughters comprise the family, all of whom are living. These are Frank, Harry and Herman all of Manitoba; Mrs. Leonard Carr of Percy Township, and Miss Blanche at home.

Agricultural Notes Of Interest To Farmers In District

CORN CROPS

Agricultural Representative, A. D. Runions states that after visiting and talking to farmers from all parts of Peterborough County as well as discussing the matter with office callers, he is convinced that there will be at least 50 per cent increase in the corn acreage this year.

The Dairymen and the farmer who owns a silo will naturally increase his acreage to make sure that he will have a silo full of ensilage.

However, the chief increase in acreage will be with the farmer who ordinarily grows only a very limited quantity of corn and who in former years depended chiefly upon hay as a fodder crop.

While there has been a big acreage sown to annual hay crops like Oats and Peas, millets, soy beans, etc. it is only natural to expect a shortage of roughage and as a result farmers are turning to corn, the "hot weather crop."

Farmers who ordinarily grow corn will have a regular place for it in their rotation but the man who is growing it chiefly as an emergency crop, in many cases may have to plant it on an old meadow or some field that has been broken up and may not be in too high fertility.

Corn has always been known as a fairly heavy feeder and in order to insure a reasonably good croo, it might be wise to use some commercial fertilizer on the crop.

While it is impossible to give a general fertilizer recommendation that will suit all types of soils it is generally considered that from 300 to 350 lbs. of either a 3-12-10 a 2-12-6 or a 3-10-5 should be used.

The first two would be most suitable on an average type of soil in fair condition while the 3-10-5 or even 4-8-10 might be advisable if the soil was in rather poor condition. On the other hand on soils where clover has been grown and manures used quite freely an application of about 300 lbs. of 0-12-10 should give satisfactory results.

In choosing varieties of corn to use, the purpose of the crop should be kept in mind. For grain purposes of course, the Flint varieties viz: Longfellow, Salzer's North Dakota, King Phillip, and Compton's Early should be used and planted as early as possible.

For a general crop either silage or fodder the Dents will usually give a higher yield and are usually recommended. While there are several well known varieties the following are usually considered the most satisfactory: White Cap Yellow Dent, Improved Leaming, Wisconsin No. 7, Golden Glow and Bailey.

The two chief points to remember in securing a heavy stand of crop are 1. Thorough cultivation and preparation of the seed bed before planting. Frequent but shallow cultivation as long as it is possible to drive the horses and cultivator through the field. As stated before Corn thrives best on a hot dry season and all indications point to 1934 being a "bumper corn year."

Matt. 26:39—"He went forward a little, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying: My Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass away from me; nevertheless, not as I will, but as thou wilt."

Sabbath Message For The Shut-Ins

Written for The Examiner by the Ministers of the City.

By REV. S. H. HILL, B.D., Minister of Hastings Presbyterian Church.

Text: Jeremiah, ch. 50, v. 6. "My people hath been lost sheep, they have forgotten their resting place."

THESE words may be applied to our present-day life. It is apparent that many of our people have forgotten the place of quietness and rest. Our minds and bodies grow weary to-day as the minds and bodies of others in the past; but where they found peace and rest we seem to find none.

Our daily life seems to be one long continuous round of duties. We carry great burdens and perform various tasks. The cares of the whole world seem to be ours. In such a life and in such a world as ours we require some place where we can find rest and peace of mind and heart. If our religion is not a mere profession, it points us to one who has said, "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

God is to His people just what they need. He is the unchanging God, the Rock of Ages. In spite of the ever-changing world around us, with its perplexing problems and difficulties, the fact of God's eternal presence brings comfort to all believers. We have depended too much upon ourselves and our circumstances in recent years. We eagerly look forward to what we expect to accomplish. Many people seek fortune, fame, happiness, popularity and pleasure, and imagine that in all or in some of these things they should find rest and peace. But, alas, like the shining pool which appears to the thirsty travellers in the desert, these things have only lured them on to a greater weariness of body and mind. How swiftly our youth, our business, our position, and health, home and friends pass away from us, and the shining gleam in the desert only leaves a touch of bitterness in our souls. The hurried activities of the world know no rest. Men and women are found dropping out of the procession as broken machinery along the roadside, broken in body and mind; the price paid for the world's gain. Yet there remaineth a rest to the people of God. Life is only secure when it rests in God. It is surely satisfying to know that whatever storms may come and whatever cross we may have to carry, there is a calmness and a rest which is found in the quiet place with God.

The calm assurance of the Father's love which enabled the weary Jesus to fall asleep upon the stormy sea has been lost and should be regained.

At this resting place we receive strength of purpose and the courage of mind to go on. Jesus Christ was very busy during His earthly ministry. He put into a few months a tremendous amount of teaching and healing. There were days He had not time to eat, so great were the crowds that gathered around Him. Those who sought healing and advice, who felt the burden of life too heavy, came that He might give them peace and rest. Yet in the midst of all His activity we find Him going at night to the quiet places where He might refresh His soul in communion with the Father. Yes, the resting place of God is a place of refreshment to mind and heart; a place where life takes on a new aspect, and from whence we can go again to face with courage and grace a world of pain and suffering, of poverty and disappointment. If we would keep in love with life we must not forget the resting place: the secret of the presence of God.

In this place where we find God near to us, we also learn that changeless love is at the heart of the universe; the love which never fails, from which nothing can separate us. That eternal love is with all God's people. The comfortor whom Christ promised has been given to reveal that love and give us the needed power to live as Christian people to tarry longer in the secret of God's presence, and to say with the psalmist, "Return unto thy rest, O my soul." This resting place does not mean only the return to a state of quiet submission, nor does it mean some kind of intellectual defeatism, such as "God knows best, leave it to Him"; sometimes that is the most provoking thing you can say to a weary burdened soul grown desperate in the hour of affliction. The return to this resting place means the return to the sure things that stand fixed. Now you want to know what those sure things are, just what you can depend upon in the midst of instability. Well, there are just two things which in my humble opinion are final, and they are my place of rest. The first is the eternal sovereignty of God. "Our Father who art in heaven." He knows my way and the storms that oppose me. God still remains. The second is that Jesus Christ has revealed the heart of God, as one who is a loving Saviour. He said to those who were tired and burdened, "Come, take my yoke and learn of me, for my yoke is easy and my burden is light." If you have neglected or forgotten this resting place, where the clamor and distress of the world is relieved, go to-day and spend a little time with Him who can give you rest.

"I heard the voice of Jesus say,
Come unto Me and rest.
Lay down, thou weary one, lay down
Thy head upon My breast.
I came to Jesus as I was,
Weary and worn and sad.
I found in Him a resting place,
And He has made me glad."

FOR thousands of years the secret schools for the teaching of the Sacred Mysteries have been in existence. Whether in Egypt, where the first school or brotherhood was founded by Amenhotep IV., or in Greece, India or Palestine, they have continuously functioned in the ceaseless enquiry into the two-fold mystery of man and the universe.

Continuously in Holy Writ do we find references to the "wisdom of the Egyptians" and in the Three Wise Men who sought the infant Jesus we have not three isolated individuals, but three high initiates or masters representative of the occult schools. It is also very obvious to those who know that St. Paul was an initiate of no mean degree, the references are unmistakable.

So down through the ages the hidden wisdom has filtered, now open, now underground. Forced often by political and other considerations to lie hidden, often persecuted by those in authority at times when it was a crime to even think, it has yet survived.

When the intolerance and superstition of the age forbade alike, any deviation from the orthodox or any research into natural science, many of the brethren in the Middle Ages took the cloak of the alchemist, for not all the alchemists were charlatans in any way; but like all the studies of the brotherhood, even their alchemy was twofold. Outwardly, the alchemists sought the secret that modern science is only now beginning to recognize as possible, the secret of the transmutation of base elements into gold. Inwardly, the transmutation became the transmutation of the lower elements of man into the gold of the Man Perfected. The search for the "Philosopher's Stone" became the finding of the Christ. The occult powers and forces within the microcosin of man were symbolized under such terms as the "Green Lion," the "Red Dragon," etc., etc. So that protected by the avarice of kings they were thus left free to prosecute their researches, and under the disguise of the jargon of their chemical craft spread the knowledge of the light. So even to this day has the ancient wisdom, born in the depths of the ages comes, and the way is open as it always has been, for those few who no longer satisfied with mere appearances, desire to know the eternal realities. — Frater IX., Rosicrucian Order, San Jose, Calif.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Religious and Social Questions Answered
By DR. WYLIE CLARK

Is it true that faith acts as a drug and unfits us to meet the real activities of the world?—A. B. T.

It depends on how our faith takes hold of us. If we get the right conception of Christian faith it is the very opposite of a drug. It is a tonic which fits us with moral strength and courage and sends us forth to undertake whatever duties may be apportioned to us. It will even go beyond that and send us seeking for opportunities where we may be useful in helping others in setting things right.

Dr. Wylie Clark

Those possessed of this kind of faith will not rest in ease nor quietly wait for things to happen, but will be in the forefront gladly accepting and willingly carrying out what seems to be the necessary things for the good of the Kingdom.

Is there any answer to the astronomer who says he has searched the heavens with a powerful telescope and found no trace of God?—F. A.

If he expected to find God as a visible being sitting on some star or planet or strolling in the realms of space or wandering through the milky way then he did not see Him.

If he were looking for some Power House from which wires ran to all parts of the universe and distributed power to produce all the movements of the different bodies, then he did not locate it.

God, Himself, is not seen either by a telescope nor a microscope, but these instruments enable us to see things which demand a God to explain them.

The fact is, that the God of the Bible is the best explanation of the universe and of human life and He is a God who cannot be seen with the physical eye even if it be aided by a powerful glass.

Will you explain the phrase: "Betting one's life on Jesus Christ?"—T. R. S.

Although we may not be gamblers yet I suppose we understand what it means to bet all our money on one horse or to invest it in one kind of stock—all the money we have is risked on one thing and our belief in that thing makes us take the venture.

Betting one's life on Jesus Christ means that Jesus Christ is believed to be a winner in the field of religion and we place our lives upon Him. We give Him all—body, mind and soul, and we expect Him to win for us. That is exactly what He does for us. He wins salvation, power to live, the grace of the Spirit and eternal life.

The horse may lose the race, the investment may fall, but Jesus Christ never fails.

This is a good world as far as it goes, but it is scarcely the place where one would like to spend eternity. In other words God can provide a much better place for the purpose. The same is true about the conditions. They are satisfactory for the length of our physical lives, but they would fall short if they had to be used forever.

Again, this world would soon be over-populated and even if we did not require food we would become so huddled together that there would neither be freedom nor comfort.

I think we can be quite sure that the arrangement we find in the New Testament is to be preferred before any plan that could be proposed by the wisest of us.

Can you tell me if the word, "rinsed" is used in the Bible and if it is, whereabouts?

Yes, it is used three times: Leviticus 6:28, Leviticus 15:11 and 12.

The Big Bad Wolf

THE late Rev. Samuel Chadwick once appeared before a magistrate to oppose the granting of a liquor license. Counsel for the brewers took the line that the court was no place for a minister. "I should advise the reverend gentleman," he said, "to go and look after his sheep." Chadwick replied: "The sheep are all right. I'm here to look after the wolf."—New Zealand Methodist Times.

The strangest of emotions
This great gift of love.

Jesus in the Shadow of the Cross

Scripture—Matthew 26:1-75.

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

While Judas was seeking opportunity to betray Jesus to his enemies, Mary of Bethany came to the home where Jesus was guest and anointed his feet with precious ointment. Jesus commended her act of devotion regarding it as her preparation of his body for burial.

After eating the Passover Supper with his disciples Jesus instituted the Lord's Supper as a symbol of his love and a seal of his unbroken presence and power to his disciples through the ages. This Holy Communion was to prepare him for his cross and them for theirs.

In the upper room after supper Jesus prayed for his disciples and comforted them. Later in the Garden of Gethsemane he prayed three times in tears and bloody sweat, "Father let this cup pass from me, nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt."

Had his disciples, especially Peter, heeded his advice to "watch and pray that they enter not into temptation" they would not have failed and denied him as they did. If we want to "stand up for Jesus" we must learn to kneel with him. (GOLDEN TEXT—Matt. 26:39)

BRITISH TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS.

An analysis of fatal road accidents in the United Kingdom last year as compiled by the British Ministry of Transport shows that in the main traffic accidents in the Old Country are due to the same causes as those that take place in our own province.

Some 6,942 accidents, involving the death of 7,134 cases, have been studied by the Ministry, and it has been found to be the case, as in Ontario, that the majority of these accidents occurred under the most favorable weather and road conditions, the conclusion being inevitable that most drivers are inclined to grow careless or resort to speeding when the circumstances are most conducive to safety.

Again, as is usually found here, the majority of the British drivers involved in fatal accidents could be described as experienced.

The most frequent cause of accidents so far as drivers were concerned was shown to be excessive speed, which accounted for 685 fatal British accidents last year.

Other causes were failure to keep to the proper side of the road in 474 cases, apparently inattentive in 356, swerving in 339, skidding in 290 and cutting-in or overtaking in 252.

Very few fatal accidents occurred at times when traffic was very heavy.

Out of the 7,145 persons killed 3,157 were pedestrians, 1,324 were bicyclists and motorcyclists were in third place with a total of 1,308.

In this respect there was a wide difference between the British and Ontario records, most of the fatalities here involving drivers and passengers in motor vehicles.

NOT DOING TOO BADLY.

College graduates do not do so badly after all when they embark in business, industry or the professions, according to a survey recently made by the Decennial Reunion Committee of the 1924 class of Yale University.

A questionnaire sent out by the committee and returned by 326 class members revealed the fact that average earnings for last year amounted to $4,677 each.

About 29 per cent. of the class earned more than $5,000, and the average earnings of this group was $9,086.

The remaining 71 per cent. made an averge of $2,680.

It is interesting to learn that this particular group of college graduates — and they are probably typical of all the rest:—were rather badly hit by the stock market crash in 1929.

When that financial catastrophe eventuated the reports show that the Yale class of 1924 suffered an average loss in stocks and bonds of $34,247.

As to families the class had an average of 1.7 children per member, compared with a national rate of 1.34 children for the average man of 32 years of age.

These figures, particularly as regards the earnings of college graduates, are most interesting because they reveal that these men as a class get along better financially than most people seem to think.

Average earnings of $4,677 a year for the members of one graduating class indicate that the former college boys are doing quite nicely.

A SILLY ATTITUDE.

More than one person has been heard to remark, apropos of the present election, that he had not bothered to find out whether or not his name was on the voters' lists, and that he doubted whether or not he would take the trouble to vote if he was on the lists.

That is a silly as well as a harmful attitude.

Ontario has to choose a government on June 19th, an administration that will run the affairs of this province for the next five years.

The men elected two weeks from next Tuesday will be passing laws regulating you in many respects, your personal conduct, your recreation, your business.

That in itself should be sufficient to cause you to take some interest in the question of the personnel of the next Legislature.

That isn't all, of course, for these men will for the next five years be spending your money, deciding on how you shall be taxed, making you contribute to all kinds of expenditure, borrowing money on which you will have to pay interest for many years to come.

Surely every intelligent citizen will want to have something to say about the men who are to be entrusted with all that responsibility.

To leave the task of deciding that vital matter to others is to run the risk of inefficient and incapable government, and remember, you electors who say you do not know whether or not you will bother to lose your franchise, that you will not even have the right to complain if you get the wrong kind of government in this province for the next five years.

COMPULSION URGED BY FARMERS.

With Canada's marketing bill so much to the fore, it should be of considerable interest to study the situation in the United States where we find that the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, the agency launched by President Roosevelt to provide a "new deal" for the farmers, is being forced more and more to compel co-operative compliance.

In doing so, as the Business Week points out, the A.A.A. is trailing rather than leading farm sentiment.

In other words, the farmers themselves are asking that in the continuing of the production and marketing of agricultural products that direct compulsion rather than a spirit of co-operation should be relied upon to produce results.

It was the overwhelming favorable sentiment of the farmers which passed the Bankhead bill, making co-operation in the cotton adjustment program compulsory, and the Kerr bill to make tobacco production control compulsory, also has the support of most farmers.

Now the A.A.A. is sponsoring an amendment that would greatly expand its powers, for it is proposed to give it authority to prohibit processors and distributors from handling any agricultural commodity without a license issued upon such terms as the Secretary of Agriculture may deem necessary to carry out the purposes of the act.

It is also proposed to remove any doubt of the Government's power to impose quotas on the output of particular commodities when two-thirds of the producers favor coercion of a dissenting minority.

In short, the United States Congress is now being ask to confirm and extend rigid governmental control over the production and marketing of agricultural products.

ENTER "RAMIE," EXIT COTTON.

News comes through every few weeks of the new uses and discoveries of "ramie." California will this year harvest 40,000 acres. Russia has planted over 100,000 acres of ramie, a new substitute for cotton and linen and silk.

How senseless it is to capitalize anything but services and goods, has been demonstrated in the case of silk. Japan built a gigantic silk industry of from 300 to 400 million dollars a year, with United States as her big market. Along came rayon, manufactured out of wood fibre at one-quarter the cost, and upset the entire economy and finances of Japan. Japanese bankers fought rayon for twenty years; eventually it broke through.

The same thing happened with artificial pearls; also with Chilean nitrate.

Ramie, a long, fibrous nettle, can be grown anywhere from Panama to the Pole; it produces two or three crops a year in the South, probably one crop a year in Canada. It grows from 8 to 10 feet high and produces as much as 1,500 lbs. of fibre to the acre against cotton's average of about 200 lbs.

Of course, ramie will have to go through the same fight as rayon. But a fibre that can be grown and harvested and spun without a human hand, that makes cloth seven times as strong as wool, and 100 times as strong as cotton, is certain to displace cotton for most purposes, just as the cultivated apple and plum displaced the wild berry. And just as the motor displaced the oxcart.

What does this mean to the millions of acres of cotton-growing land in the world?

What does it mean to the millions of people who now live off the growing and manufacturing of cotton and wool and flax?

It is disconcerting and uncomfortable to be continually goaded into change, but what is man to do?

Civilization to-day is confronted with living in the past and closing its eyes to what invention and science and machinery have now made possible, or else adjusting itself socially, financially and politically to our new world of technology.—Vancouver Sun.

THOSE FIVE NEW BABIES.

If Mr. and Mrs. Ovila Dionne, parents of quintuplets, lived in Italy, Mussolini would bonus them. If they lived in Germany, Hitler would probably take them into his Cabinet. If they lived in the United States, the worst that could happen to them would be a vaudeville contract, or a job in the talkies.

In the circumstances, and we say this in all seriousness, the Government of Canada might very appropriately step forward with some practical gesture of its own. Our orators and statesmen are eternally telling us that what we need is population. Over a period of years we have spent millions in trying to get population. That being so, and seeing that this man and woman are a successful immigration policy all by themselves, doing more for population in one fell swoop than most of the rest of us do in a lifetime, and five times more than some others of us will ever do, what about it? Is all this talk about population just talk, or do we mean it?

There is, after all, something pathetic about this particular case. The young father, we are told, is "buying a farm" three miles away from any school house. It was hardly necessary for him to say that he is having difficulty in "making ends meet." With five small children living and five new ones suddenly thrust upon him, his belief as expressed to a Journal correspondent that "God will help us" is typical of the hardy pioneer and of his race. And so with the pitifully overburdened mother who waved cheerily to the reporter.

We just can't say offhand what the position is with respect to the Dominion supplementary estimates. We imagine, however, that nobody in or out of Parliament would object, and that tens of thousands would cheer, if Finance Minister Rhodes would get up some day this week and tell the House in his own graceful way that he was tabling a further supplementary estimate having to do with Mr. and Mrs. Ovila Dionne. After all, it is just that sort of a little gesture, something different or even droll, that makes life worth living, getting us away from the intolerable boredom of the commonplace.

Moreover, and this as much as anything else, we do want to hear publicly our two eminent bachelor-statesmen on Mr. and Mrs. Dionne.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Remember if your name is not on the list now Monday and Tuesday sittings of the revising officers offer the only remaining chance to make sure of a vote.

With 216 candidates already in the field for 90 seats, the safest bet is that there will be more defeated aspirants than victorious ones on the night of June 19th.

C.C.F. meetings in this riding are to be held for the most part in the open air. This is a tip for druggists to lay in an extra stock of mosquito "dope."

Mitchell F. Hepburn's private "fortune-teller" has informed him that he will win 67 seats in the coming election, but it is not likely the prediction will cause either the Conservatives or the C.C.F. to abandon the campaign.

Ernie Marks, the Government candidate against W. E. N. Sinclair, and one of the famous theatrical firm of Marks Brothers, should stress the idea that what the Legislature needs is more showmanship.

The Gulf Stream is reported to be off the course again. Many golfers will sympathize.—Brantford Expositor.

At one fell swoop, Eamon de Valera is chopping 16 clauses out of the constitution of the Irish Free State. The idea, we presume, is to make her the Irish Freer State.—St. Catharines Standard.

UPWARD TREND

To Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—In January, 1934, the delegates to the Convention of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association were given information regarding the trend of demand for electric service. It was noted at that time that there was evidence of a decided upward swing in the primary loads for industrial and general electrical consumption in the municipalities of Ontario.

It is gratifying to be able now to announce that the results of more recent months also show substantial increase. For primary power—that is, excluding power used for steam generation and similar purposes—the percentage increase of load that has been maintained from January to April, inclusive, of 1934 over the corresponding months of 1933, is approximately 16 per cent for all of the Commission's systems in Ontario.

Thes figures, relating as they do to priarmy power loads, are of special significance with respect to increases in load directly attributable to improved industrial conditions, as the power load is an indicator of industrial activity.

The increases of total load, including secondary power, for the months of January to April, inclusive, have been of the order of 39 per cent increase over the corresponding loads for the same months of 1933.

It is important to note that the total revenues have also increased by more than $1,800,000 in the first six months of the present fiscal year.

Hon. J. R. Cooke.

A Thought

PUNCTUALITY

A person who is punctual to the minute with everything he does practically doubles his time. Napoleon said that he beat the Austrians because they did not know the value of five minutes. "Every moment lost," he used to say, "gives an opportunity for misfortune."

NEWS OF OUR OWN VILLAGE

The foot soldiers' band is going to open the outdoor season with a nice selection of tunes in Victoria Park tomorrow nite, which reminds us that after 9 mos. or so of winter summer is really here.

Politics is bringing more visitors in to these parts these days than tourist advertising usually does. Tom Kennedy from Peel Co. and Leo Macaulay, 2 of Geo. Henry's cabinet, has been stumping for Perce Lancaster, and Doc McQuibban was down at Downeyville to say a word for the Grit party. Glad to see you, boys, say we.

Ferdy Mowry and his native sons orchestry, just a bunch of home town lads what has made good on the big time, has been dispensing the music at the Summer Gardens, just off Main St., last part of the week, and went over big, you scribe learns.

Campaign cigars aint put in their appearance as yet in these parts and even with 3 candidates in the field it looks like the neighbors will hafta keep on providing there own smokes.

Some of the folks in the village will hafta take a trip up to the Court House next week if they want a chance to vote for Jim or Perce or John S., June 19th. Remember, you can't vote if your name aint on the lists.

Our ball season opened here last Sat. and everything was lovely about the same except the score which was Kingston 9, Us 6. Our lads aint downhearted though and your scribe expects them to win plenty.

The Rotary Carnival is going to be held on the Market Square week after next and it looks like the affair is going to cause a lot more excitement in these parts than the election.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

YOU MUST LIVE WITH YOURSELF

Among all the hundreds of millions of people on this earth there is only one with whom you must always live, only one from whom you cannot ever get away—as long as you breathe, as long as you feel, as long as you think.

You can shut yourself away from all others, close doors, turn keys, be all alone.

Except for yourself.

You may dream a little and get away from yourself into intense effort, into passion or struggle, but always you must come back to yourself. Here is the one from whom you cannot flee....And since a man cannot escape from himself, he must so live that he will be able to endure this irrevocable companionship that is with him so soon after he is born and will last till he draws his last breath.

As far as we can tell, the animals do not think of themselves as we do.....It is true that they often live selflessly and sacrifice themselves for their young, or for their mates. But we have no evidence that they ever say to themselves: "This is I. I must do this. I must make this sacrifice. I must live up to a standard that other animals expect of me, that I myself expect of myself."....Emotions and impulses rise in the animal and the animal obeys them. That's about all we know of their hearts. It may be otherwise, but we cannot know.

But we do know about ourselves. We are our own Heroes and Villains, our own Performers and our own audience, Victim and Vanquished, Master and Servant, Slayer and Slain, Dreamer and Doer, Friend and Foe. We are coupled forever in torment and ecstasy, victory and defeat, joy and grief.

And because this link cannot be cut or melted or broken it must be accepted. Since we must live with ourselves we must respect that other fellow within us, we must even like him a little. When we are tried and tested, we must think ahead a little and remember that lasting companionship and say, "How must I act so that I may remain on good terms with myself, when I am alone, when there is no one to praise or defend my actions?"....And as you answer that question, so you determine your future peace of mind.

Foreign Affairs

(By H. W. L. MAHOOD)

THE UNITED STATES

(Chapter One)

More is needed to change society than a party program. Social conditions change no faster than people change. The big problem before the whole world is the transformation of the human element. The more ambitious the pattern of change the more difficult the task. As the needs heighten so heighten social perplexities.

The blue-print of an ambitious program, pointing radical social change is interesting, to say the least. Put down by the side of sinful wicked human nature the lustre pales.

American people have before them now and they will have until the election of 1937 a program of revolutionary social change. Every family in the nation is to be provided with annual earnings of $5,000. The bill will be introduced in the first session of Congress after the state elections of November, 1934. An appeal is made to all farmers, engineers, school teachers, and physicians. All who work or want to work, in overalls or white collars, are urged to get into the movement to change from poverty in the midst of plenty, to abundance for all.

The question arises immediataly is there really enough wealth in the country to permit every family $5,000 a year. There is. Two trained classes of men are qualified to answer the question. Skilled engineers and economists agree that an intelligent system of production and distribution would provide a job and ample earnings for every worker and farmer.

Another question is voiced. What are the sources of this wealth? They are labor power, and raw materials, and manufacturing machinery, and technical skill. These exist in great abundance in The United States. It has been shown that America has the resources. Why, then is not the income available now? The answer is sure to arouse some resentment. Some receive more than their share. Can any man honestly earn a million dollars a year? Can any man wisely spend a million dollars a year on himself and his family? Fault is not found with earning a million dollars a year. But with the how of the earning. Is the millionaire as eager to help the community with his wealth as he is to have it for himself?

Profit is the one concern of the riches-greedy man. Profits are largely determined by scarcity. Scarcity means higher prices. Higher prices mean greater profits. Put by the side of the present profit system, the policy of President Roosevelt, as he subsidizes scarcity by destroying pigs, and wheat, and cotton. The N.R.A. is curtailing the supply of factory goods. The more it curtails the higher the price, the workman and the farmer pay for all that they buy.

This movement sponsored by many leading Americans has for its objective the establishment of well defined Basic Laws.

1—Industrial Democracy and Social Ownership:

Section 1—All banks, railroads, mines, large factories, oil fields, forests, and public utilities shall be declared public property, paid for at a fair price in United States bonds, and shall be operated for the public welfare.

Section 2—Public corporations shall be organized to operate the above. They shall be directed by Boards composed of the democratically chosen representatives of (1) the manual workers, the technical executive, the clerical workers, and (3) and the consumers, or general public.

Section 3—The public corporations shall be operated for the purpose of providing (1) jobs at decent wages, and (2) an abundance of goods at reasonable prices. No individual shall receive from their operation any income other than wages, salary or a moderate bonus.

2—The Farmers Right to His Land.

Section 1—Occupancy and use shall constitute the sole title to land used in agriculture. The title may be held either by individual working farmers or by co-operative farms.

Section 2—All marketing and processing agencies such as stockyards, elevators, packing houses, dairies, canneries, gins and mills shall be declared public property, and shall be operated on the same basis as all other public corporations, except that farmers, through their democratically chosen representatives, shall be entitled to participate in their direction.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THE GRAND TRUNK RIFLES

On this date, in 1866 the Grand Trunk Rifles began their duties. Few people recall this remarkable combination of railwaymen and militiamen. The time was critical; the Fenians were in Canada, in the Niagara district; they were menacing the Eastern Townships frontier; if they could cut the line of the Grand Trunk railways the movements of militia would be hampered; and perhaps they might even capture the Victoria tubular bridge and so cut off Montreal. Practically all the able militia of the country had been called out. Something had to be done. So C. J. Brudges, then general manager of the G.T.R., secured permission from Ottawa to organize a militia regiment from among the company's men. Joseph Hickson (afterwards Sir Joseph, general manager), was the major of the Grand Trunk Rifles.

First organized at Montreal and specially guarding the great bridge across the St. Lawrence squads were soon formed all along the line and it was not long before every section had its company. I have heard tales from old railwaymen about the companies at Kingston, Brockville and Belleville and I know there was a company at Toronto; but how far west the organization went I do not know. There were many Fenian scares. In no case was the railway interferred with, but several suspicious looking individuals were arrested by sentries, turned in to the guard room and handed over to the civil authorities.

Just how long the Grand Trunk Rifles lasted is not stated in the memo I have before me. The last parade I can find any account of was when the G.T. Rifles took part in the funeral of Sir George E. Cartier at Montreal June 13, 1873. Then, I think such of its members as desired were absorbed into either the First Prince of Wales Rifles or the Sixth Fusiliers. Any additional information concerning this remarkabe regiment would be appreciated. If you have it in your family archives please send to me care of this paper.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, June 2 (A.P.). — After touching new lows for the year to date, leading stocks met mild support in the latter part of the brief session to-day and either reduced or cancelled their declines. The moderate recovery was not accompanied by any exceptional activity, however, and the close was irregular. Transfers approximated 450,000 shares.

STILL FLYING

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 2 (CP) —A year ago Clyde Nuckols was dragged from his wrecked aeroplane and the doctors told him he never could fly again. Now he is one of two pilots who gained the recommendation of the U.S. Weather Bureau for contracts which entail daily observation flights at an altitude of 17,000 feet.

BURNS TO DEATH

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 2.—(CP) The candle that Mrs. Mary Cavasino, 85, lighted beneath a crucifix at her home brought her death. The flame of the candle was too near a lace curtain. It blazed up. The fire spread to the woman's dress and she died of burns.

DROUGHT BREAK SENDS WHEAT PRICES DOWN

Mid-session Futures Off 3 to 3 1-8 Cents in Pre-holiday Liquidation.

MODERATE EXPORT.

WINNIPEG, June 2 (C.P.). — A definite break in the 13-day drought in Western Canada, together with liquidation prior to the June 3 holiday, brought tumbling prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day. At mid-session the futures were off 3 to 3⅛ cents.

July wheat sold at 78¾c and October at 80½c. Houses with southern connections were the best sellers in the active early session.

On the break, however, a moderate export business in Canadian wheat was worked, and as offerings dried up prices steadied at levels about 3 cents off ½ cent over the low points.

NEW YORK, June 2.—A market which holds up so well in face of steady volume of bearish news and in spite of cumulative evidence of trouble along many parts of the business front is not a dangerous market to be long on. When stocks are under distribution quotations are close, volume is high and it is easy to get out. On the other hand accumulation is almost always accompanied by a small volume of trading wide quotes and a thin market. We do not see how the market can do much on the up side in the near future, but at the same time we doubt that any reaction from here will extend far. In fact, it is possible that the market will do little or nothing until after Congress is out of the way.

Meanwhile inflationary forces are at work. These forces are attracting very little attention, but like Old Man River, they keep moving along. Such is usually the way in the early stages of money inflation. Faith in government is so deeply rooted that the rank and file can't believe money inflation will every take place in this country. They argues that record-breaking government expeditures are of an emergency nature, that the "bond trick" means nothing at all and that eventually everything will work out all right. The fact that the web is being spun more tightly day by day is completely escaping public's attention. Just as the prudent business man uses insurance, so the investor and speculator should employ common stocks of the mining and inventory type as an insurance again the ravages of money inflation. It is interesting to note that on actual gold basis the Dow Jones Indexes are now only about 16 points above the extreme bear market low.

Broker's Opinions

Frazier Jelke.—With Congress about to adjourn, with the government public works program gaining momentum, and with silent inflationary forces definitely at work, it is inconsistent to become too pessimistice at this time.

Clark Childs—We are now in a position from which the market could rally sharply.

Munds Windslow.—We think market completing formation of a base at a level where strong support seems logical and that an advance is imminent.

conference where he enjoyed the confidence of Lloyd George. Major Bassett stated that Canada's wartime premier was now the most illustrious living Canadian, enjoying the sunset of his life with his books and flowers in his home at Ottawa, and fishing camp north of Buckingham.

"Meighen followed Borden," he said "as a parliamentary debater or as a master of faultless English he had no equal and he had done great work in 1921 at the conference held in connection with the effort to renew the Anglo-Japanese alliance. Mackenzie King was the college professor in politics, the protege of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, reared in political traditions. Few men of political life had suffered harder knocks yet maintained a greater serenity of mind and less bitterness. Always popular with newspapermen he was sympathetic and kind. Mackenzie King has a united party behind him and seems certain of leadership for many years if his health remains good."

Major Bassett remarked that he first knew the present Prime Minister in 1911 when he arrived from Calgary. "He attracted attention by his rapid fire oratory and empire dreams. A devout student of the Bible, he neither smoked nor drank and was strong in his likes and dislikes. While rumour has it he may never face anothter election, my opinion is that he likes a battle too well to run away from it.

ARMS EMBARGO IN DIFFICULTIES

Hard to Frame Acceptable Formula on Arms Shipments to Belligerents.

NO DECISION REACHED.

GENEVA, June 2.—(C. P. Cable.) —The League of Nations Council to-day was encountering difficulties in its move for a collective embargo against shipments of arms to Paraguay and Bolivia, fighting in the Chaco boreal.

Its jurists spent a fruitless forenoon trying to frame a formula acceptable to all nations concerned, but they finally reported the question is political,and therefore they were unable to give any advice.

They made no decision on the Bolivian contention that an embargo is impossible now that Bolivia has asked the conflict be examined under Article 15 of the League covenant.

Indications were the league might merely recommend to each nation that is agreeable that it apply an individual embargo on the belligerent South American nations.

LITTLE LONG LAC CONTINUES UPWARD

Issue Hits $6 Mark for a Gain of About $1.50 This Week at Toronto.

TORONTO, June 2.— (C.P.) — Buying in the big gold shares was in better volume to-day and several of the cheaper issues that have been on the up grade of late, registered new gains on the mining section of the Toronto tock exchange.

Little Long Lac continued its advance to-day, hitting $6 for a gain of about $1.50 this week. San Antonio met with some profit-taking to-day but offerings met with a ready market and only a few cents were clipped off yesterday's heavy advance.

In the big gold group McIntyre was active and 50 cetns up at $45. Bralorne added 20 cents in good turnover and Dome gained 30 cents. Lake Shore and Teck Hughes were unchanged and Wright Hargreaves was off about 10 cents and Hollinger unchanged.

Morgenthau told reporters that smuggling on the Canadian border had so declined that 50 men had been taken off the border patrol in the Detroit area.

TORONTO LIST RETAINS GAINS

Brazilian Continues Slow Decline, But Other Interlisted Issues Are Up.

NICKEL 40 HIGHER.

TORONTO, June 2.—(C.P.)—The early weak tone on the New York market to-day was partly disregarded by Toronto exchange industrial listings which held a good percentage of gains and closed with a generally firm appearance. Brazilian continued its slow decline but the other interlisted leaders finished the short session with narrow fractional gains.

International Nickel slipped t 24.55 before getting a new foot-hold after which it climbed slowly to close at 25.10 for a net advance of 40 cents. Smelters failed to snap back, the close at 145 showing a loss of 3 points. It came out in fairly heavy volume.

Walkers common and Distillers Seagrams both finished on the upside after first-hour show of weakness and Industrial Alcohol was off ¼.

EGG PRICES RANGE 14-18 CENTS DOZ.

Steady Tone Evident on Farmers' Market—Flowers Plentiful.

Prices were pretty much as usual at the market this morning. Eggs ranged from 14 to 18 cents a dozen, with 15 and 16 cents as general quotations; butter was 22 to 25 cents a pound, broiling chickens could be bought anywhere from 25 to 28 cents a pound, and year old birds were 14 to 16 cents a pound. A lone turkey was priced at 20 cents a pound.

Flowers were very plentiful. Little boys, straight as soldiers, stood stiffly holding bunches of purple lilacs, on the stairs. These were a nickel a bunch, the same price as a bunch of deep purple violets or even the early bridal wreath which a vendor displayed on the open market.

Novelties in flowers were pale clear yellow carnations, displayed by Messrs. Hope and Benton, and grey tulips with a mauve tinge. Tulips were 20 and 25 cents a dozen, lovely sweet peas and little carnations 40 cents, larkspur and snapdragons 50 cents a dozen. Chinese lantern roots, containing gay adornments for wintry weather, were 5 cents a root.

Home made buns were 15 cents a dozen and white cottage chees es were 10 and 15 cents apiece. A lovely combination of flowers in one big bowl was of white lilacs and the pink of the ougelia rose, or wild honeysuckle.

Rhubarb on the open market was a dime for three bunches; strawberry plants that sprouted from the surprised boards of a crate covering a litter of pigs were a cent apiece. The pigs were $a a pair.

Little collie pups were $1.50 apiece.

Imported plums on a fruit stand looked like artificial fruit, so firm and red were their skins. They were 2 dozen for a quarter.

Potatoes sold at $1.35, with choice 'Dooleys' at $1.40 a bag.

MANY HOMELESS AS FIRES SWEEP ACADIAN WOODS

3,000 Men Battle Flames on Score of Fronts.

VILLAGES DEVASTATED.

Thousands of Acres of Timber Destroyed—Fire Rages Onward.

(By The Canadian Press)

Stricken New Brunswick communities marshalled their manpower to-day in the fight against forest fires raging over a huge acreage. Close to 3,000 men were battling the flames advancing on a score of fronts through woods parched by days of drought.

In Restigouche County alone, 1,500 men had been pressed into service in the attempt to check a fire which left a trail of devastation through 300 square miles of countryside. A village had been wiped out almost completely here, and vast destruction caused to timberland.

Three hundred men, working on relief projects in neighboring Sunbury County, were rushed to the spot last night aboard a special train. Observers in a Royal Canadian Air Force plane directed their work.

Flames Race On

In other sections of the province thousands of acres of woodland had been wiped out, and further destruction was in prospect as the flames raced on beneath a searing sun, sped by a strong wind. Near the Village of Blackville, fires were burning through thick timber, and threatening to endanger the community if the wind shifted.

Throughout the province almost 400 persons were homeless, their dwellings destroyed by the fires. More than 300 were left without homes when flames raced through Oiver, in Restigouche County, and other buildings were destroyed when fires encroached on the outskirts of severa settlements.

No homes had been destroyed in Nova Scotia, but thousands of acres of standing timber lay charred and blackened in the wake of fire. In Colchester County, timber operators counted their losses at about $50,000, and the fires were still raging there.

Truro Endangered

One blaze approached so closely to the town of Truro that the municipal wood lot was destroyed. Pumpers were rushed towards the scene of a fire between Hilden and Camden, in the same county.

Down on the province's south shore, in Shelburne County, the little village of Sable River, sent its residents out to battle a fire moving through timber only a few miles away. Fearing the community might be endangered, they were trying to-day to swing the flames in another direction.

A third large fire was roaring through the woods in Cumberland County, near River Hebert. No communities were in danger, but the flames had advanced through almost 20 miles of forest, over a wide front.

ONTARIO CROPS BADLY IN NEED OF HEAVY RAIN

recognised that this district is in a better condition than wide sections of Western Ontario.

"There's going to be no hay crop if the weather doesn't change very soon," Ed. Corkery of Ennismore stated. "The ground worked up well this Spring, and everybody has been trying to increase the Spring crop, but this hot weather is blighting it. Conditions don't look very bright, but on the other hand if we get rain, and plenty of it, the crops should turn out quite satisfactory. This week-end may prove to be the turning point."

Adam Humphries drew a gloomy picture of the future for Asphodel farmers if rains are not immediate and abundant. He recalled other years when the pea crop early in June was almost knee high and in blossom. And, illustrating the growth of the present crop, he said it was hardly more than ankle high.

Oats, barley, rye and hay are the main crops that are being affected by the drought.

Bert Middleton of Smith was inclined to regard the farm conditions rather hopefully, but he admitted that his opinion was entirely dependent upon rain within the next few days.

90 Degrees Here.

Peterborough to-day sweltered in a heat wave that by noon to-day had sent the mercury to 90 degrees, to beat all known records for high temperatures at so earlier a period of the summer.

Not in his long experience, Walter Peters, official weatherman, told The Examiner, has he ever noted such high temperatures, as have been prevailing during the past few days, at so early a period of the season.

There is to be no "let up" over the week-end, he remarked, in forecasting that the mercury will continue to rise over Sunday.

A minimum overnight temperature of 57 degrees was recorded officially, which is also considered as something phenomenal at this time of the year.

Charles Wood, chief ranger at Madoc, told The Examiner this afternoon that there was a little rain this morning in Hastings County, but it was of no material help to farmers. In that section of the county across Peterborough's border the ground is parched, and the severe heat of the last few days has made rain an imperative need if the farmers are to harvest a fairly good crop.

No Rain in Sight

While crops withered in the fields for lack of rain, Ontario sweltered to-day in the first heat wave of the summer. Overnight temperatures rose, and this morning touched new highs for the year in most Ontario cities.

Farmers gazed in despair at stunted grain shoots in the dried fields as the weatherman promised no relief. Cooler weather is likely but there will be no rain.

Crops in many districts have had no rain for more than a month and some farmers have seeded their lands three and four times. Tobacco farmers of Southwestern Ontario are hit as well as market gardeners and other agriculturists throughout the Southern part of the Province.

Temperatures were around 90 mark in many districts. Brantford reported the highest mark, 97, while the early morning reading at Toronto was 76. It started climbing then and was well above 90 at noon.

90 at Kitchener

After touching an official high mark of 90½ yesterday at Kitchener, the mercury started a climb to new heights this morning and read 85 at eight o'clock. There wasn't a cloud in the sky to indicate relief.

Showers predicted for the Brantford district have failed to fall and market gardeners prepared for a scorching week-end.

Galt reported it was 86 there early this morning after which it set out to hit a real high mark. Farmers declared conditions are desperate. Not only are grain fields burning up under the scorching sun but water supplies are running short with wells and creeks going dry. Shortage of feed and pasture may result in milk shortage.

The heat wave that has prevailed at Sarnia for some days was broken early this morning, when a brisk north wind came up and clouds partly obsured the sun.

Welcoming the volunteers to Rome, Mussolini declared:

"It is not without profound significance that you gather among the splendid memories of ancient Rome. We consider the past as a great living force pushing us toward the future.

"We feel that Italy still possesses to-day the virtues which were typical of the Legionnaires and the people of ancient Rome—tenacity, constancy, courage and the spirit of continuity until victory is reached."

CANADIANS CONTRIBUTED HEAVILY TO WAR'S SACRIFICES

OVER THE BAGS WITH THE BEST O' LUCK

And they need it. Canadians had a reputation for getting their objectives. Guns roar and tanks go on but in the end it's flesh and blood that does the trick. Your flesh and blood and ours or theirs or somebody's.

ARMAMENTS RESPONSIBLE FOR THIS

Enemy gunners in the Great War had no respect for sacred things, destroying anything that came within rangs of their guns. Here is shown the smashed figure of the Christ in Queant line.

Destruction and havoc mark this scene in front of Courcelette. The bursting of shells can be seen as the gunners sweep across the open field, and here and there are noticed the bodies of brave lads who will never return to their native land.

Britain Will Likely Make Token Payment To United States

DEBT MESSAGE INDICATES NEW UNDERSTANDING

Roosevelt's Communication Received Without Comment in England.

SIMON TO CONFER.

No Ill Feeling and Believe Final Settlement is Near.

LONDON, June 2.—(A.P.)—Reliable sources said to-day that Great Britain apparently has reached an understanding with President Roosevelt on the war debts question and will make a token payment in June.

The only comment from official quarters, however, was:

"We are studying Mr. Roosevelt's message with much interest."

Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, arrived here to-day from Geneva, where he left the world disarmament conference yesterday. He will spend this week-end at his home in the country in private talks with other cabinet members.

Sir John, in his trip from Switzerland, had opportunity to be fully informed of the content of Roosevelt's message.

It is known that the message occasioned the British Government no surprise of any kind and indicated that both Washington and London knew each other's views before Mr. Roosevelt's message was sent to Congress.

Reply Expected Soon.

A formal communication regarding Great Britain's plans for the payment June 15 probably will be sent to Washington next week.

London political circles regard President Roosevelt's war debts message chiefly as his desire to give the United States Congress a history of the problem up to date and feel that it was in no way unfriendly to Great Britain.

Instead of any ill-feeling, informed sources said to-day there was considerable satisfaction and they indicated that Britain believes final settlement in the near future is not unlikely.

Contrary to the views of some newspapers the circles hold that Mr. Roosevelt is in agreement with some of the main features of long-held English views.

First, that the debt question has been upsetting the trade situation and should be settled; and, second Mr. Roosevelt is ready at any time to negotiate for settlement and Great Britain has always said it is willing to do likewise.

Coolly Treated in Press.

The message, however, was coolly treated in the London press. Parliament was in recess and there was no official comment from that source.

The Times said: "The President's readiness to discuss the special circumstances with individual debtors is of course to be welcomed, but it must be admitted that the message leaves the war debt problem very much where it was.

"It certainly does not affect in any way the task of the British Government in deciding what reply to make to the note of May 25th. It seems impossible at the present moment to reconcile the British and American views and great care will be needed if irritation which the difference has already caused both in this country and in the United States is not to make future co-operation more difficult.

"British opinion has found it hard to understand how America has been so slow in recognising the force of British considerations and so reluctant to co-operate in removing what is held to be clearly one of the principal obstacles to general recovery.

Effect On Prestige.

"Those on this side of the ocean who talk lightly of general default overlook the effect upon British prestige and upon British financial interests in other parts of the world if Great Britain without the sanction of her creditor should break a contract which bears her signature.

"This does not necessarily mean that the British Government having stated its case and made protest and pointed out what consequences of payment must be should now without more ado fulfil all legal obligations and throw upon an implacable creditor the responsibility for the consequences.

"Moreover, there is public opinion in Great Britain to be considered as well as public opinion in the States.

There seems to be nothing for it at the moment but to endeavor to keep the question open by some payment on account and continue to press upon the creditor suggestions for a final settlement by agreement which will have some regard to the realities of the situation and to the inevitable economic consequences."

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

CHATHAM.—Mrs. June Pelky, 27, of Chatham, is recovering from the effects of natural gas inhaled late last night in a suicide attempt. At her apartment in the Crow residence, the woman removed the stove pipe from a kitchen range and also from a water heater in the bathroom and then turned on both gas jets. Doors were locked and windows closed when her husband returned.

ROGERS STREET ROUGH BYPATH

still with a light step, a brave little lady who has retained undimmed a fine sense of humor and a spirit of adventure which found comparatively recent expression in an airplane flight over Toronto two years ago during the week of her ninety-first birthday.

When she was seventy-one Miss Gow toured the British Isles alone for three months, setting out on the ocean voyage during the first week in May, shortly after the "Titanic" was sunk by collision with an iceberg in the eastern depths of the Atlantic. She refused to be frightened by that disaster of the sea, and while in London realized a long cherished dream of seeing Their Majesties, the King and Queen, arriving at Buckingham Palace on returning from the Derby.

It is a refreshing experience to chat with Miss Gow, to listen to her reminiscences and catch the glow of a bright spirit unworn and undaunted by the years. Age has left its inevitable marks and has enfeebled her body, but the human spark within retains a brightness that illumines her countenance, her manner and her memory of the long ago.

Old Scene Still Real.

To Annie Gow, the neighborhood of Hunter street from the Westclox hill to the river, its residents and their homes, her girlhood chums and friends of more than eighty years ago, are more real and vital than the street of today which has forgotten those people who lived there in the forties and fifties with all their human interests, the families that grew up and dispersed, and the old landmarks of which there are but sketchy remaining traces.

Inexpressible pathos underlies such a recollection as this: "As children we never wearied of running to the window to see the mail coach coming home from Lindsay up the hill to the gate on the east side of Concession Street, now Armour Road, where Mr. Shaw lived, the man who had the contract for carrying the mail between Peterborough and Lindsay. Father and mother, too, used to look out and see it coming whenever we heard it at the end of the day."

That Mr. Shaw has long since joined his fathers, and of the little girls who lived and played around the corner of Hunter and Rogers Streets only Annie Gow has survived the pathetic erasure of human affairs which in their own day seemed so essential and important.

There are no photographs of that generation and its homes. All that remains, or nearly all, for there are several remnant houses, are the memories that linger with the affection of cherished associations in the minds of the last few survivors like Annie Gow and David Conroy whose recollections were published in The Examiner a short time ago.

A Scottish Family.

"My father and mother were both born in Scotland," Miss Gow began. "Father was born at Dunkeld, part of the estate of the Duke of Atholl. As a youth he learned the trade of a carpenter in Glasgow, and he and his parents left the Clyde in May, 1815 for Canada. They were on the water thirteen weeks.

Their destination was Perth, Ontario, where they were one of the little group of families who founded that town. It was there my father and mother were married, and in 1833 they came to Peterborough where my father bought the lot on the southeast corner of Hunter and Rogers Streets, and built his own house facing on Hunter Street.

My eldest sister Charlotte was the first baby baptized by the Rev. John Roger when he came from Scotland to establish St. Andrew's Church, which celebrated its one hundred and first anniversary a few days ago. But, I would like to speak about that again later."

Gow Family's Neighbors.

Miss Gow said she could remember almost all the families who lived in that section of the old Scotch village.

"William Arnott occupied a house on the southwest corner of Hunter Street and Concession Street. Later he bought a small lot on the west side of George Street between Hunter and Simcoe Streets, and carried on a bakery business in part of the house. Next to Arnott's was the home of a man named Bird, and between his place and our's there was a carpenter shop owned by Andrew Jackson who didn't marry until he was fifty. He bought a farm in Otonabee, and when he died it was said he left a fortune of $50,000.

Hunter Street ended on the east side of Concession Street where there was a farm belonging to the grandfather of E. A. Peck, M.P.. It was occupied by an Irish gentleman named Shaw who had the contract for carrying the mail between Lindsay and Peterborough. His house was probably on the present site of the Westclox factory.

All the traffic east of the village went by way of Hunter and Concession Streets, probably up to the Warsaw Road.

Three Girl Companions.

The home of John Robertson stood on the northwest corner of Hunter and Concession Streets. They were splendid and true neighbors. Their youngest daughter, Marion, and Ellen Arnott and I were chums. We went to school and played together and had many happy times. Ellen Arnott and I sat in the same seat at school, but when her father moved across the river to George Street we did not see each other so often as before.

Samuel Brown lived on the northwest corner of Hunter and Rogers Streets, and Mrs. J. B. Gillespie who lives almost at the corner is the only descendant of the old families who is still residing in the neighborhood. West of the Brown family was a tailor shop and house occupied by Donald Macdonald, a Highland Scotsman, an enthusiastic Orangemen. I remember that the Orange Lodge used to meet upstairs in his house. It is still there, a roughcast house, about the fourth from the corner. I think Mrs. Gillespie owns it.

West of Macdonald's shop was a big house where "Boss" Moore lived and carried on his work as a shoemaker. In those days shoes and suits of clothing were all made by hand. Across the road from our place, and on the east side of Rogers Street was the house where Phillip Sargent lived. He had come from the north of Ireland. He was a carpenter, and when the family grew up they went to Kansas.

Strict Sabbath Observance.

Observance of the Lord's Day was stricter in those early years of Peterborough than it is today.

"We were not allowed to play on Sundays, which were always very quiet. Every Sunday morning we walked across the river and up the hill to the little square stone church of St. Andrew where Rev. John Roger was the minister of the Presbyterian congregation of the town and the Scotch village. In the afternoon he drove to Lakefield to conduct services there.

I was the youngest of our family, and had two brothers and two sisters. My eldest sister, Charlotte, was the first baby baptized at St. Andrew's in November of the year Mr. Roger first arrived from Scotland. My father and mother had come to Peterborough in summer of that year 1833. I believe that Robert Tully, three months old, was baptized the same day. Rev. Mr. Roger returned to Scotland for a short time but came back to Peterborough a year later, and began the work which later proved so successful. He not only baptized my eldest sister, but also solemnized her marriage to George Brown, a school companion who lived diagonally across the street from us, and then baptized all their children.

School On Aylmer Street.

The first school I remember was at the corner of Aylmer and Sherbrooke Streets. It was one room building facing on Aylmer Street, and around the corner lived the teacher, a man named Weatherhead. He had only one hand, and the boys secretly called him "fisty." The teacher was a tyrant, and made frequent use of the taws with which he whipped the pupils.

There were no sidewalks, except probably in some sections of George and Hunter Streets and Charlotte Street. I cannot remember that point exactly, but I know there was no walk down Hunter Street from our house to the bridge; just a foot path. On the west side of the river there was wooden walk on one side of Hunter Street.

One day in Spring when I was about six years old the weather was quite warm like that touch of summer we had a short time ago. I begged my mother to let me leave my wrap at home when I started out in the morning. She agreed against her will, and during school hours there was a sharp change in the weather with rain and hail and I had to go all the way in the cold from Aylmer and Sherbrooke Streets to Hunter and Rogers Streets. I was crying when I got home, it was so cold.

For the accommodation of the pupils in the Scotch village a school was built on Mark Street, near Hunter Street, and I went there for a while, but when I became a little older my mother sent me to a private school. It was located about where Belleghem's store stands on Hunter Street. Then I went to the Union School which I believe had been a Methodist Church, just about where the old store stands near the foot of Sheridan Street on Hunter."

With a final reference to her school days, a self-appraisal refuted by her intelligence, Miss Gow remarked: "I didn't like school, and I wasn't clever."

Shopping With Mother.

"I used to love to go shopping with my mother, across the river to the big store kept by Nicholls and Hall on Simcoe Street, near the Bank of Montreal site. Mother bought everything there, groceries and all. She wouldn't think of buying anywhere else, and that store did a big business for those days.

My girl chum, Marion Robertson, married and went to live twenty miles from Milwaukee. When I was in Vancouver in 1911, she wrote me to visit her on my way back. We had kept up a long correspondence. She wanted to see me, then as she said it would probably be the last time. So I visited her for a month, and after that she went to live with her son at Bridgeport, Conn., where she died. But, while I was with her in that month we talked over all the old days when we were children, and about the stage coach, and the property owned by Ed Peck's father up on the top of Hunter Street hill.

When the roads were bad, Mr. Shaw, who drove the mail coach used to hitch a team of lead ponies to help the horses. The ponies were called "Shot" and "Dick." They were vicious little rascals, and when Marion and I used to pick berries up on the hill that looks over the city and the canal the ponies used to chase us the way dogs would do. There was about two hundred acres in that property which was mostly second growth pine. Of course there was no road down toward the Lift Lock, and no canal. All the traffic to the country used to go up Hunter Street and turn north at Concession Street."

Hearths For Stoves

Miss Gow said that her earliest recollections of home included two big fire places, one that heated the living room, and the other was in the kitchen where ordinary cooking was done.

"Sometimes at night stray men who had been drinking would see the light from our fire place and would want to come in to light their pipes. We had a baking oven of brick in the backyard near the kitchen door, and mother used to bake a week's supply of bread, in this outdoor oven. I have told you about the well going dry in seasons when rain would be scarce.. And when several women with their children would carry clothes up Rogers street to the river, they usually took food for the noon meal and made a picnic out of the occasion. Those little events were looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure by all of us."

Oldest Brother Drowned.

The first tragedy that blighted the happiness of the Gow family was the death of the father in 1854, and eight years later, on December 8, 1863, the eldest son Alex, then twenty-seven, and his mother's main support, was drowned in Little Lake. This blow was accentuated by the fact that his body was never recovered.

Tears came to Miss Gow's eyes, and her voice broke, as she recalled the brother who went skating on the lake one early winter evening seventy-two years ago, and was never seen again.

"About two years before that mother lost her sight. She had a horror of the water, but somehow the boys learned to swim and skate. Alex took his skates that evening, and was with several companions down George Street somewhere near the present wharf. I am not sure whether they were skating on the east or the west side of the road. One of the boys was Jim White, whose father was a proprietor of the old White and Hamilton foundry on Reid Street.

At 9.45 o'clock Jim looked at his watch, and asked Alex to go up George Street with the other boys and go home by the Hunter Street bridge.

"You know mother," Alex answered, "and if we go that way it will be eleven o'clock before I get home, and mother will be worrying about me. If I skate across the lake I can get home in fifteen minutes. He was thinking of mother right up to the last, and that was typical of his life.

When he was skating across the lake he met two boys of about fourteen years. One of them was Christie Fagan who were skating in the opposite direction. He knew them and called out "Hello Christie", and young Fagan answered, "Hello Alex."

A few minutes later the boys heard Alex calling "I'm drowning." They told a tailor named MacMillan who was near the west bank that it was Alex Gow. I don't know exactly what happened then, but it wasn't long until MacMillan was running up George Street to overtake Alex's companions who had started to walk up town. Alex had skated into an air hole, and sank, and, although the lake was searched, his body was never found.

The boys drew lots to see which one would have to break the terrible news to mother, who was a widow and blind. It fell to one boy named Law. He got up his courage to rap on the door and ask "Is Alex in?" but that was all he could do. James Kidd who was in town from Dummer, one of the pioneers who came from Perth, was visiting mother.

Mother said to young Law "Alex will be in in a few minutes." It was then getting on towards 11. My mother said to Mr. Kidd, "I wonder Alex's no' in."

Law told his companions: "You'll have to tell that blind mother. I couldn't do it."

Jack Robertson of our neighbour's family, and Alex's churn came up toward the house. He had heard the news over town. He rapped at the door and asked "Is Alex in?" Mother knew his voice, and some little tone in it caused her to think and ask "What do you know about Alex, John "

That was on December 8, 1862. There had been some hard frosts, and the ice was safe on the lake, but this air hole had somehow opened, and was unmarked.

During her blindness mother used to sit in a rocking chair and knit a great deal. She used to sing while she knit, hymns and little old songs she knew, but after that night she never sang again. A few years ago, and it seemed a coincidence to me, I read that Christie Fagan had been drowned while working in the northern part of the province."

Saw Submarine Fleet.

During her visit to the British Isles Miss Gow stayed for several weeks at Buckhaven on the Firth of Forth..

"The house was on a high bank overlooking the North Sea. One morning when I woke up I was startled by a sight which so amazed me that I could hardly believe my eyes. During the night there was a concentration of submarines off Buckhaven, so many of them that they seemed like a bridge. And they were so close together that I fancied I could walk across the Firth on them. That was two years before the war. The next night they disappeared as silently as they came."

Miss Gow has felt a weakening effect of the summer weather, a feebleness which she attributes to her advanced age.

"I was never very strong. In fact I was the invalid of our family," she remarked in closing the interview, but she must have been well fortified with nervous energy for only two years ago her airplane flight over Toronto would have daunted many a young woman.

PARLIAMENT HILL HEARS

By WILFRID EGGLESTON

The member for Weyburn, sometimes dubbed "the sagebrush economist," told me the following delightful story about Victor Ross, the late newspaperman and industrialist of Toronto:

It happened, says 'Ed' Young, during those years of stress and struggle when Ross was an obscure and poverty - stricken newspaperman working on a Toronto paper. He found it difficult to make both ends meet on the meagre salary he was receiving, and he found a job writing advertising copy after hours for an amusement park, which had opened just outside of Toronto.

Unfortunately the amusement park went "broke" at a time when they owed Victor Ross for several months' services. In order to avoid formal receivership proceedings, it was given out that the creditors would take the assets.

Victor Ross, as one of these, arrived at the park to satisfy his claim. The first creditor to arrive had taken an elephant, the second a merry-go-round, and so forth, and by the time the struggling newspaperman arrived there was nothing left but a camel—which no one else, evidently, had fancied.

Ross decided to take the camel. This exotic animal, however, proved to be more of a liability than an asset. It had to be fed, and sheltered, and this cost money.

Just when things looked pretty black along came an advertising man who wanted a novel way of advertising a new brand of Turkish cigarettes. He decided that he would equip the camel with colorful trappings and have him ridden about the city advertising the cigarettes. This helped pay the camel's feed bills.

Then winter came on, and the camel couldn't stand the zero weather. He had to be confined in a warm stable. He got cranky at being kept in so much, and finally turned on his keeper and bit him. The latter entered suit against Victor Ross for damages. The suit was successful, and Ross found himself up against a judgment.

While the camel was thus the source of so much annoyance, he also provided the newspaperman with a certain amount of diversion. Ross used to draw up elaborate accounts of his financial standing. On one side of the ledger he used to list his numerous bills and accounts, which were heavy at that time. On the other side he would list his assets, as, one oil stove, one kitchen chair, one wife (of whom he thought a lot) at an appropriate figure, one child (of whom he thought the world) at a still larger figure, coming down the list to end with the enigmatical item: "One camel."

When his creditors called around, asking for payments, Ross would settle with each one in turn as it became pressing. But he would first offer them the list of assets, asking them if there wasn't something there they could take as settlement. Almost invariably they would skim down the list and come to the item: "One camel," and they would almost invariably make the same remark: "What the blazes could one do with a camel?"

Just the same, the 'camel' inventory brought a strange and lucky result. One day Victor's managing editor came in while this strange document was laying on the desk. He picked it up and read it through with amusement and admiration.

Then he turned to Ross (so the story goes):

"A man who can make out a financial statement like that, ought to be a financial editor. Mr. Blank left us last week, and we're looking for someone to fill his place. You are going to be his successor as financial editor of this paper!"

And (says the story, which is believed authentic to the letter), that was how Victor Ross became the financial editor of a great Toronto paper.

There is a happy little touch to add about the camel.

Soon afterwards an offer came for the camel. Ross accepted it, and got just enough out of the animal to settle the damage suit which the erstwhile keeper had brought, successfully, against him!

Speakers and chairmen, with so many names to remember, may well be excused if they occasionally make a slip in referring to members in the House before them. The fact that there is a member named Raymond (Maxime of Beauharnois) and that such is the Christian name of the member for Essex East (Dr. Morand) explains why Mr. Speaker Black recently called the latter Mr. Raymond. John Angus MacMillan, the new member from Saskatchewan, occasionally gets called Mr. Mackenzie, which is also easily explained, that being the name of his riding.

But the best of these tongue teasers was sprung by one of the Conservative members during a denunciation of the C.C.F. Mindful, no doubt, of the fact that the Independents sit in what is called the "South-East Corner" of the Chamber, he launched into an attack on what the "member for South-East Woodsworth" had said the day before. The president of the C.C.F., who actually represents Winnipeg North Centre, looked up rather puzzled at this new application.

"Bob" Stead, novelist, poet and immigration executive, has a good anecdote about a colored man who contracted to move a pile of coal, and then sublet the job to a white man. A friend who knew the financial circumstances, upbraided him:

"You're only getting $1.50 to move that coal, and you're paying that white man $2. What's the big idea?"

"I figure it's worth fifty cents to have a white man working for me," the negro complacently replied.

PARTY LEADERS HURL CHARGES AT EACH OTHER

Henry Announces Reduction in Interest Rates on Farm Loans.

LIBERAL BEER STAND.

Dr. McQuibban Doesn't Believe in Dictation on Beer Question Stand.

TORONTO, June 2 (CP)—Party leaders to-day were hurling charges and challenges as Ontario's general election campaign warmed up with only three weeks left before voting. Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader, charges Premier George S. Henry with telling falsehoods and Mr. Henry challenges Mr. Hepburn to state definitely how he plans to fulfill his promise to reduce administration costs 50 per cent if he attains power June 19.

Mr. Henry spoke at Parry Sound last night and announced the government's reduction from 5½ to 5 per cent on loans to farmers from the Agricultural Development Board came into effect June 1. He was in Toronto to-day to address a meeting in his constituency of East York while Mr. Hepburn was in Sundridge for a meeting after which he goes to the east to address meetings in the Ottawa and Brockville districts.

Liberal Differences

Dr. George A. McQuibban, House leader of the Liberal party, entered the political wars last night at Fergus when he explained the difference of opinion among Liberals on the wine and beer legislation. He was speaking in support of D. Paul Munro, Liberal candidate in South Wellington, who supported the government beer and wine legislation while Dr. McQuibban voted against it.

"We are each captain of our souls. There is that prerogative in the Liberal party for each member to do as he wishes with regard to great issues."

Dr. McQuibban said he did not pretend to dictate "to anyone how they shall behave as far as the beer bill is concerned. He charged the government had failed to attempt alleviation of the people's troubles during the depression but had been actually "in league with this great monster." He said the government had mortgaged the province in the last three years "to the extent of $35,000,000 on relief."

Reduce Power Costs

"Not one cent of this will be returned," he declared. Although the government had claimed a $500,000 surplus last year, he said a cheque for $1,253,000 was forthcoming from the Liquor Control Board although only $19,000 was in the bank on which the cheque was drawn.

If the government really wanted to do something for the farmer it should reduce service or meter charges or the power price instead of changing the 20-year Hydro contract to five years which, he said, meant nothing.

At Kitchener, Attorney General W. H. Price foresaw a lift in depression clouds because of increased use of Hydro power and receipts to municipalities, a certain indication of improvement, according to the Attorney General. He said the day when Canadians had money in their pockets had returned.

C.C.F. Fire Kindled

J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. head, delivered an address at Windsor where Norman Thomas, New York, Socialist leader in the United States, was on the platform. Mr. Woodsworth said his party did not hope to "sweep into authority in a day" but a fire had been kindled that would never be extinguished.

Russell County Liberals last night selected Dr. Arthur DesRosiers as their candidate for the elections at a convention in Eastview. Mr. DesRosier is a former mayor of Eastview. He was the only nominee to appear last night, bringing the number of Liberal candidates in the field to 88. The Conservatives have only one more nomination to make to fill the list of 90, East Kent still being without a government choice.

Premier Henry will speak at Unionville and Agincourt June 9. Hon. Charles McCrea, Minister of Mines, addresses meetings at Hanover June 7 and on the same day Hon. George Challies, provincial treasurer, appears at Vanleek Hill and at Alexandria. The following day Mr. Challies will speak at Carleton Place.

Hon. Paul Poisson, minister without portfolio, is scheduled to address a meeting at Cornwall June 8 and at Penetang June 14.

LIBERAL RALLY

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, June 2 — Plans have been laid for a monster Liberal rally to be held in the town hall on the evening of Friday June 8, in the interests of Mayor H. N. Carr of Campbellford, the Liberal candidate for Northumberland, and James Hawthorne, Liberal standard bearer in Peterborough county.

The speakers of the evening will be the Messrs. J. J. Callahan of Toronto, J. J. Duffus of Peterborough, the two candidates, and other prominent speakers to be announced later.

BOARD HOLDS UP BUILDING WORK

Will Wait for Property Committee to Submit Estimate Cost of Alteration.

FAIR DIRECTORS MEET.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 2 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Because the Property Committee of the Seymour Agricultural Society failed to submit a report regarding the estimated cost of converting the present poultry building into an exhibit building, by the extension of it by thirty feet, the board of directors, sitting in session last evening in Campbellford, decided on motion to hold over any further action on the project until the committee has some figures to show the board.

The matter was brought up by the reading of a letter by the secretary, G. A. Kingston, from T. J. Horkins, prominent member of the board, who urged the necessity of the proposed building and stressed the fact that had the project been under way, the town grant to the Fair Board would not have been cut in half, as it was this year.

Discussing the matter, Alex Hume, veteran of the society, was of the opinion that the secretary and president canvas the merchants of Campbellford to find out how many of them wou'd exhibit in a building, should it be built, for three consecutive years. This suggestion was not put in the form of a motion, however, and was not voted on.

Some discussion arose over the question of whether the society this year should sponsor the Standing Field Crop Competition. It was discussed from all angles, but because of the necessity of cutting down expenses as much as possible, it was decided to lay the matter over for this year, although the worth-whileness of the competition was fully realized by the board.

An offer from the Robert Simpson Company of Toronto, for the donation of a silver, Old English design, casserole, as a special prize for the best five 1-pound prints of dairy butter made in the district, was accepted.

A vote of thanks was passed to the town and township councils, for their generosity in donating the annual grants to the society. The president, W. S. Milne, occupied the chair.

C.C.F. WILL HOLD POWER BALANCE

So Woodsworth Predicts at U. S. Socialist Party Rally.

MANY CHANGES COMING.

DETROIT, June 2 (C.P.)—J. S. Woodsworth, Labor member of the Canadian House of Commons for Winnipeg, says he believes the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation which he heads will capture the balance of power in the Dominion election.

In a speech here last night Dr. Woodsworth told 3,500 delegates to the convention of the United States Socialist party the middle class was ready for economic change.

"What has been called the middle class is becoming the proletariat class," he said, "they are as ready for economic change as the workers in mines, mills and railroads.

"In Canada," he continued, "we have had to work out our political methods differently from European ways. In Russia they have combined Marxian economics with Russian psychology. In our country we must combine socialist principles with Canadian psychology nevertheless we cannot firmly establish Co-operative Commonwealth unless similar commonwealths are established in every country."

Mr. Woodsworth went on to declare that as a result of the political combination of farmers and industrial workers, the fifth year of the depression has made it extremely likely that in the next Dominion election the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation will hold the balance of power in the Canadian Parliament.

"Things thought impossible, such as the high degree of political consciousness of farmers and workers, are to-day actualities," Mr. Woodsworth said. "We in Canada and you in the United States will in the near future establish such relations that will prove that on the North American continent can be the beginning of a socialist commonwealth."

DIRECT RELIEF FROM OTTAWA ENDS JUNE 15

Minister of Labor Expects Provinces to be Able to Manage.

PROVINCES ADVISED.

Program of Unemployment Relief Works to Reduce Cost.

OTTAWA, June 2 (C.P.).—After June 15 it is expected the provinces will be able to take care of direct relief within their borders. Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labor, has advised all Provincial governments the existing agreements covering direct relief contributions from the Dominion will be extended in their operation until that date.

It is hoped that during the summer months at least the provinces and municipalities will be able to get along without Federal aid. The arrangement now in effect provides for an equal sharing of the costs of direct relief between the three authorities.

As an aid to employment the Dominion Government has prepared a large program of public works construction and a bill to authorize it is expected to be introduced in parliament shortly.

No intimation has been given as to whether the present relief policy will be resumed on a general scale in the autumn but the government believes there is reason to hope conditions may have so improved by that time as to make further relief disbursements unnecessary.

West Ponders Procedure.

WINNIPEG, June 2 (C.P.). — Faced with the formal suggestion they should be able to carry on direct relief without aid, provincial governments of Western Canada last night pondered what next step they would take to protect their depleting financial chests due to relief payments.

Hon. M. A. MacPherson, acting Premier of Saskatchewan, immediately after receipt of the telegram from Hon. W. A. Gordon, Federal Minister of Labor, telegraphed protests against discontinuation of federal relief aid after June 15.

Premier John Bracken of Manitoba instituted negotiations with municipalities to see what step could be taken and Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta declared the two weeks' extension to June 15 "means next to nothing." Premier T. D. Pattullo of British Columbia had no comment to offer.

The telegram received by the Manitoba Government, similar to telegrams sent all provinces, read: "In view of lateness of season generally prevailing throughout Canada, Dominion is passing appropriate Order-in-Council to have provisions of 1933 agreement with respect to direct relief continued until June 15, 1934. After that date I trust your province will be able to take care of your own difficulties, at least during the remainder of the summer months."

CLERKS TRIM SAINTS 14-7

Last Year's Champs Get Back Into Stride in Campbellford Softball Fixture.

FIVE HOME RUNS.

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, June 2. — The Clerks, last year's softball champs, got back in their usual stride last evening in the scheduled fixture of the Campbellford Town softball league, when they registered a 14-7 win over the fast moving Saints in a game that was full of fast plays and good fielding.

No less than five home runs featured the game, Little and Whitton for the Saints both rounding the bases, while Reynolds of the Clerks registered two homers and Bush one. The Clerks got an early lead in the first two frames of the game, when they counted a five and four run session before the Saints got into their stride. From the third inning on, however, the play was even with but little to choose between the two aggregations. Both teams were held down to two blank innings apiece while the count in any one innings did not exceed two runs.

BIG MEN NEEDED TO LEAD PARTIES

Norwood and Havelock. He referred to the road work in Burleigh Falls, and Apsley districts as being the biggest thing he had accomplished during his five years in the legislature.

Commenting on Mr. Dewart's recent criticism of ditch filling work being carried out on Highways 7 and 28, Mr. Lancaster said, "I do not think any of the men who are earning their two dollars a day will feel they are being bribed."

Beside the Point

Remarking upon the questions recently put to himself and other political candidates by Peterborough County Temperance Federation regarding his stand on the beer and wine question, the candidate said, "To me the whole question of the Temperance Federation seemed to be utterly beside the point and beyond the power of any candidate to answer honestly."

He would be absolutely opposed, he remarked, to the granting of wine or beer licenses for restaurants in Peterborough city. So far as the county was concerned, the seaker stated, "it is absolutely under local option and will so remain unless any of the municipalities decide they want a change."

Mr. Lancaster could not see how any of the candidates could oppose the beer and wine legislation, whoever might be elected, as the legislation would go into force through an Order-in-Council.

Mr. Macaulay

Attired in a natty grey suit, the Honorable Leopold Macaulay presented a youthful appearance as he stepped forward on the platform to receive the applause of the large audience after being called upon by the chairman.

In the remarks preliminary to his address Mr. Macaulay paid tribute to Mr. Lancaster for "his untiring zeal and disinterested public service to the electorate of the riding." He also spoke appreciatively of Mr. Strickland who entered the meeting just as Mr. Macaulay was about to commence his address, stating, "Mr. Strickland worked loyally for the old riding of Peterborough City and the surrounding district."

Forecasting that the Henry government would be returned to power, the honorable speaker, declared, "Mr. Henry has the confidence of the people and has a united party behind him."

The Liberals he claimed were so keen to see the defeat of the Henry government, "almost as keen as Peterborough County Temperance Federation," that they were ready to join forces with any party no matter how much their ideas might run counter to Liberal policy.

Hepburn Without Policy

Hepburn, he stated had no policy. He was ready to unite with Communists or C.C.F. in order to bring about the downfall of the present administration.

Entering into a discussion of the finances of the province, Mr. Macaulay stoutly maintained, "every dollar we could scrape up from reduced expenditures was applied to meet emergent expenditure." He referred to the large amounts of money spent on relief, stating that it had been a matter of either letting the unemployed starve or else clothe and feed them.

"We do not apologize for having borrowed money to look after humanity. This government is going to look after suffering humanity just so long as it is necessary."

He would like to know what the critics would have done under similar circumstances, had they been faced with the necessity of deciding.

"Not a cent," someone in the audience suggested.

In his own riding, Mr. Macaulay stated his oponents were trying to beat him on the ground that he had not done enough for the unemployed, while in other constituencies where unemployment was not so rife, they were criticising the expenditures of the government.

Budget Surplus

Remarking upon the fact that the government closed the fiscal year with budget surplus of $470,000, Mr. Macaulay said there was no other province in the Dominion, and no State in the United States that could show such a satisfacory state of finances.

Speaking more particularly of the work of his own department, Mr. Macaulay said he was endeavouring to carry on the Department to conform to the standard set by Mr. Henry when he was minister of that department.

"We have tried to give the province a good well established highway system, and I do not think there is a single fair-minded citizen present who does not feel the Henry administration has given better service on highways than Mr. Bates did under the Drury government. There is no scandal so far as our Highways Department is concerned," he claimed.

Light Motor Taxation

Referring to the taxation collected by the Department from the motorists of the province, Mr. Macaulay told his audience that Ontario was the most lightly tayed of all the provinces in the Dominion. The gas tax of 6 cents a gallon in Ontario, for instance, he remarked, was only equalled by lightness by two or three other provinces, while motor fees he stated, were the lowest in the whole of Canada. He contrasted them with the heavy taxation on motor cars in Quebec province.

The quesion of farmers markets was lightly touched upon by Mr. Macaulay, who commenting on Mr. Hepburn's intention of closing the office of the agent general for Ontario in London if elected, stated, "It would be political and economic suicide for Ontario to close her offices in London."

He gave the Drury administration credit for appointing Mr. Noxon as agent general for Ontario in London stating, "It was the only really good thing they ever did."

Speaking of Hydro, Mr. Macaulay remarked upon it as having been "largely the child of the Conservative party." Referring to Mr. Henry's policy regarding the St. Lawrence Waterway development the speaker stated, "Mr. Henry said there will never be any development except under public auspices." He contrasted that policy with the statement of Mr. Hepburn who had said, "the time is not opportune."

Mr. Macaulay said, "There is an unholy alliance between Mr. Hepburn, Quebec Province and New York State" so far as the St. Lawrence Waterway is concerned, and he forecast some startling revelations when the "veil might be withdrawn."

MOTHER IN HOSPITAL

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARSAW, June 2.—On Tuesday morning, May 29th, between five and six oclock, Frank Nolan, who lived in back of W. Hayes farm on the Lakefield road, lighted his fire and went out to milk. He left his nine children, the eldest a girl of 17, years in bed. Mrs. Nolan was in a hospital at Peterborough when her tenth child was born some time after six o'clock Nolan saw smoke from the kitchen, rushed to the house and found the summer kitchen in flames. He rushed upstairs and wakened the children and got them up and out without injury, but in all the excitement they thought little of picking up clothes. The flames spread so rapidly in the dry log house that that there was no time to get anything. There was one bed downstairs from which he pulled the mattress and bedding. That is all that he saved besides his children. There was a small insurance.

He and the children are living with a bachelor brother on the 6th line of Douro.

made the United States weather map a crazy quilt today. While snowstorms ushered in the month of June in Montana, Washington and Idaho, Milwaukee sweltered under a record high of 103 degrees and Chicago experienced the second hottest day in its history—102.2 degrees.

Forest fires broke out in the parched areas of New York, Maine and Wisconsin, while in the southwest scattered rains brought relief from the heat to some communities. A high wind swept through a drought-stricken section near Pender, Neb., causing considerable damage.

A light rain brought some relief to St. Louis; a half a dozen cities in the Texas Panhandle reported rainfal, some of which measured more than three-fourth of an inch, and rain and hail preceded a snowstorm at Butte, Montana.

At Denver, a reported plan to bombard clouds with explosives over the drought stricken San Luis Valley in an effort to produce rain was termed not feasible by J. M. Sherier, meteorologist of the Denver weather bureau.

HYDRO BLAMED FOR INCREASE

Development, $96,000 from Chats' Falls on the Ottawa River, $360,000 from the Gatineau, $350,000 from the Beauharnois.

"If the taxpayers of Ontario, and especially of Peterborough city and county like the way the business of the Hydro has been conducted under the leadership of the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson and the Hon. Mr. Henry, if they like the way the debt of this province has increased from $6,000,000 by the last Liberal administration for the purpose of building the T. and N.O. Railway, to $600,000,000 as it is to-day, all they have to do on June 19 is to vote for the Henry candidate.

But, the debt of this province and the annual expenditure by the Government has been rolled up to such an extent that thoughtful men and women, who are mindful of the legacy they must leave to their children, can't possibly support a Henry candidate, no matter how fine a chap personally he may be.

On the other hand the Liberal leader, Mr. Hepburn, has promised in his manifesto that there will be a change in the personnel of the management of the Hydro-Electric Commission, that the facts about salaries and other affairs of the Hydro shall be available to the people, as will be the affairs of the Liquor Control Board. He has promised to cut the cost of administering the business of Ontario in half without impairing the effectiveness of our social services.

That is only one reason why I am glad to support James Hawthorne. He and I were brought up in the same part of this county. I have known him for many years, and I know that he grew up on the sound old principle of paying as you go; and that is the kind of representative this county should send to the Legislature.

Spoke Five Years Ago

Mr. Dewart recalled that five years ago he spoke at Bridgenorth in support of Dr. Moir, but in that campaign, although Smith Township had given Dr. Moir a splendid majority, the total vote in the riding was not sufficient for his election, mainly because the Honorable G. Howard Ferguson, "the prince of camouflagers," had thrown the liquor issue into the campaign.

"When Premier Henry took over the leadership of the Government," Mr. Dewart continued, "the interest on Ontario's debt amounted to $11,000,000 a year; but within three years it had increased to $16,500,000. This business of compounding interest is an old story, like the snowball that increases its size and also is area for picking up more snow. There is a story that the Island of Manhattan on which the City of New York spreads its vastness was bought from an Indian for $63. To-day when you look at those fields of skyscrapers that is New York you feel that the Indian got the worst of the deal; but that $63 at compound interest since 1660 down to the present day would represent more value than all of New York City. When you add interest to the principal, as this Government has done in coudcting the finances of Ontario, you are laying up a legacy of debt for our children and grandchildren that is beyond our imagination, if the people permit the conditions of the last few years to continue.

When the last Liberal administration in Ontario went out of power they left a debt of only $6,000,000, a bank loan to pay for the new railway into Northern Ontario. Those Liberals were old timers. They were brought up in the financial school of paying as you go, the policy which I know was the practise of the pioneer people of Smith Township. To-day, you have a Government that mortgages the future, and when any adversity comes we find ourselves in a morass of debt."

Mr. Dewart briefly touched upon the growth of democracy and the price paid by the common people for the right to determine how they should be governed. He recalled that under the absolute power of emperors and kings money was thrown away to favorites, and the people were burdened with taxes. The French and Russian revolutions were uprisings of the people against such abuse of power.

"Democracy was bought for us at the price of great pain, and we to-day have the ballot by which we can peaceably bring about the changes we desire in government. But, it is an extraordinary fact that people do not make use of the ballot as they should.

The people of Ontario allow things to go on that would not be tolerated for more than one year by a township. If a township council was extravagant they would be turned out at the elections, as we have all seen it occur; but in our provincial affairs we apply a party label, and far too many people are more loyal to party than they are to the good of the state. I wonder if Mr. Henry, Mr. Price and Mr. Finlayson are not playing again on what they believe to be the indifference of the people of Ontario. They certainly cannot defend their extravagances, but they are depending on those who call themselves Conservatives to put them back into power, which they have held too long."

Mr. Hawthorne

Mr. Hawthorne, in his appeal for support, discussed the provincial debt, with special attention to road taxes.

"Mr. Henry's promises to cut the 20 per cent on provincial highways to 10 per cent is too late," Mr. Hawthorne said. "Every farmer realizes that from the very start the Government should have assumed the entire cost of provincial highways and paid for them out of the gasoline tax. People I have been talking to say they wouldn't have minded the Government going behind now in these hard times if they had kept the finances even when times were good. But they had their chance. They started a plan to refund the provincial debt, but they didn't keep it up very long.

In this election they are trotting out Mr. Ferguson's old horse, the liquor question, in the form of beer and wine licenses. I notice that Mr. Lancaster said I was just as wet as he was. I have a high regard for Mr. Lancaster as a friend, but I think he is wrong in that statement. Premier Henry says, "Your leader is your policy," but Mr. Hepburn says nothing of the kind. He says that the elected members would make the policies of the Government if the Liberals are placed in power."

Alex L. Elliott

Mr. Elliott said that on driving from Toronto a few days ago he saw about one thousand men working on the highway turning sod and throwing loose earth into the ditches. To a stranger all this activity might seem to be a sign of great prosperity, but to people living here it was regarded only as a sign of an election. Many people in the province were deeply suspicious of the Government.

Mr. Elliott recalled that in Toronto in June, 1926, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson said he was appalled at the enormous house-keeping account, the annual expenditure of the government was then $38,000,000 a year. He affirmed that old taxes had been increased and new taxes devised to meet the outlay. Mr. Ferguson promised retrenchment and reduction of the provincial debt. He remained in power until 1930, and by that time the annual expenditure had increased to $62,000,000, although there was rarely a period when retrenchment could have been put into effect. Ontario's debt in the meantime grew from $240,000,000 when the Drury Government was defeated to $394,000,000 in 1928, and $562,000,000 on October 31, 1933, practically 600,000,000.

The Toronto Globe had recently asserted that no provision was being made by the Government for the retirement of $400,000,000 of the total of $600,000,000 million dollars of Ontario's debt. The increase in debt has accumulated rapidly in the last ten years, the amount for that period being $354,000,000. During the last three years the rate of increase has exceeded 80,000 a day, every day in the year.

Mr. Elliott said that Toronto, for example, was setting aside $8,000,000 of its $37,000,000 of taxes, and such a retirement policy would soon put the city's finances in a sound condition. He pointed out that Quebec's debt was $168,000,000, as compared with Ontario's $600,000,000, and the two provinces had many points of similarity. If the Conservative Government in Ontario had carried out the promises made by Mr. Ferguson, the position of Ontario would be vastly different.

Mr. Elliott said he was glad to support Mr. Hawthorne, who had a splendid municipal record, and was a man of sincere and persistent convictions.

IN MEMORIAM

HATLEY — In loving memory of Lila Hatley who passed away June 2, 1925.

Time speeds on, nine years have passed,
Since death its gloom its shadow cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light and ever will
Her vacant place there is none can fill.
Down here we mourn, but not in vain
For up in heaven we will meet again.

FOR 40 YEARS OLD MADOC MINE HAS LAIN IDLE

Village Was Named After Fort Madoc in Wales, Producer of Slate.

COMPANY FORMED.

Mine at Madoc is Only One of Its Kind in Canada—Forced to Import.

(By a Staff Reporter)

MADOC, June 2—Sometime during the last century when settlers began to gather around the site of the present village of Madoc, they discovered several outcroppings of high-grade slate in the vicinity. So they decided to name their little settlement after the great slate mining center of the British Isles, Fort Madoc in Wales, dreaming probably of the day when it would be the great slate center for Canada.

But the uses of slate were limited in those days. Flat squares of it were utilized for roofing, blackboards and billiard tables but nobody had thought of the hundred different uses it has been put to today. James Aylesworth, the man who owned the principal slate property, began indifferently to mine it about the year 1882 then, after the local demands of the region had been filled, allowed the pit his men had hewn out to fill up with water and rubbish.

For almost forty years, the old slate mine lay forgotten despite the fact that it is the only property in Canada which has been proven by development. The demands for slate grew as the Dominion went forward with its rapid development and the price of slate in various forms went up. But it never occurred to anyone that the Aylesworth property should be re-opened. Canadians still found it necessary to import their supplies from the United States and Wales. During the past three depression years, almost one million dollars worth of the material was brought in.

Company Formed

Last year, a group of men, including Alex McLeod, Peterborough roofing contractor, Leo Ampleford and W. J. W. Armstrong, two Toronto business men, became interested. Investigating, they were amazed by their findings. They secured a fifteen-year lease on the Aylesworth property from James Aylesworth, the original owner who still resides on the site, and mining rights for twenty-one years on the adjacent property of W. J. Stewart which shows further outcroppings. They won the backing of several other Toronto and Peterborough men and the formation of Canadian Slate Mines Limited during the past few weeks has resulted.

Ernest H. Jones, a British mining engineer and mine surveyor who is already on the location directing the production of slate to fill the company's first orders, estimates conservatively the amount of pure slate in sight at 10,000,000 tons. It is expected that development will prove a body of more than 20,000,000 tons. The slate width is about 500 feet and has an average depth of at least 60 feet. It extends 2000 feet on the Aylesworth property and apparently another 2000 feet northeast into the Stewart property, the angle of the bed being 45 degrees, Mr. Jones reports.

Operations Progress

Repeated inquiries for slate in several different forms have already been received. At present, activity is being confined to the crushing of a 1,600-pile of slate which was discarded as waste when the mine was operated forty years ago and the crushed slate is being sold to be used as slate granules in answer to the orders of roofing manufacturers. As the company's finances permit, modern machinery to produce roofing slate, slate slabs and slate chips and flour as well as granules will be installed. A building 42 feet by 60 feet has already been erected to house a modern mill and storage bins.

The use of slate for roofing still offers the big market for the material with its use in the form of heavy slabs in structural work and in the electrical field following closely. Slate granules are in important demand by the producers of manufactured roofing and slate chips are being used widely in modern terrazzo flooring. As a filler and binder for asphalt, as an important ingredient in many rubber products and as a produce used extensively in foundries, slate flour has a ready market.

$28.00 Per Ton

Roofing slate has a market value at around $15.00 a square with approximately three squares to the ton. Structural slabs, school slates and blackboard bring about $50.00 a ton, slate granules, $7.50 a ton, slate chips, $10.00 a ton, and slate flour, $4.50 a ton. On this basis of rates, Mr. Ampleford, president of Canadian Slate Mines, estimates an average return of $28.00 a ton f.o.b Madoc. Due to the accessibility of the slate and the unusual purity of the vein, he reckons a net profit over all operation costs of $14.00 per ton.

The total area of the slate property controlled by the company exceeds 400 acres. It is one mile north of village of Madoc and at present it is necessary to haul the slate by truck to the railway siding in the village. With the development of the company, it is expected to have a spur line run to the mine site.

With Mr. Ampleford the president, Alex McLeod of Peterborough stands as vice-president of the company. Treasurer is Mr. Armstrong and secretary, Dr. M. M Nixon of Toronto. Samuel Bromwich, also of Toronto, is a director According to the prospectus of the company, it has an authorized capital divided into 1,000,000 no par value shares of which 500,000 have been issued for properties and developments to date, and are pooled until the treasury is adequately financed. One-half of an initial offering of 100,000 shares is being sold at 30 cents a share. A further offering may be made when the progress of the company warrants expansion, the prospectus states.

CAFE FATALITY BRINGS CHARGES

Man Died as Result of Injuries Received in Brawl.

HIT WHILE DANCING.

HULL, Que., June 2 (C.P.).—Held criminally responsible for the death of Arthur C. Street, victim of a cafe fight, George Charron is held for court appearance on a criminal charge. Street, popular Ottawa insurance agent, died after an exchange of blows in the cafe and outside on the night of May 24.

The jury's verdict at the inquest last night was: "We find that Arthur C. Street came to his death at 12.30 a.m. on May 25. Death ensued from a cerebral hemorrhage sustained in a fall, the result of a blow delivered by George Charron, and we find that Charron is criminally responsible."

Evidence was given to the effect that Street entered the cafe between nine and ten o'clock. Some time before midnight he became involved in an argument with David ("Red") McColl, George Charron, and George Bowlay. The dispute led to blows on the dance-floor, and when Mr. Street was asked to leave by the proprietor and the headwaiter, he was struck several blows by Arthur St. Denis, proprietor, and by Charron. The punch which felled him to the roadway of Bridge Street, where he suffered fatal injuries, was delivered, states witnesses, by Charron.

Mowry Orchestra Is One Of Best In Field

The appearance of Ferde Mowry and his orchestra at the Brock Street Summer Gardens has been greatly enjoyed by hundreds this week who have listened to and danced to their excellent music.

These gentlemanly young men all from Peterborough, are to be congratulated on the success they have attained in their particular field of music which coul donly be reached even having considerable musical ability, after hard work and diligent study. They are receiving well-merited congratulations on their ability and it might also be said this city should be congratulated on the fine advertising they give it. Obituary

THOMAS KEMP.

LINDSAY, June 2.—(Special.)—Thomas Kemp, 59 William street north, Lindsay, and a former resident of Peterborough for about forty years, died early this morning in his 65th year after a brief illness that seized him earlier in the week. As a mark of respect to him, the Horn Bros.' mill, where Mr. Kemp had been a continuous employee for twenty-three years, since coming from Peterborough, will be closed Monday afternoon during the time of the funeral services, which will be held at the family residence at 2.30 p.m.

Born in Cambray, the deceased man moved to Peterborough with his parents, the late Thomas Kemp and Elizabeth Painter, when he was two years old. He grew up there and learned the woollen business at the Auburn Mills. Also, while living there, he became the husband of Mary Armour.

Surviving him are his wife, two daughters Jean, Mrs. W. E. Green of town; Grace, Mrs. Hartwell Robbins, of Franklin, Penna; one son Ross of Chapleau; two brothers, Samuel of Peterborough, and George of North Andover, Mass.; one sister, Mrs. Flannery, of Peterborough and five grandchildren.

Following the funeral on Monday, interment will take place in Riverside cemetery, Lindsay.

MRS. ANGUS RICHARDSON

Impressive tribute was paid to the memory of Louise Mather, wife of Angus Richardson in funeral services conducted at the family residence on Weller street this afternoon by the Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean, pastor of St. Andrew's United Church.

The late Mrs. Richardson passed away on Thursday evening in her 44th year after an illness of some weeks duration. A daughter of the late George Mather and of Mrs. Maher of Keene, the deceased underwent training for the nursing profession at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Maryland. Following her graduation, she went overseas and enlisted in the nursing service with the Imperial Forces. Her service included two years at casualty clearing stations immediately behind the fighting lines, which entitled her to the general service and victory medals.

Mr Richardson enlisted in Peterborough with the 93rd Battalion, and served with the 4th Battalion and also with the Canadian Engineers in France. Shortly after the Armistice had been signed he and Nurse Mather, whom he had known in Canada, were married in London.

They have resided in Peterborough since returning together from overseas and both have been lifelong members of St. Andrew's Church.

Besides her husband and mother, the late Mrs. Richards, leaves four children: Mary Elizabeth, Agnes Jane, Alex and Louise all at home, also one sister Miss Nellie Mather of Clifton Springs, N.Y.

SLUM CHURCH RECTOR DIRECTS $60,000,000 RELIEF PROJECT

"Revolution" Will House 40,000 Families and Provide Furniture

SMILES ON DOUBTS

Leeds.—At a rough trestle table in a temporary office near the gleaming civic hall of Leeds a bland, red-cheeked parson sits every day directing—a $60,000,000 housing scheme.

He is Rev. Charles Jenkinson, a man previously unknown except for a dingy gilt name on a slum church notice board. To-day he talks in millions.

For some years Mr. Jenkinson sat on the Leeds city council and spoke only when housing was mentioned. The political pendulum swung in the city, and overnight he became a man with power.

He resigned his living to devote his energies to housing and slum clearance. To-day he is the director of operations in a setsquare revolution.

If all his plans are carried out Leeds Corporation will own more than 50,000 houses, as compared with about 10,000 now. The corporation will be by far the biggest landlord, and they will probably have control of rent levels throughout the city by reason of its huge housing estates. Private property owners are dismayed.

Mr. Jenkinson and his Socialist colleagues (with a majority in the city council) propose to build 30,000 new houses, to which the occupants of 30,000 back-to-back dwellings in poor parts of the city will be transferred within the next four years.

Faces Heavy Odds

Furniture is to be provided by the corporation on hire-purchase terms, and the local furniture organizations have threatened to blacklist any firm—large or small—that supplies a single piece of furniture for the corporation's hire purchase scheme.

The Northern Furniture Trades Federation are afraid that if the Leeds Corporation enter the hire-purchase business other corporations will follow suit.

Unruffled, Mr. Jenkinson smiles and smiles—and announces that he is already certain of obtaining all the furniture necessary, and if he were not he would be prepared to establish a corporation factory.

In the public mind he is the author of a "differential renting" policy which has roused protest after protest. Under this policy tenants of the corporation are required to pay the economic (which means increased) rent, unless they can satisfy a special committee of three that they are entitled to relief.

300 Families Rent-Free

It is said that 300 municipal tenants are living rent free following applications for relief. Leeds is the only English city where tenants can live without paying rent.

Under the new "economic" scale rents are in most cases double the old figure. A detailed disclosure of private affairs was demanded from all tenants seeking any form of relief from the new rents.

Mr. Jenkinson says he has more plans in mind, including houses with special sun traps in the bedrooms for invalids and weakly people.

FOND OF HERRING BUT SHY OF LADIES

Fraserburgh.—Robert Boothby, 34, unmarried, Conservative M.P. for East Aberdeen, made a speech recently about the faulty cooking of herring. His speech brought him a flood of correspondence.

Many of the letters, he revealed in a speech to his constituents here, were protests.

The rest of them were—Invitations to a meal cooked by the writers, and, if satisfactory, proposals of marriage. "I resisted them," said Mr. Boothby.

VISITOR SAYS OYSTERS HURT HIS GOLF SCORE

Hotel Claims That Its Food Didn't Cause Guest's Illness

London.—An allegation that after eating oysters a diner suffered a severe attack of typhoid fever was made in an action before Mr. Justice Swift and a special jury in the King's bench division.

Charles Frederick Wimble, senior partner in a firm of rice brokers, sued the Royal Victoria hotel, St. Leonards-on-Sea, Ltd.

The hotel company denied that they were negligent in supplying the oysters or that there was any breach of warranty, and they contended that no food supplied by them was responsible for Mr. Wimble's illness.

They brought in, as third party, Mr. Walter Edward Baker who supplied the oysters to the hotel; and he, in turn, brought in the Seasalter and Ham Fishing Co., Ltd., from whom he obtained them. All denied liability.

J. E. Singleton, K.C. (for Mr. Wimble), said that when he was staying at the hotel he ordered oysters, which were shared by his aged father and a cousin, Miss Lachlan. Some days after returning home he felt ill, and had to give up work. Lord Horder was consulted, and a blood test confirmed that Mr. Wimble had typhoid fever.

He was away from work for five months, and the special damages, subject to liability, were agreed at $2,625. Apart from a portion of lobster which he had at a London hotel after his illness had begun, the oysters were the only shellfish Mr. Wimble ate. He did not want to say one word generally against the hotel.

Mr. Wimble, in evidence, said the oysters were the thinnest looking he had ever seen. Until five years ago he would not have eaten an oyster for any money because he was afraid of them, but he had no idiosyncrasy so far as shellfish were concerned.

After his illness began, he felt tired, and had to cut out his week-end golf; he had to take to his bed. Since his illness his golf handicap had gone up 4.

Amid laughter, Malcolm Hilbery, K.C., counsel for the hotel, said "damages are not claimed for that."

PEGGY WORTH SENDS THE BALL TRAVELLING

All's well with the world when the Britisher can take an afternoon off and attend a soccer match. Get one of the country's leading actresses to start the game and the pleasure is increased a hundred-fold. Pictured Above is Britain's favorite of the stage, Peggy Worth, "kicking-off" to start the charity cup final between Great Eastern Hotel and Cavalry Club at The Spurs Ground recently. The game's on and Peggy gets a big hand from the crowd.

'BILL' ADAMS, BRITISHER, FOUNDED JAPANESE NAVY

Nipponese and Home Town Erect Memorial in His Honor

WED A PRINCESS

Gillingham.—On a spring day in the year 1598, a time when the winds of adventure were filling the sails of English ships on every ocean, Bill Adams, master and pilot, cast off from his native town of Gillingham. His wife and three children never saw him again — for the ship that carried Sailor Bill away had fate at the wheel, and fortune set her course.

As pilot-major of five merchantmen, he sailed for India; but storms blew the little fleet off its course, and eventually, after two years, only one ship, the Charity, with Bill Adams on board, reached the island of Kiusiu, Japan. By this time most of the crew were ill or dying. Adams' life seemed charmed.

He was taken to Osaka—the first Englishman in Japan!? And in Japan he stayed.

Sailor Bill of Gillingham became the founder of Japan's navy and maritime fortunes. In return he was given in marriage a princess.

Say Prayers for Him

In May, 316 years ago, he died, and was buried in a noble tomb on a hilltop, where every year his memory is "celebrated" with the burning of incense and many prayers.

With $2,500 subscribed by Japanese and Gillingham folk a clock-tower has been erected on Gillingham's new boulevard in Watling St., and on it a plaque of bronze bears the record of Sailor Bill's adventure.

The memorial was unveiled by the Japanese embassador to Great Britain, Mr. Matsudaira, with whom was Vice-Admiral Matsushita and 12 other officers of the Japanese navy.

The clock tower, illuminated at night, will be visible down the river as far as Sheerness — a landmark for men of the sea from afar over the world.

COURT NO BOUDOIR JUDGE WARNS GIRL

London. — Judge Sir Alfred Tobin warmly rebuked a young woman who sat by the side of her solicitor at Westminster county court.

He noticed that she was busy with vanity bag and powder puff. Then he told her sternly: "This court is not a dressing room. Leave the court at once. You can't powder your face here."

SOLVE 'MURDER' AFTER 14 YEARS OF MYSTERY

"Crime" For Which Two Men Tried Proves To Be Accident

Cardiff.—Fourteen years after her supposed murder and the acquittal of two men accused of killing her, it has been discovered that a woman met her death as the result of an amazing accident.

Mrs. Florrie Newman was found dead in her home in Peel St., Cardiff, in June, 1920, with a bullet wound in her head.

Her husband, Tom Newman, was arrested on a charge of murder. He proved an alibi and was acquitted. Another man was similarly charged, but the prosecution case again broke down. At no time was any weapon found.

For months after no one would live in the house. When at last a new tenant moved in he found an empty revolver cartridge in some ashes which had been removed from the grate shortly after Mrs. Newman's body was found.

It never occurred to him to mention it, but at last after 14 years the valuable information is in the hands of the police. For it means that the mystery of Mrs. Newman's death is no longer a mystery.

A shovel was found by her body. Clearly she had just shovelled some coal, which included the cartridge, on to the fire when the cartridge exploded and the bullet entered her head. The police are expected to issue a statement shortly. It may be necessary for the inquest on Mrs. Newman to be reopened.

OBSERVATORY INSTRUMENT FINISHED WITH SPIDER WEB

Tiny Thread on Lens Keeps Star in Centre Of Vision

TO LAST LIFETIME

London.—A spider gave the final touch to the magnificent new spectrum telescope at Greenwich observatory, which will be formally opened on June 2.

The intersecting lines on the observer's lens, by which he keeps a star in the centre of the field of vision, are from a spider's web.

"You must get the right size of spider at the right time of year," said C. Davidson, assistant astronomer at the observatory, to a newspaperman. "Spiders spin a smooth line without knots only in the autumn. We expect these lines to last a lifetime."

The dome is 36 feet in diameter. It has a steel frame covered with papier mache and roofed with copper plates.

The mirror of the telescope is 36 inches in diameter and six inches thick and weighs 500 pounds. It took two years to make.

Unlike the ordinary domestic mirror, it is silvered on its upper surface.

The observer can control all the complicated movements by the push of a button.

A remarkable piece of mechanism is a motor-driven clock which can be set to regulate the motion of the telescope in accordance with the motion of the earth. Thus the telescope will automatically follow a star in its course across the heavens.

The aim of this great telescope is to discover the temperature of stars by photographing them. Their light falls on the mirror and then passes several times from reflector to reflector and through a prism until it finally reaches the photographic plate.

The telescope is put to work on clear evenings. "On a rough average we are able to observe on one night in three," said Mr. Davidson.

The donor of the instrument is Mr. William Johnston Yapp, a member of a large tobacco firm.

CLAIMS HUBBY WROTE INSTEAD OF SPEAKING

"Don't Fry Bacon for Me," Read One Note

Bridgend.—Mrs. Lily Matilda Jenkins of Kenfig Hill, who was granted a separation order at the police court here, stated that her husband, John Jenkins, a collier, had not spoken to her for two and a half years, although they lived under the same roof.

She said that he communicated with her in writing. Notes produced in court were: "Don't fry bacon for me. I will get it and cook it."

"Get half a pound of beef for Sunday dinner which I will cook."

The husband denied his wife's allegations.

LONDON GETS NEW PARK

208 Acres to be South City's "Hampstead Heath"

London—Shooter's Hill Spur, 208 acres of beautiful wooded land on the southern slope of Shooter's Hill, Woolwich, is to be acquired from the crown to become an open space for London.

As this tract of land is linked up with other open spaces it will give south-east London a large space of public park which will serve as the equivalent in the south to Hampstead Heath in north London.

QUEEN HONORS AGED LADY

Speen.—The Queen in accepting a gift of rare Buckinghamshire pillow lace made by Mrs. Williams, aged 83, writes: "Mrs. Williams must be a wonderful old lady to make lace of this sort at the age of 83."

WHEN TANK CRASHED KING GREW ANXIOUS

His Majesty Banged on Door to See If Crew Safe

London—A war story about the King is told for the first time in "Three Lives—an Autobiography" by Major S. Foot, D.S.O.

Just before the Battle of Cambrai 20 tanks gave a demonstration to the King of what they could do.

One of them dropped ten feet over a bank and landed with a crash on some concrete. The tank stopped. It looked certain that the crew must be injured.

Although the demonstration was being given only just behind the lines, the King, casting caution aside, ran up to the motionless tank and hammered on the door with his fists shouting out to ask if the men were all right.

In answer to the King's hammering a door opened and the crew stepped out. Last of all came a young second lieutenant who had been driving himself. "No one was hurt, and the King insisted on shaking hands with all of them, grimy as they were," the story goes.

CARRY FREIGHT BY AIR

Goods Flown From London to Manchester in 75 Minutes

Express aerial freighters, carrying only goods, are to be started in Britain to work in conjunction with the new internal air lines.

The first freight service was opened when a London-Manchester route was opened here.

The London-Manchester route will enable goods to be carried between the two cities in 75 minutes.

MOTOR-COACH COULD PASS THROUGH NEW CITY SEWERS

London Digs Out 46 Miles of Earth in $27,500,000 Scheme

20 MILES TO GO

London.—Britain's most extensive sewage scheme and one of the biggest in the world is to replace 27 separate works in West Middlesex.

No less than $27,500,000 is being spent on this huge task and 2,000 men, 90 per cent. of whom were previously unemployed, have been found work for five years.

The driving force behind this progressive plan is the drainage committee of the Middlesex county council, under the chairmanship of Sir William Prescott.

Day and night huge tunnels, through which a motor coach could pass, are being constructed underground. The "miners" have already drilled and dug their way through 46 miles of earth and excavated millions of tons of it. They have nearly another 20 miles to go.

Among those who will benefit from the scheme are the residents of Golders Green, Wealdstone, Ruislip, Chiswick, Twickenham, Heston, Hounslow, Greenford, Wembley, Harrow-on-the-Hill, West Drayton, Pinner and Ealing.

SAFE HAS LAST LAUGH

They carried it 100 yards to a garage and lifted it into one of the butcher's cars. The car would not start.

So they took it to an outhouse and used the firm's tools—including a chopper—in a further onslaught on the safe.

Then they gave it up as a bad job and left the safe behind—unopened.

DUTY OVERCAME URGE TO CHASE STRAY CAT

Stamford Bridge—A cat turned up at the "dogs" just in time for the 9 o'clock race.

Whisking round the track in great style, it suddenly came face to face with the dogs coming in the opposite direction. It quickly turned tail and disappeared. The greyhounds hesitated, licked their lips, . . . But they were well-trained dogs, and all went on to complete the course.

BISHOP HOLDS SERVICE UNDER CIRCUS BIG-TOP

Ringmaster Reads Lesson and Band Accompanies Surpliced Choir

Norwich.—Standing on a velvet-draped dais in the middle of a circus ring, his pastoral staff in his hand, the Bishop of Norwich gave his blessing to a congregation of 4,000.

There were clowns, lion-tamers, bare-back riders, acrobats of many nationalities in the congregation, as well as people from Norwich and the surrounding villages.

The service was held primarily for the performers and staff of the circus visiting Norwich, but anybody could attend.

Frank Foster, the ringmaster, read the lesson. Surpliced choirs from Norwich churches led the singing to the accompaniment of the circus band. A half-gale of wind shook the "big top" tent. From the menagerie nearby the roar of wild animals was heard above the voices of the clergy.

FEW YARDS SEPARATE CHURCH DOOR AND INN

Cemetery Path Leads to Publichouse Where Worshippers May Drink

Worcester.—The only inn in England that stands in a churchyard will be six hundred years old this year.

It is the Mug House at Claines, near here. Tombstones, flaking and gray, are within a few feet of the front door—a door which is always open. The church itself is only thirty paces away.

Calling for the evening pint, the villager must approach by the churchyard path. There is no other way.

Hikers come for a draught at week-ends. And every Sunday some of the congregation call after the church service.

No one objects. The sturdy villagers have too much common sense to believe that there is anything wrong in a public-house which stands within a few yards of a church.

Vestry meetings at one time were held in the "pub." Centuries ago the church took part of the profits on the sale of ale in exchange for the privilege of the license.

The original purpose of the inn was to provide refreshment for lords and ladies after the church service and to accommodate their horses.

The Mug House has its ghost, of course, but it is badly treated by the villages. They joke about it and will tell you how visitors profess that the "ghost" walks to the church porch, cries "Beware!" and then goes into the church to play the organ.

MINISTERS HONOR FRIEND

STREET MUSICIAN MADE $20,000 YEAR

Tetrazzini Once Stopped and Sang to Rigden's Violin Solo

London.—Rigden, king of London's street musicians, is dead. He started his musical life as organist in a famous cathedral and then, in the streets of London with a real Stradivarius violin, earned as much as $20,000 in a year.

Rigden's ashes were scattered amidst the spring tulips in a London garden, by a woman friend.

Tetrazzini, enthralled by his playing, stopped one day and sang to an astonished crowd outside a famous west end store accompanied by Rigden. Then she walked away and a shower of gold fell at his feet.

According to his friend, Rigden, in his last years, went about the streets playing from an invalid chair. When times were good he made as much as $20,000 in one year, but he also spent a lot, for he was very charitable.

53,382 FIND JOBS

This follows a reduction of 116,332 recorded last month—the best figures since October, 1930.

The total of unemployed on the registers on April 23 was 2,148,195, which was 569,439 less than a year ago. The number of boys and girls on the registers at April 23, however, was 21,691 more than at March 19.

TEMPERATURE AT 115 PATIENT STILL LIVES

Sufferer From Blackwater Fever Never Lost Consciousness

London.—Recuperating in a rest home here is a man who ought to have died. His temperature went up to 115 degrees. Most people die if their temperature reaches 105 degrees. The highest temperature previously recorded was 108 degrees.

The man who ought to have died returned to London in December after six years in Nigeria. In January he went to the Hospital for Tropical Diseases in London with blackwater fever.

For a month his temperature steadily rose. It reached 107 degrees and the doctors marvelled that he lived. Suddenly it went up to 110 degrees.

Another thermometer was fetched to check the reading. It showed 115 degrees.

Two hours later it had dropped to 104. Two months later the man who ought to have died was out of hospital.

The story is told in the British Medical Journal. Dr. W. E. Cooke, medical superintendent of the Hospital for Tropical Diseases, and Dr. James McNair, the house physician, can vouch for the facts.

The patient himself says he remained rational and never lost consciousness.

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS FROM FAR CORNERS OF THE WORLD

TRAFFICKING IN COIN LANDS TWO IN TOILS

Gold Tokens Had Face Value Of $57.50, Were Sold For $83

New York.—The United States government is prosecuting those who buy or sell gold coins at the new increased price of gold. The situation is unique in the long history of gold. When President Roosevelt raised the price of gold recently to $35 an ounce, he jumped the price more than 65 per cent. to the highest figure in over 60 years.

Any form of old gold such as out-dated jewelry, dental gold and odds and ends of all kinds may be sold legally at the advanced price, but gold coins are not eligible.

Government agents recently have arrested two men in Philadelphia: one for selling, the other for buying gold coins at the new price. The coins in the transaction had a face value of $57.50 and were sold for $83. Under the present law, all old coins must be returned to the government for their face value. Meanwhile, as a result of the unprecedented advance in the price of gold, millions of dollars worth of old gold is being discovered in American homes and turned into cash.

It is estimated that $500,000,000 worth of old gold, perhaps much more, still lies idle and often forgotten throughout the country.

PERMITS SOCKS ON GIRLS

Auburndale, Mass.—For the first time since Lasell Junior College was founded, girl students are allowed to wear ankle socks and go bare-legged this year.

SWEDES TO HONOR CHIEF WHO GAVE THEM IDENTITY

To Unveil Significant Memorial in Form of Large Statue

SPECIAL CEREMONIES

Stockholm.—The five hundredth anniversary of the Swedish Riksdag, or national legislature, will be observed next year with suitable ceremonies both at Stockholm and in the provinces.

At Arboga, a small town in central Sweden, the first regularly constituted Riksdag met on January 13, 1435, chiefly to organize the Swedish opposition to the Kalmar Union, by virtue of which all the three Scandinavian countries were ruled by the same king.

It was under the leadership of a popular chieftain named Engelbrekt Engelbrektsson, who is still one of the country's heroes and, as part of the ceremonies, a statue of him will be unveiled at Arboga. The sculptor is Conrad Carlman of Stockholm. The statue will be in heroic size, about eleven feet high, in addition to the granite base. It is an idealized figure of a young man, stretching a cross-bow to the sky in defiance of royal authority.

In Stockholm the actual celebration will not take place until the end of May, when the season is more suitable, and just before the end of the annual Riksdag session. A proposed program has been worked out by Dr. Karl Hildebrand, a historian who is also chairman of the public debt commission. It suggests that two delegates be invited from each of the national assemblies of Denmark, Norway, Finland and Iceland, the heads of all the foreign legations in Stockholm, and representatives of all the Swedish cities where sessions of the Riksdag have been held.

"AKTIF" IN TURKISH MEANS "IN THE RED"

Istanbul.—Turkish authorities say that the population is going "boulevard-mad" in its modernization of the Turkish language.

It is noticed that Arabic and Persian words are being eliminated, only to be replaced by modifications of French terms.

Shops display such signs as "rop, manto, kostum," which is a phonetic spelling of "robe, manteau, costume"; while hairdressers offer "friksyon, condulasyon, manikur," for customers who wish a "face massage, hair-wave, or manicure."

Municipal budgets now have an "aktif" and a "passif" to represent debit and credit sides.

STADIUM TO SEAT 150,000

To Dedicate Giant Structure to Physical Culture

Moscow—One of the largest stadiums in the world, seating 150,000 persons, has been projected by the Soviet government.

This vast structure, to be erected on the outskirts here, will be a monument to the importance which physical culture occupies in modern Soviet life.

The stadium, indeed, merely will be a part of what might be called a "physical culture city," in which will be located the headquarters of the Academy of Physical Culture.

The entire city will cost 130,000,000 roubles.

Within the central arena of the stadium 20,000 persons may be massed at the same time, thus affording the opportunity for great military parades and major athletic demonstrations.

Near by will be dug a large swimming pool, 2,000 square metres in area, surrounded by seats for 8,000 persons.

CLAIM 'LOVE LETTERS' OFTEN USED IN SPYING

Endearing Language Snares French Officer Possessing Valuable Documents

Paris.—Marie Louise, the mystery woman of the famous Baillie-Stewart trial, lives again in the latest great French spy drama.

So striking is the parallel between the two cases that information concerning the French one has been specially forwarded to London.

In February of last year the French police noticed advertisements in French newspapers offering financial aid to French officers and civil servants in straitened circumstances.

The advertisements were traced to an address in Paris, but when the police raided the house the occupant had gone, leaving an address in Amsterdam to which mail was to be forwarded.

An officer of the French counter-espionage service was now brought in to reply to one of the advertisements and get into touch with the man in Amsterdam.

After lengthy negotiations it turned out that this man (alleged to be Krauss) wanted to obtain information concerning French defence plans.

Note Breathed Affection

He asked the French officer to come to Holland, and money to pay for his journey was enclosed in a hat purported to be a love letter, couched in the most affectionate terms, and signed "Germaine."

The parallel between Marie Louise and Germaine is at once obvious.

During the Baillie-Stewart trial it was suggested that it was in a love letter from Marie Louise that he received money to enable him to go to Holland.

Krauss, under the name of Sybert, came to Paris, in order, it is alleged, to obtain valuable documents from the French officer.

They met in the Tuileries Gardens, and the French officer handed over the documents. Krauss handed over some money.

They then parted, but Krauss was being followed by detectives, and just as he reached his hotel the detectives pounced on him, and he was arrested.

Krauss is said to have declared that the German espionage service frequently used the love letter method for keeping in touch with its informants.

NOBLES GIVE LAND TO PEASANT CLASS

Donate Historic Acres as "Natural Duty"

Lueneburg — Three Hanoverian landed proprietors, Count Grote-Bresse and Barons von dem Bussche and Grote, have jointly donated a tract of land for the "restoration of the German peasantry." Their message to Minister of Agriculture Darre, who as peasantry leader is in charge of that restoration, says:

"The further development of the peasantry calls, in our opinion, for vigorous co-operation with the government by at least those large land owners who are not in debt or only slightly in debt. To us, as members of the old Dannenberg knighthood, giving practical support appears a natural duty. For centuries our ancestors felt an intimate bond of union with the peasant estate and lived up to it in action.

"It is not light-mindedly that we surrender our rights to acres which have belonged to our families since of old. It is with open eyes that we, as German men, make this sacrifice. May our step encounter general sympathy and imitation."

"REDS" COLOR WATER

Sofia—When the villagers of Ugerchin woke up recently they found that Communists had hung red flags from the church and several of the buildings and had smeared the church door with red paint. They did not mind that so much; but when they went to the village well to draw water they found that the water had been colored red, too.

BELGIUM PERMITS WOMEN TO DO AGRICULTURAL WORK

Bill Will Limit Number of Females in Mills, Offices and Shops

AID MALE WORKERS

Brussels.—There is a strong move in Belgium to drive all women back to their homes in order to leave the jobs to the men now unemployed. A bill to limit the number of married women to be employed in mills, offices and shops has been placed before the Senate. The move comes from the Catholics and is opposed by the Socialists, who hold that all women should work and vote.

Belgium has about 200,000 unmarried women and 115,000 married women who are employed outside their homes. In the cotton mills more than half the women spinners are married, the girls having just learned the trade by the time they reach marriageable age.

Employers say that if married women cannot continue at work, they will dispense with feminine labor altogether, as they will not train women only to have them marry when they become competent.

The bill proposes to allow women to continue agricultural labor after marriage and it will not interfere with those assisting in liberal professions, or who work in a one-family business. Domestic servants and charwomen may continue at work although married. The law will not be retroactive, but when a married woman quits her job she will not get another or be replaced by a married woman.

The movement is very popular in Belgium, which is distinctly a masculine country, where men look after their female relatives, and many superfluous females enter convents.

Owing to war losses, to the deportation of men into Germany and emigration of men to Great Britain and France, many women had no chance to marry. The country feels that this condition has now been overcome.

SNAILS FROM FATHERLAND

Brussels—Gourmets who go to the small restaurants in Brussels to eat "Bourgogne, vineyard-reared" snails are disappointed to hear that most of the snails sold in Belgium come from Germany. The Germans do not care for snails themselves, but they rear them for others. Five million "Bourgogne" snails were exported from the German Rhineland last year.

London.—London county council parks committee report that it has refused an application for facilities at the women's bathing pond at Ken Wood for exercising and sun-bathing without clothing.

HEIDELBERG UNSUNG LOSES "CASK" BATTLE

Berlin.—Heidelberg's famous cask will be a mere barrel compared to a wooden giant under construction at Bad Dulkheim, and destined to be the world's largest wine vat.

Resting on foundations of concrete, it will have a capacity of 350,000 gallons, against the mere 50,000 gallons of the Heidelberg barrel.

"We must outdo Heidelberg," was the laconic decision of the Palatinate Vine Growers' association when they approached the project.

WHITE RUSSIANS FORM BIG CHINESE PROBLEM

70,000 in Shanghai Alone—Many Lack Funds, Friends And Country

Shanghai.—From Harbin to Shanghai, the problem of dealing with destitute Russians is growing. In Shanghai there are 70,000 White Russians without a government to protect them. In Peiping the number is 2,000.

In the latter place two Russian benevolent societies try to take care of their unfortunate fellows. However, the task is nearly impossible. Free food is provided as well as clothes and lodging. Nevertheless, many of the Russians prefer to beg on the streets and with their takings buy vodka.

Children are placed in homes and schools, only to escape for the freer life of the streets. The Chinese police shrink from arresting these Europeans as there are no proper correctional homes to send them to, and the foreign community has no official means of dealing with them.

While there are several thousand Soviet Russians in the various cities of China, no trouble is experienced from them because their own consulates are able to handle the issue.

As it stands, neither the decent White Russian groups, Chinese officials, nor the combined European and American consular corps, see any lasting solution of the problem of roving, generally homeless White Russian refugees in this country.

A comparatively few Whites apply to the Soviets for Red citizenship, but most of them fear that they might be sent back to Russia and they do not want that to happen.

The A.Y.P.A. of St. George's Church closed a very successful season on Thursday evening, when about twenty-four of the members, with the rector and Mrs. Hughes, sat down to an enjoyable supper, at the annual banquet of the branch. Following the good things which rapidly disappeared as they were served by Mrs. W. H. Andrews and Mrs. R. King, community singing was enjoyed for a time. Several games were played on the church lawn before the main part of the program was presented. This was a "mock trial," with George Houghton as prisoner brought into court by two policemen, Ernest Gibson and Jack Anderson. The court was called to order by Art Thomas, clerk of the court, and the witnesses were each "sworn in" by Clarence Hopkins. Fred Darrell, as counsel for the prosecutor, put some posing questions, while Art Busby, as counsel for the defence, ably defended his client. Mrs. A. Busby, Helen Reid, Harold Porter and Mel Holden, as witnesses, gave some mirth-provoking evidence. Just before the Rev. J. L. Hughes, as judge, called upon the jury to consider a verdict as to whether the prisoner was guilty or not of the murder of Mr. Shmitz, Ken Gibson appeared on the scene as a private detective. The evidence he gave kept the court room in roars of laughter, each statement he made being authentic, according to certain paragraphs in his book of the work of a private detective.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

One of the latest fancies in lamp shades is to have them corrugated, of fluted if you prefer this word. Another is to have them fringed. It has been many a long year since fringe was fashionable for ornamenting lamp shades, although on very costly silk and georgette shades fringe has continued in use occasionally. It is such a graceful finish to edges. In the expensive shades the fringe when used has been very full and long, heavy with silken strands, and perfectly plain, even the heading being simply woven.

* * * * * * *

Today the fringe is usually coarse, short, and fancy. It does not always fall below edges, but may be used as a border as much as one inch above the bottom edge. It may be in two or more contrasting colors, strikingly combined. For example the strands of one color may be interrupted by little balls of a totally different hue, red with white, blue with white, green with white, etc. White as you see is favored. But I am merely glimpsing the combinations of which there are many. Nor is it in the balls only that contrast is introduced the heading may be of fancy rather open pattern in two colors, or colors may be combined in various ways.

* * * * * * *

An interesting type of shade is of cream or flat white parchment or stiffened silk with a curious delicately contrasting lace overlay adhering as if woven with a curious delicately contrasting lace overlay adhering as if woven or made part of the foundation. An inch above the lower rim is a smooth band of fringe with loose strands falling smoothly against the foundation, which, flares, as in the case of shades except those of drum shape. The fringe is in two colors, that is white and rich wine color, the latter being the color scheme of the room Rather an odd one for a summer room. It would be altogether too warn a color scheme were it not for the predominance of white, and the fact that the materials are cool in texture such as glazed chintz, and the new open weaves in curtain materials.

* * * * * * *

Fluted shades are of paper, or parchment, or stiffened silk, or other suitable textiles. Sometimes the corrugations are even, and again the indenting lines are angular, not curved in semi-circles. There is apt to be a row of little holes a few inches from the top, in the inner curves, through which a cord is run, thus insuring the shade keeping its shape. The cord contrasts with the shade and matches the bow on one side of the shade. This bow of ribbon has long ends drooping and falling close to the shade, as do the ribbon ends which are only a trifle longer than the bow ends. The fluted shades are generally minus fringe. The shape does not lend itself as well to such trimming as does the smooth surface of plainer shades.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

The talented Dick Powell, whose winsome smile and charming voice have set many a feminine heart aflutter, claims that he doesn't like hats that obscure a gal's eyes. Dick hates to see only half an eye, or one eye peering out a brim from beneath a hat brim. For he claims that the average girl's eyes are too alluring and expressive to be obscured in any manner whatsoever.

Of course, when Dick calls eyes alluring and expressive, he refers merely to the clear, bright eyes that indicate health and vitality. Radiant, sparkling eyes, with the whites china white the coloring of the iris clearly defined. Such eyes are definitely attractive, whether large or small. And they certainly are worth striving to attain.

To preserve the limpid clearness of the eyes, a daily eyewash is just as essential as a daily toothbrushing is essential as a daily toothbrushing is to preserve the sparkling whiteness of the teeth. In this world of smoke and dirt, it is well nigh impossible to expect the eyes to retain their clarity without some assistance. A large amount of dust and grime accumulate in the eyes each day. Some of the particles are so minute that they do not cause actual discomfort. They lodge themselves under the eyelids, and a woman may be totally unaware of their presence. Unless these tiny particles are washed away every morning, the eyes may become red, inflamed and bloodshot. Indeed, serious infections may result from a grain of dust that is lodged in the eye.

An eyewash, to be safe and effective, must be free from all germs. It should be very mild and soothing to the eyes. The boric acid solution is most commonly advised for eyewashes. One teaspoon of the boric acid should be dissolved in a glass of tepid, boiling water. The best way to administer it is with an eyecup, which fits over the eyes. Another eyewash that can be used with safety is boiled water to which a bit of salt—just enough to make the water taste faintly salty—had been added. The plain water causes a smarting that the salt allays. This eyewash has the same effect as tears, Nature's own eyewash.

New Issue Arises Stratford Strike

STRATFORD, Ont., June 2.—(C.P.)—With the point at issue between the city council and the unemployed having shifted from the stone, which was the primary cause of the strike, to the reduction of working time for relief, the city council, at a special session last night, voted against any change in the working time.

No specific direction was given by motion as to what action was to be taken in the event of the unemployed still refusing to go to work, although several of the aldermen took the stand that there was already on the books a motion that unemployed would be expected to work for their relief. And that if they refused they would expect that those refusing would be cut off relief.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

There are two forms of mouth infection affecting the tooth structures. One of these is dental caries, or decay of the tooth structure itself, the prevention of which on the nutritional basis we discussed yesterday, and the other is the familiar disease, pyorrhea.

Pyorrhea means, literally, a flow of pus, and in extreme forms the pus may be seen exuding from the space between the gum and tooth In less extreme forms no pus is evident, but the gums are red all along the tooth margin.

There are many prevalent misconceptions about pyorrhea, one of which is that it is an infection of the gums. As a matter of fact, it is an infection of the sockets in the bone which hold the teeth in place. Dentists usually now prefer to call the disease paradentosis, which recognizes the fact that it is not the gum but the peridental membrane, which is the membrane which lines the bony sockets of our jaws into which each tooth root sets, that is affected. Our teeth are held in place by bone and not gum.

The causes of pyorrhea are probably three. Certainly one is the formation of tartar around the gum margin, which allows infection to get in. Second is lack of exercise of the gum from absence of fiber in the modern dietary. And the third is probably a lack of resistance to infection, due to deficiency of certain foods in the diet.

Prevention of pyorrhea is logical if the causes are understood. Certainly tartar, which is simply a deposit of minerals from the salivia around the tooth edges, should be removed before it has destroyed the firm hold of the gum margin on the tooth. Second, the gums must be brushed or massaged daily, as well as the teeth. The substances in the diet which seem important to include are fruits, vegetables, milk, cheese, cereals and butter.

The sad thing about pyorrhea is that the teeth themselves usually are sound. In fact, are frequently stronger than the average, but they are lost just the same by the advancement of th process. In fact, more teeth are lost from pyorrhea than from actual decay of the teeth themselves. This should encourage everyone to take pains in prevention, and this prevention must begin in childhood and be followed through life.

Treatment of the disease after it has occurred is of two kinds. One is to extract the teeth. The tooth acts as a foreign body, and no pus cavity heals up with a foreign body in place. After the tooth is extracted, nature absorbs the infection and covers over with healthy tissue. This radical method, unfortunately, has to be used far too often.

The more conservative method is to attempt to cure the pyorrhea pocket by removing the infectious material by the curette, to remove the tartar from the teeth and attempt to overcome the infection by diet and vaccines.

Miss Littlefield, swimming instructor emphasized the need of every one being able to swim as well as the enjoyment and health derived from this recreation.

Starting next Friday the popular contests between the various schools will commence. Each school is invited to register a team for shuttle relay races and diving. There is no charge for those taking part in the Friday Sports Hour program but there will be a collection for spectators.

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Edna A. Snelgrove,
22 Cricket Place, Peterborough.

Your handwriting, versatile in its formations is cognitive of your rapid thinking brain. You are highly intuitive, rather inclined to be analytical. Often you act on impulse and do your clear thinking afterwards—much to your sorrow. You are vivacious, humorous and ambitious. You desire personal success and become greatly depressed when your plans go astray. At times you issue cutting remarks. Then feel most penitent. You are adaptable to prevailing conditions and can accomodate yourself in many ingenious ways. You are fond of music but do not desire to make a deep study of any one special art. You are most discreet as regards your own personal business and also in your choice of friends. This noteworthy and commendable discretion does not however, bring you the satisfactory results that you would like, and perhaps were you to take your friends as they came, you would enjoy their company better. Your number is 10. You were born under the Sign Veigo the Virgin. You are ruled by Mercury. February and November are your best months and Wednesday your lucky day.

Miss Wilma Huffman,
Hastings, Ont.

Your handwriting portrays you as a most versatile individual. You are clever and capable of attending to more than one line of endeavour at the one time and claim accuracy in each. Your thoughts fly about like electric impulses, ever ready to radiate in the other and gather the spreading waves of other thoughts. Thus, you are able to picture an object, place or idea, the moment it is mentioned. You really should possess a wonderful faculty for remembering numbers, such as 'phone calls, dates and house numerals, not to mention countless other important items in that line. But, the other side of your nature causes you to put articles away so well, with every intention of remembering where, that when you want them, they are not to be found. I do not mean to imply that this trait would occur in an office, because routine would predominate there, but about the home where there are many places in which to tuck things away. You are kind, loving and fairly ambitious, with a leaning towards teaching and writing.

Miss Rosie R. Gorman,
Hastings, Ont.

Your handwriting shows that you are possessor of an even temperament, and are not easily disturbed by the vicissitudes of life. Your words are clear cut and coincise sometimes to the point of being blunt. Even though at times you are blunt, your humorous nature has a charming way of soothing the ruffled feelings of your listeners. You seem to be straining the wires which communicate your thoughts to the brain just now, and appear to be unsettled. It would be well for you to cry 'halt', and endeavour only to accomplish one definite object in a day. Your delicate, sensitive bearing is keyed to a high pitch and suffers agonies over the carelessness of other people. You could do much for yourself were you to branch out anew. Make new friends, see new places and grasp a different aspect on life in general. You must spare your own energy for yourself. Enjoy life as one with your kind, gentle, loving nature was meant to enjoy it.

STAMP CORNER

By M. A. BESSEY

Stamps from Ruanda-Urundi, companion colony to the Belgian Congo, and whose first definite issue of postage stamps are so closely related in general appearance to the Congo set illustrated last week, are shown here.

There are 15 denominations in the complete set, most of which portray natives of the territory. The two complete issues, the Congo and Ruanda Urundi, when neatly and properly mounted provide an interesting, colorful and educational display of postage stamps, difficult to surpass in these respects with any similar number of stamps.

The above illustrations of native types, are described as follows: starting at the top, and going from left to right: Native Prince, Preparing Hides, Woman and Child, Native form of salutation, Watubu Porter, A Dancer, Herders, Native Women and Warriors. The remaining values in the set add a number of interesting scenes, as well as further illustrations of natives.

Ruanda Urundi was originally a part of the colony of German East Africa, which at the termination of the world war was mandated to Belgium. Thus to complete the stamps of it, we must look in more than one place in our catalogue, and we find plenty of variety when it comes to overprints on stamps of other countries, provisionally used in this territory.

War Confused Things

The early issues start out with the, then, current stamps of Germany suitably overprinted. In 1900 the first definite issue appeared, in the usual "Cruiser type," common to the German colonies.

During the years of the war, Belgian, Portuguese and British troops occupied the territory, with somewhat confusing results for the poor philatelist. The result of the Belgian occupation is as follows: stamps of the Belgian Congo, overprinted "Ruanda," others appear with "Urunda," another issue reads "East Africa Allemand Occupation Belge, Duitsch Oost Afrika Belgische Bezetting." This overprint appears in four lines on the stamps. Semi-postal issues of the Congo appear overprinted 'A.O.'

The stamps issued by the Portuguese, will be found listed under the title of "Kionga," one portion of the original, German East Africa, which was occupied by the Portuguese, and subsequently mandated to them. It is now included in Portuguese East Africa or Mozambique, as it is more generally known.

The British Occupation also brings its complex arrangements, in that we have stamps of the Nyassaland Protectorate, overprinted "N.F." while issues of Kenya and Unganda are found overprinted "G. E.A.", this latter appears on the stamps bearing the name "East Africa and Uganda," which was changed in 1920 to its present title of, Kenya and Uganda.

To complete the British portion of the collection we must now turn to Tanganyika, the name given to the portion of the original German colony, mandated to Great Britain.

Ruanda Urundi will usually be found under the title of Belgian East Africa; the former name comprising the combined name of the two districts combined to make up the complete territory, mandated to Belgium.

A good up-to-date map of this portion of Africa will add considerable interest to ones collection of these stamps, if it is clearly and concisely marked up, together with suitable descriptions of the stamps and their history and origin.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

THEY ARE still dropping from the skies at Thorncliffe. Every day a long shot or two comes through to pep up the crowd. Thursday's double choice paid the record price of the meeting $610.15 and yesterday's $2,187 for a five dollar ticket which is not hard to take. The crowds are turning out in large numbers and it can be classed as a very successful meeting . . . Jockey Tommy Aimers who has been riding in great form this year met with an unfortunate accident on Wednesday when he slipped in a Turkish bath and cracked several ribs which will keep him on the ground for a long time. The reason he was in the Turkish bath was to take off some weight, so now with no exercise for a long period it looks like the weight he will naturally take on may end his riding career.

Monday is closing day at Thorncliffe and Tuesday is an off day and on Wednesday Abe Orpen swings open the gates at his Long Branch Emporium. There are many horses quartered on the grounds at the present time and all that are at Thorncliffe will ship up, so it looks like a banner meeting. You will find many horses that could not go faster than a walk at Thorncliffe, beating the same ones that conquered them, at Long Branch on account of the difference in the tracks. The former track is exceptionally fast and Long Branch is always slow even at the best. There is at least two seconds difference in the two tracks.

BROADWAY Lights and Shady Well are two that always did have a preferance for the Branch oval. Pat Gaiety is another that always cops a heat at this course, not to mention the select few that Lloyd Gentry is sending over from Detroit especially for this meeting. Hogarty may win a heat before Thorncliffe closes. He is in rare fettle and all he needs is a good strong jockey to steer him straight. Black Jewel is another that it is just a question of what day they decide to let him run. He is fit and ready. The regulars tell us that Aleeta is burning up the track in the early morning hours so look out for her in her next race.

Among those who have been out to Thorncliffe all week battling with the mutuels are King Clancy, Chuck Connacher and Ken Doraty of Maple Leaf Hockey fame. They seem to be holding their own, and they all had a big laugh on Dr. Jerry Laflamme, the well - known coach of St. Michael's Canadian champions the other day when he bet on Flyer who dropped dead during the running of the race. The King said that the horses he bet on, at least appeared to be alive, but Jerry countered with, what difference does it make if they die or are among the also rans. Charlie Mitchell is bringing the Canuck bred Milestone around slowly and we will let him run loose one of these fine days. This one takes a long time to hit top form but once he does he is a consistent winner for a long time.

COGS NINE BLANK FOSTERS 10-0 IN THEIR FIRST GAME

RUSS KITCHEN HOLDS LOSERS TO FIVE HITS

Nine-run Scoring Splurge in Second Accounts for Lop-sided Score.

SMITH HIT HARD.

Ralph Clark Goes Good on Mound for Fosters During Later Stages.

Cogs opened their season at the Exhibition Grounds last night with a 10-0 victory over Fosters before a small crowd. Big Russ Kitchen hurled shutout ball, giving just five scattered hits while he fanned twelve and issued a single walk. His team played good ball behind him. A nine-run spiurge in the second that sent Lefty Smith to the showers accounted for the big score. Aside from this frame, it was a good ball game.

Smith was wild and ineffective, walking four, fanning one and being touched for four hits before he was yanked with none out in the second. Ralph Clark replaced him and had trouble retiring the side, but after that hurled great ball to blank last year's champions and hold them to a lone hit the last four frames. He struck out three and walked the same number. His support was fair.

Provide Fireworks.

Joe Bailey, with a double and a single, and Scotty Maudsley, with two singles, besides Pat McCarroll with a single were the only Foster hitters. Cadd and Kitchen led the Cogs with two clouts each, the former poling out a double. Neat catches were made by J. Bailey, Rooke and Mein.

Fosters threatened in the first frame after two were out. Maudsley singled and stole second. He tried to score on J. Bailey's hit to short right, but fast fielding by Wilson cut him off at the plate. They didn't get a man past second the rest of the way, Kitchen holding them in subjection with smart flinging, retiring the side on strikes in the second and seventh innings.

Cogs scored once in the first, Wilson walking, moving up on Padgett's free ticket, taking third on a fielder's choice and racing home on Moore's single to centre. They ran in nine in the second on four walks, three steals, a fielder's choice, singles by Billingsley, Cadd, Wilson, Padgett, Kitchen and Mein, and Cadd's double. Three runs were in and a player was on first when Smith was replaced by Clark in this big stanza. Cogs threatened in the fourth, but a two-ply killing stopped them, and Kitchen's hit in the sixth was the closest they came the rest of the way.

BRAVES BEAT BROOKLYN 8-7 IN 16 FRAMES

GIANTS ON TOP 4-3.

Various efforts to straighten out the tangle in the National League standing brought only a series of close games which only served to shorten St. Louis Cardinals' lead. Pittsburgh, down in a fourth-place tie with Boston Braves, gave the Cards a 4-3 setback when Bill Hallahan cracked in the ninth and let three runs in.

The Braves had to go 16 innings in the longest National League games of season to beat Brooklyn 8-7 after scoring six times in the eighth to overcome the Dodgers' 5-1 first inning lead.

Maintaining their second place tie, the Giants beat the Phillies 4-3 on a ninth inning run drive home by Manager Bill Terry and Chicago's Cubs downed the Reds 3-1 when Jim Weaver hurled six-hit ball and his battery-mate, Gabby Hartnett, lashed a long homer over the distant Cincinnati fence for the winning runs.

FISHING, FARMING, LOAFING HOCKEYISTS' SUMMER SPORT

Lionel Conacher Perhaps Most Active of All Pro Hockey Stars During Off Season—Shore and Cook Brothers Farm.

By BILL McNULTY
[Central Press Canadian Sports Writer].

Where the flies go in winter is an unsolved problem, and one that borders on insectology. Where the hockeyists go in summer is one almost as hot.

Eddie Shore

Eddie Shore, the hard sombre of the Boston Bruins, and whose facial topography is very familiar to the penalty timers, concentrates on his farm near Edmonton, Alta., during the off season. Hockey is Shore's only sports love. His chief farm product is, of course, wheat, but we hope he isn't as rough with his product as he is with opposing attackers.

Lionel Hitchman, veteran of the ice wars, and for ten seasons with the Boston Bruins on defence, is operating an anglers' camp near Portland, Me. Hitch, a native of Toronto ,was coach of the Boston Cubs in the Canadian-American circuit for the finale of the '33-'34 season.

The turf snares Leo Dandurand and Joe Cattarinich, the background chiefs of the Montreal Canadiens. Both are in partnership in the operation of several race tracks in the United States and Canada during the summer season, and these activities penetrate into the southern and central States.

Tom Gorman, who abdicated after winning the championship and Stanley Cup last season for the Chicago Black Hawks, has been active in horse racing in Ontario, Ohio and Illinois for many years, and quit the Hawks to devote all his attention to the promotion of the races between the equine runners. He is secretary of the Canadian Racing association.

Lionel Conacher, the Big Train of National League hockey, who made a comeback last season after being headed for the skids, and who was the chief cog in the championship drive of the Chicago Black Hawks, is always busy during the hockey off-season. For the lacrosse season, he plays this game, and at the close of lacrosse he hits the football trail as playing manager a Toronto pro. outfit. Between his lacrosse and football appearances, he sometimes manages to show himself on the wrestling mat in Toronto and elsewhere. The spring, summer and fall provide neither a resting nor rusting period for this Toronto veteran of many sports.

Lionel Conacher

Leroy Goldsworthy, a forward of the Detroit Red Wings, is a member of the slab personnel of the Winnipeg Maroons, an entity in the Northern Baseball league. Goldsworthy was to have been given a trial with the Detroit Tigers, but this did not materialise this season, so the baseballist-hockeyist is back where he was last summer.

Bill and Bun Cook, brothers and co-partners on the front line of the New York Rangers are neighboring wheat farmers in Saskatchewan. On the theory that too many cooks spoil the broths of boys who are coming up from the minors, Lester Patrick may split the Cooks next season.

Howie Morenz, veteran centre of the Montreal Canadiens is taking things on the plan during the off season, and dividing his time between his home in Stratford, Ont., and Montreal. Morenz slipped a bit last season, and there have been rumors that he is due for a transfer to another N.H.L. club.

Howie Morenz

Charlie Conacher, the rifle-shot of the Toronto Leafs, is piling on some additional weight for next season. He operates a summer resort dance hall. Indications are that he will go on defence after his winging speed diminishes, as he has the necessary poundage to give and take the pounding.

Aurel Joliat, midget star of the Canadiens last season is playing the role of a man of leisure in Montreal. This little forward spurted into a stellar role last season, after hockey sharps had doomed him to the toboggan. Pete Lepine, centre for the Canadiens, plays lacrosse in the off season.

Chuck Gardiner, star goalie of the champion Black Hawks, is playing a business role in Winnipeg, Man., for the off season. Lester Patrick has transferred his home from Victoria, B.C., to Montreal, which he finds more convenient for his off-season contacts with Manhattan in the course of his direction of the Rangers, which involves considerable rehabilitation work this off-season.

Conny Smythe, manager of the Leafs, is on the executive staff of the Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto, and is a promoter of indoor lacrosse among other sports, including six-day races when he is not concentrating on the Leaf steering.

NEWARK PICKS UP FULL GAME ON ROCHESTER

Redwings Drop 104 Decision to Third Place Toronto Leafs.

BOONEMEN GET 15 HITS.

Albany Returns to Fifth Place With 6-1 Victory Over Baltimore.

(By the Associated Press).

If he keeps up his present pace, it won't be long before Charley Devens quits Newark Bears and returns to bolster New York Yankees inefficient pitching staff.

The former Harvard star posted his third successive victory since he was released to the Bears when he thumled the Bears to a 9-4 triumph over Syracuse Chiefs yesterday and enabled Newark to pick up a full game on the pace-setting Rochester Red Wings. The Bears, in second place, now are only a game and a half away from the top.

Wings Fall To Leafs.

Rochester dropped a 10-4 decision to the third place Toronto Maple Leafs, who shelled Tony Kaufmann and Ad Liska for 15 hits. Joe Morrissey, George McQuinn and Harry Rice contributed three hits apiece to this total. Morrissey scored five runs and Rice banged home four with timely wallops. Gene Scott pitched steady ball all the way, although he was weakening at the finish and the Red Wings scored three times in the ninth.

Albany returned to fifth place with a 6-1 victory over Baltimore as Ed Chapman pitched seven-hit ball and blanked the visitors until the eighth.

Jake Plummer, outfied recruit, led Buffalo to a 9-7 decision over the fourth place Montreal Royals. Plummer drove in six runs with two home runs in successive times at bat and scored another himself after singling in the sixth.

Sixth Liners Beat Local Leafs 22-12

A rejuvenated Sixth Line Girls' softball team which was on the verge of withdrawing from the League, staged a whirlwind victory on their home diamond last night, when they met the Maple Leafs in their first League game and walked off with a 22 to 12 verdict, for the first real upset of the season. The game was called at the end of the eighth inning, on account of the mosquitoes, which were so numerous and voracious that good baseball was impossible.

Merle Bell, who played first base for Warsaw last year, pitched for the winners, and gave a classy performance. Della Tucker, also with Warsaw last season, did the receiving, and this battery, together with an infield that was almost unbeatable, gave the Lang squad a perfect start for the season. Genevieve Mann hurled six frames for the Leafs, but was hit freely, and was relieved by A. Sturgeon in the seventh, who finished the game, but was also no mystery to the Rural batters, who socked the ball all over the lot. Bel Thirnbeck hammered a homer for the Leafs and G. Mann provided the fielding feature when she engineered a neat double play.

The teams:

Maple Leafs—A. Sturgeon, ss, p; E. Burnham, rf; L. Trollop, 3b; H. Mann, lf; I. Sturgeon, 1b; G. Mann, p, ss; P. Rome, 2b; L. Cockerill, cf; B. Thirnbeck, c.

Sixth Line—Nelson, 3b; Renwick, 1b; Tucker, c; Weir, cf; Davis, ss; Millar, lf; Clarkson, cf; Bowie, 2b; Bell, p.

Score by innings:
Maple Leafs .. 702 000 30—12 11 8
Sixth Line.. .. 614 014 24—22 16 7

Umpires—Frick at the plate; Galbraith on the bases.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, everything was the berries at the local Central Ontario League opener last week except the fact that the ball game bust right in the faces of the assembled multitude just when the fans thought she was in the well-known bag. Outside of that sad catastrophe, old-timer, the doings was all to the mustard, with a parade, some high-grade marching by the Kingston Ponies and our lads which shook hands at the plate for the 1st and last time this season, and a little exercise by some of our political and municipal dignitaries which seen Rolly Denne, our worthy mayor, nick a neat single off the delivery of Percy Lancaster. The mayor looked a lot better up there at the plate last Sat. than he did in other years and looks to be in for a good season.

The ball game, Mac, looked like us by a mile until the 7th. The Ponies introduced a new battery with a bird by the name St. Louis doing the heaving, and the home talent didn't have no great difficulty in breaking through his service in the early stages, getting theirself a mess of 4 runs, which with the Ponies doing nothing against our Mister Willie Calladine seemed plenty. The invaders got 1 back in the 6th end, and in the 7th the storm broke so fast our pilot, Mister K. Lee, was caught far from home. By the time he got Mister Calladine in out of there the enemy had tied the score and had 2 runners on the sack with only 1 hand down. Our Mister Deyell promptly filled the runways with a walk, and their Mister Foxton promptly emptied them with a sock over 2nd which Mister Foley obligingly kicked around until the base runners had scampered over the counting station, giving the Ponies a 3-run lead. It was a disheartening affair, that 7th frame, Mac, and it spoiled what otherwise woulda been a lulu of a opening.

Well, old-timer, 1 game don't make a season, and the lads will be in there plenty before the campaign winds up. Mean while the fatted calf is being killed for our old buddies from Oshawa, which is coming back into the Central loop, it looks like, and there oughta be plenty of fun before the battle gets down to the crucial period.

Nothing more of moment, so why prolong the agony?

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

INTER-COUNTY LEAGUE IS ALSO IN THE MAKING

Peterborough, Campbellford, Cobourg and Belleville Make Up First Section.

ENTHUSIASTIC GATHERING.

Millbrook, Port Hope, Cobourg and Junior Petes Interested in Minor Loop.

An intermediate O.A.L.A. group was formed at a meeting in Cobourg last night to consist of Peterborough, Campbellford, Cobourg and Belleville, and an Inter-County Lacrosse League—to be aided by, though not affiliated with, the O.A.L.A.—to include Millbrook, Port Hope, Cobourg and the Peterborough Juniors. About thirty lacrosse organizers attended the session with President F. Waghorne, Jr., Secretary Gene Dopp and Past President F. Waghorne, Sr., representing the Ontario Amateur Lacrosse Association.

Local delegates present were Pete King, Wilf LeBarr and Bud Fisher. Following much discussion on the organizing of lacrosse in this section of the province, Peterborough, Belleville and Campbellford, followed later by Cobourg, agreed to form a group with J. Dunk of Campbellford convenor. A schedule will be drawn up next week, each team playing one game at home and one away weekly. The re-forming of the Inter-County League followed, and a schedule will be out shortly.

President Fred Waghorne, in a short address, stated that this was his second year to hold such office in the O.A.L.A., and that this body was working hard to get lacrosse back to its proper place throughout Ontario. He believed the time was not far away when this real Canadian game would be played from coast to coast in Canada. He stated he was pleased to have helped get the game organized up this way now, as the district around Peterborough was always a good one for lacrosse, and he was sure this summer would see the game more popular than ever in this section.

A large number of the boys turned out last night to take in the first Friday night tournament of the season.

Sixteen rinks in all participated in the ever-popular summer sport.

Many new players took advantage to come out and get acquainted with the bowlers, and that is the main object of these series.

When the scores were handed in, it was found that the following were the successful rinks.

1st.—J. Bennett, T. McMillan, R. F. Downey, J. Harrison, (skip).

2nd.—J. Kingsbury, C. Giroux, H. Hamil, Dr. Allan (skip).

3rd.—O. Ridyard, E. Coleman, T. McDonald, B. Chesler (skip).

4th.—R. Burns, A. Bell, C. Garrison, A. Brown (skip).

Every Saturday night throughout the season there will be a mixed tournament. These games were very popular last season and many who can bowl on Saturday evening go out to the greens and enjoy two hours of real fun. . . . A small fee is charged and all names are drawn from the board, commencing at 7.30 p.m.

Big Russ Kitchen, Ashburnham righthander, who wasn't half bad, dash it all y'know—as the English would say—in the C.O.B.L. last year, showed the E.P.L.-ers some of his slants last night. And the lads, Fosters it was, didn't like Mister Kitchen's slants, not a little bit. In fact twelve of them waved feebly during the seven frames and shuffled back for their drink of water. And only three of them got safe hits, getting a grand total of five money-clouts. Cogs beat them, 10-0, garnering nine counters in a wild second stanza. Outside of that one wobbly canto, it was a good ball game.

• • • • • •

Ralph Clark was dropped into the hole after the derrick had done its work on a southpaw named Smith—one of the Smith boys—with Cog clouts cluttering up the scenery in that second. He finally got the side out without having to call the fire brigade, and after that Clark hurled fine ball. It might have been a nifty struggle all through had he been flinging from the start. Fosters have a good team and when they get the pitching will be okay. Cogs look strong in all departments.

• • • • • •

Speaking of pitching, you can't neglect Fashion-Crafts' star hurler. Lanky Chuck Butcher—yeah, good ol' Butch, ol' Butch, still works in this shop—tossed a beautiful game to lick C.G.E., 5-2, in the best men's softball game so far this year. He had to be good to turn back the up-and-coming Electrics who received good hurling from Heffernan and smart fielding, and Butch was good. He whistled his cannonball by fourteen of 'em and was very stingy with his hits, handing out a measly two. True, he walked eight but that's nothing in Chuck's young life. His teammates played sparkling ball back of him.

Little Ned Vitarelli has some real heavyweights on his Albion team in the Southend Softball League. Some of the lads who jar the hay-scales on this squad are Fred Scates, Dick Cowan, Max Board and M. Caccavelli. It must be quite a sight to see the flyweight manager standing on tiptoe and waving a finger under the schnozzles of these merry mammoths. Yeah, Fred Scates is the latest addition and the former City League tosser-upper may stand 'em all on their ears in that loop with his fast hoppity ball, flung with all the merry abandon of an anchor-man on a tug-of-war team when the rope broke! He used to be good and may stage a real comeback.

"Game called on account of mosquitoes!" That's one for Ripley's Believe-It-Or-Not. It happened last night at Lang in the gals' softball game which Sixth Line won by 22-12 over Maple Leafs in eight spasms. It was a peculiar game all around. The Line lasses who were on the verge of dropping out finally got a pitcher from Warsaw, M. Bell. And she twirled swell. And they went around through the crowd before the game asking gals here and there to come out. They got a bunch, without uniforms—the players all wore skirts—and that crew went out and played excellent ball to surprise the strong Leafs, who used both Mrs. J. Mann and Agnes Sturgeon on the mound. Meantime, the mosquitoes—in regular clouds—had been pestering fans, players and umpires so much that they finally decided to call the contest in the eighth, before it was dark! Sixth Line won the game, but you've got to chalk up a moral victory for the "skeeters"!

The gutted-stick artists—or are they sculptors?—gathered from near and fairly far in Cobourg yester e'en and talked about this and that. They finally got around to the subject of lacrosse and cleaned up a lot of business rapidly so that they could return to the pleasant subject of games of bygone days. Messrs King, LeBarr and Fisher ankled down from here and returned with the glad tidings that Peterborough Intermediates were in an O.A.L.A. group with Campbellford, Cobourg and Belleville; and the Petes' Juniors were in an Inter-County Loop with Millbrook, Port Hope and Cobourg. This will ensure lacrosse fans here of lots of games, the players of plenty of action—and maybe the doctors of increased business.

No fooling, we're glad the lacrossers finally got squared around, as it looked for a time as if the game was going the way of hoop skirts—not to mention woollen hose for women. The boys here may play at the Exhibition Grounds and the two schedules should be out in a week or so. Both groupings look okay to us, and will mean the local teams will have stiff opposition. Good work, me hearties!

They're having a sort of Old Baseball Boys' Re-Union in Toronto this afternoon and evening, the oldtimers around Ontario to have a presentation or something at the game this aft and a dinner and all that goes with it this eve at the Prince George. Despite the warm weather, the Hot Stove League will get a big play till the wee sma' hours when the diamond heroes of yesteryear go into a huddle. Knotty Lee, Max Swanston and maybe a few others—which we haven't heard of—were invited to go from here, but couldn't make it.

LOUIS GEHRIG IN 10TH YEAR MAJOR LEAGUER

New Yorker Has Played First Base for Yanks Ever Since He Broke Into Game.

RUPERTS AGAIN FALL.

Boston Red Sox Have Easy Time in Walloping Washington Senators 13-1.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.)

Henry Louis Gehrig, the big, bulky lad who performs around first base for New York Yankees in such an able fashion, to-day started his 10th year of uninterrupted major league baseball. On June 1, 1925, Lou, who hadn't been away from the Columbia Campus for long, was sent into the Yankees' lineup as a pinch hitter for Peewee Wanninger. The next day he was given Wally Pipp's place at first base.

And Gehrig is still there after nine years and 1,389 ball games. He broke the old major league endurance set by Everett Scott, last year, and is still going strong for the simple reason that he says there's no reason why he shouldn't play every day. In that long stretch, not including more than 300 exhibition games and 19 world series contests, Lou compiled a batting average of .343 up through the 1933 campaign, and his current mark is only five points below that level.

Poor anniversary

Lou couldn't do much yesterday to celebrate the anniversary as the Yanks took a 10-5 trimming from Philadelphia. He made one hit and knocked in one run, but the A's smacked Jimmy Deshong and Burleigh Grimes for 12 blows and made good use of a couple of Yankee errors.

The defeat left New York holding second place in the American League standing by only a half game as Detroit Tigers downed Chicago, 3-1. A combination of six-hit hurling by Schoolboy Rowe, Goose Goslin's homer and Bill Rogell's timely hitting settled the tight game. Cleveland, the league leader, was rained out at St. Louis.

Easy Win for Red Sox

Boston Red Sox had a big time in the other American League game as they batted almost twice around against three Washington pitchers in the first inning, scored nine runs and walloped the Senators, 13-1.

BOWLING SEASON OPENS AT HASTINGS

Home Bowlers Make Clean Sweep of Series Against Brighton Visitors.

HASTINGS, June 2.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—The Trent Valley Bowling League opened on the local green when Brighton played their first scheduled games. Hastings made a clean sweep of the night's play when they won the four games.

In the first games Dr. Campbell substituted for H. Dodd as skip of the local rink and won from Sharpe 11 to 8. The other game of the first half was a see-saw battle up until the eighth and ninth ends, when Rivard got three on each end to nose Lindsey out 10 to 6.

Campbell and Maybee were all square on the enghth end, seven all. Campbell came through in the ninth with a two on the tenth. Maybee on a nice bullet killed the end, but lost out in the extra end.

CLOTHIERS WIN OVER ELECTRICS

FINAL SCORE 5-2.

Behind grand pitching by Chuck Butcher, Fashion-Crafts pulled out a 5-2 win over C.G.E. in the men's softball game last evening at Central. It was the best game so far this season. Butcher, in rare form, smoked the ball by 14 batters and walked eight. He only allowed two hits, one of the scratchy variety. C.G.E. got not the semblance of a safe hit till the sixth when Newsom dribbled one past Russell, and in the next frame Heffernan hit cleanly to left. Chuck weakened momentarily in the sixth when he walked two which with a hit and an error gave C.G.E. their two runs. He tightened up then and was invincible.

Heffernan did the flinging for the Electrics and pitched nice ball, fanning four and walking one. But he eased up at times and the big Fashion-Craft clubs did the rest. Shrimp McDougall led the winners' attack with three out of five hits, one of them a homer. Gainey also had two in four, one a triple. Jim Gillespie in centre strengthened the victors' outfield. Only three errors were chalked up in this lively contest. The teams:

Fashion-Craft: Wiley, rf; McDougall, 3b; Gardner, lf; Gainey, ss; Dobson, c; Russell, 2b; Gillespie, cf; Clarke, 1b; Butcher, p.

Central walloped Queen Alex, 24 to 2, in a School Softball League game on the former's grounds last night. It was a five-inning contest and marked by heavy slugging by the Central boys, good pitching and fair fielding. The losers were weak in all three departments, and did not tally till the last frame. The teams:

Double-Plays Help Saints To Win 16-8

Two fast double-plays helped St. James Bantams pull out a 16-8 win over St. John's in their Church League softball contest last evening. J. Grose pitched good ball and Leether and Howden hit well for the winners. The Castle brothers, Lewis and Greenley were best for the other side.

DOURO ELMWOODS GET 21-7 VICTORY

Opening Ceremonies Held for East Peterborough Softball League.

The first East Peterborough Softball League game was played last night, with Centre Douro Elmwoods getting a 21-17 verdict over North Douro. The president, vice-president and secretary of the league officiated in the opening ceremony at Douro. Play was rather loose in spots, but one of the highlights of the game was a fine catch by the North Douro catcher, M. P. Coughlin.

Jim Delaney, North's first-sacker, played steady in the field and smacked out two homers. Joe Sheehan, winners' leftfielder, pulled off a neat running catch once, while Emmett Garvey also showed smart gardening. After a bad start, Elmwoods got going and got to Vince Dwyer for some solid blows, which with a few errors, put them in the lead.

The teams:

North Douro—M. Coughlin, c; F. Leahy, 2b; F. Condon, ss; Jim Delaney, 1b; S. Condon, cf; Ed. Allen, rf; V. Dwyer, p; J. Delaney, lf; G. Condon, 3b.

Keene Baseball Club Stages Variety Show

(Examiner Correspondence.)

KEENE, June 2. — The Keene boys soft ball team staged a very interesting program in the town hall on Tuesday evening.

F. A. Eason acted as chairman and after a brief address announced the first number, a duet by Miss M. Bryce, and Mrs. F. Eason; burlesque, "O. Hamlet, Hamlet, where have you been?" was exceptionally well put on by the ball team.

Miss Lenore Broatch gave a reading "Livinsky at the Wedding." A dialogue playlet, "Which is it?" by Catherine McCarthy and Gordon Nelson, was well played. A trio by D. D. Brown and sons, Douglas and Lawrence, was heartily encored. A reading by Miss Edith Elmhirst, "Friday's Bargains," solo by Miss Margaret Bryce. Michael McCarthy delighted the audience with his Irish songs, Everett Orde gave an exhibition of step dancing.

The drawing of the lucky number entitling the winner to $5.00 of merchandize at a local store was next. Dr. H. Wright drew the ticket, Alfrey Godfrey being the lucky winner.

Miss Broatch gave a reading.

The last number, Cow Boy Songs, sung by W. T. Fletcher, was much enjoyed.

PRINCE OF WALES NINE ARE EASY WINNERS 22-9

Piling up an early lead, Prince of Wales hung a 22-9 licking on King George in their School Softball League game on the East City diamond yesterday. THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

READ THIS FIRST

John Tait stepson of wealthy Lady Tait is engaged to marry Lucy Burnham a widow. This is resented by Alysia Naylor John's cousin, who has been making her home with her sister, Etta, and her brother Claud at Tait's abode in England. Alysa tries to spoil the romance by using her own fiance, Reggie Claridge, to win Mrs. Burnham's affections. Lady Tait sees her stepson talking to a beautiful young girl whom she dislikes at once, in a hotel lobby at Vichy where she and her new friend, Mrs. Burnham, are stopping. The girl, revealed as Gillian Dundas who has been blackmailing Tait through a past indiscretion, talks of Tait to a strange-looking young man in another hotel. Meanwhile Claridge arrives from England introduces himself to Lady Tait, and is immediately taken by Miss Dundas' beauty. The hotel manager arranges a sitting with a Moroccan sorcerer for Lady Tait, John Tait, Mrs. Burnham, Claridge, Claud Naylor, Miss Dundas, and a Mrs. de Souza who employs Gillian as a companion. Suddenly the Arab vanishes. Claridge writes Alysia that he has failed in his quest to separate her Cousin John and Lucy Burnham. Claud Naylor and some of the others return to London from Vichy. At an art gallery young Naylor runs into Lady Ida Westmacott who at one time was engaged to John Tait. Back at Lady Tait's, the latter shows John a letter from her dead son's wife, an Italian woman she despises, demanding money for her son, Lady Tait's young grandson. Out for a drive with his fiancee, Tait reads of the shooting of Lord Mills, a business associate. His valet, Brown, has been held for the murder. As Tait recommended Brown for the job, he is intensely disturbed over the tragedy.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

But at the moment Miss Dundas was far too busy to look at newspapers.

She had just arrived at Victoria with Mrs. de Souza, and they had found that two trunks which had been dispatched beforehand could only be cleared through the customs when the luggage on the boat train had been examined. Mrs. de Souza and her maid left Gillian to see to this and drove off. Now Reginald Claridge had stayed on in Paris at the same hotel, and had crossed with them to Folkstone. He had tried to talk to Gillian on the boat, but the snub he had received was so unmistakable that after it, even he effaced himself for the time being.

He was sulkily watching the trio, saw Mrs. de Souza and her maid drive off, heard, for he was just having his own things put into a taxi, her employer tell her to bring the trunks on with her, and then, to his surprise saw her motion to a taxi, once they were well away.

"Follow that taxi over there," he said to his own driver. After one look at the girl in it, the cabman gave a most understanding nod.

Claridge was driven round the corner of the station into one of those streets that call themselves Belgravia but are spoken of as Victoria. Here Gillian pulled up, and said something to her driver who gave four toots on his horn. Instantly the door of a tall house; that had once been a good one, was opened, and a young man ran down the steps and bounded into the taxi. All with a speed that might have been due to a lover's ardor or to a criminal's reluctance to be seen by a passing policeman.

For a quarter of an hour the taxi with Gillian and the stranger in it drove round, followed by Claridge. Then it returned to the house, and the young man let himself in with a key. Gillian, Claridge found, now went back to the station, and proceeded to carry out instructions.

He himself was deeply disappointed. This was no good. He had not the brains to wonder what conversation could be so important as to need such secrecy. He had had a good look at the young man as he jumped into and then when he left the taxi. A very loose-limbed big young man with enormous breadth of shoulder and long arms who slouched as he walked till he looked half deformed. He certainly had a good tailor, an English one. Yet the astute Claridge did not think that he was his tailor's favorite. Something suggested very superior cutting negligently put together, as though for a man of no social importance. He, Claridge, would not have accepted the fit of the collar, for instance. Yes, he thought ruefully as he turned away from the station, his outing had only been another washout. Yet he still felt certain that if he could only get behind the painted curtains of Gillian Dundas' life, he would come on something discreditable. He was as sure of this as he was of the innocent and dull background of Lady Tait and Mrs. Burnham's past lives. And if he could find out just what it was, he would have the haughty beauty at his mercy.

He drove back to the house from which he had seen the stranger come out. There he rang the bell. The door was opened by a man in a blue jacket, a servant of some kind. He looked Italian. Claridge was feeling in his pocket for a non-existent card. He withdrew it empty with a gesture of annoyance. He had met a gentleman in the boat-train today; they had talked business and the other had given him his card and asked him to call on him here. Unfortunately, he had lost the card, though he had remembered the address. As to the gentleman in question—Claridge here described the man whom he had seen a few minutes before. That would be Mr. Strange, the servant said at once. "Ground floor flat. He's in." Apparently the man considered that his duties were done with that announcement, for he went downstairs again pointing over his shoulder at the door beside Claridge.

Claridge opened it and stepped into a typical sitting room of this kind of house. He had expected to find the man inside and intended then to back out after a good look at him with some sort of an apology. But as it chanced, the opening of the door and his entry had both been noiseless. He looked about him surprised to find himself alone. Then he saw a door was ajar leading into what was presumably the bedroom. Claridge had no fixed plan of action. He always gave way to the impulse of the moment, if he dared, and he thought that he did dare here. One swift step and he was looking through the half open door. He looked into the sort of room that he expected, but the occupant kept him rooted to the spot, while the hair on the back of his neck began to rise.

Something hardly human sat huddled up on the further side of a table staring at itself in a mirror on the wall. Something that mouthed and showed the whites of dr eadful eyes rolled up until only the whites were visible. From the puffy loose lips saliva drooled. Just for a second the face grimaced, then the head was turned a fraction and the rolled-up eyes evidently caught sight of the open door and the white, appalled face of the intruder. The eyes rolled down. The two men stared at one another before, with a bellow of fury, the man, for it was a man, leapt up and forward in one spring as a baboon leaps. Claridge was never brave. And now he had excuse for his terror. A look had come into those eyes, a silent determinat on in his rush which leant wings to Claridge's nimble feet. He was out of the house before the other could have leapt into the corridor. Panting, mopping his face two corners away, Claridge finally ventured to pause for the first time. That was a madman whom he had watched just now. Most people would have wondered whether some tragedy, not necessarily ignoble, might not lie here. But Claridge had never felt pity in his life—except for himself. All he knew, all that interested him was the knowledge that Gillian Dundas had an insane, or partially insane, brother, or lover or husband. He decided promptly that any idea that this was an actor whom he had surprised while rehearsing an effect was negatived, first by something terribly accustomed in the very way the features seemed to fall into that dreadful, bestial look of themselves, as it were, and then by the desperation which he had rightly divined in the rush made at him by the man on whom he had intruded. There had been what shone like murder in the glare of the eyes that had looked into his own popping blue ones, and a ferocity in the spring right over the table into the center of the room, which made him feel that he would have been torn limb from limb had he been caught. He dropped on the instant, and quite definitely, any idea of ever trying to make headway with Miss Dundas. Claridge loved his own skin and his comfort more than anything else in the world. Since the girl had a madman in tow, his interest in her was gone forever. He decided to see Alysia at once and make love to her. She would be cross at the waste, as she would call it, of the wretched £15 handed to him as a gamble on Mrs. Burnham's affection for John Tait.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, June 3

Sunday's horoscope hold auguries of hostile and contradictory conditions to be coped with. It should be a very active day in intellectual pursuits, with the forces and faculties under high tension.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves under a year of mixed influences with change, travel or litigations bringing benefits. But some personal danger menaces, especially if the behavior be riotous, turbulent, or impetuous.

A child born on this day may be studious, quick witted, versatile but may have a fiery temper unless disciplined in infancy.

For Monday, June 4

Monday's astrological chart is a conflicting one, with prospects of many opportunities for contacting "big business" and attaining the kindly notice of those in high places by treachery, confusion or disappointment.

Those whose birthday it is are under a sign of conflicting conditions during the year, with excellent opportunities for attracting the attention, favor and preferment of those in places of power and big business.

A child born on this day may be efficient, ambitious and friendly but may be disposed to be tricky, crafty or shrewd in its dealings, thereby losing the good will of those in position to help it to find standing.

Clifford, in company with a boy friend, were at the home of Mr. Harold Van Volkenburg, Norwood Road, at the time when Mr. Scott called, accompanied by his dog, which sprang at Clifford, grabbing his hand, causing deep lacerations.

Keene

The "Willing Workers" Group of the Keene United Church W.M.S., met at the home of Miss Annie McIntyre. A pleasant evening was spent. This group will hold one more circle meeting at the home of Mrs. J. Campbell, the end of June, and will not meet again until September.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Whalen on Thursday, May 31, twin boys.

The Tillicum Class of the Keene United Sunday school gathered at the home of Miss May Hastie on Thursday evening, May 31.

The meeting opened by singing "Tell Me the Old, Old Story," Prayer in unison. Business was discussed being followed by a one act playlet but on by Bertha Elmhurst, Marion and Helen Gillespie, Marjorie Francis, Audrey McConkey, Edith Nelson and Helen Nelson, which was much enjoyed by the girls present.

During the evening Miss Hastie was called forward by the president and presented with a shower of kitchen utensils by Marjory Francis in honor of her approaching marriage. She replied very fittingly, thanking the girls heartily and inviting them to visit her in her new home.

AGAIN TIED UP

BUFFALO, N.Y., June 2.—(AP)—For the second time within two weeks lake vessels moved in and out of Bufalfo harbor under their own power yesterday as tugmen walked ed out of their jobs.

The tugmen emphasized that their action was not a strike but merely a protest over failure of arbitration proceedings in Cleveland to give them an eight-hour day and a return to the 1929 wage scale.

CONDITIONS WORSE IN WEST THAN EVER BEFORE, SAYS WEIR

Millions of Acres Become Desert Parliament is Informed.

FAMILIES MOVE OUT.

OTTAWA, June 2 (C.P.)—With the black hand of misfortune again stretched over large areas of Canada's prairie farm lands the Federal Government is rendering every assistance possible to the provincial governments in their efforts to combat grasshoppers and relieve the distress occasioned by drought.

Parliament last night heard an echo of the bad news which has recently been coming from the West when Hon. Robert Weir Minister of Agriculture, said conditions were worse than they have ever been before.

Early in the season, Mr. Weir said a liberal supply of moisture in the sub-soil held out a promise of a successful year for the farmer and indicated a break in the years of drought. But in the past 10 days prospects had taken a sharp downward turn.

On millions of acres nothing was growing, soil was drifting, and livestock were starving where a few weeks ago there was every indication of luxuriant pasture. Some families had already made arrangements to ship their stock north out of the stricken areas.

Help Required

Mr. Weir was asked by Hon. W. R. Motherwell Liberal member for Melville how much money the government was going to lend to Saskatchewan this year and replied that in he face of conditions it was impossible to tell how much would be required. He then went on to describe conditions. The western provinces however, had been assured of all necessary assistance.

The discussion took place as the House all but put the finishing touches to voting the estimates with the exception of five items have now been passed.

Third reading was given the companies bill a major piece of legislation from a legal and practical point of view but not of great moment from the angle of political controversy.

Past Office Policy

The policy of the government in effecting economies in the Post Office Department came in for condemnation from Hon. Peter Veniot, former postmaster general, who from his own experience expressed sympathy with Hon. Arthur Sauve, present postmaster general on this and other points. He said he did not blame Mr. Sauve for what he considered false economies.

Further Mr. Veniot came out in favor of the "spoils system" and, unlike other members of the opposition commended Mr. Sauve for appointing Conservatives to posts as postmasters and mail carriers. He, himself, had followed the practice of looking after the friends of the government when in office and if he ever became postmaster general again would carry on in the same fashion.

Cameron McIntosh, Liberal member for North Battleford, was threatened with expulsion from the House when he tangled with Mr. Weir and Sam Gobeil, chairman of the committee, in the debate on agriculture estimates. Ruled out of order by the chairman, he said "Your opinion does not amount to a row of pins."

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett said the remark was insulting and could not be tolerated. Mr. McIntosh withdrew it.

Can't Say Boo

NEW YORK, June 2 (C.P.)—Lovers of liberty and freedom of speech hereabouts have run into a new "don't" that sent them staggering to the medicine cabinet for the smelling salts.

The new "don't," solemnly presented by the park commission, is this: "Don't say 'boo' at a bird or an animal."

This gem of legislation was one of a great many taboos listed by the commission in a codification of ordinances, rules and regulations fyled with the City Clerk.

Students of wild life in the big city pointed out that many animals have very sensitive nervous systems. A boo is apt to upset an anteater, for example, for the entire day, so that he may be unable to eat a single ant. The gross cruelty of booing an elephant or a lion is apparent to the veriest amateur.

CONCERT GIVEN BY SERENADERS

"Aloha Serenaders" Delight Audience in Conservatory of Music Hall.

PLEASING SETTING.

The strum and rhythmic beat of the haunting music of the South Seas echoed through the Conservatory of Music Hall last night, when the "Aloha Serenaders," pupils of Miss Helen Ludbrook, presented a recital on their Hawaiian guitars. The big hall was filled to capacity with an audience that appreciated to the fullest the fine program, which consisted of guitar solo and group playing, a campfire scene of varied numbers, also vocal solors, readings and whistling selections. Applause was generous and prolonged for every number in an exceptionally interesting entertainment.

Assisting the Serenaders were Miss Mignon Mayneord, in whistling solos, Miss Gwen Parnell, elocutionist; Jack Marshall, accompanist; Jim Sands, Fred Fowler, Ken McCannan and Sid Turner, vocalists.

A pleasing feature of the stage setting was a large back drop designed and executed by Miss Ludbrook and her assistants, depicting a Hawaiian beach with palm trees and a setting sun and old Kilauea smoking away on the horizon.

The orchestra members wore white suits and frocks and red and green leis and opened and closed the program with Hawaiian selections that were tuneful and sweet in the extreme. The resounding applause that echoed through the hall for each number on the program greeted this group also. All of Miss Ludbrook's pupils play from memory and are manifestly expertly trained. They play with ease and expressive sentiment, bringing out with excellent effect the rhythmis, mournful, echoing music of the melodies of the isles of the sea.

Following came a quartette of ladies: the Misses Thelma Carveth, Viola Murphy, Opal Roseborough and Helen Ludbrook, playing "Moonlight Down in Lovers' Lane"; a men's quartette: Bill Sage, Bob Hamilton, Bill Bartlett and Clare McWilliams, playing, "The Old Rugged Cross"; a guitar solo by little Ruth Harris, a small clever lassie with a scarlet lei and hair bow, playing, "One, two, Three, Four," and "My Blue Ridge Mountain Home"; selections by the orchestra: "My Wild Irish Rose," and "Cut Down the Old Pine Tree"; a guitar group playing "The Old Spinning Wheel," with solo by the Misses Betty Brown and Ruth Harris; guitar solos: "Kimiki March" and "Aloha Oe," by Clare McWilliams; a very pretty rendition of the softly-toned "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton," by the Misses Mary Trotter, Ida Sage, Opal Roseborough and Miss Ludbrook, and Keith Welch; two ladies' quartettes: the Misses Betty Brown, Ruth Harris, Helen Black and Verna Hope, playing "Bring Back My Bonny," also the Misses Cora Charlton, Clare Connel, Kathleen Wannamaker and Asunta White, of Lakefield, singing "My Little Grass Shack," and attired in trig sailor outfits; guitar solos: "Drowsy Water" and "Just an Echo," by Bob Hamilton, and a vocal duett by two small performers, Betty Brown and Jim Sands, accompanied by Miss Ludbrook, and singing, "We'll Make Hay While the Sun Shines."

Songs Around the Campfire

An added novelty was a campfire scene in which the members of the group played on Hawaiian and Spanish guitars, and added in turn songs and instrumental music to the entertainment. Their selections included well-played renditions of such favorites as "Home on the Range," "The Last Round Up," and "Drifting and Dreaming." The members of this group were Jim Sands, Fred Fowler, Clare McWilliams, Bill Bartlett, Bill Sage, Donald Ralph, Max Northey, Keith Welch and Ken Wyatt.

The assisting artists were encored loudly and enthusiastically. Miss Mignon Mayneord, whose unique art progresses to greater perfection with every season, whistled with birdlike ease and purity of tone, the lovely stanzas of "The End of a Perfect Day," with guitar accompaniment by Miss Ludbrook, also "The Glow Worm," against the piano melody played by Jack Marshall.

Miss Gwen Parnell, one of the most expert of the city's junior elocutionists, whose style of reading is marked by an attractive simplicity and naturalness, pleased her listeners immensely with the thrill of "In Covenanter Days" and the fun of "Friday Afternoon in a Primary School."

And small Jim Sands, in a gay Scotch kilt, with a Scotch accent that "burred" his "R's" resoundingly, gave "On the Road to Inverary" in a manner that brough down the house, and came back with Harry Lauder's "Roamin' in the Gloamin'," as an encore to one of the hits o fthe evening.

Another solo effort that won the little girl, Betty Brown, plenty of well-merited and highly enthusiastic appreciation from a much-entertained house, was her highly vivacious performance of the song, "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf," with appropriate pantomimic gestures and guitar accompaniment played by Bob Hamilton.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK — By R. J. Scott

RUSSIA IS NOW CONCENTRATING ON THE BUILDING OF LARGE NAVY

Will Depend on Submarines, Light Cruisers and Destroyers.

TO RIVAL OTHER POWERS.

PARIS, June 2. — (By Central Press Canadian).—Having built up the largest standing army in the world, well equipped with the most modern armaments and supported by a powerful air service, Soviet Russia now is intent on completing a naval construction program that will give her the equal of the most powerful navies of the world, it is indicated by information received here.

Starting from scratch—for during the revolution and the civil wars that followed, all her most valuable war vessels were destroyed or damaged beyond repair — Russia has constructed in less than ten years a navy that is the equal of any of her European neighbors. And when her present construction program is finished, she will rival the strength of Japan, Great Britain, or the United States on the seas, it is declared.

To-day, it is shown by a detailed survey made by the French naval expert, Captain M. Labourerer, Russia's naval strength exceeds 350,000 tons, and is expected to reach 375,000 tons by the end of this year. Ships now planned or under construction under the new "five year plan" will give the Soviet navy a total of at least 550,000 tons, distributed among 300 vessels of all types.

Soviet Russia is concentrating on light cruisers, destroyers and submarines. Of these three types alone she now has 70; 30 submarines, 28 destroyers and 12 cruisers. In addition 20 more submarines and 15 destroyers are under construction. The concentration on smaller vessels is due, the Soviets claim, to the fact their naval policy is dictated more by defensive measures than offensive plans. The submarines average 1,100 tons. The largest under construction will be 1,650 tons, to be known as Bezboznik, in English, "Godless."

Five Types of Destroyer.

The destroyers are divided into five groups. The Lenin-Stalin type, completed in 1925, of 1,300 tons, develop a speed of 28 knots, have four 4-inch guns, and nine torpedo tubes. In addition each is equipped to be a mine layer and carries 50 mines. All of the Russian destroyers are equipped as mine layers. Nine ships of the Karl Marx type are of 1,650 tons, each have a speed of 33 to 34 knots, carries four 4½-inch guns, and nine torpedo tubes and 60 mines. Seven destroyers of the Kalinin type have a speed of 33 knots, five guns, 12 torpedo tubes, and carry 45 mines. They are 1,800 tons. The others are about 1,500 tons. Their equipment is similar to the larger boats.

The Soviet cruisers, of which Russia will have 20 when the present construction program is completed, average about 8,000 tons. Of these, the Voroshilov has 8,700 tons, a speed of 30 knots, and is armed with 15 5½-inch guns. Red Ukrainie is 9,000 tons, a speed of 32 knots, with 15 6-inch guns. Red Causcasus is 8,000 tons, a speed of 30 knots, with 15 5-inch guns. The others are slightly smaller.

As to battleships, with those included in Russia's present construction program, Russia will have nine by the end of 1936, all averaging about 26,000 tons. At present the largest are the Marat, October Revolution and Paris Commune, each with 15 12-inch guns, and a speed of 18 to 23 knots.

As supplementaries there are two aeroplane-carriers, 15 mine layers, 12 mine sweepers, a score of gunboats, over 100 patrol boats, six ice breakers and other types.

Although avowedly built for defensive purposes only, according to Soviet spokesmen, there is no question that the Soviet Union is preparing for the possibility of having to assume an aggressive role in naval warfare in the east.

The naval personnel is drawn from the ranks of the Communist party. All the older officers and men have been weeded out.

FAMILY RE-UNION HELD IN MARIPOSA

Sons and Daughters of Mrs. Lillico Honor Her on Her 77th Birthday.

LAKEFIELD, June 2 —(Examiner Correspondence).—A very happy reunion took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wright, Mariposa, on May 24th, when ten of Mrs. Lillico's sons and daughters and their families met to honor her on her 77th birthday coming from North Bay, Nobel, Georgetown, Toronto, Lakefield and Peterborough for the occasion. A sister, Mrs. Wilson, of Oshawa, a brother-in-law, Mr. Fee, was also present. Others besides the immediate family present were: Mrs. Cornell and daughter, Helen, of Lindsay; Mr. and Mrs. D. Graham, Cannington; Elton Niles, Cresswell; Cecil Niles and Miss Alene Niles, Lakefield; Mrs. Cartwright of Toronto. Fifteen grandchildren and two great grandchildren made up the family gathering. Two sons of Mrs. Lillico, living in Western Canada, were unable to attend.

Mrs. Lillico has twelve children, nineteen grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

The tea table was centred by a delectable birthday cake with the usual candles, the table and reception room were tastefully decorated with roses, sweet peas and wild flowers.

A display of fireworks in the evening was staged for the younger members of the party and when the day was over it was voted a completed success in every way and plans are already on foot for the 1935 gathering.

Born—In Nicholls Hospitals, Peterborough, on May 26th, to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Garvey, Douro, a son.

Weary Days—Sleepless Nights Wrack the Nervous System

MILBURN'S HEALTH NERVE PILLS

Men and women toss night after night on sleepless beds. Their eyes do not close in the refreshing repose that comes to those whose nerves are right. They are irritable and nervous, weak and worn out, and everything looks dark and gloomy.

Milburn's H. & N. Pills is the remedy that is required to restore them the blessing of good health. They bring back the sound refreshing sleep, tone up the nerves, and impart that sense of buoyancy to the spirits that is the result of renewed mental and physical vigor.

Leviathan Is Reprieved

Earmarked for the scrap-heap a year ago, the palatial Leviathan, which played a prominent part in the World War as a troop transport gets a new lease on life as she arrives at Boston for overhauling before being returned to the trans-Atlantic passenger trade between New York and Europe. She will sail on her first trip June 9.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright,
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet
Or dims the radiant light
No unkind word our lips shall pass
No envy sour the mind;
But each shall seek the common weal—
The good of all mankind

MILLBROOK

The original topic, "Life's Little Lifts," was chosen for the discussion during an afternoon session of an Institute executive the best of the suggestions to be passed on at the June meeting of the branch by means of the minutes read by the secretary.

Among the 'lifts' that were provided by these experienced homemakers were the fact that whitewash marks may be removed from floors, furniture, and windows if rubbed with a soft cloth dipped in melted parrafin. That a strong solution of salt and water will take ink stains out of deal tables; this bit of information was for a young mother who declared the top of her kitchen table had been so marred when her little son upset the ink bottle "one day when I was just ready to write a letter to mother."

Another of those in the conference on 'lifts' asked for a good way of cleaning "my husband's clothes which are growing shiny and have a good many spots; the suit has to last for best though until times improve for the family purse is drained to provide other necessities outside of clothing." The presiding officer was ready with the following: "You will find this prescription an excellent one, passed on to me by my mother who knew the hardships of pioneer days; apply it with a soft brush and rub dry with a cloth free from lint. One-eighth pound of ammonia, one-half ounce sulphuris ether, one-half ounce spirits of wine, one-half ounce white castile soap shaved finely, and one quart of soft water. Better have your druggist make it up except the water which you can add afterward; keep in a sealed jar —this quantity will last a long time."

Another query related to stains from blue water remaining on clothes, the help for this being to "dissolve a little soda in the blueing water and you will have no stains to deal with." The 'lift' for the woman who wanted to know how to "freshen up an oil painting of my husband's father that he values highly and which has grown quite dingy looking" was to go over it very carefully with a woollen cloth lightly moistened with olive oil. How to remove old paper from walls and ceiling was the next difficulty 'aired,' and while various methods were suggested one member positively averred that she had found one pound of washing soda in a large bucket of water, applied with a whitewash brush, did the best service in this unpleasant and often trying task.

Someone christened rhubarb the "garden's good-tempered growth," and asked for a recipe of preserving same "so it can be used as pie and tart filling in the winter"; a combination of pineapple and rhubarb was recommended the recipe being guaranteed as "one of the best for this purpose." Take ten pounds of tender rhubarb, wash and cut in inch pieces; to this add one large pineapple and cook in a syrup made of five pounds sugar, one and one-half cups water boiled together for five minutes. Cook forty minutes and while still at boiling point seal in sterilized jars. A question about the easiest and most economical way of cutting up the pineapple brought the answer to slice it, peel, pare the eyes from each slice, then cut into small pieces.

Making cream whip when it is 'balky' even if well chilled, was a problem presented for solution, the remedy being to "add about five drops of glycerine to the cream (one pint), and it will soon be quite stiff. Indeed a few drops of glycerine added to the chocolate used for dipping bon-bons will give them the much-desired gloss, and they will also harden more quickly."

In these housecleaning days the 'lift' that borax will give curtains just the body they need, does not make them too stiff as starch does, nor rot them, but makes ironing of them much easier, was most welcome. And when one lady asked if bath salts could not be made successfully at home she was assured they could and the ingredients supplied: Five pounds sea salt, one pound Epsom salts, 1 package of borax, one ounce orris root, cents' worth of ammonia, twenty-five cents' worth of any desired perfume, two tablespoons fruit coloring (any shade). Place the first four in pan, stir till well mixed, then add frut coloring drop by drop, perfume in the same manner, then ammonia and bottle immediately. Not expensive.

DAUGHTER TELLS MURDER STORY

Shot Her Father After Ouija Board, Cards Decreed Death.

MOTHER BLAMED.

ST. JOHN, Ariz. June 2 (A.P.)—A daughter's story of how she killed her father through the asserted influence of her mother when a ouija board and a deck of cards decreed death, was placed in superior court records to-day.

The testimony of 15-year-old Mattie Turley was given at the trial of the mother, Dorothea Irene Turley, accused of "intent to murder" in the shooting of her husband, Ernest J. Turley, rancher and retired gunner's mate of the Navy.

Turley was wounded fatally by his daughter at their ranch home here last November 17.

The girl said the mother wanted a divorce but the father had declined to consent to it, so "mother decided she'd have to kill him." A ouija board was brought out, the child said, and the mother told her that the ouija had chosen her to do the killing. Consulting fate further, daughter said her mother turned up the ace of spades from a deck of cards and told her it meant death for "Daddy."

Several times the girl said she lost her "nerve" but finally shot. Turley died more than a month later.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

Cheese made a slight advance on the Montreal produce market yesterday, there being no change in the prices of other commodities. No. 1 Ontario colored became 10c, the quality showing a marked improvement. Receipts were 1,446 boxes.

Butter remained steady at from 21¼c to 21½c for fresh No. 1. Arrivals totalled 889 boxes.

Eggs were unchanged, graded shipments being quoted at 20½c to 21c for "A" large, 19½c to 20c for "A" medium, 18½c to 19c for "B" and 17c to 17½c for "C." Receipts amounted to 2,861 cases.

The potato market was 80c to 85c for New Brunswick Mountains per 60-pound bag, 75c to 80c for Quebecs per 80-pound bag, and Prince Edward Island Mountains $1 per 90-pound bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 2. — Wheat prices tumbled almost four cents from the high points on the Winnipeg Grani Exchange yesterday, swept downward by liberal profit-taking and stop-loss selling. The late selling left the market ¾ to 1 cent lower, despite export purchases aggregating 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat.

Weather conditions showed little change for the better but traders appeared to feel the market was moving upward too fast and profits were promptly taken.

Tentative estimates of five important European crops, those of France, Italy, Hungary, Roumania, and Spain, show a reduction of 150,000,000 bushels from a year ago. This does not take into account other Balkan countries or Germany, where drought continues to take crop toll.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 2. — Abrupt veering of speculative sentiment late yesterday plunged wheat values widly downward 6 cents from the earlier top figures. Word that it was raining at several points in Southern Saskatchewan, together with reports of showers in spring wheat states north-west, served as a signal of the possibility that ending of the United States' unprecedented drought and abnormal heat was at last in sight. The result was a stampede to grab profits, while the grabbing was good, and this ran the markets suddenly into stop-loss selling orders of unusual magnitude.

3 SINK TO DEATH.

St. Catharines Farmer, Collingwood Man Die of Heat —Miner is Shot.

(By the Canadian Press)

Thirteen lives were lost in week-end accidents in Ontario, drowning, heat, traffic accidents and other mishaps taking their toll. Crowded highways and beaches followed the seize of heat.

Three persons were drowned and two succumbed to the heat. A child died from scalds and a man was victim of the premature discharge of a revolver. Mrs. David Van Every, 75, went to her death in Meldrum Bay near Gore Bay and Ottawa River waters claimed 11-year-old Gerard Legace when a boat overturned.

Another boy, Mitchell Ganfelice, 13, of Windsor, was the third drowning victim, plunging into the Detroit River from an overturned boat.

William Neil 43-year-old member of Hollinger Mines police, died from a bullet wound, inflicted when the revolver he was cleaning accidentally discharged. In Kingston, David Volkinburgh, infant, tumbled into a tub of boiling water and died from scalds. A freight train derailment near North Bay caused the death of Ernest Harrison, Vancouver transient, one of the 14 knights of the road riding on the train.

Traffic Victim

Five persons met their deaths in traffic accidents. Dr. Gordon McKay, 31, of Hagersville, was killed when his auto overturned near Jarvis and his wife was slightly injured. Sal Papasin, 40, died from injuries received when his bicycle was struck by an auto at Windsor; George Hood of Windsor was killed when he stepped into an auto's path and Norman Waver, 11-year-old Hamilton boy was killed by a car.

A Newmarket family on a pleasure trip were stopped by death. Their car plunged into the ditch and overturned, killing Evelyn Hilley, 23, and injuring her father, Ralph Hilley, 47; James Hilley, 19; Muriel, 17; and Grace, 14.

Heart caused the death of Judson Austin, Caister Center farmer, who died at St. Catharines. George Corrigan, 85, was found dead on the road near Collingwood, believed a victim of a heart attack brought on by the heat.

KING GEORGE TAKES SALUTE AT TROOPING OF THE COLORS

Thousands Attend Famous Ceremony in Honor of His Majesty's 69th Birthday.

OTTAWA CELEBRATES.

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, June 4.—(C. . Cable.)—Leaden skies, a biting east wind and more than a suspicion of badly-needed rain, made an incongruous accompaniment to-day to the stately pageantry of the official celebrations of the King's 69th birthday.

The actual birthday anniversary Sunday was spent by His Majesty at Buckingham Palace, the aged but still vigroous Duke of Connought, former Governor-General of Canada, being one of the first callers to offer his congratulations. Princess Victoria, sister of the King, King George of Greece, and the Grand Duchess Xenia of Russia were among the visitors.

The guns of the Royal Artillery boomed out the official birthday salutation at noon to-day in Hyde Park. Bells rang gaily in St. Geoerge's chapel, at Windsor, and in many more lowly churches throughout the British Isles.

Thousands Cheer.

To the cheers of thousands, the King rode fom the palace to the Horse Guards' parade to take the salute at the famous ceremony, the trooping of the colors. His Majesty wore full-dress sacriet of the Colonel-in-Chief of the Brigade of Guards, with the blue ribbon of the Garter acros shis breast.

Behind him rode the Prince of Steel Firms Arming For General Strike

WASHINGTON, June 4. —(A.P. —President Roosevelt was informed to-day by Governor Gifford Pinuchot of Pennsyvania that the steel companies are arming in preparation for the threatening strike of workers.

Their talk was at a time when the President was leaving to Hugh S. Johnson the finding of means to avoid a strike.

The NRA chief, believed to be in conference at a hotel with W. A. Irwin of U. S. steel.

On leaving the White House, Pinchit told newsmen he had called simply to report "the situation is bad."

"The Steel Companies are arming," he said. "I am ready to meet whatever situation arises."

He had not asked Federal Intervention but said he was interested mainly in making a report.

CRESSON, Pa., June 4 (CP) —Francis Miller's path to a High School Education was approximately 7,200 miles long.

The youth, who lives at Wildwood Spring, five miles from Cresson, walked to and from school each day. He has just received his diploma.

Dry Camps

LADYSMITH, Wis., June 4 (CP)—Wisconsin dairymen are adding dry humor to the products of the drought.

Moving their cattle from parched areas to cut-over land near here, they have given their hastily established camps such names as "Eighteenth Amendment Camp," so called because it is the result of a long dry spell; "Wood Tick Camp," "Long Drought Camp" and "Big Mosquito Camp."

President's Train Specially Guarded

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y., June 4 (A.P.).—Elaborate precautions were taken to guard President Roosevelt's train when it passed through here early to-day on the way to Washington.

Mount Vernon, New Rochelle and other police along the New Haven railroad had also been notified to be on guard when the President's special passed through Sunday morning on the way to Hyde Park, it was learned.

Similar protective measures were taken along the railroad right-of-way Thursday night when the President journeyed to Groton, Mass., from New York.

Captain Michael I. Silvestein here said he had been advised by secret service operative that they had reason to believe "an attempt might be made to blow up the President's train."

YOUTH MURDERS YOUNG BROTHER AND HIS MOTHER

Walks Into Police Station and Confesses as Net is Spread.

SENDS FATHER TELEGRAM.

Couldn't Stand Things Pair Had Done to Him—Used Hatchet.

LOS ANGELES, June 4.—(A.P.) —Louis Rude Payne, 21, cracked under the strain of an all-night grilling by police and confessed early to-day, officers said, to the details of the hatchet slaying of his mother and brother in their Westwood mansion here.

"I killed them last Tuesday night," detectives quoted the youth as saying.

"Many things my mother and brother had done to me finally multiplied themselves a million times in my mind and at last something set off the spark and I couldn't stand it any longer—so I killed them."

Mrs. Carrie L. Payne, 45, and her son, Robert, 14, were found hacked to death in their bedrooms of the luxurious Spanish-type Payne residence near the University of California at Los Angeles campus yesterday.

Alarm Sent Out

Several hours later an alarm was broadcast for Louis, but before the extensive police net had had time to spread, he nonchalantly walked into the Huntington Beach Police Station, 30 miles south of here.

At the time of his surrender, officers found in Louis' pockets a letter and a telegram, both addressed to his father, Lucius F. Payne, wealthy St. Louis utilities company executive, and both confessing the double slaying.

"I struck my mother first," detectives quoted the youth as saying after he finally broke down. "Then I tied a piece of rope around her neck and tied it to the bedstead. Then SCHNECTADY, N.Y., June 4. —(A.P.).—A policeman sits at the bedside of Lawrence Grimmer, Jr., waiting for him to regain consciousness long enough to be served with a warrant, charging second degree manslaughter in connection with an automobile accident that killed a former Canadian war flyer and injured 12 others.

Grimmer was in a hospital to-day under treatment for a skull fracture. He is expected to recover. The accused 23-year-old man was the driver of a car which plowed into officers and civilians gathered at the scene of a collision of two other cars on the Schnectady-Minaville Road early Sunday morning.

Chinaman Enters Smoke-Filled Rooms To Recover Cash Which He Had Saved

An excited Chinaman gave crowds of spectators a mild thrill, and created not a little amusement, when, following a fire at his George street premises Sunday afternoon, he climbed a ladder, clambered into the smoke-filled upper rooms, and retrieved the cash which he and his partner had laboriously earned in the little laundry below.

Breaking out in a pile of rubbish at the rear of the Sugar Bowl Store, tenanted by George Dormer, the fire, cause of which is undetermined, rapidly spread up the outer walls of the building and into the false attic where it gained deep-seated hold.

Insurance is carried on the building which is held under the joint ownership of Lee Hep and Sing Lung, laundry operators, while the contents of the Sugar Bowl Store operated by Mr. Dormer, was also covered by insurance. While unestimated, the total loss will probably run into several hundreds of dollars.

Mr. Dormer who had opened his store early in the afternoon, stated he closed up at about three o'clock, when everything was apparently normal.

Patrick Calladine who was in the vicinity at about 4.15, first noticed the fire and sounded the alarm which brought the firefighting apparatus to the scene in quick order.

When the brigade arrived smoke was belching from the upper windows of the two-storey roughcast building, and the rear of the premises was ablaze with flames sweeping the rear kitchen and stairway in the laundry.

In the interval from the time he put in the alarm until the arrival of the Fire Department under Fire Chief George Gimblett, Pat Calladine and Gordon Webb broke in the front door of the Sugar Bowl Store, and brought out three softball trophies which were held by the old Sugar Bowl softball team, as well as saving the cash register.

The trophies included the City League Softball Cup, the Lakefield Cement trophy, and the Indoor League trophy. The handles were melted off the Lakefield Cement trophy by the intense heat of the flames, while the two other trophies were more or less badly damaged.

NEW MARKETING LEGISLATION IS REVOLUTIONARY

H. B. Cowan Discusses Important Measures and Causes Leading Up to Its Introduction.

TALKS TO ROTARY.

Speaker Says Mistakes May be Made But Intimates Benefits From Legislation Will be Great.

The new marketing legislation now before Canada's Parliament was referred to by H. B. Cowan in a most interesting address to the Rotary Club to-day as "revolutionary," involving changes the import of which few persons realized.

"Mistakes, and costly ones may be made," said Mr. Cowan, "but the general opinion seems to be that conditions could not be worse and the legislation gives promise of accomplishing a great deal in the way of improvements."

Mr. Cowan was introduced by Rotarian James Dutton, who referred to the speaker's great interest in the subject of marketing, and to his association with national movements along that line.

Leading up to the Marketing Bill itself, Mr. Cowan outlined some of the reason that had caused the in-

Ex-Monarch Finally Caught for Interview Without Duke.

"SPAIN IN TURMOIL"

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

FONTAINEBLEAU, June 4. — "When I left Spain three years ago, I did so of my own free will....I wanted to avoid bloodshed....I could have called on the regiments of the guard to defend me. They were utterly loyal to my house.... I did not do so....I left because I wanted the Spanish peoples to decide for themselves in perfect freedom what form of government they desire. For me to have remained in Madrid would have interfered with that freedom."

So talked his majesty, Alfonso XIII., of the House of Habsburg-Bourbon, the last "Most Christian King," one-time ruler of Castilla and Andalusia, Catalonia and the land of the Basques. Through the Duke de Miranda the king has systematically refused all interviews since he left his throne across the Pyrenees, but he could not help talking to a fellow-wayfarer in the forest of Fontainebleau, for he is a most amiable man, kindness personified. I spoke to Alfonso the man and not Alfonso the king. The Duke de Miranda, his faithful equerry, had told me a half dozen times that I could not have an interview with his royal friend and master. And the duke, aristocrat to his finger-tips, grandee of Spain, is not a gentleman to be trifled with. He means what he says. He has succeeded in keeping the king away from all newspapermen for three long years. Before accepting an invitation to English country homes for the king, Miranda stipulates: "Any writing people going to be there?? If so, they must under-

The Weather

For the second time in the past three days, the thermometer this afternoon hit the maximum high spot, for the hottet weather on record in this section of Ontario, at this time of the year. The mercury registered 92 degrees, as officially recorded by Walter Peters in the north end of the city.

The thermometer hit the same high level late Saturday afternoon, in strange contrast to the lowest temperature in the city during the past winter of 34 degrees below zero.

Heat of the sun's rays was tempered by a mildly gentle breeze Sunday and the thermometer did not succeed in climbing past the 87 degrees level, while the overnight minimum temperature was 64 degrees.

Rod-Riders' Bodies Sought Under Wreck

NORTH BAY, Ont., June 4. — (C.P.).—Workmen labored to-day to clear away coal dumped beside the Canadian National Railways tracks at Fossmill Saturday, when 12 cars of a freight train hurtled from the tracks Saturday, killing Fran Karlsson, Vancouver, a transient.

It is thought other rod-riders may have been killed and that their bodies lie buried under the coal. Karlsson was pinned beneath one of the cars. About 14 transients were on the train, it is reported, and many of them scurried for the bush when the accident happened.

The track was cleared Sunday morning and all merchandise with the exception of that in two cars was trans-shipped. Cause of the derailment has not yet been determined. One of the cars wrecked was loaded with dynamite but it did not explode. Sticks of the explosive were scattered for 50 yards along the track. Fire broke out below the dynamite car but was extinguished.

Spinal Meningitis Is Fatal To Small Child

"There is no cause for public alarm. It was an isolated case and not of the epidemic type", stated Dr. A. W. McPherson, Medical Officer of Health in commenting to The Examiner this morning on the death of an infant that occurred over the week-end from spinal meningitis.

The victim of the dread maady, was Joseph Peter Wheeler, aged five and half months, the youngest child of Constable Joseph Wheeler of the City Police Force and Mrs. Wheeler of 427 George street south.

Admitted to Queen Mary Isolation Hospital over a week ago, the child died on Saturday night, and was buried at St. Peter's Cemetery Sunday afternoon, where Rev. C. J. Maloney of Sacred Heart Parish conducted the committal services.

FARMERS' HOPES REVIVED AGAIN BY HEAVY RAINS

Week-end Downpours in West End 17 Day Drought Wave.

ONTARIO SWELTERS.

Streams Dry Up and Forest Fires Hazard Spreads With New Outbreaks.

(By the Canadian Press).

Farmers of Canada's and United States' wheat plains went about their duties to-day with a better feeling for the future of their grain crops. New hope sprang up in the hearts of hardy ranchers and grain men, following general rains over the week-end that ended a 13-day heat and drought wave.

A gift from Providence, the life-giving rain fell in Southern Alberta, Saskatchewan and tapered off in Manitoba. Only scattered showers fell in parts of Southern Manitoba, however, where the soil still remains parched and dry. Additional precipitation is required in Alberta and Saskatchewan, but fears of an expanded destruction of crops was allayed for some time.

Meanwhile, in the United States the Federal Government, the authorities of various states afflicted by the heat and private agencies were bending their efforts to assuage the effects of the land-parching drought. There, too, the weather man took a hand. The long dry period was broken apparently in the Rocky Mountain regions and scattered rains were reported elsewhere in the stricken territory.

Ontario Sweltering.

Sweeping in from the West, the heat to-day began to take a firm grip on Ontario. During the week-end farmlands and cities were baked in tempertaures hovering around the 90's and 100's.

Streams were drying up in places and there was the forest fire hazard to deal with. In the Sault Ste. Marie district four fires, started by lightning, were blazing. And while these were expected to be under Winds Up 2,000 Mile Northern Tour for Week in Eastern Areas.

(By Jack Hambleton—C.P. Staff Writer).

BROCKVILLE, Ont., June 4 (CP) —Mitchell F. Hepburn, M.P., Ontario Liberal leader, arrived here to-day to open a week's election campaign in Eastern Ontario. Mr. Hepburn will speak at Westport this afternoon and return to Brockville for another meeting to-night.

Still as fresh as ever, he motored to Brockville from Sundridge, in the Muskoka district, finishing the 30-mile trip in excellent condition.

He finished his 2,000-mile tour of Northern Ontario at Sundridge on Saturday night, attacking government expenditures and reiterating a Liberal administration in Ontario could cut costs by 50 per cent.

Previously Premier Henry had addressed a gathering at Parry Sound and challenged Mr. Hepburn to say how the reduction could be effected. "Premier Henry claims administration costs cannot be cut, "but they can and will be reduced."

Positions Unnecessary.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen had resigned from the Hydro Commission; Sir Henry Drayton quit the Liquor Control Board; two members of the Cabinet had died, and yet none of these positions had been filled, he said, indicating they were unnecessary. Also, he said, the legislative representation had been reduced by 22 seats. "In one department alone we can and will effect a reduction of not 50 but of 100 per cent.," he said.

"By dispensing entirely with the luxurious limousines of himself and his Cabinet Ministers, Premier Henry could make the 100 per cent. reduction. We will do it, for neither I as Premier nor members of my Cabinet will drive cars bought with your money."

Rally in Own Riding at Todmorden Proves Most Unruly of Campaigns.

TORONTO, June 4 (C.P.).—One of the most unruly meetings of his campaign behind him, Premier Geo. S. Henry left Toronto by train last night to carry a message to electors at Pembroke. The Premier will motor from Ottawa and will address a meeting in Pembroke at night. On the return trip he will halt at Brockville, Kingston, Lindsay and then will fulfill an engagement at Owen Sound, making an address in the evening at each place. He will come back to Toronto from Owen Sound Saturday.

In his own constituency of East York last night the Premier was alternately booed and cheered by factions of a crowd that jammed into the Veterans' Hall at Todmorden, Toronto suburb, but he quickly subdued a band of hecklers seated in a troup, and launched into his defence of his Government after promising to answer any questions after his address.

The crowd was the most unruly to assemble before the Premier on his present campaign tour and more than once drowned out the voice of William Morrison, M.L.A. for East Hamilton, a guest speaker. From one section of the hall there were constant interruptions and threatened fights among different factions of the audience. Chairman Reeve W. Leslie was invited by one man to "come outside" after the chairman described a group of interrupters as "hoodlums."

Answers Hecklers.

The Premier was kept busy for nearly three-quarter of an hour replying to questions from members of of the audience, bobbing from their seats several at a time.

To different ones he replied that as Premier he never had accepted any reimbursement for his expenses; that he would remain Premier and Minister of Education if re-elected; that Mr. Meighen's appointment to the Senate had no connection with the Ontario Hydro system; that Premier Henry had not asked for the resignation of Mr. Meighen from the Hydro Commission; that Mr. Meighen was not connected with consummation of the Abitibi development; that the Premier was ready to appoint commission to investigate any charges that might be made in regard to the Abitibi deal and that "just as soon as things get a little more normal" an expert will be brought from Great Britain to investigate the Ontario educational system and made any recommendations for the improvement to the Government.

Accompanied by Duke

I owe it all to Leon Trotsky that I spoke with the King of Spain. Not that the former commander of the Red army gave me a letter of introduction to his majesty. I don't think they are on speaking terms, those two. But they are neighbors more or less. Both dwelled in the Forest of Fontainebleau. When I made my second trip to the secluded little village which Trotsky inhabited near Barbizon, a chance conversation with the proprietor of one of the taverns in the neighborhood brought the revelation that his majesty of Spain makes frequent excursions on foot in the forest, and sometimes passed the spot where we were talking.

"Alone?" I asked.

"No, he is nearly always accompanied by another man," said the inn-keeper.

"Tall, bareheaded, blond, with a monocle?"

"Yes, that's the man."

I had recognized the Duke of Miranda. It's three years since I saw the duke for the first time. That was on that memorable morning in the Hotel Meurice in Paris, when he disappointed the entire journalistic fraternity for the first time .... and how many times since! Alfonso had arrived the night before. One of the Spanish battleships had landed him at Toulon or Marseilles. I forget which. A hundred thousand French royalists had welcomed the king at the station in Paris with the shout "Vive le Roi!" Alfonso had difficulty in making his way through the crowd. For there were no parade troops and no guard of honor on that occasion. A government of lawyers and journalists had proclaimed the republic in Madrid. Alfonso was no longer king. Yet he promised to make a statement to the newspapers next morning.

"Just a Vacation!"

One hundred and fifty newspapermen of all nations assembled at the Hotel Meurice next morning at ten, including the Japanese. I remember the Japanese especially, because the gentleman representing the Nichi-Nichi of Tokio made a remark in a loud voice and caused some consternation. At ten sharp the Duke de Miranda came into the huge salon, part of the royal apartments.

"His majesty is sorry," he said, "but his majesty has really nothing to say!"

"Has his majesty abdicated?" someone asked.

"Not at all, not at all," came back the duke. "His majesty has taken a little vacation—three months at the utmost—just to give the people a chance to hold the elections in freedom."

That was when the Japanese newspaperman spoke up. "Significant .... eh .... if true!" he said slowly as he noted them down in a leather-bound book. Those words somewhat upset Monseigneur de Miranda.

"Three months at the utmost"—it's three years now. When Alfonso was a little boy, he was locked in his room once. The times happened to be troubled, and his mother, Queen Christina, feared for her throne. Masses of revolutionaries were in the streets. All at once a shout was heard: "Long live the revolution! Long live the revolution!" It was Alfsonso crying at the top of his voice from the palace windows. That was his revenge on his mother for locking him in his room. That youthful wish has been fulfilled. The revolution in Spain has lived three years—a long time. But it has come to a standstill. The reaction is preparing a comeback. The large estates, confiscated three years ago, are being given back to their former owners; the feudal landlords and the convents. The masses, after first having been encouraged to set churches on fire, are now punished for those depredations of three years ago. The pendulum is swinging in the other direction—favorable to a return for Alfonso?

Always Travelling

I wanted for a long time to ask the king what he thinks of events at home. But the Duke of Miranda wouldn't let me. I heard from good sources that the queen and the royal princesses are eager to go back to Madrid. I know that at a council of the grandees of Spain and members of the Bourbon-Habsburg family, presided over by Queen Victoria, Alfonso was severely blamed for having given up his throne without even making a fight for it, but Alfonso carefully avoided that meeting and never paid any attention to the rumpus in aristocratic circles. Alfonso travels. He has seldom been home in the Grand Hotel at Fontainebleau these last three years. He refuses to settle down for that would give the republicans in Madrid the impression that the king has acquiesced in the change of regime. And that he hasn't. King Alfonso is merely on a short leave of absence from his country—three months at the utmost, as the Duke de Miranda said.

For five consecutive mornings I caught the seven-ten train out of Paris for Fontainebleau and watched the king go out for his morning stroll. Four times the Duke de Miranda accompanied him, but on the fifth day, after seeing the queen and the princesses leave for the tennis court, Alfonso stepped out alone. I had become familiar on previous days with the king's favorite roads in the huge forest, so I walked ahead as fast as I could, figuring to meet him somewhere in the depths of the woods—away from the watchful eyes of the duke. It was an hour before I saw the king marching ahead of me through one of the lanes in the interior of the forest. I soon caught up.

Met King in Woods

"Do you happen to have a match on you?" asked the stroller as casually as I could.

"Sorry, I haven't any," he said. "That's a pity, I forgot my matches this morning."

"Why don't you try knocking a couple of stones together and catch the spark in your pipe?"

"That would be a good idea, I never tried that. But where are the stones?"

"Oh, I know," said the king. "There's a heap of them further up the road. There is an old quarry there!"

"All right, perhaps you will be kind enough to show me the quarry?"

"Quite, come along!"

There is something boyish about King Alfonso, in spite of his graying hairs. He wore a baggy pair of knickers that morning, a gray flannel shirt, but no head-cover. I looked at him sideways and glanced at the famous Habsburg jaw.

"Are you staying here?" I asked.

"Yes, at the hotel!"

"So you are a stranger in the country, like myself."

Spain in Turmoil

"Yes, a stranger, I am from Spain. I am the Duke of Toledo."

"Duke de Toledo!" I acted surprised. "But that's the pseudonym King Alfonso uses on his travels... "Is it? How extraordinary!" he said with a smile.

"I am very happy to meet your majesty!" I said. "I was in Spain last year," I went on quickly. "Things seemed quite restless then and they haven't quieted down much since, if I may judge by the newspapers."

"Spain is in a turmoil .... The last word has not been said yet.... Much may happen in the next few months," he said hesitatingly. "I follow affairs very closely. It seems there are new currents there. But we can't speak of stability yet."

"Was there ever stability in Spain?"

"Yes, there was. It is an error to think, as many foreigners do, that there was no stability in the past. There was stability under monarchy."

"Do the people seem to favor a restoration of the monarchy?"

"It's hard to say. One does not hear the voice of the people....The people want calm, work and bread."

"Will your majesty go back?" I asked. There, the big word was out.

"Not unless I am called," said Alfonso.

A man was coming from the opposite direction. From a distance I recognized the Duke de Miranda. I remembered his words: "The journalist who tries to interview his majesty will have to face the consequences." He gave me a cold stare. I am sure re recognized me. I excused myself and turned up a side-lane and hurried to the station and so back to Paris.

SOVIET WARNS JAPS AT BORDER

Two Are Wounded — Blamed for Photographing Russian Territory.

TOKYO PROTESTS.

(By Charles Stephenson Smith, Associated Press Foreign Staff)

MOSCOW, June 4. (AP).—Russia countered a Japanese protest over the alleged firing upon a steamer on the River Amur to-day with the charge that the Soviet border had been violated by Manchukuan ships.

By a firmly worded note in response to Japanese correspondence, Russia gave assurances that law regarding traffic on the river would be enforced but said:

"For elimination of further incidents along the Soviet short it is necessary that the Manuchukuan government take energetic measures to see that ships under Manchukuan colors should not violate Soviet law."

Japan claimed one of its subjects was killed and another wounded when a steamer was fired upon from the Russian bank of the river recently.

Russia replied that if any Japanese were wounded it was by bandits who shot from the Manchukuan side.

The Soviet agent at Harbin expressed regret for incidents along the river but said they were the result of Manchukuans approaching too closely to the Soviet border and photographing ships and the territory.

MECHANIZATION OF INDUSTRY LESSENS DEMAND FOR LABOR

Opening Gun Fired in C. C. F. Interests at Millbrook on Saturday Night.

DR. LORNA COTTON SPEAKS

(Examiner Correspondence)

MILLBROOK, June 4.—The opening gun in the present election campaign, so far as Millbrook is concerned, was fired on Saturday evening at a well-attended meeting held in the Town Hall in the interests of the C.C.F. candidate, Dr. Lorna Cotton, who was one of the speakers, as was also E. J. Garland, M.P. for Bow River, Alberta. Otto Bragg, of Bowmanville, president of the Constituency Council, occupied the chair.

Mr. Garland was the first speaker, and in the course of a lengthy and constructive address showed how the mechanization of industry has decreased the demand for human labor, "and the world so far has not adjusted its consciousness to this fact". As an instance he stated that the boot and shoe industry could in seventeen and one-half days produce enough of such goods to supply the whole continent. Agriculture is affected as much as any other industry by machine production the speaker stating: "When I went west twenty years ago I broke my first land with oxen; that was when I learned to speak in public (laughter); I have seen the three-horse binder give place to six and eight horse implements, and now like a swarm of caterpillars a new form of power, the internal combustion engine, the motor car and the motor truck, has increased the individual capacity of farms, and the number of acres under cultivation, and produced larger crops over the whole world." Pointing out that Canada stands second among the nations of the world in potential electric energy—a permanent possession of which we have not even scratched the surface yet"—Mr. Garland showed that 7,300,000 horse power already developed equalled 73,000,000 workers—in other words we have seven electric men to do everything we require in a properly ordered state of society, withp lenty for everyone."

Appealing directly to the farmers, Mr. Garland urged, "Be so proud of your profession that you are not going to see it continue to be wrecked under a chaotic and insane system. Big business will create an artificial scarcity to serve its own interests and profits; actually the only problem that needs to be solved is that of distribution. Under the present competitive commercial system there is no solution for the problem of unemployment; it would take the entire gold reserve of the world to pay the bonded debt of Canada alone, and individual or commercial debts would not be touched at all", was the

"WORN OUT" and WORRIED Not Just Sure What Was Wrong

Many women drag around each day, unable to do their housework—cranky with their children—not wanting to see friends—feeling miserable—yet not sick enough to go to bed. Some blame it on "nerves"—more likely their kidneys are out of order. When kidneys fail the system becomes clogged with impurities—headaches—backache, frequently follow. With an attendance of over fifty, the members of the Cheerful Worker's Bible Class of St. James Sunday School met recently for a social gathering at the home of Mrs Ross Payne, Romaine street. The occasion marked the closing of an attendance contest between the "Blues" and the "Golds", the latter being the losers and therefore responsible for the arrangements of the evening. Opening with a chorus, which was a parody on "The Old Spinning Wheel," the program was for the most part humorous, taking the form of a "little girl's" party. One of the selections was an exercise by fifteen "little girls," each of whom received a letter of their class name, with Mrs. W. A. Wood contributing a humorous solo. The program also included readings by Mrs. McGregor, Mrs. Cummings and Mrs. Osborne and vocal solos by Miss Marjorie McGregor, little Miss Sylvia Moynes and Mrs. McKinley, while the teacher, Mrs. R. B. English made a brief address to the class. Another amusing feature of the evening was a spelling match, with the Blues versus the Golds, in which Mrs. A. Brumwell was the winner. The composition of nursery rhymes, also, produced much merriment, with Mrs. Porter carrying off the prize for her effort. The decorations were carried out in the class colours of blue and gold and lovely bouquet of summer flowers. The delicious refreshments provided by the "Golds" were served by Mrs. Payne's four daughters, bringing to a close a very enjoyable evening. The appreciation of those present was expressed by Mrs. English to the losers who provided the entertainment, to the hostess and to all who contributed to the success of the gathering.

Sauces for ice cream transform a simple serving of a plain cooling food into a still more tempting sundae. It is well to remember that ice cream, made as it is of milk and cream and often with the addition of eggs, is really a food of substantial and sustaining quality. It can be eaten by invalids much better than most persons realize. The coldness and delicate flavor tempt the appetite, especially when the person has a touch of fever, and the nutritious substance is not hard enough to digest. Of course there are cases when ice cream could not be given, but it is surprising how often it can be given in illness. Coffee ice cream is a slight stimulant. Frozen custard is hearty, and has the desired delicacy.

• • • • • • •

Fancy ice creams and sundaes are for well folk. They have the hearty value of foods made with cream, however. With home refrigeration cream can be whipped, flavored, sweetened, and frozen, and be ready to serve at the physician's orders, or for the enjoyment of the home table and party refreshments.

• • • • • • •

When ice cream is wanted for regulation desserts or for refreshments, the addition of a sauce is welcome. Crushed fruit is recommended. Put the fruit through the food chopper, or press through a colander, or mash with a silver fork until the juice is full of particles of pulp without being in sizeable pieces. Sugar it down and allow to stand for half an hour or, preferably, longer. A few drops of vanilla is a good addition at times, and again when the fruit seems to lack zest, about three drops of lemon juice to one-half cup of fruit juice and pulp may be needed. Do not cook the fruit. Let it remain a fresh fruit sauce. Strawberries, red raspberries, apricots, and peaches lend themselves particularly well to uncooked fruit sauces.

• • • • • • •

CHOCOLATE SAUCES

Chocolate is perhaps the favorite of all ice cream sauces. It can be of melted chocolate, cooked with milk slightly thickened with cornstarch, sweetened and flavored with vanilla. Or it can be a fudge sauce made like fudge and cooked less or be a real fudge, melted and thinned just a trifle.

• • • • • • •

CARAMEL SAUCE

Sugar slowly browned in a saucepan, and thinned with hot milk or hot water to the consistency of a thick sauce and flavored with vanilla is another favorite, called caramel sauce. While chocolate fudge and caramel sauces are all-year-round sauces, fresh fruit sauces are featured during the fruit season.

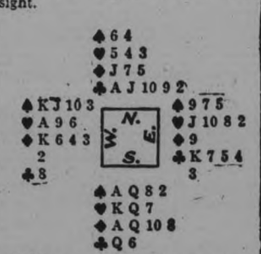
PROVIDING ENTRY TO DUMMY

Half the games lost are done so on the opening lead. Ninety per cent of player in South's position would have lost game on the opening lead made, but in this case the declarer was too watchful. The hand offers a good lesson in foresight.



Bidding went: South, 1 spade; West, 2 diamonds; North, 3 clubs; South, 3 no trumps, ending bidding.

The opening lead was the 3 of diamonds. Dummy played low. East's 9 fell and the declarer had the forethought to win with his Q, or the hand would then and there have been defeated; as there would have been no second entry to dummy had South won with his 10.

South won the next trick with the Q of clubs. The second lead of clubs showed that East held the 5 missing cards of dummy's suit. West discarded the 2 of diamonds, as his suit was hopeless. Dummy's 9 was captured by East's K.

East led his lowest heart, South finessed the 7 and West was in with the 9. It was senseless to lead diamonds, so West led the ace of hearts and his last heart, putting the declarer in the lead, with West out of hearts.

South led the 8 of diamonds. It would have done West no good to win the trick with his K, in fact he might win a spade trick by holding back, and it was barely possible that East held the 10 of diamonds which might win on a finesse, even if West did not really believe what he hoped. Dummy's J won the trick, and 3 club tricks followed.

South stripped down to the bare ace of spades, as he had no intention of taking a finesse in that suit. West bared down to his K of spades, at the tenth trick. The next two tricks were won by South with his aces of spades and diamonds, but the last trick had to go to West's K of diamonds, giving the defenders their fourth trick and just permitting the game contract to be fulfilled.

If South had blocked himself from a second entry to dummy, only bad play on the part of opponents could have allowed him to go game, as he would have lost 3 club tricks, which could not have been made up by added tricks in the two major suits.

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Miss Frances Mahoney, Norwood, Ont.

The handwriting as delineated on your sample for analysis, indicates a delicate constitution and great care should be exercised in reserving your strength and nervous energy. You are too kind to others and many times expend more than your strength will allow in doing favors for them. You are talented in several lines but seem unable to decide definitely upon a life work. You are neat and dress in good taste and harmony. You prefer quiet to the noise and fluster of town life, though you enjoy a good 'play' once in a while. You are most impressionable and should refrain from listening to, or reading exciting mystery stories. They have a propensity to keep you awake at night or cause bad dreams. Your aspirations are aimed high, but I think you will find true love and home life your vocation. Happiness will ensue as a natural sequence.

Babes McLaughlin, Norwood, Ont.

The handwriting as delineated on your card for analysis represents conservativeness and reticence. One of your type and personality, is as rule very intelligent, good at figures, not too excitable, very dependable, energetic and progressive. You have qualities which should make you a good teacher. You are well balanced, industrious and have a retentive brain. Your imagination is not over developed, but is on an even keel with your other talents. You are adaptable, agreeable and thoughtful. There is a certain degree of pride and sensitiveness, but even these traits are not of the super type. Generally speaking, you are an all round genuine person. Not too much one thing or the other, but well equipped in every sense of the word to meet the problems which present themselves from day to day. You are honest with yourself, and with your friends. You express your emotions in a very kindly manner, show your sympathy in distress so that there is no doubt as to your meaning. Youthfulness predominates in your writing as yet. Your birthsign is Cancer the Crab. September and February are your best months and Monday your lucky day. No date given for number.

Mrs. Raymond Scott, Havelock, Ont.

Your handwriting describes you as an interesting person. You are genteel, refined and agreeable. Your mind is intelligent, and your imagination, that of one who enjoys new enterprises. Your 't' bar crossings do not depict a great amount of will-power, but that is as it should be, and is in keeping with your gentle personality. Your capital 'S' portrays a conservative aspect. It is as though you would like to do things differents—plan, arrange social or engage in artistic work, but either modesty or sensitiveness holds you back.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

It is only within recent years that it seems to have been realized that the teeth are part of the body. This idea has grown quite as slowly among the medical and dental professions as it has among people generally.

It was perfectly natural twenty-five years ago to think differently. The teeth were the teeth, and the body was the body. The teeth fell out the body went on. The teeth got sick but the body seemed to feel all right except for the pain. The doctor took charge of the body, and the dentist took charge of the teeth, and the doctor who took charge of the body probably did not even known the dentist who took charge of the teeth.

Fortunately this idea, as I say, has been given up, and it is now recognized that the diseases of the body are responsible for diseases of the teeth; the nutrition of the body is responsible for the nutrition of the teeth. And vice versa. The diseases of the teeth may cause or aggravate many diseases of the body.

The idea of their inter-dependence is not by any means new. An ancient Hindu sage said that "The gateway through which all nourishment passes, and through which also disease may enter the system, should be kept pure and clean in order that the health of the individual may not be impaired."

But it is even more than simple cleanliness of the mouth cavity and lack of infection of the food by which the teeth cause bodily disease. One of the reasons why the condition was not recognized sooner is that infection of a tooth at the root may occur without causing any sensation, pain or discomfort. These old abscesses may exist there for many months or years without making themselves known.

Among the diseases which are probably related to this form of dental infection are:

CHRONIC ARTHRITIS of nearly any form. Most authorities agree that in every case of arthritis, infection plays some role. How does the infection get to the joints? It must get into the blood stream some way, and certainly the teeth are conspicuous foci of entrance.

INFECTIONS OF THE EYE, such as iritis and some form of retinitis.

ANGINA PECTORIS or clotting (thrombosis) of the coronary arteries, which supply nourishment to the heart.

ULCER OF THE STOMACH—It is certainly possible to produce ulcer of the stomach experimentally by infectious material, and it is possible to culture germs from the root of a tooth which, when injected into the body of an animal, will settle in the stomach and produce ulcer there.

Headaches, malnutrition, dyspepsia, degeneration of the heart muscle, all have been linked with these hidden abscesses in the teeth, and much has been done to improve the condition of chronic invalids by proper attention to their teeth alone.

The charming and talented Wynne Gibson of cinema fame is considered the possessor of one of the loveliest heads of hair in the entire movie city. Wynne's hair is not only of a lovely golden hue, but also is very soft and fluffy. She never permits it to become the least bit dank or greasy looking. It is her belief that oiliness tends to make fair hair seem drab and dull. And so she always gives her blonde tresses frequent and careful shampoos.

It's true, of course, that excessive oiliness tends to rob light hair of its soft, shining loveliness. Blonde hair should be a fluffy, gleaming halo. Grease tends to darken such hair, and makes it hang in dank, limp strands that are anything but attractive. You know as well as I that a clean, glossy head of hair is far lovelier than a sticky-looking, greasy one. Yet to achieve such a head of hair, careful shampooing is always essential.

One of the best methods that I know of for removing the excessive oil from drab, greasy locks is through the use of the soda shampoo. This shampoo is not at all difficult to prepare or to administer. It may be used by blondes, brownettes, redheads and brunettes to equal advantage. But it should be used only on hair that is excessively oily. The dry-haired individual should not attempt to employ this particular shampoo.

To prepare the soda shampo, slice a small cake of castile soap into fine shavings, and place the shavings in a pan with a cup of water. This should be heated under a slow flame until all the soap is dissolved. Then half a teaspoonful of ordinary baking soda should be added, and the mixture thoroughly blended.

When shampooing your hair with the solution, lather your head generously several times, until all grease and grime have been removed. Then rinse your hair repeatedly with clear, tepid water until you are sure that all the soapy lather has been eradicated. As the final step, use a lemon rinse if your hair is light, or a vinegar rinse if you have dark hair. This procedure will transform greasy, oily-looking hair into a soft, glossy halo.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Standard Weight

Robert: You are about eight pounds underweight. A man 25 years of age and five feet seven inches tall should weight about 148 pounds.

Manicure

Lee: If you follow the manicuring instructions in my booklet on "Care of the Hands and Nails," you should indeed be able to manicure your nails nicely yourself. And the hand exercises in this booklet will help to shape your hands more pleasingly.

Chapped Lips

Laura: Apply a bit of cold cream, lanolin or camphor ice to your lips nightly before retiring. Use a greasy lipstick during the daytime. This will help to correct the chapping.

Basic French Omelet Recipe.—Beat four eggs slightly, just enough to mix the yellow and white. Add one-half teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, four tablespoons milk, water or cream. Put small amount of butter in a hot skillet and shake around until well greased on bottom and sides. Pour in egg mixture, reduce heat and cook very slowly until creamy, constantly lifting the cooked portion of the sides with a knife or spatula to allow the uncooked mixture to run out and cook. When creamy all through roll up or fold over like a half-moon and serve at once.

Tomato Omelet—Chop one small onion and one-half green pepper fine and saute in one tablespoon butter till tender but not brown. Add one eight-ounce can tomato sauce, one teaspoon sugar, salt and pepper if necessary and three tablespoons chopped ripe olives. CARELESS DRIVING PRACTICES.

In issuing orders that all motorists making a right hand turn at busy intersections without coming to a full stop and ignoring the fact that pedestrians crossing with the traffic signals have the right-of-way must be reported, Chief Constable Newhall is taking steps to stop a practice that has been a constant source of danger and annoyance.

There has been a lot of this careless and discourteous driving, and in a great many instances accidents have been avoided by the closest of margins.

Too many drivers have been indifferent to the rights of pedestrians at intersections, and have been making right turns without any perceptible slowing up, indifferent to the fact that persons on foot were crossing the street in accordance with the traffic signals.

The police department has given motorists every chance to show that they did not need checking up in this respect, but so many have been taking advantage of the privilege that it has become necessary to insist upon greater care and courtesy; as a consequence all offenders are henceforth to be reported.

It would do not harm at the same time if orders were issued to deal with the driver who makes a left turn at too great a speed, for he, too, is a thorn in the flesh of the pedestrian who conscientiously endeavors to obey instructions and cross with the lights.

A FINAL WARNING.

As a final reminder to those electors whose names may have been omitted from the enumerators' lists, it may be stated that the revising officers are now making the final additions, and after to-morrow there will be no opportunity for urban voters to have their names added.

It is safe to say that hundreds of persons have not taken the trouble to find out whether or not they are listed.

For their benefit The Examiner once more stresses the fact that if they want to make sure of a chance to use their franchise on election day they should without delay get into touch with the headquarters of some one of the political organizations—all of them have copies of the lists—and find out whether or not the enumerator has registered their names.

If it should happen that there has been an error—and it could not reasonably be expected that a perfect list of all the eligible voters in a place of this size could be secured in four days—then there will still be time for corrections and additions.

Once, however, the revising officers have completed their work to-morrow night there will be no further opportunity for urban electors to get on the lists.

WELL WORTHY OF SUPPORT.

With the annual Rotary Carnival announced for June 13 and 14, an opportunity is given the community to lend a helping hand to the altogether commendable work this service organization is carrying on, particularly its activity in caring for the crippled children of the city and district.

By attending the carnival and by a liberal purchase of the tickets that are now being offered for sale, the public can make a most useful contribution toward the success of this splendid movement to help little ones who without the treatment made possible through the Rotary Club's efforts would be doomed to go through life handicapped by some physical defect.

In very many cases it is possible to cure or materially improve the condition of these crippled youngsters, but it is an impossible matter for the parents to provide the necessary treatment, so that without the instrumentality of the Rotary Club nothing would be done.

Those who are familiar with what has been accomplished locally since the Rotary campaign to care for crippled children was first launched realize that this is an activity of the greatest importance and one that is in every way worthy of the support of the whole community.

Every cent raised by the Rotarians from the public is devoted to their social service work, notably to the crippled children's movement and to the Rotary camp for boys which has given a summer outing under ideal conditions to hundreds of youngsters who otherwise would never have had a chance to enjoy such a holiday.

NEW RELIEF POLICIES.

Several interesting items in regard to the relief system have appeared in the past few days.

First, there was the announcement from Ottawa that federal assistance toward direct relief will be terminated on June 15th, it being assumed that after that date the provinces will be able to look after their unemployed citizens without further help from the Dominion Government.

This was followed by a statement from Premier George S. Henry that so far as Ontario is concerned the Provincial Government will carry on with relief arrangements.

Probably the most significant action of all is that to be taken by the Government of British Columbia where a "new deal" in relief operations is to be inaugurated.

Premier Pattullo has announced that all relief in that province will cease on August 1, and all persons claiming further help from the public funds must re-register and "prove definitely that they are entitled to aid."

"Many thousands now receiving relief," declares Premier Pattullo, "will lose it permanently, as they are regarded as racketeers."

It is expected that heads of families on relief in British Columbia will in the next two months make a serious effort to obtain employment.

If they are unsuccessful, and if they can convince the authorities that they are deserving of assistance, they will be put back on the relief lists after the end of July; but only genuine cases will have a chance, and the plan is expected to weed out all the impostors who have been living out of the public purse for years.

There were 109,962 persons on relief in British Columbia at the end of April, and this number will be materially reduced when the new lists are opened.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS.

It often occurs that neglect to observe the simplest rules of driving causes the most serious accidents. For instance, it is not permissable to pass another car on the highway, at a street or road intersection, or in front of a driveway. There is always the possibility that the car ahead may turn off the road at such points.

In the second place, it is a common courtesy for any motorist to give a hand signal when turning left off the street or highway.

Probably the most abused regulations are those pertaining to the hand signal. When a hand is extended from the window of a car it may be that the driver is pointing to the scenery, knocking the ashes from his cigarette, or merely stretching his arm. It should mean that the driver either wishes to stop, turn left or turn right. As at present used the hand signal merely means a warning to the driver behind that something may happen, and his wise course is to drive carefully until the intention of the other driver is finally disclosed.

It would make it more convenient and safer if three hand signals were used, straight down meaning the driver intends to stop, straight out meaning that he intends to turn left, and pointing upwards meaning that he intends to turn right.

If these signals were made known to all drivers when they receive their licenses—and if all drivers would observe them strictly—there would be fewer accidents on the highways and city streets.—Chatham News.

APARTMENTS AT HAMPTON COURT.

The news that Countess Haig, widow of the commander-in-chief of the British armies in France in the World War, has been granted a suite of apartments in Hampton Court, is something of a shock. The pay of an officer is not large, even for a field marshal who has an important position to live up to, and it would appear that the grant made to him by Parliament after the war, has, like many other fortunes, been dissipated during the depression years. Happily, the King has at his disposal some forty suites in Hampton Court, where the Countess Haig will find congenial company, the recipients usually being the widows and families of men who have given distinguished services to the state, mostly in the military and naval spheres.

The public who visit this historic palace on the banks of the Thames near London, with some of the most spacious and beautiful gardens in England, are unaware of the existence of the residential section. They may walk through the rooms where Henry the Eighth, Queen Elizabeth, Cardinal Wolsey and many other famous people lived and had their being, but Hampton Court has a large and lively population besides the ghosts of the great. The residents may play tennis on the same court whereon Henry was wont to disport his bulk, or play croquet on the old jousting field where knights in shining armor charged on horseback and endeavored to unseat each other and win the applause of the ladies of the Tudor court.

When George II. ceased to live at Hampton Court, somewhere about 1750, the present suites were put in charge of an official, but in those days bribery of the official was the main passport to possession of a residence. Nowadays only the King can nominate a resident, and while it is an indication that the nominee has "come down," none need have any regrets at ending their days in such lovely and interesting environment.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

SOCIALISM IN CANADA.

The advocates of social measures can scarcely deny that in recent years all the governments of the Dominion, federal, provincial and municipal, have become strongly socialistic in their activities. Take, for instance, the problem of relief. The burden which has been placed upon the country for this purpose has been tremendous. The Minister of Finance for the Dominion recently announced that Canada had spent $130,000,000 for relief. That, however, was not the entire sum expended. It did not include the outlay of the provinces and the municipalities, which in each case equalled that paid out by the federal treasury. This would bring the total which the taxpayers have provided to approximately $400,000,000. Furthermore an account must be taken of the money, aggregating huge sums, which has been contributed by charitable organizations and individuals. In addition to this are the provisions made for mothers' allowances, old age pensions, and the hospitalisation of indigent persons. It is very difficult to ascertain the total amount of all these latter sums, but in the aggregate it would probably amount to $100,000,000 in recent years.

When these facts are considered there is no denying the truth of the statement that Canada has assumed responsibilities for the care of its needy citizens to a remarkable degree. In olden times in the book of Leviticus it was written: "And if thy brother be waxen poor and fallen in decay then thou shalt relieve him; yea, though he be a stranger, or a sojourner; that he may live with thee." This is probably one of the most ancient provisions made for the care of the poor and suffering, yet it is very evident that Canada has not forgotten this old injunction. The fulfillment of these obligations has cost the taxpayers of the country enormous sums. If the governments of Canada had not been socially-minded the burden of taxation would not be nearly so great.—Brantford Expositor.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

What this country needs is some way of saving the warmth from summer heat waves for use during the winter months.

Ample warning has been given urban electors as to getting on the lists. hose whose names are off on election day will only have their own indifference to blame.

Canadians rejoice with His Majesty King George in the celebration of his sixty-ninth birthday. Long may he reign is the earnest hope of his loyal subjects in this Dominion.

The politicians have two weeks left in which to toss new charges at each other. Perhaps before June 15th they may be able to find a little time to talk about the issues, too.

A 100 per cent. party man is the fellow who will attend a committee-room rally on a hot summer night and listen to speeches from citizens he has heard talk on countless occasions.

MR. PECK'S LETTER

To The Editor of The Examiner.

Sir.—Mr. E A. Peck, M.P., says at the end of his letter on "Marketing" that "It is evident, therefore, that it is a democratic measure." Mr. Peck must have been thinking of the "Titles" bill for I never heard of dollars and cents being democratic, aristocratic or anything but dollars and cents before.

Reader.

DISGUSTED WITH POLITICIANS

To The Editor The Examiner,

Dear Sir:

I have followed the discussions of politicians and statesmen since the early seventies of last century, when I read the speeches of such men as Gladstone, Disraeli, and other great statesmen of the old country, to my parents, and later in Canada, Sir Wilfred Laurier and Sir James Whitney, etc., and never in all that time have I been so disgusted with the utter lack not only of statesmanship in their speeches, but an absolute absence of any sense of the importance of the great and grave questions awaiting solution, as are evidenced by the speeches of Mr. Henry and Mr. Hepburn. How these two leaders of what were once great political parties can stride up and down this great province, calling one another names and hurling accusations at one another like a couple of school children passes my comprehension? Neither are showing the quality of statesmen fit to be trusted with the governance of this great and important province. Then, there is the proposal which has been made and incorporated into a bill which has been passed, and only awaits proclamation to give it effect, viz: the Beer and Wine bill.

To think that any man or government having a sense of responsibility for the welfare, safety and happiness of their people, could propose and force through their purpose to open up this province at the present time and under present conditions with the problems of traffic, unemployment, the difficulty of people struggling to meet their taxes and interest payments, the great problem of the vast number of our youth leaving the schools to be idle and at a loose end. How any man or government in authority can seriously propose to put the temptation to drink and waste their money and strength in that way passes belief.

One is forced to one conclusion: Both Mr. Henry and Mr. Hepburn are but horses hitched to the brewers' dray, they are being driven by the liquor traffic. The Conservative horse seems to be perfectly willing to go exactly where he is told; the Liberal horse kicks out with a hind leg now and then, but the head is held well to the road by bit and bridle and the brewer is evidently of the opinion that he has bought them, and they will have to do what he wants them to.

The Rev. Mr. Millyard put the case very clearly at the recent county temperance convention when he said that as far as the two old parties were concerned "it was a case of "Tweedle dum and Tweedle dee" and that there is only one temperance candidate in the field". This is correct, for one cannot vote for a man without voting for the party and the leader he follows and both of these are wet.

The Rev. Mr. Sutherland is the only real temperance candidate, as not only is he for temperance himself, but his party platform offers the temperance people just what they ask: The right of referendum before there is any loosening up of the traffic.

I am afraid I am making this letter too long, but with your courtesy shall be glad to take up some other aspects of the contests in a futher letter; thanking you,

Yours faithfuly,

George Leader.

AMATEUR THOUGHTS

Most people are happier than they think they are.

Some people who say they "can't read poetry" are really poets, but don't know it.

A fair amount of hypocrisy is necessary for pleasant human relations.

"Feeling abused" is not the least of the minor pleasures of life.

"Saturday's child works hard for her living"—but that's not the worst fate she could have.

If we were suddenly asked, "Just what do you believe?" most of us would hardly know what to say.

Mother Nature doesn't worry about her children.

Somebody begs you for help. You give it, at some sacrifice. Why is it that that "somebody," from that instant, thinks he has a claim on you and feels hurt when you can help him no longer?

The Perfect Husband is rarely the most exciting or interesting.

Children, in general, maintain a running fight with their elders.

In the heart of the human race three words are written. They are: "Let me alone!"

Nature goes ahead by jumps, not slowly. Every new species, of plants or animals, comes suddenly into being....People change in that same way. They wake up in the morning to discover that they are new.

Money does make some people happy.

The sin that rankles most is almost always something we didn't think of at the time.....It is usually a treachery—to ourselves or to someone else.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, MAN.

Portage La Prairie, the plains city which gave Senator Arthur Meighen his start, means portaging across or over the prairie. The place got its name before there was any settlement. When the voyageurs, even as far back as La Verandrye in 1738, came up the river Assiniboine to find their way west and north, they left the river at this point and portaged across the prairie to Lake Manitoba and then went from there north and west.

This is why the whole district is called Portage le Prairie, both the rural municipality and the city bearing the same name. The farm lands between the Assiniboine river and Lake Manitoba, considered the finest in western Canada, is known as the "Portage Plains."

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

LACROSSE LED TO MASSACRE

On this date, in 1763 the first lacrosse match noted in our history was played; and it had a terrible sequel. The locale was Michilimakinac, then a very important point in the control of the trade on the lake. Both French and English fought for it and the Indians fought both.

In the summer of 1763 the Indians gathered there in large numbers from the country around. June 4 being the birthday of George III it was announced that the Indians would play a match at baggatiway, called by the French la jew de la crosse The game was played with bat and ball and each side had its post, planted in the ground, often a mile or more distant from its opponent's goal. At the commencement of the game the ball was placed midway between the posts and the game consisted in keeping the ball out of one's own territory and advancing as far as possible into that of the adversary.

What happened is thus told by Alexander Henry, the great explorer and trade: "I did not go myself to see the match because, there being a canoe prepared to depart on the following day for Montreal, I employed myself in writing letters to my friends. The game of baggatiway is necessarily attended with much violence and noise. In the ardor of the contest the ball is struck in any direction by the adversary and nothing could be less liable to excite alarm than the ball should be tossed over the pickets of the fort and should be followed by all engaged in the game. This was, in fact, the stratagem which the Indians employed to obtain possession of the fort. To be still more certain of success they had prevailed upon as many of the garrison as they could to come outside the fort. Suddenly I heard an Indian war cry and a noise of general confusion. Going instantly to my window I saw a crowd of Indians within the fort, furiously cutting down and scalping every Englishman they found."

When the massacre was over it was found that Leut. Jemette and 60 British soldiers had been killed and the remainder of the garrison, including a number of French Canadian traders and voyageurs, had been taken prisoners. Henry hid for a few days but was then discovered and would have been killed but for the intervention of a chief who adopted him and in time permitted him to return to civilization, where he told the story of the lacrosse match which was the cover for one of the bloodiest massacres in our history.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

CHICAGO GRAIN

Pitching headlong downward, wheat crashed Saturday 9½ cents a bushel under Fridays high point, the apex of more than 25 cents almost perpendicular climb.

Indications were that perhaps the drought was ended which for over a month had afflicted millions of acres and with abnormal widespread heat had forced prices aloft. Storms of stop-loss selling followed new yesterday of rains in Western Canada, Idaho and Montana, with lower temperatures prevalent and forecasts pointing to extension of moisture relief and possible general break-up of drought.

Extreme tumbles of prices plunged all deliveries of wheat to $1 a bushel or below, carrying the market to nearly the 5-cent limit of loss permitted in any one day. Something of a rally, however, from the bottom figures reached was in progress as dealings came to an end.

Wheat closed flurried, 3 cents to 4¼ cents below Friday's finish; corn 2⅜ to 3¼ cents down; oats 1⅞ to 2¼ cents off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 15 cents.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Prices were higher on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Markets last week, while there was a larger volume of receipts.

Fresh No. I butter was up ¾c at 21¼c to 21½c per pound in carlots or less. Exports from Montreal for the week totalled 427 boxes, as compared with 166 boxes in the corresponding week of last year. Receipts were 20,386 boxes for the week, again 15,805 boxes the previous week.

Cheese closed at 10c per pound for Ontario colored, compared with 9½c to 9¾c a week ago. Exports to date total 15,446 boxes, in comparison with 26,221 boxes shipped at this time last year. Exports for the week were 4,811 boxes, against 11,584 boxes for the corresponding week last year.

Weekly arrivals were 11,549 boxes, compared with 6,336 boxes the week before.

Egg prices were generally steady, with graded shipments in carlots or less quoted 20½c to 21c per dozen for A-large, 19½c to 20c for A-medium, 18½c to 19c for "B," and 17c to 17½c for "C." Total receipts for last week amounted to 23,190 cases, compared with 22,627 cases the previous week.

The potato market was steady, with New Brunswick Mountains quoted 80c to 85c per 80-pound bag. Quebecs at 75c to 80c per 80-pound bag; Prince Edward Island Mountains, 95c to $1 per 90-pound bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 4. — Heavy unloading of wheat, coincident with a break in the long drought over Western Canada, smashed large portions from the wheat prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange on Saturday. The holiday in the market to-day also brought considerable "evening up" liquidation, and at the finish values were off 3⅝c.

May option ended at 79⅝c and July at 80¼c. Trading generally was active, and the volume of wheat through the pit was quite large from an abbreviated market. Final figures were about ¼c over the day's low.

Spreads on better grades of cash grains improved under export demand, but coarse grains declined under profit-taking and pre-holiday selling.

A "Heat Wave"

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, June 2.— (Delayed): (Via Mackay Radio) (AP).—A "tropical heat wave" beat down on the Antarctic to-day—it was all of two degrees above zero and the mercury was still rising.

While North America donned linens and straw hats, the winter season had set in here, but one wouldn't know it by the thermometers. Although temperatures of 50 and 60 degrees below zero are normal, for 12 days the temperature has not been under 28 below.

Meteorologist William Haines of the Byrd Antartic expedition explained that streams of warm air were pouring into the upper atmosphere from the oceans to the north, causing the warm spell.

A high of 25 degrees above was registered May 24.

No Sign Of Let-Up In First Heat Wave

No relief for drought-stricken Ontario farmers was in sight to-day as the summer's first heat-wave continued at full strength. Rain was nowhere mentioned in weather reports that forecast continued warmth.

In the camparatively cool early morning temperature registered 76 degrees in Toronto, the highest in the Province, and other points held the official week-end high record with 88.

The forecast for the lower lake region was "most fair and decidedly warm." Light to moderate winds tempered the heat slightly. The same weather was in prospect for to-morrow.

The Lake Superior region was promised occasional showers or thunderstorms to-night and Tuesday and in Northern Ontario it is expected to be cooler to-night.

At St. Thomas the temperature Sunday was reported as 96.

There has been no rain for three weeks in the district and the last was so light it did little good.

CAPITAL-LABOR TROUBLES EASE

Johnson Staves Off Cotton Workers' Strike With Promise of Probe.

TROOPS QUIT TOLEDO.

WASHINGTON, June 4 (CP)—Capital-Labor troubles were fewer in the United States to-day.

The Electric Auto-Lite strike at Toledo, O., which brought death to two persons in riots, ended, and the last of the National Guard troops withdrew.

The settlement came when the Auto-Lite Company ratified an agreement providing a five per cent wage increase and recognition of the Workers' Bargaining Committee. The strikers agreed to return to work tomorrow. Progress toward peace was reported in other automotive labor troubles at Toledo.

Efforts to avert a threatened steel strike were redoubled here, following Hugh S. Johnson's success in silencing the threats of a wide-spread cotton textile workers' strike. The textile strike, set for to-day, was called off pending a study of the workers' grievances.

At St. Louis steps were taken toward arbitration of the strike of 1,000 filling station attendants. Demanding a five per cent increase in pay, the attendants walked out Saturday. Several major oil companies reopened stations under police protection.

A wage adjustment ended the strike of 26 engineers and firemen of four Omaha breweries.

The Remington Rand Company's plant at Ilion, N.Y., closed several weeks by a strike, will reopen tomorrow for any of the 2,000 employees who want to return to work, the company announced.

HOUSE HOLIDAYS HONOR OF KING

New Bank Act in Limelight This Week as Companies Bill is Approved.

STEVENS PROBE GOES ON.

OTTAWA, June 4th—(C. P.).—Facing another week of grappling with heavy legislation, Parliament re-assembled to-day. Except for the House of Commons, however, Government buildings are empty for the civil service is celebrating the King's birthday with a holiday.

Having approved the new companies act last week the house will this week set to work on the New Bank Act. A few clauses have been passed already but there will be a battle or two before it is entirely approved.

While the companies act moves from the lower house to the Senate the new Shipping Act, an even heavier and more bulky piece of law moves from the Senate to Commons. It was passed by the Upper House last week and members of the Common representing seaport constituences have been studying it closely.

The only committee meeting today is the mass buying committee which is continuing its probe into the Packing and Livestock businesses. Last week a number of Packing Company executives were extmined and to-day the committee will conclude its probe of the financing of the Burns and Company enterprise in Western Canada.

Scare Proves Fatal To Mystery Writer

PARIS, June 4th —(A. P.). — Thousands of persons have been thrilled and terrified by the mystery books and plays of Gabriel Bernard.

Not only in Paris has his imagination chilled theatre-goers — Buenos Aires and other Latin-American capitals as well have been thrilled by his works.

Yesterday a boy on the street suddenly shoved a paint brush soaked in Iodin under his nose. M. Bernard opparently mistook it for a revolver.

He fainted, collapsing on the sidewalk. In the evening, at a hospital, he died.

armature winder in the Canadian General Electric Company. When the good news arrived at his home this morning, he had gone to work but returned home in haste in answer to his wife's telephone call.

Efforts to get in touch with Alex McLaughlin in Havelock were unsuccessful but The Examiner queried his wife on their good luck. Admitting that it was a windfall which would come in handy, Mrs. McLaughlin declined to comment further. "We're keeping it rather quiet," she said.

It is understood that Mr. McLaughlin has no steady employment at present. As in the case of Mr. Killingbeck, he will receive approximately $2,070 in Canadian money regardless of the outcome of the race on Wednesday.

A total of $14,175,000 was subscribed in the Sweepstakes and $9,010,000 will be distributed in prizes. The prize money will be divided into eighteen units of $500,000. There will be eighteen first prizes of $150,000, eighteen prizes of $75,000 and eighteen prizes of $50,000. The fund is based on seventy-one acceptors in the derby whereas today there were only twenty-one in the running. This field will likely be reduced even further before Wednesday.

In addition to the main prizes, there are 1,800 prizes of $500 and 10 residual cash prizes of $1,085.

None Holds Colombo

DUBLIN, June 4—(CP)—No Canadian was successful today in getting an Irish Hospitals Derby sweepstakes ticket on the unbeaten Colombo, the strongest favorite for the Derby in many years.

No tickets on the split second choice Easton went to the Dominion either, but two canadians were lucky enough to draw Umidwar, ranked equal with Easton as second-best to Colombo.

The drawing was in progress all day, 71 horses being in the list although only 20 or so will actually start. All drawers of a horse get $2,070; if the horse wins, the first award is $150,000.

By mid-afternoon a total of 25 Canadians had drawn horses Colombo, the hot favorite, had not been selected at that time but Easton, bracketed with Umidwar as second choice, was drawn, and no Canadians had a ticket.

Those holding Umidwar are "fine feathers," of the Sunshine Pigeon Lofts, Montreal, and "Barney" of Camp Road, Bellevue, Alta.

Of the first 25 Canadians getting a horse no fewer than 10 were from Toronto, and five others from Ontario points.

JOB GUARANTEE FOR EMPLOYEES

Quaker Oats Provides Lay-off Pay for Its Steady Workmen.

SETS MINIMUM HOURS

Throughout the depression the postman has been bringing stockholders of the Quaker Oats Company not only their regular dividend cheques but at least one extra every year. As a qui dpro quo and to keep Quaker Oats employees interested in the kind of management that makes records like that, the company paymaster will hereafter hand pay envelopes to workers even when they aren't working. His authority will be the management's new plan to guarantee a set minimum of work to those on the payroll and to protect against layoff losses those who aren't.

The plan provides that all employees with 6 months' service in the current year shall either get 140 hours of work a month, 80 per cent. of the present base time, or, if they must be laid off, shall be paid for 70 hours a month at the full rate for 2, 3, 4, or 6 months in a year, according to whether they have service credits of up to 1, 2, 3, or more years. For those on the payroll, the guaranteed time is calculated once a month and included in the pay for the last half of the month. An employee must be recalled within 6 month of layoff date or he gets no further payment.

John Stuart, who started with the company as a factory hand in 1900 and has been its president since 1922, expects continued profits and the increased efficiency of contented workmen to pay the bill. Costs are being borne as a part of operating expense. The company has made a good start toward paying almost any bill. Current assets at the close of 1933 stood at nearly $33 millions including more than $17.5 millions in cash and government securities, against current liabilities of $4.5 millions. Accumulated surplus was $17.6 millions.— Business Week.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, June 4 (C.P.).—Increased supplies which weakened the lamb division of the Toronto livestock market last week made themselves felt this afternoon as they sent the lamb price down $1.50 to $2. Overloaded packing houses combined with heavy fresh supplies to keep cattle trading very slow though prices on early sales held steady. After an active opening, calves slowed up in the afternoon, while sheep also sold slowly.

The hog division took up the leadership by selling from steady to 10 cents higher. The division opened unsettled, with bids by packers unchanged from last Thursday, but salesmen held their supplies until the higher price was offered. Bacons were selling at $8.40 to $8.50 f.o.b., $8.85 off truck and $9.15 to $9.25 off car.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion livestock branch were: Cattle 3,090, calves 660, hogs 1,680, sheep and lambs 1,580.

A few choice weights steers sold to exporters at $5.50 to $5.75, while butcher cattle in small lots went at $4.00 to $5.25. Good cows were steady at $3.65 to $3.85, with a few at $4. Bulls moved slowly at $2.50 to $3.25, according to quality. Choice fed calves made $6.50 to $6.75, while a few light stockers brought $3 to $3.50.

Calves slowed up and sales were mostly from $3.50 to $5.50. The supply was made up almost entirely of common to medium kinds. The few choice vealers on the market went at $6 to $7. Lambs settled $1.50 to $2.00 cwt. lower at $10 for good ewes and wethers with culls at $6. Sheep were slow at $1 to $2.50.

YOUTH MURDERS YOUNG BROTHER

I went into my brother's bedroom where Robert was sleeping."

Detectives said Louis told of crashing the light hatchet down several times upon his brother's head.

"I don't know how I could have done it," Louis moaned, pale and trembling.

Detectives said Louis smiled as he told of stripping his mother's pyjamas from her body and trussing up his brother's form with another length of rope.

"I did that just to confuse the police," they quoted him as saying.

After making his lengthy statement, young Payne was booked at the city jail on "suspicion of murder."

Seek Mystery Woman

Meanwhile police instituted an extensive search for a woman who they said, posing as Mrs. Payne, called last Friday at the Beverly Hills High School and told an instructor that Robert had accidentally shot himself in the foot and was unable to attend classes.

The woman, police said they had learned, asked for Robert's trumpet—the boy was a member of the high school orchestra—and selected it from a large assortment of similar instruments.

Detectives made no announcement as to whether they had questioned Louis conecrning the woman's presence at the high school.

Salvation Army Band of 1914 Holds Reunion in City

Took The Place Of The Staff Band At Big Congress

Peterborough's Temple Band of 1914 Held Re-union in City Over Week-end—Band Was in Charge of Lieut. W. H. Peryer.

STAFF BAND WENT DOWN ON EMPRESS OF IRELAND LOCAL BAND WAS TO HAVE SAILED ON SAME SHIP

Old memories—both joyously happy and tragically sad, were revived over the week-end in a series of meetings conducted at the Salvation Army Temple here by Adjutant and Mrs. Ernest H. Green of Toronto.

The occasion, one of the most unique in the whole history of the local corps, was the reunion of members of the 1914 Peterborough Temple Band, who represented Canada at the International Salvation Army Congress in London.

Originally composed of a membership of thirty-two musicians, the reunion brought together twenty-four of the old comrades from Peterborough, Oshawa, Galt, Toronto and Flint, Michigan.

In the passage of twenty years, only one member of the group has passed on in the person of Bandsman J. James who died on June 25, 1931, and to whose memory a special service was held at the graveside in Little Lake cemetery; while only seven of the total surviving membership were absent, their attendance being prevented mainly by reason of the long distance at which they are now residing from Peterborough.

Memory of Disaster

While the occasion was an extremely successful and joyous event, the tragic note of sadness was struck in the poignant memory of the disaster that overtook the ill-fated 'Empress of Ireland' which foundered in the Gulf of St. Lawrence with the loss of all but eleven of the entire membership of the Canadian Salvation Army Staff Band, which was to have represented Canada at the Congress.

It was on Thursday night, May 28, 1914 that the thirty-two members of the Peterborough Salvation Army Band gave a farewell concert in the Temple here, prior to entraining at the C.P.R. station for Montreal.

Until two weeks prior to the date of the departure of the Peterborough Band it had been their intention to sail on the ill-fated 'Empress of Ireland', along with the Staff Band. Plans so far as the local band was concerned were changed, however, mainly due to the fact that cheaper bookings were obtained on the 'Alaunia.'

The band in charge of Bandmaster W. H. Peryer, during the interval of their arrival in Montreal heard news of the disaster in which 166 members of the Salvationist party, including Bandmaster Peryer's mother, Envoy Mrs. William Charles Peryer of Toronto, were lost.

Represented Canada

On the evening of the arrival of the Peterborough Band in Montreal they were called upon to participate in a memorial service held in the Montreal Salvation Army Citadel, after which they sailed for England as the official representatives of Canada at the International Congress.

Proceeding to London the local band gave their first musical festival under the baton of Bandmaster Peryer, in Maryleybone Hall. They were present later at the great welcome service at Royal Albert Hall, and also at other meetings at the Strand Hall, Congress Hall, Kingsway Hall, besides attending Sunday services at Ealing and Camberwell, and visiting also Kilburn and officially representing Canada on the 'great day' at Crystal Palace.

Other places which the band visited during its tour included Reading, Tunbridge Wells, Leeds, Bradford, Shipley, Keighley and Halifax. The band also had the honour to be the first Salvation Army Band to play in the bandstand at the Temple Gardens in London, also in Manningham Park, Bradford.

Arriving back in Peterborough on August 1, three days prior to the outbreak of the Great War, the band received an enthusiastic public reception in Victoria Park, at which Mayor William Buller, and Alderman Stratton, and Duffus, and others spoke.

Civic Reception

The civic reception which the members of the 1914 Congress Band received on Saturday afternoon was no less warm and sincere than it was twenty years ago. Alderman Max Sloane, representing Mayor Roland Denne, who was unable to be present, extended a welcome on behalf of the city, remarking that Peterborogh was very proud of her various musical organizations, which included, he stated, the Salvation Army Band, under Bandmaster R. G. Routley; the Rangers Band, under Lieut. W. H. Peryer (Bandmaster of the 1914 Congress Band); the Madrigal Singers, under the direction of Dorothy Allen Park; and the Male Voice Choir, under the direction of William Potter.

A memorial service at the graveside of Bandsman J. James, only deceased member of the Congress Band, followed upon the civic reception, and was attended by the entire membership of the Congress Band who were present for the occasion, as well as by the members of the 1934 Peterborough Temple Band.

The ceremony, simple and impressive, was conducted by Adjutant E. H. Green. He read the 46th Psalm—a passage of the Scripture having special signifance for everyone who was associated with the tragedy which struck such a terrible blow to the party of Salvationists twenty years ago.

"God Is Our Refuge."

It was the 46th Psalm—"God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble"—that was read at the Toronto Salvation Army Temple when the Canadian Staff Band was about to leave for the train.

Adjutant Green was a member of the band, and besides having suffered the horror of one of the greatest disasters in marine history, he also sustained the loss of his parents, Adjutant and Mrs. Harry Green of Toronto, and his only sister, Corps Cadet Jessie Green.

During the playing of a hymn tune at the memorial service in the cemetery, Bandmaster Peryer placed a wreath on the grave of late Bandsman James on behalf of the old comrades of the band, while another wreath was deposited by 5-year-old Shirley Harrison, grandniece of the deceased, on behalf of the relatives of the family.

Sympathetic reference was made at the memorial service, by Color-Sergeant G. Leggott of the Congress Band, to the memory of the late Mrs. A. E. Boynes, who looked after the bandsmen during the whole trip overseas.

Welcome Tea

After a series of photographs had been taken of the bandsmen, the combined gathering over eighty strong sat down to the "Welcome Tea" which was presided over by Bandmaster Routley.

Major Joseph Woolcott, in charge of the local corps, voiced the welcome to the visitors, during which he referred to the link of fellowship that existed between Salvation Army bandsmen the world over.

"I feel," he said, "that a get-together like this after twenty years, is an inspiration, and on behalf of the corps I would extend a hearty welcome to all our visitors, whom I trust will feel that the meeting has been worthwhile."

Adjutant Green responded on behalf of the visitors, and as a former officer of the local corps, said he especially appreciated the invitation that had been extended to himself and to Mrs. Green.

He also expressed pleasure at the opportunity of again meeting Major Woolcott, whom he stated, had been on the staff of the Salvation Army College in Toronto, when he(the speaker), was a cadet in training.

"The Peterborough Band," Adjutant Green observed, "was an outstanding corps band in 1914, as it has been since." He produced a newspaper scrap book, and read from it many interesting newspaper references to the Peterborough Band, and also references to former Bandmaster Peryer. The speaker also mentioned Bandmaster F. D. Robinson, who succeeded Bandmaster Peryer, and predicted that the band under present leadership of Gerald Routley would continue to uphold the highest traditions as a musical organization.

Success Due to Loyalty

Bandmaster Routley spoke a welcome to the visitors on behalf of the 1934 Temple Band, while former Bandmaster Peryer of the Congress Band, spoke of the success of the organization when it was under his leadership as having been mainly due to the loyalty of every member of the organization.

He also made mention of the eleven months of nightly practice which the Congress Band completed before leaving Peterborough for overseas in 1914, and referred to the fact that after the disaster to the "Empress of Ireland," "We were required to take the place of the Canadian Staff Band."

Pleasure was expressed by Bandmaster Peryer at seeing members of the Flint Band present. "They were the only other Salvation Army Band that went to the Congress with the Peterborough Band," he said.

He also expressed extreme gratification at the continued success of the corps band under Bandmaster Routley, again reminding the bandsmen, "it is loyalty to the bandmaster that will make for the success of the band."

Message From Commissioner

Special Effort Secretary M. J. Shadgett read a message of greeting he had received from Commissioner James Hay, who expressed regret at his inability to accept an invitation to be present. Other messages of regret were read from ex-Mayor William Buller; and from Colonel Gaskin of the Salvation Army.

Other messages were read during the course of the other services over the week-end, including that from Major A. J. Smith of Toronto, who stated:

"The news that you are holding a reunion of the 1914 Congress Band and the 1934 Band gives me a great deal of pleasure, inasmuch that great incentive to future endeavor will be provided be the revival of old memories. It will bring back memories of comrades that have passed on, and those of our sadly-missed comrades whose lives were lost in the tragedy of the Empress of Ireland. It is one of the greatest traditions of the Army; one of the most consoling thoughts to those of us left behind, that every setback but spurs us on to future and greater endeavors."

"Two Great Stalwarts"

A message was also read from an old comrade of the Congress Band in the person of Bandsman W. H. Leeham, now residing at Burton-on-Trent, England. Expressing his regret at inability to be present, Bandsman Leedham recalled memories of the tour in which he participated; referred to the sinking of the "Empress of Ireland" and spoke in terms of appreciation of Major J. A. McElhiney and Bandmaster Peryer, describing them as "two great stalwarts."

Major and Mrs. McElhiney, who are now stationed in Quebec, were also unable to be present.

It is interesting to note that among the ladies who waited on the tables, were Mrs. E. Hayward and Mrs. J. Bennett, who performed the same service twenty years ago when the Peterborough Band visited Camberwell in the course of their tour. Incidentally, Mrs. Hayward taught Corps Sergeant Major Howard Young, when he attended Sunday School as a boy at Camberwell. Their friendship between Mrs. Howard and Sergeant-Major Young was renewed following Mrs. Hayward's coming to Peterborough some years ago, when the two met by accident on George street.

Following a march out by the Band on Saturday the remainder of the evening consisted of a musical festival presented by the combined bands in the Temple, and also an illustrated review of the 1914 tour. S. J. Richardson, deputy bandmaster, presided over the evening program.

"Comrades True."

The musical part of the entertainment included the playing of the march, "Comrades True," the tune with which every program of the 1914 tour was opened. Another favorite march tune was "The March from the Great Masters," which was played by the Montreal Citadel Band, when marching the ePterborough Congress Band to the boat.

Well-attended spiritual meetings conducted by Adjutant and Mrs. Green on Sunday concluded in the evening with a great Salvation meeting, and the final of the reunion.

Members of the 1914 Congress Band present for the reunion, included the following: Bandmaster W. H. Peryer; Deputy Bandmaster W. C. Forde, both of Peterborough; Band-Sergt., R. Brown of Flint; Band Treasurer T. H. Brooks; Band Color Sergeant C. Leggott; Band Correspondent S. J. Richardson; Band Librarian F. W. Robinson; Assistant Librarian George Thomas, all of Peterborough; and Bandsmen Reginald W. Jones, G. Robinson, H. Gray, Jack Smith, William E. Payton, W. Northcott, C. J. Gadd, James Richardson, H. J. Parnell, J. W. Boorman, Albert E. Moynes, F. Wells, V. Boorman, also of Peterborough, and E. O. Sargeant, Oshawa; H. Wells, Galt; Joseph Thomas, Toronto.

Other surviving members of the band who were unable to be present, are: Corps Commander Major J. A. McElhiney of Quebec; Band Secretary E. Hensley, Flint; Bandsmen N. Ayling, Winnipeg; H. Payton, North Dakota; W. E. Sanford, San Francisco; E. Hancock, Hamilton; and G .Leedham, Burton on-Trent, England.

Though he has signed a contract to take his quintuplet children to the Chicago World's Fair, Mr. Oliva Dionne of Callander, Ontario, has reconsidered and is reported trying to break the contract. He is more concerned with the health of the five children, one of whom is reported near death. Above photo shows Dr. A. F. A Little Pump Controls Your Life Stream

The world's most wonderful pump is the human heart. It pumps blood faster than a strong man can pump water from a well—and this despite the fact that blood is seven times as sticky as water, and, in consequence, is ever so much harder to pump.

This marvellous piece of human machinery keeps your blood stream in constant motion. It pumps the red blood corpuscles — loaded with vital Oxygen from the lungs—to your millions of body cells. After unloading the Oxygen, the red corpuscles load up with the gas poison forever being generated in the human system. The heart pumps this poison to the lungs, to be breathed out of the system. If your heart were to stop pumping, you would die in a few seconds for lack of oxygen.

Now, in order to do their work effectively, your red blood corpuscles must be rich in what is known as haemoglobin—a substance having the power to absorb the oxygen and the poisonous gas. When your haemoglobin is below normal, your blood stream is weak, and you feel "tired-out," run-down, and nervously-exhausted. Restore the haemoglobin to normal, and you are once more strong, energetic and vigorous.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will do that very thing. This is not just a claim: it is an established fact, recently proven at a hospital where 40 people, treated with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, each recorded splendid blood improvement and, with it, renewed health and vigor.*

You will be benefitted in the same way. Try a month's treatment. 50 cents a package at your Druggist's.

*Individual reports on these 40 patients, certified by the hospital pathologist, are on file.

Campaign Notes

UNABLE TO VOTE.

In fulfilling their obligations as militiamen, the entire membership of the local Machine Gun Company, or at least as many of them as leave here on June 16 to go into camp at Connaught Ranges, will be disenfranchised. The votes of approximately 28 officers, N.C.O.'s and men will be lost, unless any of them decide to return to this city on polling day to mark their ballots.

Lieut.-Colonel J. A. Dewart, M.C., Officer Commanding the 4th Canadian Machine Gun Battalion, which includes Peterborough, Ottawa and Kingston companies, and who has been giving active support to James Hawthorne, Liberal candidate, will be among those who will lose his vote if he goes into camp with his unit, as he intends to do.

Sheeriff F. J. A. Hall, returning officer, in giving The Examiner his interpretation of the Election Act as it applies under such circumstances, stated, "the men would have to return in order to be eligible for a vote. I do not think there is any doubt about that."

The members of the unit, Sheriff Hall said, would not be eligible to cast their votes at an advance poll, which according to the Election Act only applies to railway employees, sailors and travellers.

REVISING LISTS.

Commenting on the revision of voters' lists which commenced this morning and which concludes tomorrow afternoon, Sheriff Hall stated at forenoon that business handled by the revising officers had been extremely light. Despite the fact that there were some errors on the part of the enumerators, he said, generally speaking the work had been done well by the enumerators in Peterborough as compared with several other places.

The revising oficers who are sitting for two days, including to-day, are as follows: His Honor Judge Robert Ruddy; S. T. Medd, K.C., G. J. Sherry, K.C., all at the Court House; His Worship Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., City Council Chambers; and V. J. McElderry, K. C. in Ashburnham Community Hall.

ADJUTANT GREEN RECALLS SINKING OF BIG VESSEL

Army Officer To-day Because God Rescued Him From Icy Waters.

EMPRESS OF IRELAND.

Member of Canadian Salvation Staff Band in 1914.

"The reason I am a Salvation Army officer to-day is because I promised God in the icy waters of the St. Lawrence that if I was spared I would consecrate my life to His service."

With obvious sincerity and with utmost simplicity, Adjutant Ernest H. Green of Toronto uttered the above words in recounting to The Examiner his experiences as a survivor in the disaster that overtook the ill-fated "Empress of Ireland" twenty years ago, and in which he was bereft of his parents and only sister.

Formerly in charge of the local corps of the Salvation Army, Adjutant and Mrs. Green were present in the city over the week-end conducting a social series of reunion services, at which were gathered the old comrades of the Peterborough Temple Band who were called upon to represent Canada at the Salvation Army International Congress in London, following the marine disaster in which almost the entire membership of the Army Staff Band were lost by drowning.

A Rare Personality

Adjutant Green, one of those rare personalities who are so refreshing to meet, graciously consented to be interviewed, though it was apparent at intervals throughout the interview that recollection of the terrible experience that he underwent personally and the triple bereavement he sustained, caused him much emotional strain.

At the time he embarked on the "Empress of Ireland" as one of the forty members of the Canadian Salvation Army Staff Band, Adjutant Green was engaged in the life insurance business, but in fulfillment of his promise to God he entered the Salvation Army Training College at Toronto following the disaster and has since been engaged in the work of the Army.

So far as the members of the band were concerned, Adjutant Green related, there were only eleven survivors of the disater. Ten of them are still living, and the reunions held by the comrades from time to time are anything but joyful events such as the reunion of the Peterborough 1914 Band proved to be.

"We had just got comfortably settled in our bunks" Adjutant Green stated, "when it happened at about 1.30 in the morning of May 29, 1914. There was a sight jar which I believed at the time to be an indication that we were dropping the pilot at Rimouski. That is the only thing I could think of at the time."

Realized Danger

"Some few minutes later the ship was plunged into darkness and water started to pour in through open portholes and we realized that we were in danger. Within fifteen minutes from the time of the collision with the "Storstadt" the "Empress" was settling down in the bed of the River" he related.

"Out of a party of 150 Salvationists, 124 were drowned including my parents, Adjutant and Mrs. Harry Green and only sister, Corps Cadet Jessie Green of Toronto."

Continuing with his vivid narrative, Adjutant Green told The Examiner that the Empress" took on such a bad list as she continued to settle down that it was impossible to stand upright. Clad only in his pyjamas, he said, he crawled on his hands and knees down the long, dark corridors of the ship, in which the water was steadily rising.

"With difficulty I managed to reach the deck where it was Divinely arranged that the first people I was permitted to greet were my parents and sister. My mother and sister were unable to speak. The shock had evidently had its effect." Adjutant Green remarked, recalling the sad experience with painful effort.

'In God's Hands

"My father and I stood beside the deck rail, and I asked him how he thought things were going to turn out. He replied, 'Whatever happens my boy, we are in God's hands'."

"The reason I am a Salvation Army officer to-day is because I promised God in the icy waters of the St. Lawrence, if He spared me I would consecrate my life to His service."

"At that time," Adjutant Green explained, "I was accountant for the Phoenix and Hartford Insurance Company."

Proceeding with his narrative of the disaster, Adjutant Green stated that his father had just finished replying to the question he had asked him, "when the vessel took her final plunge, and I along with the other passengers was thrown into the water. It was icy cold. I managed to climb on the keel of the upturned vessel, and as it continued to sink I eventually dived off into the water and was subject to the suction that naturally follows the sinking of a mass of over 14,000 tons. The scene was indescribable. In their dilemma people were calling on God to help them and Jesus to save them."

Naked And Homeless.

"I landed at Rimouski on the "Lady Evaline"—one of the rescue ships, naked except for a towel around my loins. I was penniless, homeless and clothless," he said.

Acknowledging the kindness of the people of Rimouski, Adjutant Green said, "it was not long before the survivors were outfitted with necessary clothing. Again on our subsequent arrival in Toronto we were conveyed to Eatons, and through the kindness of the City of Toronto, we were again supplied with articles of clothing."

Asked as to the conduct of the ship's officers and crew of the "Empress of Ireland," Adjutant Green replied, "Their conduct was exemplary, and true to the very highest traditions of the sea. Captain Kendall was among the survivors. He was the most dejected looking man I have ever seen. He was unable to converse with anyone, and for the most part had his face buried in his hands, overcome with the horror of the disaster."

"Shortly after my arrival back in Toronto," Adjutant Green said in conclusion, "I went into the Salvation Army Training College under Colonel Charles Taylor. Major Joseph Woolcott, at present in charge of the Peterborough Corps, was on the training staff, and I am especially pleased to renew his acquaintance."

Adjutant Green, while having been to England in 1927 with a party of twenty Canadian officers, who went for a course of study and training with forty English officers, has never been over the same course as that which the ill-fated "Empress of Ireland" was on. He sailed from Saint John and came back again into that port, he stated.

Some cigarette factories in Shanghai, China, are working at capacity.

Daffodil bulbs shown at a recent London show were priced at 97¢ each.

Your Full Salary Continued for a Year

Such is the comforting message of this new policy, the Imperial Salary Continuance Plan. What a help it would be should you die unexpectedly!

Wouldn't you like to be certain that your full salary will be paid regularly for a year to your dependents in case of your death? For about 10c a day—for each $100 of monthly salary—you can be assured that it will.

An Imperial Salary Continuance policy helps to effect one of life's most difficult readjustments. The continuing of your full salary for a year will enable your dependents to handle the year's obligations already incurred, and at the same time, to make plans for a more economical way of living.

By permitting a gradual instead of a sudden scaling down of expenses this policy helps to avoid the financial worries which the first crucial year after the death of the bread-winner always imposes.

You doubtless have other insurance designed to provide for your family after you are gone. An Imperial Salary Continuance policy provides, at a low premium, an ideal supplement to such other insurance.

BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE MEETS IN ST. ANDREW'S PETERBORO 1935

War Exemption is Advocated at Closing Session of Conference.

CHANGES IN CHARGES.

BROCKVILLE, June 4.—At the closing session of the Bay of Quinte United Church Conference here Saturday afternoon, announcement was made of the personnel of the Conference elected to the General Board of the Church as follows:

Evangelism and Social Service—Prof. J. M. Shaw, Kingston.

Foreign Missions—Rev. L. S. Wight, Kingston.

Pensions—Rev. A. M. Irwin, Oshawa.

Students and Colleges—Rev. Dr. G. Brown, Kingston.

Religious Education — Rev. R. Rickard, Oakwood.

Publications — Elmer W. Davis, Kingston.

Home Missions—Rev. M. Allan, Renfrew.

Rev. G. C. R. McQuaide, Oshawa, President.

In the presentation of the Memorial Committee's report, the Conference adopted the clause from the Belleville Presbytery (Simplificiter), that the Presbytery overture the General Council to take whatever steps may be necessary to secure from the Dominion Government the recognition that membership in the United Church of Canada shall be considered a just and sufficient reason to exempt from military service any who may so desire it on conscientious grounds.

Action Is Regretted

A memorial from the Oshawa Presbytery was adopted in the same form, and stated that the Oshawa Presbyery of the United Church learns with deep regret the action of the Montreal College of the United Church in relinquishing the chair of Christian Ethics, with the consequent loss of Prof. King Gordon from its teaching staff. While the Presbytery is aware of the urgent need of economy, it is a matter of grave concern that so important an aspect of ministerial training should be discontinued. The memorial expressed appreciation of the leadership of Professor Gordon, and urged that he be retained within the teaching ministry of the United Church in Montreal or in some other college.

A memorial from the Renfrew Presbytery asked the Council to seek legislation by the General Council to legislate so as to provide that the pastoral term shall have a time limit of six year, providing that any congregation shall have the right to recall its minister for a second or more terms. The clause was adopted.

EXTORTIONIST SLAIN IN TRAP

Drops Under Hail of Lead That Also Kills Innocent Sleeping Neighbor.

$3,500 DEMANDED.

PHOENIX Ariz., June 4 (C.P.).—An extortionist's greed for $3,500 cost him his life in a police trap and brought death to a sleeping innocet man.

"A martyr to the law's campaign against kidnappers and extortionists," Federal agents called Robert Perkins, 29, who was fatally wounded in bed by one of the bullets intended for Louis Walsh, 30.

A coroner's jury was called to-day to hear the story of the two deaths which early yesterday climaxed Walsh's attempt to extort $3,500 from I. Diamond, wealthy department store owner.

Walsh was killed in the roar of riot guns, rifles and revolvers fired from ambush by Federal agents and police. They opened fire when he threw the money from him and fled. He was challenged immediately after receiving the currency from his intended victim.

The money fell in Perkins' yard, not far from the porch cot where his parents found him dying.

An extortion letter which lay unopened for three days in the Diamond home, threatened death or injury to the department store owner and his family unless $3,500 was paid.

NEW MARKETING

troduction of the legislation. In the first place there was the great change in world conditions that had come about gradually in the last 20 years with improved transportation and communication facilities. Then the greater production of farm products that developed during the War entered into the picture. The failure of co-operative marketing methods was another important factor. Mr. Cowan mentioned three such movements all three of which had failed for the same reason, namely that the fifteen per cent or so of the producers who remained outside of the pool and contributed nothing toward its expenses cashed in on the benefits and ultimately caused so much discontent among poorer members that the effectiveness of the pool was destroyed.

The success of national producers' boards in New Zealand and Australia which had given the farmers of those countries such a hold on world markets, and the new marketing plans adopted by the Old Country, described by Mr. Cowan as most revolutionary, were other causes leading up to the marketing legislation now prominent at Ottawa.

In regard to the latter, the speaker explained that a Dominion board composed of Government representatives would be established. When the producers in any particular field wanted to form a compulsory marketing pool, the consent of the Dominion Board would first have to be secured and power would then be delegated to the provincial board to authorise the establishment of the pool.

In the tobacco industry for example the tobacco companies would have to deal with an authority representing all the tobacco growers instead of with growers individually. In the case of livestock, it was quite feasible that a provincial pool, eventually developing into a Dominion pool would be launched.

Mr. Cowan pointed out that the new legislation was being well supported and described it as a revolutionary change that it was hoped would produce worthwhile results.

Rotaran George A. Gillespie expressed the thanks of Rotarians to the speaker.

In recognition of the birthday of King George, the National Anthem and other patriotic numbers were featured in the community singing to-day.

Nearly 123,770 pounds of strawberries were grown in England last year.

Campaign Notes

Candidateing for Bragg.

In this column in a recent issue of the Examiner it was inadvertently stated that S. S. Staples of Cavan was to address a political meeting on behalf of the Rev. James Sutherland, C. C. F. candidate in Peterborough County Riding.

Requesting that a correction be made, Mr. Staples stated "I am not in any way connected with the Rev. James Sutherland. At intervals throughout the campaign I am addressing meetings on behalf of W. J. Bragg, Liberal candidite in Durham County Riding."

Liberal Rally

Ontario's debt at the close of the Mowat (Liberal) administration was $33,644, and in 1932 it had grown to $577,705,000, R. R. Hall, K.C., reminded the Saturday night rally in James Hawthorne's committee rooms, the large store on Charlotte street formerly occupied by McBride and Franks.

Conservative administrations are notorious builders of debt, Mr. Hall continued, pointing out that Quebec's debt under a Conservative government was $32,000,000, while at that time a Liberal administration in Ontario could show a debt of only $33,644. And yet some people said it made no difference who was at the head of affairs in this province.

In spite of the heat the rally was well attended, many city electors meeting James Hawthorne for the first time. Vincent Eastwood was chairman, and other speakers were G. N. Gordon, K.C., Mr. Hawthorne and Jacob Low.

Mr. Gordon said that a weakness of the Henry government was its failure to secure a minimum wage for men employed in factories, while these concerns were showing large earnings and paying big salaries to the head officers and other executives.

MILLBROOK MEETING

J. J. Duffus will be one of the speakers at a meeting in Millbrook Tuesday night in the interest of William J. Bragg, the Liberal candidate in Durham.

JOINT MEETING

A joint Liberal meeting at Centreville Thursday has been arranged by W. J. Bragg and Mayor N. H. Carr of Campbellford, the Liberal candidate in Northumberland.

KING GEORGE TAKES SALUTE

Wales in the uniform of Colonel-in-Chief of the Welsh Guards, the Duke of York as Colonel-in-Chief of the Scots' Guards, and the Duke of Gloucester in his Hupsar uniform. The Earl of Harewood, husband of Princess Mary, followed in the Grenadiers uniform, the Earl of Athlone in Hussar upniform. The Earl of Connaught in the uniform of the Scots Greys.

Eighteen hundred officers and men answered the command, present arms, at the royal salute. Meanwhile the National Anthem crashed from the massed bands of the Guards.

Salute The Queen.

As the King rode to the saluting point he looked up and saluted the Queen at the window of the Horse Guards building with the Duchess of York, and young Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose. The King and Queen of Siam were with the party. The Princes followed their father's example before wheeling into position.

The Color trooped to-day was that of the Scots Guards, an ensign of the regiment taking it from a sergeant-major, who guarded it with drawn sword—this being the only occasion in all British Army routine when a sergeant-major draws his sword. First in slow march, then in quick time, followed by an impressive march past, the whole stately ceremony was carried out.

Drizzle Mars Show.

The King showed no signs of feeling the cold as he sat his horse, nor did he take any notice of the slight drizzle that was falling before the ceremony ended.

In Plymouth Sound 22 ships of the Home Fleet assembled for the celebrations, providing the finest naval spectacle seen in this cradle of English seamanship since the war. Prior to firing the Royal salute at noon, a review of the naval men and troops in the Plymouth Port and Garrison was held by Admiral Sir E. J. Fullerton, Commander-in-Chief of the Plymouth Station.

OTTAWA CELEBRATES.

OTTAWA, June 4 (C.P.).—Ottawa celebrated the King's birthday with a display of loyalty and affection typical of the Capital of the oldest Dominion of the British Empire. The city was decked with flags and colorful ceremony of the trooping of the Color by the Governor-General's Foot Guards took place last night on the wide green lawns in front of the Parliament Buildings.

The congratulations of all Canadians were conveyed to His Majesty in a message sent by the Governor-General, the Earl of Bessborough, and a message of thanks was received from the King.

On the social side was the annual garden party at Government House on Saturday when hundreds of people gathered at the official residence of the Governor-General.

His Excellency was prevented by illness from taking the salute at the trooping of the Color last night, and Prime Minister R. B. Bennett took it with the Countess of Bessborough in attendance. Great crowds turned out to see the complicated and stately movements executed with faultless precision by the red-coated Guardsmen with their towering black bearskins.

Planes Join Search For Lost 6-Year Lad

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., June 4—(C. P.). — Combined efforts of ground and air forces were thrown today into the search for six-year-old Jimmy Wheeler missing from Sinclair Mine, near Searchmont, since Saturday noon. Fear was voiced that he may have drowned in the Goulais river.

Captain Roy Maxwell, director of the Ontario Air Service, and Pilot G. H. R. Phillips made a second airplane search last night, while hundreds of men plowed through the heavy fly-infested Algoma bush.

Pilot Phillips planned another flight to-day, and Provincial Constable Guy Carmichael left this morning to direct the ground search.

THREE CLUBS TIGHT BATTLE NATIONAL LEAD

St. Louis Cardinals Lose to Pirates But Retain League Lead.

BUCS. GOING STRONG.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

If close pennant races mean money in the pocket for baseball magnates, prosperity must be right at hand instead of just around the corner for several owners of big league clubs.

The standings in both major circuits today showed about the keenest competition for the top places the season has produced so far with three clubs in a virtual tie for the National League lead and another trio grouped in the space of a single game at the American League apex.

It took three of yesterday's four games to bring the National League tangle into its final status. Pittsburgh's Pirates knocked off the league leading St. Louis Cardinals 4-2 as Heinie Meine and Waite Hoyt pitched shutout ball but for Pepper Martin's home run in the seventh. That left the Cards only a few percentage points in front of New York and Chicago, who once again went into a tie.

The Phillies, led out of their seven game slump by Irvine Jeffries, turned back the Giants 6-2 while the Cubs pounded out a 7-1 triumph over Cincinnati. Jeffries walloped two homers to back up some expert elbowing by Curt Davis. The Cubs piled up 15 blows, including Gabby Hartnett's 11th circuit swat of the year.

The fourth National League game aided Pittsburgh's return to fourth place after a day in the second division. With Emil (Dutch) Leonard on the hill, Brooklyn Dodgers snapped a seven game winning streak of Boston Braves by a 5-1 count. Ralph Boyle of Brooklyn hit in his 24th consecutive game.

Petes Chalk up First C.O.B.L. Win Against Nats

SENIORS POUND FOUR BELLEVILLE PITCHERS HARD FOR 12 TO 1 WIN

Deyell Gives Masterly Display On Local Mound, Allows 8 Hits, Fans 5 And No Walks—Petes' Hitting In Latter Part Of Game Accounts For Top-Heavy Score.

MURRAY, ASH, BURTON AND DEYELL LOOK GOOD DEFENSIVELY FOR KNOTT LEE CREW.

Pounding four pitchers hard, the Petes slapped over Belleville, 12 to 1, before about a thousand fans in Stevenson Park Saturday. With Archie Deyell letting the Nats down with eight scattered hits, the locals just breezed through to chalk up their first win of the 1934 season. It was a fair ball game, though too one-sided to arouse much interest.

Deyell fanned five and issued no walks while he was dealing out the hits quite sparingly, using a neat change of pace and receiving good support throughout. The hitting of the Petes the last half of the game made for the top-heavy count. Smith, Utronki, Chambers and finally Williams were shoved into the breach but could not stop Knotty Lee's crew.

Smith started strong to fan three in the first, but they got a run off him in the second when Whatley walked, took second on an error, third on the second walk and scored on a third walk. Smith was yanked in the third after Foley had tripled and scored on Murray's single and Whatley was hit by a pitched ball. Utronki got the side out but in the fourth, Batten reached first on a fielder's choice after Konopka walked, took second on Foley's single and raced home on Murray's bingle to right. The Petes got two in the fourth, Burton getting on on a hit by pitcher, moving up on Playford's hit, both stealing a base, Burton tallying on a fly to the outfield and Playford on a fielder's choice.

After Foley walked in the sixth, Utronki was pulled in favor of Chambers who immediately walked Murray, gave singles to Whatley and Ash, and a two-bagger to Burton. Four runs were in and a man on second when Williams was sent to the box. He fanned the next two and forced the third to ground out. He retired them in order in the next frame, but with one out in the eighth, Ash singled, followed by Burton, which with an error, wild pitch, and Konopka's double, sent three more runs across. Belleville got its lone tally in the eighth, Utronki's hit, a fielder's choice and Williams' double off the scoreboard sending it in.

Utronki led the losers at bat with a double and two singles in four times. Green hit a double and single, and Williams a double. For the Petes, Ash was top clouter with three in five, while Foley, Murray and Burton got two safeties each in four trips. Both Burton and Konopka smacked out doubles, while Foley came through with a three-bagger.

Good Fielding

The fielding on both sides was good, some nifty pickups and good catches being registered. Murray with five chances, Ash, Burton, Deyell, Jack and Utronki all looked good defensively, and Konopka pulled off a beautiful diving pickup of a hard grounder to throw out a runner at second in the eighth.

YANKEES AGAIN HEAD THE RACE AMERICAN LOOP

Cleveland Drops to Third Place as Result of Defeat at St. Louis.

TIGERS ARE SECOND.

(By The Canadian Press)

New York Yankees returned to the American League lead with a 5-3 victory over Philadelphia in a battle of the home run kings. Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig hit a homer apiece for the Yanks and Jimmie Foxx two for the A's. It made 13 apiece for Gehrig and Foxx.

Detroit trailed a half game behind the Yanks into second place with a smashing 11-2 triumph over Chicago White Sox. Circuit blows by Charley Gehdinger, Hank Greenberg, Goose Goslin and Mickey Cochrane, plus 11 other assorted hits, outdistanced Zeke Bonura's 13th foud bagger.

St. Louis Browns knocked the Cleveland Indians down from first place to third, winning a 12-8 slugfest on the strength of a seven run outburst in the sixth. The Browns, incidentally, advanced to fourth place as Boston Red Sox pounded out a 7-2 decision over Washington behind Fritz Ostermueller's steady flinging.

On Saturday, "Lefty" Grove hurled his fire-ball at Washington but they weren't good enough and Grove with his Red Sox mates took a 2-1 beating. In the second game the Sox downed the Senators, 12-7 after 12 rugged innings. St. Louis smacked the then league-leading Indians 9-8.

In the National "Dissy" Dean concluded a 24-hour strike by pitching the Cardinals to a 13-4 win over Pittsburgh, but the Pirates came back strong to take the second game, 6-3.

BELATED RALLY GIVES BUFFALO 8 TO 7 VICTORY

Chick Outen's Hit With Bases Loaded Drives in Winning Runs.

ALBANY IN 5TH PLACE.

(By the Associated Press)

Riding the crest of a terrific hitting wave, Albany Senators were making serious gestures in the general direction of the International League's first division to-day.

They unleashed a fearsome batting attack yesterday in coasting to two one-sided triumphs over Syracuse Chiefs, 21-7 and 11-0, took firm hold on fifth place and found themselves only a game and a half back of the fourth place Montreal Royals

The details of the carnage at Albany might better be suppressed. The Senators, during three hours and a half of toil in a hot sun, pounded Syracuse pitchers for a total of 39 hits good for 56 bases. Alvin Powell, Albany outfielder, led the way with eight hits in ten times at bat. Hal Finney, Fred Sington and Glen Chapman contributed home runs. With that sort of heavy artillery work going on, neither Bob Brown nor Dick Barrett had any trouble pitching victories.

Rochester's 8-7 defeat at the hands of Buffalo, coupled with Newark's even split with Baltimore, tightened up the race between these two top-ranking outfits. Rochester's lead to-day stood at one game.

The Redwings apparently had their game with the Bisons sewed up as they led 4-0 going into the seventh, but starting with one run in that frame, the Bisons' attack grew more and more potent and Buffalo added four runs in the eighth and three in the ninth to win out.

Orioles Divide Pair.

Baltimore took the opener from Newark 8-5 in 10 innings when Marvin Duke passed Woodley Abernathy with the bases filled and Roy Schalk muffed George Puccinelli's grounder, but the Bears came back to win the nightcap, 11-1, behind Vito Tamulis' seven-hit pitching.

Another For Leafs.

Toronto and Montreal split a double bill at Montreal before 10,589 customers. The Leafs smacked Chad Kimsey out of the box in the second inning of the first game and won, 8-4, but Montreal snared the second duel, 6-2. After Toronto had scored twice on three hits in the first inning, Johnny Salveson blanked them the rest of the way and allowed only three more hits.

In the Saturday program Toronto had too much hitting power for Montreal and the Royals absorbed 8-5 and 6-5 defeats. Albany had a soft time downing Syracuse 12-4.

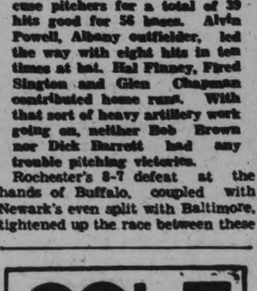
GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

A good many posture experts advocate taking a good stretch once or twice a day.

These stretches relax muscles that have tightened up through being bent over or remaining in one position as does the office worker.

The average person doesn't stretch properly. So, recently, a noted New York physician demonstrated the "West Point" stretch. You simply stand comfortably erect. Imagine a light bulb or similar object to be hanging just a couple of inches above your head. Then stretch your neck so that the top of your head touches that imaginary object. This will immediately give you the relaxed neck and shoulder muscles needed for a successful swing.



Too many golfers have talked themselves into believing that something in their swing goes wrong just as the clubhead strikes the ball. This is possible but not at all likely.

The time in which the club travels through the hitting area of the swing is but the smallest fraction of a second, so short a space of time that we don't have a chance to act upon any thought we might have.

It is simply this: we sense that something is wrong in our swings about the moment we impact but the error developed well before this point.

It takes time to get messages from different muscles and joints.

FAVORITES TAKE WALLOPING IN WEEK-END AMATEUR GAMES

Moodie Tigers Suffer Setback at Hands of Dundas Graftons—Port Colborne Sailors Gain 11-10 Verdict Over Niagara Falls' St. Patricks.

TORONTO, June 4. (CP).—Intense heat throughout the province failed to still the swinging baseball bats as the amateur diamond crews continued their hunts for a crown. Some of the favorites took a walloping during the week-end as batting rallies marked the play.

The Moodie Tigers suffered another week-end defeat when Dundas Graftons visited the Ambitious City and belted the ball hard enough to win a 6-4 victory. Kessler's bat did the trick for Graftons in the Hamilton Senior City League fixture. In the last of the eighth with the score 4-4, he connected for a homer that sent the Graftons on to victory.

Bern Nelligan of the visitors tossed a nine-hit game and had good support but Dawson of Tigers was sent off the field at the end of the fifth inning when Anderson made his appearance. Poor fielding allowed Chatlad across for the sixth Grafton run in the ninth.

Port Colborne Sailors' ability to fight when the going is rough earned them a 11-10 victory in a duel with Niagara Falls St. Patricks. It was a thrilling encounter with Sailors running wild in the last four innings to overcome an eight-run lead.

Lopsided Score

Another lopsided score marked the St. Catharines Garden City battle with Merritton Alliance, the verdict going to the former team, 11-1. Arnold Trapnell's curves helped St. Kitts to triumph Dune Schooley, Alliance hurler., was knocked off the diamond and Jimmy Wednesworth took over the task but far from successfully.

Kitchener Panthers found their stay in Brantford slightly disappointing when Universals trounced them 8-4 in a inter-county game. Universals' fielding sent them to the front, with Webster, Pollard, Stuart and Land the field artists. Police took part in the game when Wolski, Brantford first sacker and Felbaum of Panthers started slugging after the former tagged the Panther a little too hard. Wolski was sent from the field.

Duel at Guelph

The only real pitchers' due occurred in Guelph when Leafs defeated Stratford 7-3, Lefty Goyer of Leafs and Earl Craig, school teacher of Stratford, fought it out for nine innings with the Leaf twirler getting the verdict. Stratford gave a great display of batting in the fifth when they slammed out five hits, two of them homers by Miskimmons and Barclay, for three runs.

St. Thomas Tomcats, perched on top of the heap last year, were knocked for a loop in London when London Winery pounded out a 13-5 decisio. Cats found Herdman for 11 hits while Winery collected only eight off the Cats but they made them all count with the help of errors.

In the other senior fixture of the week-end Niagara Falls Cataracts held Merchants to one run while they piled up 10 behind the slow-ball tricks of Shannon, who allowed only three hits. The victors snatched 16 hits from Crossman, including two homers by Cherrie and Pasco.

LIMESTONE CITY VOTES AGAINST OSHAWA RETURN

Peterborough and Kingston Delegates Not in Favor of Conditional Entry.

WANT GUARANTEE.

The question of Oshawa's return to the C.O.B.L. was not definitely settled at yesterday's meeting in Belleville. A final decision was to have been sent by Oshawa to Secretary Newt Thompson to-day. The Peterborough, Belleville and Kingston delegates refused to consider Oshawa's conditional entry whereby the Dukes would return but wanted a one-way monetary guarantee—Oshawa to get a guarantee for road games but to give none in return. This was voted down unanimously. Kingston stating they would not vote for Oshawa's return under any condition.

Belleville and Peterborough were agreeable to their return, but only on the same basis as the other clubs in the league. A later suggestion by Hugh Brown of Oshawa, whereby the Dukes would receive a one-way guarantee for one game in each of the C.O.B.L. towns—after that, to play on an even basis—was approved of by Belleville and Peterborough delegates, Kingston being the lone dissenter. Mr. Brown then had to refer the matter back to his executive, but promised to wire a final decision some time to-day. He stated Oshawa's rather unreasonable request was forced on them owing to the serious financial situation now facing that club, adding that if they didn't enter the C.O.B.L., they'd have to drop out of baseball for the summer.

The league, after some discussion, decided to return to the $35-to-visiting team-guarantee as in past years for all clubs in the circuit. It was also decided that twilight games in Kingston should start sharp at six o'clock in the evening. They agreed that if Oshawa came in, a quadruple schedule would be drawn up, and Oshawa and Kingston could arrange to play two games on the one day in each of these towns when the Ponies and Dukes are playing against each other. Secretary Thompson urged the officers and umpires to read up on the C.O.B.L. constitution and abide by it, and he asked umpires to keep the players' benches at ball parks free of everyone but the players and manager. The session then adjourned.

The outstanding event of the club this week will be the mixed masquerade tournament to be held on Wednesday evening at 7.30. This is something new in lawn bowling circles, and we are looking forward to it with enthusiasm.

Every bowler, lady and gentleman, is asked to be on hand to make this the biggest night of the season. Invitatoins have been sent to Lindsay, Cobourg, and Port Hope.

The winning rinks will receive beautiful prizes, and there will be extra prizes given to best fancy costume (lady), best fancy costume (gentleman), best comic costume lady), best comic costume gentleman).

The Petes tucked a nice one in their bat bag Saturday, kicking Belleville in the slats to the tune of 12-1 before about a thousand fans (Note: A couple or three hundred of these weren't cash customers). Ponies beat us here, Nats tie Ponies in Kingston, we lick Nats here, so what? So, baseball is a screwy sport at best and is one case where figures do lie, absolutely and terribly. At any rate, the fans at Saturday's fixture saw the Petes hitting, and that's always welcome news for followers of a squad that has something of a rep last summer as "hitless wonders." They hit four pitchers this game for thirteen hits including Foley's triple and doubles by Burton and Konopka. The latter, incidentally, might be termed the "Dublin Kid" as he conked out four doubles so far this season.

• • • • • • •

None of the Nats' twirlers looked good for more than an inning or so. Smith started like a house afire but burned down rapidly. Utronki submarined 'em in for a while with indifferent success, and Chambers was pretty terrible. Then, came the Chief! Jack Williams went in in the sixth with four runs in, none out and a player on second. He got a big hand from the crowd and an ice-cream cone from a kid. The Chief then fanned two and forced the third to roll weakly to third. Two soft rollers in the seventh and a strikeout—and we began to think Williams was better than ever.

• • • • • • •

However, after a pop fly to short in the eighth, the locals got to Williams for three hits. These, a wild pitch and a couple of misplays sent three runs in. Jack fanned the last two. Put in at the start of the game and the Indian is going to give any team plenty of trouble. The Petes would probably have beaten him Saturday the way they were hitting, but it's a cinch the score would have been closer. He still looks like a mighty fine flinger. All the locals hit well and looked good in the field, but much of the credit must go to big Archie Deyell. He hurled a dandy game, scattering eight hits, fanning five and walking none. He was never in trouble and just took it easy to pitch a steady, effective brand of ball, mixing 'em up perfectly. We were glad to see the big Normalite get off to a good start this seasons.

• • • • • • •

When Peeny Mills quit catching at the end of the second because of a sore arm, Sonny Green took up the job. Sonny is a good utility man and a pretty fair ball player all around. And he's mighty colorful. We always liked this Indian because of his sense of humor. He clowns continuously, doing a war dance, razzing opponents, laughing when a batter strikes out, sizzling the umps' ears with his sarcasm, in fact having a whale of a good time. One of the home players got peeved at his smart cracks once and said, "Gwan, guy, that's a low Indian trick!" Near the end of the game the same batter was up again and he was struck out by Williams. "Hi, fella," Sonny yelled after him, "that's another low Indian trick!" But what we're getting around to is a letter Green sent us for publication, after he hit the sign in left field on the bounce for a double in the seventh:

• • • • • • •

"Dear Sir—When a visiting ball player comes to Peterborough, the first thing that catches his eye is the sign in left field which says "Hit Me And Get Ten Dollars". After I hit the sign today I was informed that it was only for home players. There was nothing on the sign that indicated visiting players were discriminated against. Belleville always claimed they got a square deal in Peterborough, so why not a square deal in this case? Yours hopefully, Earl (Sonny) Green."

• • • • • • •

The Oshawa delegate to yesterday's C.O.B.L. meeting had his bluff called promptly by Peterborough, Belleville and Kingston delegates. He made formal application for re-entry into the loop and then requested a monetary guarantee for the Dukes on all their road games, without promising the other teams anything when they played in Oshawa. Kingston promptly voted not to accept Oshawa in under any consideration, while Belleville and Peterborough voted to accept them in but on an even financial basis all around. "We're no Santa Claus", "We don't intend to pay our own expenses and Oshawa's, too", and "Oshawa is lucky to have a league to step into and they'd better be reasonable, as we don't need them badly"—these were some of the caustic comments passed. So it looked like the Dukes, who still refused to come in without a guarantee—claiming it was financially impossible for them to do so—would drop out of all ball for the summer. Their delegate said he would make a final effort to get his club to change its mind last night and wire a final decision today. As this was written, we've heard no more.

A new local tennis league, to be known as the Peterborough City Tennis League, has been formed here, made up of players not in the Kawartha loop. Jack Cowling has been elected chairman and Max Clarke secretary-treasurer, the ... ance of the executive to consist of the team captains. Six teams are entered and play will commence next Saturday. Schedule will be published in the paper shortly. This is just another indication of how popular the racquet game is becoming, particularly around here—and this town will soon be known as a real tennis centre.

BASEBALL TIDBIT FOR LOCAL FANS

Cogs and Electrics Tangle for First Time This Season on Tuesday Night.

A real baseball struggle is promised E.P.L. fans at six tomorrow evening in the Exhibition Grounds when Cogs and C.G.E. tangle for the first time this year. These teams were the finalists last summer, Cogs winning out. Both outfits have played one game so far this season, each team winning handily. C.G.E. will be at full strength and hopes to knock off the fast-stepping Cogs, who are considerably stronger than last year. This should be a close, exciting game, full of good ball, and with the issue in doubt till the end.

Manager Doug Htaton has several hurlers to choose from, and it's uncertain who will get the call for this contest. He used Field, Hetherington and McGillen a few innings apiece last week, but also has a couple of more flingers available. Manger Davis of the Cogs will likely put Percy Vannest in there to burn his fast ones at the Electrics, though he also has Billingsley and Masterson ready. Kitchen, who blanked Fosters last Friday, is not likely to go back so soon. Regardless of the pitchers, it promises to be a nifty number, and with the CLOSE PLAY.

MARMORA, June 4 (Examiner Correspondence).—Played under a sweltering sun, Deloro's opening league football game on the home ground on Saturday resulted in a win for the visitors, C.G.E. of Peterborough, by the score of 4-0. The game was closer than the score would indicate, the losers failing to put the finishing touch to several good movements.

Deloro kicked off and for the first quarter of an hour did most of the attacking. Twice in quick succession, Curtis saved good shots by Brown. End-to-end rushes then ensued and Ben McMaster had hard lines in not scoring as he received the ball on a pass from a throw in. A few moments later, a straight drive by this player baffled O'Neill.

Play going to the other end resulted in Smith hitting the crossbar at the junction of the upright, and Stewart sent in a feeble shot when in good position. From a corner awarded the visitors, "Smoky" Jones added another goal for his team. Deloro returned to the aggressive, and twice Brown sent the sphere a little too high. Just before half time, O'Neill nicely negotiated a hot shot from Early.

Half time.—C.G.E. 2, Deloro 0.

In the opening of the second moiety, Earl tried unsuccessfully to add to the lead and at the other end Brown again was unlucky with a shot. During a rush, McIntosh scored a neat goal. A chance came McMaster's way. With one of his characteristic breakaways, he found himself with only O'Neill to beat and with a bang the ball entered the net.

The Deloro team tried its best to draw blood, but shots went wide or were charged down, and the final whistle blew.

RIDYARD TEAM CAPTURES CUP

Machine Gun Company is Inspected by Major H. J. Salmon.

GO TO CAMP JUNE 16.

For the second successive year, Sergeant J. Ridyard's gun team merited the Dewart Inter-Gun Team Shield, which they won at the annual inspection of the local company of the 4th Canadian Machine Gun Battalion. The team is composed of Sergeant Ridyard, Corporal F. Lindsey, and Gunners F. Wood, W. Wood, Duncan Drummond and Ernest Hope.

The unit, which is under command of Major James Turnbull, underwent inspection at the rifle ranges on Saturday afternoon, where their soldierly bearing and general efficiency won the approval of Major H. J. Salmon, M.C., General Staff Officer of Military District No. 3.

Colonel W. B. Anderson, C.M.G., D.S.O., the District Officer Commanding, was not present at the inspection owing to indisposition, it was stated.

Upon the arrival of the inspecting officer at half-past two, he was greeted by the unit with the general salute, after which he inspected the ranks in company with Lieut.-Colonel J. A. Dewart, M.C., Officer Commanding, the 4th Machine Gun Battalion, and Major Turnbull, O.C. of the Company.

The inspecting officer afterwards saw the unit go through ceremonial drill, including a march past, and then witnessed the demonstration of a tactical scheme of firing, and also section drill with limbers. Visitors at the ranges included Lieut.-Colonel G. G. Winterbottom, M.C., D.C.M., and Capt. G. R. Melton, both of the Peterborough Rangers.

Officers on parade, besides the O.C. of the Battalion and the Company Commander, included Lieuts. L. C. Gilders, Ralph C. Honey, H. J. Morley and R. L. Davidson, also R.S.M. W. Piercy and Sergeant-Major Instructor F. Frape. Captain R. J. Devey was unable to attend owing to indisposition.

The unit is to go into camp at Connaught Ranges, along with the Ottawa and Kingston companies of the Battalion, and also with the 2nd Battalion C.M.G.C. from London, on June 16.

TRINITY SCHOOL-LOCAL CLUB CRICKET MATCH ENDS IN DRAW

Pressure of Time Saves Homesters From Decisive Licking at Hands of Petes.

HEAVY SCORING.

At the request of the school the return match between these two clubs was played at Port Hope on Saturday, June 2. The School has a splendid ground with all facilities for preparing good turf wickets which are not available at Nicholls Oval, where matting has to be used, which is not quite so satisfactory. T.C.S. has a very long cricket history; there are records showing matches played in 1867, and it has been played there ever since.

The match on Saturday resulted in a drawn game, which was a moral victory for Peterborough, the final score being: Peterborough 132 for 2 wickets (innings declared closed); T.C.S., 50 for 9 wickets; so only the call of time prevented a decisive win for the Petes.

Mitchell and Lawrence opened the Peterborough innings; the former left at 12, but on Gore joining Lawrence a prolonged stand was made which took the score to 104, when Gore was out for 36. When he reached 53 (including 1 five and 4 fours), Lawrence retired; Hamilton (not out 22) and Mawhood (not out 10) took the score to 132, when the innings was declared closed.

T.C.S. failed badly before the bowling of Dyer (4 for 23) and Mitchell (4 for 7), and when time was called and saved them from defeat, they had nine men out for 50.

Next Saturday the Peterborough club play a return match against The Grove School, at Lakefield, and Whitaker's C.C. play Toronto Beaches at the Oval.

LINDSAY FALLS TO CALEDONIANS

Failure to Field Full Quota of Players Costs Scugog Team Two Points.

FINAL COUNT 9-1.

Through the lack of proper transportation, Lindsay soccer team were unable to field a full quota on Saturday afternoon, against the Caledonians in a league game, on King Edward Park, before a meagre attendance that went away through having to wait for a prompt kick-off, Lindsay taking a nine-to-one defeat and loss of two league points.

Play started one hour late, with the Lindsay aggregation placing six men on the field in anticipation of the rest of the team following later. The Caleys took the attack along easy playing tactics to place themselves into a conclusive victory by Barson registering four goals and Fred Dyer scoring two in the first period.

Second Half.

On resuming, the visitors were still minus their players, who were left stranded on the highway through engine trouble. Art O'Halloran kept plying the ball to Jim Taylor and Harry Latham in an endeavor to play the attacking force offsides. At any rate, the Scots made the score nine to one, with Harry Latham getting the lone counter for the visitors. Caledonians 9, Lindsay 1.

Lindsay— Jack Springhall, goal; Art O'Halloran and J. Taylor, fullbacks; Harry Latham, N. Dobbie and T. Dobbie forwards.

Caledonians—E. Tice, goal; W. Dinesin and E Adkinson, fullbacks; J. Mayette, T. Craig and W. Rankin, halves; G. Clarke, F. Dyer, C. Barson, C. Ward and Alex. McBride, forwards.

Referee—Harry Hotston.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

READ THIS FIRST

John Tait, stepson of wealthy Lady Tait is engaged to marry Lucy Burnham, a widow. This is resented by Alysia Naylor, John cousin, who has been making her home with her sister, Etta, and her brother, Claud, at Tait's abode in London. Lady Tait sees her stepson talking with a beautiful girl, revealed as Gillian Dundas, in the hotel lobby at Vichy where she, Tait and Lucy are stopping. Gillian, it seems, is blackmailing Tait for a past indiscretion. Back in London Lady Tait shows John a letter from her dead son's wife, an Italian woman she despises, demanding money for her son, Lady Tait's grandson. Tait learns of the fatal shooting of his business associate, Lord Mills, for which his valet, Brown, is held. Tait had recommended Brown for the post. Reggie Claridge, Alysia Naylor's fiance, attracted by Gillian Dundas whom he met in Paris, follows the latter and a strange-looking young man in a cab. Miss Dundas returns to the station and Claridge follows the man into an apartment. He comes upon a human fiend sitting before a mirror. The stranger spies him, runs after him but Claridge leaves him behind.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 14

The first place to which Tait was driven after parting from Mrs. Burnham was Hay Hill, where were the chambers in which Lord Mills had been found shot a couple of hours before. He found the flat on the first floor in the hands of the police, but on sending in his card as a friend of the dead man's, was at once admitted. A rather thickset man of middle height, with a pair of very keen blue eyes, was apparently in charge of affairs, though Tait only knew it from the fact that his card was handed to him, for the stoutish man's voice and manner were singularly gentle.

He looked pleased to see the newcomer, but not half so much so as did a man standing in a corner, though there was a chair beside him on which he had twice been asked to sit down. This was Brown, the valet, who had been kept at the flat in order to explain a few oddments which bothered the police.

"Oh, Mr. Tait, sir!" Brown fairly sprang at him. "I'm in a terrible position, sir. Lord Mills has been found dead and the police think I done it. I'm under arrest. Oh, sir, can you do anything for me?"

"You're not under arrest, Mr. Brown," Superintendent Dartmoor said quietly, for it was one of the big five who had slipped Tait's card into his pocket. "I explained that to you. You're being detained while we look into your story."

"But it's the same thing!" wailed Brown, a slim, worried-looking man with, just now, a complexion the color of underdone potatoes. "It's the same thing exactly!"

The policeman beside him suppressed a grin with difficulty.

"If looking into your story means that ——" he muttered under his breath.

"A friend of Lord Mills, sir?" Dartmoor asked Tait in his quiet voice.

"I'm afraid I only put it that way in order to be shown up at once," Tait murmured. "Apart from business interests—he was on several tea and eastern produce companies with me—I didn't know Lord Mills well. It's Brown who's brought me here. I do know him well. I got him this post. He was with me first as a batman and then in my service as a houseman for over a year. I should never have parted with him but for the doctor saying that he must give up stairs."

"Oh, thank you, sir!" came in almost a sob from Brown. "I'm in a tight place, sir, but I swear to you that I never ——"

"You don't need to waste time in oaths of that sort," Tait said, fearing that a more sympathetic tone would break the man down. "Now, suppose I have a word with the superintendent." Tait gave him a half impatient, half affectionate pat on the shoulder. The superintendent nodded to Brown's companion, and the two disappeared into an adjoining room.

"Now, superintendent," Tait said as the door closed, "I can tell you one thing. Brown never murdered any one. He's a truthworthy reliable fellow Honest as the day, and a lot kinder. If you found him bending over a heaving corpse—if a corpse can heave—I should still say you'd be wasting your time thinking him the criminal."

"Very possible, sir," Dartmoor said equably, "but I should also be right in detaining him under those circumstances, just as I am under these. I can't do otherwise—given the facts."

"And the facts are?" Tait asked anxiously. This man did not look the sort of man to have blundered. Superintendent Dartmoor was broad with the breadth of sedentary middle age. He had a plain, rather care-worn face, chiefly noticeable for its look of unusual quiet. The eyes, the voice, the gait, the lack of gestures all were stamped with the same tranquility. No one had ever heard Dartmoor raise his voice one tone in anger or excitement.

"Well, first, there is the fact that Brown had been given notice this morning after a loud scolding on the part of his master. A most unusual occurrence."

"He's growing rather hard of hearing," Tait put in.

"Quite so," agreed Dartmoor. "So that he would have found it impossible to get a job again unless Lord Mills recommended him. Then there's the fact that about &37 was found on Brown, among which are four '&5 notes, which passed into Lord Mills possession only this morning. Brown says Lord Mills rang for him at ten-thirty, handed him the money, and told him to consider it a parting present. He said his master pressed it on him, told him that he was sorry to part with him, but that he was starting at once on a long journey where he would need no servant, and handed him a most glowing testimonial, which, in a moment of emotion, he flung into the fire, and asked his master to take him with him or at least let him come back into his service on his return. On which he says that Lord Mills seemed to consider a moment but only told him to go to his club—the Devonshire—for his letters and to wait until the 12 o'clock post should be in in order to take charge of a registered package he was expecting. Should it notcome by that post he was to return here Brown, according to his own story, tought he was being kept on, went to the club, waited there for the post, nothing arrived, and he hurried back into the house very keen indeed on having another word with his master, so he says. Meanwhile Lord Mills had been found shot through the head from a little in front of the right ear. According to our police surgeon, death probably took place around the time when Brown supposedly left the house, judging by the time he arrived at the club. For that part of his story we have of course verified. He got there when he said he did, and acted there acording to his statement.

"Brown always would," Tait said instantly.

"This room," the superintendent went on placidly, "is so situated that, in all likelihood, a revolver shot would be considered as some motor backfiring in the street outside. It was but little used by his late lordship, I understand. Of course Brown, who acted as single manservant, could easily inveigle him in here on the plea of something wrong with something—window, fireplace, ceiling—a dozen things."

"Superintendent, Brown is not a criminal," Tait said again, very earnestly. "Surely you with your large experience of criminals must see that he's not the criminal type?"

"There isn't such a thing, sir."

"So I've heard say, but I don't agree with you. But, leaving that on one side, we all of us know that there is a distinctly non-criminal type. The kind who under no circumstances—not for any consideration—would steal from or murder their employer. That's Brown's type."

The Struggle for Power in Asia

In any itemised or individual examination of Asia's markets and needs it is important to remember not only the world economic depression but the immemorial penury of the consumer, a penury pressed to its lowest historic level, first by the demonitisation of silver (his staple and only hoarded negotiable wealth) and secondly by the present economic crisis. But it is important also to realise that for what he lacks in purchasing power he in some measure compensates by sheer weight of population.

The populations of Ceylon and India alone are close on 380,000,000, or more than seven times our own, more than three times that of the United States of America, and even more than twice that o the U.S.S.R., a territory amounting to one-sixth of the earth's surface; more, that is to say, than the combined populations of those three countries, and inhabiting an area only about one-sixth as big.

It is for the custom of those 380,000,000 consumers that an economic war is now being fought in Asia between the manufacturers and exporters of Great Britain and of Japan. The weapons of the former are high quality; those of the latter, low prices; the casualties which they inflict appear at present only in the bankruptcy reports of the world's newspapers, and in occasional questions in the House of Commons. At the present time there is no doubt whatever that low prices are winning the battle; and, although it is generally realised that if the consequent debauchment of public taste is allowed to continue the eventual outcome will be a complete victory, it is not as generally admitted that the time has already come when it will be both costly and difficult to force the price factor from its prepotent position, for even were the local standards of living to be raised appreciably, the fact that it is uneconomic to change the habits and preferences of a people not completely literate, would still act as an impediment to the redevelopment of British trade in the east.

It is not necessary minutely to survey each eastern market to obtain an adequate picture of the whole; an analysis of Japanese imports into Ceylon is one that is both typical of the entire asiatic situation and equally contains facts relevant to the problems which confront those oriental governments anxious to foster a mutual trade between this country and those whose commercial affairs they administer.

In the last three years the value of Ceylon's imports of Japanese goods has risen from 10,500,000 to nearly 13,000,000 rupees, representing a rise in that country's share of imports of 23 per cent. To administer this rise, which has taken place during a decline in the total volume of world trade, two further Japanese firms, the Prince Tyre Distributing Company and Toyo Menka Kaisha, opened branches in Colombo in the latter part of last year; and it is understood that plans are already on foot for further commercial houses to establish themselves there and add to the present number of 15, whose more prominent members consist of the Togo Company, the Nissi Trading Company and the Mikado Company, all of whom have been operating in Ceylon since before 1918.

An analysis of these import figures is instructive, for it discloses that while Japan is only competitive in certain very limited spheres of manufacture, her manufacturers are concentrating their energies on finished articles ready for immediate consumer distribution, that is to say precisely on those goods whose share of world trade is increasing all the time, to the detriment of the heavier industries.

It would be tedious to present a list of Ceylon's principal imports from Japan, but a few examples, picked at random from the long list, serve to show the gravity of the present situation.

In the ten years from 1934-33 the importation of Japanese cotton piece goods (bleached) increased from 60,450 yards to 11,934,273 yards, and at the end of the latter year represented almost exactly 50 per cent of the total imports of this commodity. In the same period the import of similar British goods declined from 8,790,720 yards to 4,207,767 yards. Represented in rupee value the British import over the same period declined by nearly 3,500,000 rupees per annum, while the Japanese increased by approximately 1,500,000 rupees (The par value of the rupee is thirty-six cents). It was not, however, until 1930 that the fierceness of the competition became all too apparent, for in that year the British share of the market declined for the first time by 5,000,000 yards, while the Japanese import for the first time was greater than the British, and from that year the gap between the two has widened at an accelerating pace. The only figures yet available for 1934 show that Japan is still holding her own, for whereas last year she had, as has been shown, almost 50 per cent of the total Ceylon import of that particular commodity, the figure rose in January to 65.3 per cent.

The ten year saga of other piece goods is almost precisely similar. Other qualities of cotton piece goods have increased their ratios with the same monotonous success. Japanese dyed piece goods formed 14.8 per cent of the total import of that commodity in 1931; to-day their share is 59.6 per cent. It is the same story in other trades. Exactly 16 per cent of the umbrellas imported in 1931 were of Japanese origin, but to-day three people out of every four use umbrellas from Japan. More than nine people out of ten eat off Japanese porcelain; everybody who uses a silk handkerchief blows his nose on one that comes from Japan; more than half the children play with Japanese toys and drink out of Japanese glasses. Every fifth glass of beer is Japanese beer, and nearly two-thirds of the dinners cooked in Ceylon are cooked in Japanese saucepans. In the list of principal imports it is only in the matter of boots and shoes that Europe has been able to hold its own, for the percentage of Japanese imports has declined since 1931 from 25 per cent to 16.7 per cent, but even here it is not the British manufacturer who has benefited, but the factories of Central Europe where labor is cheap and hours are long.

Nor is it entirely by statistics that the enquirer should be guided, for the commercial invasion is apparent on every side, although the sight of a Japanese national is rare. The writer of this article made a visit to the native quarter of Colombo in search of cheapness, taking with him only a note of ten rupees, the equivalent of $3. With that $3 he was able to fill the back of his car. Ten face towels cost one rupee, so did 100 pencils, whose quality has so far not proved noticeably beneath a generally accepted European standard. Their wholesale price is twenty cents a gross. Twelve silk vests cost two rupees; handkerchiefs, which have already survived a number of launderings, were offered and bought at twenty for a rupee. These words are being written with a fountain pen that cost the equivalent of five cents, and it functions as well today as it did when it was first bought. By now it must have written 150,000 words. A sun helmet, which survived the rain and winds of a month, was more expensive; it cost two and a half rupees, or eighty-five cents, that is to say twenty-five cents more than a silk shirt of adequate cut and strong material which has not so far shown any signs of shrinking. Had one been content to have purchased only one article for ten rupees, it would have been possible, by searching a little, to have obtained an excellent bicycle for that sum; and it is reported that a Japanese baby car will soon be on the market, distinguishable from its British counterpart only by a retail price of $300.

At present, however, the British manufacturer controls the rapidly growing bicycle market and last year sent over 5,000 to Ceylon compared with 974 from Japan, but in the motor and bicycle tire business, however, the pendulum is already swinging towards Japanese dominance; last year 26,868 Japanese tires were imported compared with 64,445 from Great Britain.

Such ,in microcosm, are the eastern markets of to-day; price first, second and all the time; quality nowhere. And the custom of nearly half the world's population is the ultimate prize in this commercial battle. To cure this disease of the price factor many nostrums and many remedies have been suggested, and hardly a day dawns that does not bring forth from one or other interested quarter an infallible and permanent cure.

High tariffs have been suggested, but it must be obvious that a country which pays its male cotton operatives only four cents an hour for a ten hour day and its female counterparts only two cents can leap the highest barrier that could reasonably be erected. Compare this male wage of thirty-two cents for eight hours with the British wage of $3.25 for a similar period, and the futility of the tariff becomes all too patent. Quotas have been suggested; it has been seriously argued that the British Empire, which now supplies Japan with so many of the raw materials for her factories, should decline to treat with her; but the fallacy of such an argument is too visible for it to receive further consideration. It has been urged that the remonitisation of silver would release sums, variously computed at from $2,500,000,000 to $25,000,000,000, now lying idle in Asiatic homes, but such a form of controlled inflation is inimical to most of those who are in a position to bring it about, and, in their opinion, would ultimately cause more harm than good.

There is equally another side to the picture, and a side which does not receive that recognition which it deserves; there are the interests of the consumer to be safeguarded.

It has been urged that Ceylon, for instance, should impose a tariff on cotton piece goods of Japanese origin so that the British manufacturer might benefit. But the Ceylon government, it is pointed out, was not primarily constituted to enable the British manufacturer to obtain an easy market; it was constituted to administer the island in the interests of its 5,000,000 inhabitants, all of whom claim the right to purchase what best suits their exiguous purses. Indeed, the average standard of living in the East is too low to permit as wide a purchase of British produced goods as formerly, and a high tariff on Japanese cotton piece goods would not, it is believed, in any way increase the sale of the similar British commodity; it would merely deprive the consumer of something which he demands and is now just able to afford.

Ceylon already gives an Imperial preference to very many articles, including silks, artificial silk, porcelain, haberdashery and shoes, and in return is given no preference on at least two of the commodities whose trade she is most anxious to develop; plumbago and soya beans. Indeed it is only on her tea that any preference is granted her, and even that, as it so happens, is a very mixed blessing. It is a matter of local regret that nearly all the plumbago used in this country is bought in Madagascar, and that we have failed to impose a discriminating tariff against soya beans from Japan; so much so indeed that there is naturally little local inclination to accept the suggestion of a preferential tariff on British goods.

It would be invidious to suggest any further remedy for the present state of the eastern markets, but it would not be intemperate to remind Japan that she has a population of approximately 70,000,000, all of whom, were their standard of living raised appreciably, would become avid consumers of what she now flings recklessly at the head of Asiatic peoples. That the standard of living will eventually have to be raised is the opinion of dieticians and others who, over a long period of years, have noted a serious decline in Japanese physique, due entirely to the industrialisation of the country.

It only remains to add that the industrialisation of Japan does not envisage and can not envisage a world commercial hegemony. Her share of world trade amounts to no more than about 7 per cent as compared with double that figure for our own; but it is none the less interesting to note that in a period when world trade has declined in volume her share has risen to this figure from 2.9 per cent only about five years ago.

CHILDREN'S DAY IS HELD AT ST. PAUL'S

Sunday School Occupied the Centre Section of Church.

Yesterday was Children's Day at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, and the teachers, officers and scholars of the Sunday School, under the direction of Superintendents Oliver M. Steer and W. H. Taylor filed into the front seats of the church. The congregation of old and young filled the auditorium and had the privilege of witnessing the baptism of six infants into the membership of the church.

Bricks In the Church

Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, preached an appropriate sermon on "Bricks", suggested by the Greek writings of Odysses wherein the building of a city is related, the king referring thus: "These walls are built by 10,000 men, and every man a brick." Peter was called a brick ("Upon this rock will I build my church") and this was the derivation of the term, "You're a brick!"

Referring also to the youth in the Church, Dr. Barr intimated there were over 150,000 young people and children on our rolls—and every one was a brick—each a part of the Church to which they belong. Without these, we could not build; and we had to be real bricks. Square bricks we must be—honest and scrupulous in our lives. Misshapen bricks—not made to a certain pattern, will cause the building and our actions to become faulty and out of plumb and affect the lives of those coming in our footsteps. Clean bricks—"Create in me a clean heart, O God" should be the prayer of each boy and girl before going to school in the morning; this will help to keep us clean and pure in heart. "Read your bible daily, strive after the clean life, and live it—all will be real bricks in the building of God's Kingdom, the Church of Jesus Christ on earth," were Dr. Barr's concluding words.

S. S. Orchestra Assist

The Sunday School Orchestra, conducted and trained by Martin Chenhall! A.R.C.O. rendered valuable assistance during the song service; and in the offertory, Intermezzo (Rosedy) and the postlude March, by Losey, the sixteen boys showed careful training.

In honor of the birthday of King George the National Anthem was sung by the congregation.

A large and apparently unmapped glacier has been discovered near the head of the Mathias River in South Island, New Zealand.

Old Boys Meet At The Grove School For Happy Reunion

DR. A. W. MACKENZIE FOR 40 YEARS BEEN HEADMASTER OF SCHOOL

Silver Salver is Presented to Beloved Headmaster by Old Boys.

SPLENDID PROGRAM.

Rev. A. W. Mackenzie D.D., Headmaster of The Grove School, Lakefield, was the focal personality of a happy reunion during the week end of Old Boys who had attended the School up to the year 1918, and returned to its well remembered halls and leafy lawns to honor him on the occasion of the fortieth anniversary as "Head."

Nearly forty men, some of whom had attended The Grove as far back as 1892, assembled in the spirit of recapturing moments and hours of their youth in the cherished memories that haunt the rooms they used to occupy, the cricket and football fields and the lake where as boys, "Prep school boys" they learned the rudiments of the game of life and its unwritten gentlemanly rules unobstrusively conveyed to them in the atmosphere of Dr. MacKenzie's school, likewise by his precept, but more effectively by his example.

The older men of that group of Old Boys are now in middle age. Some have passed its unmarked meridian. The younger men who had come back for the week end celebration have long since faced the realities of life. To them all, or at least to many of them, Dr Mackenzie was joyously greeted as "Mac", an accolade from their manhood sealing the friendships which were kindled in their youth. That term of manly endearment, with its little overtones of a regard which no words can express, was of course no recently familiarity. It was born of sympathy and understanding that deepened with their maturity as men, when the passing years carried them from the dependence of boyhood to equality with the man to whom they once owed obedience, and who possibly "birched" them, if the old time birching still survived in Dr. Mackenzie's first years as Headmaster.

From Toronto, Montreal, Hamilton, Waterloo, and other cities in Ontario to join with Dr. Mackenzie in the felicities of reminiscence, to congratulate him upon the success of his life work at The Grove, and to extend their hopes that he may be given further time to carry on the building of young characters for the problems that loom ahead.

An attractive and varied program of events filled Saturday afternoon and evening and all day Sunday, chief of which was the reunion assembly Saturday evening at which Rev. Dr. Mackenzie was presented with a silver salver.

The Visiting "Old Boys"

The reunion was organized in Toronto by James Suydam, who attended the School from 1902 to 1905 and is now the president of the Grove Old Boys' Association.

The following Old Boys were present: From Toronto—James Suydam; Gilbert Heron, 1913-17; G. R. Curry, 1911-16; W. B. Crombie, 1896-01; E. M. Morris, 1910-13; John W. Smith, 1915-20; Adam Smith, 1915-20; S. Leonard, 1895-01; Percy Kane, 1894-99; Bruce Heron, 1913-17; John A. Barron, 1905-06; Chas. McMichael, 1915-17; J. L. Crombie, 1905-09; C. W. Sime, 1911-14; Reg. Bloomfield, 1897-02; J. P. M. Sibbald, 1892-99; A. H. K. Russell; R. H. L. Massie, 1917-21; G. R. Rackham, 1898-02.

From Montreal—K. B. Patterson, 1910-14; Arthur Patterson, 1901-07; H. M. Patterson, 1903-07; F. M. Badgley, 1906-09.

From Hamilton—W. B. Hendrie, 1908-13; Hugh Lumsden, 1898-01; James Young, 1900-04.

Also W. Kerstermn, 1893-98, Port Credit; T. W. Seagram, 1896-02, Waterloo; Roslyn Russell, 1905-07, Niagara Falls; Eric Stuart, 1912-13, Niagara Falls; S. C. Hadley, 1913-15, Detroit, N. H. Wilkes, 1906-09, Galt; John Langley, 1912-19, Peterborough; H. Le F. Atwood, 1908-10, Lakefield.

Saturday's Program

On Saturday afternoon the School eleven met the Old Boys on the cricket field. The game was full of surprises, some of the Old Boys doing very well. Others showed that they barely remembered the correct method of holding the cricket bat, long unfamiliar to them. The School made 150 runs for the loss of three wickets, while the Old Boys were able to amass only 58. The attractions of the water, swimming and sailing, seemed to interfere a bit with the best players, who kept edging toward the lake. However, the large crowd attending the game was more than delighted with the afternoon's performance.

The Old Boys were then entertained by the Headmaster's wife, and adjourned soon to the new assembly hall where moving pictures of present day life at the School, as well as some excellent films of Mr. Bloomfield, expert canoeist, were shown. On behalf of the Old Boys, Mr. Suydam spoke briefly of Dr. and Mrs. Mackenzie, and of Mr. and Mrs. Marling extolling their work and influence at The Grove. He presented to Dr. Mackenzie a beautiful silver salver, suitably engraved, as an appreciation of the happy and fruitful days which the Old Boys spent at The Grove in their youth.

In receiving this gift, Dr. Mackenzie expressed thanks both for Mrs. Mackenzie and himself. Rarely at a loss for suitable words he conveyed his deep pleasure at the splendid reunion attendance, and his delight in greeting so many of the boys who had been at the School in the early days of its development.

A number of the Old Boys joined in the recollections of those years and Mr. Marling spoke briefly in acknowledging the kindly and affectionate sentiments which had been affirmed in the speeches of the men who looked back upon The Grove virtually as a second home during their school days.

On the conclusion of the assembly supper was held in the Headmaster's house. One of the most interesting incidents of the evening was a series of French-Canadian impersonations cleverly presented by F. M. Badgley.

Sunday's Program.

Sunday's program began with communion service in the chapel at which 36 Old Boys attended. Photos of the reunion were taken at 9.30 a.m. by Fred L. Roy of Peterborough, and at 10.30 the Old Boys were taken up to Stony Lake in the Headmaster's yawl, and Eric Grier's cruiser. The day was most enjoyably spent. Old times were recalled on the outing, and at Dr. Maskenzie's cottage Sunday's warm weather was relieved by swimming and boating. The luncheon prepared under the direction of Miss Perry, Matron at The Grove, won thorough and unanimous appreciation. On the return to the School the reunion was brought to a close with evening service in the chapel, and most of the Toronto Old Boys left soon after for home. The Quebec contingent stayed over until today, the King's birthday holiday. Through the pleasant week end the "Old Boys" proved that they were old only in years.

Sketch Of The Grove.

The Grove School was founded in 1879 by Sparham Sheldrake, an English gentleman then living in Lakefield. In 1893, Dr. Mackenzie, who at that time was a Master at Trinity College School, Port Hope, was engaged as assistant to Mr. Sheldrake in the spring term, and in the following autumn he took over the School as Headmaster. He has retained that position for forty years, and is the "dean" of Headmasters in Eastern Canada, if not in the whole Dominion. A few years ago Dr. Mackenzie received the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity from his Alma Mater, Trinity College, Toronto, where he was well known for his hockey and rugby prowess in student days.

The Grove School has been the life work of Dr. Mackenzie. Hundreds of boys, most of them from eastern Canada, received their early training in the picturesque group of buildings and precincts on the northeastern outskirts of Lakefield. The majority of them graduated from The Grove to college, and their careers bear testimony of the sound and fine ideals which Dr. Mackenzie has kept before him throughout those years not only as a teacher, but also as wise mentor and friend of the boys who were entrusted to his care. He has had associated with him as senior master for more than twenty-five years, T. W. B. Marling whose invaluable contribution to the success of the School cannot be easily estimated.

The Grove has undergone many changes since Dr. Mackenzie assumed charge of it as a young man. The buildings and equipment have been improved and enlarged under his thoughtful and conservative dictatorship.

In the early nineties there were about twenty boys boarding at the School, with day boys bringing the total to twenty-five. The Grove has grown since then to the present capacity of one hundred boys. The fact that this attendance has been maintained during the recent years of business depression affords further evidence of the high standing of the School, and reflects the confidence which Dr. Mackenzie holds in the academic field.

Rains Bring Relief

CHICAGO, June 4 (CP)—The parched Middle-West sections of United States cooled off to-day under June showers, but the effects of May's unparalleled aridity remained.

While week-end rains brought the mercury well below the century mark in sections where it soared to record heights last week, Government officials met in Washington at the call of President Roosevelt to consider various proposals for alleviating the distress of farmers and stockmen in the devastated areas. The Weatherman aided with a promise of continuation of cooler weather and rains.

Soaking rains fell over Central and Southern North Dakota; two-inch downpour was welcomed in the sugar beet section near Scottsbluff, New.; heavy rains fell in parts of Illinois; Ottawa, Kas., had 1.06 inches, and elsewhere there were scattered showers, but none of drought-breaking proportions.

Weather Bureau officials reported the drought appeared to be broken in the Rocky Mountain section. A brisk snowstorm pelted Leadville, Colo., for an hour Sunday.

Governors of the drought-stricken states took steps to aid the farmers.

Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas requested aid for livestock in 53 Central and Western Counties of his state.

The Minnesota National Guard was mobilized to enforce an embargo on shipments of livestock into the State for grazing. A similar embargo was declared by Gov. William B. Langer of North Dakota, and the Governor of Wisconsin planned to follow suit.

Magistrate's Court

AT CAMPBELLFORD.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 4 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — Adjourned from May 26, the case against Stanley Carnrite of Trent River was dismissed by Magistrate J. M. Bygott, when it came up in the Campbellford Police Court on Saturday afternoon. Carnrite was charged by Provincial Constable Gordon Campbell of Brighton, under the L.C.A., of having in his possession liquor not purchased on his individual permit. Evidence was produced to show that ale identical to that which the police had seized at the time of visiting the Carnrite home in May, had been purchased by Carnrite in March of this year, and was sworn to by Carnrite as being the same ale. J. A. O'Brien of Peterborough acted for the defence.

Jack Webb of Norwood was fined $100, and costs, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling. Chief Constable George Hardy of Campbellford laid the charge, having seized beer in the accused's car in the early hours of Saturday morning.

MECHANIZATION OF INDUSTRY

speaker's contention as he dealt in detail with the "hopelessness of the present financial situation", and urged that the C.C.F. "is the only organization that stands for, and will continue to stand for, the recognition and retention of private property."

That the C.C.F. is spreading rapidly was demonstrated by facts quoted. "In this province it has undergone a major operation and is now convalescing and in so healthy a state that we have sixty candidates in the field, and if we don't form the government after the election we will provide the stiffest opposition ever previously known. There is a growing enthusiasm everywhere, and you will make no mistake in going to the polls and voting for one of the finest and best-trained candidates we have been able to secure—Dr. Lorna Cotton." (Prolonged applause).

As is apparently customary at C.C.F. meetings the request from the chair for "an offering to help us elect a candidate in Durham" was sprung on the audience before the introduction of Dr. Cotton, who in her opening remarks said though the chairman was somewhat apologetic in asking for a collection. "I glory in asking you for an offering: it shows that we're your party and you pay the shot. We depend entirely upon you for the expense of this campaign, and after the elections we intend to present to you in your daily papers a detailed financial statement, and we challenge the other two parties to do likewise."

Two challenges were dealt with: "How long are you going to put up with the government you have had? Whether elected or defeated something has happened because I came here, and we will break this system, whether in politics, or by co-operation. If the farmers are willing to stand by us, we are willing to stand by them. Then there is the challenge from the workers to the producers—the U.F.O. wasn't good enough for Ontario because it had a farmer viewpoint, and no one class can succeed at the expense of the other party. The C.C.F. comes from the ashes of the U.F.O. and is tying together the loose ends, bringing producer and consumer together in a rightful position for the common good—the good of both".

"The Liberals and Conservatives are exactly the same: They serve the same interests—those of the big corporations and monied people. Whether you vote for us or against us that is not the problem; we ask you to see what we have to offer you, and we believe so entirely in our intelligence we are not fearful as to the outcome. I expect to be back here on June 14 and I want to see ten people where one is sitting to-night, and then I'm going to give you our program, point by point, with a printed copy in the hands of each one of you."

Dealing with the financial situation the speaker said: "Put Henry out and Hepburn in, and you will have to borrow the same as the Conservatives have borrowed. There is only one party that has had the courage to study the situation: Elect them if you really want a change from a capitalistic system to one of planned economy. I believe the opposition has planned some real bang-up meetings, and you're going to have an elocutionist from Toronto and a dance afterward. We can't do that but we are trying to make you think of the way out of the present system into a planned economic system, and we are coming to the time when the voters are going to put the C.C.F. in power. Wherever we have gone in Durham we have met with the most wonderful response we've ever had; you have nothing to be ashamed of in the intelligence of the farmers of Durham county."

The Middle-Man.

Dealing with the distributor in between the producer and the consumer, the candidate instanced the Canadian Packing Company. "You know them; you have sent your beef there and wondered who was going to rob you the most — the trucker or the C.P.C.; well, the trucker is very small pickings besides the C.P.C., which in the past few years has had net profits of thirteen million dollars. Are you content to be robbed now there is an opportunity to pledge yourselves to a movement whose every candidate is bound by its principles—a movement that really has welfare of the producer at heart?"

Two planks in the C.C.F. platform, the first and last, were given brief attention by Dr. Cotton, in closing. The first, "We stand for no eviction from farms or homes; but what did that truthful, honest paper, The Straight Furrow, say? 'The C.C.F. takes your farms from you,' and on the next page was a prize of five dollars for the biggest liar competition. West Durham officials sent the paper to Mr. Henry with the comment 'Far be it from us to compete with you people; we think the prize should go to you' (Laughter). The last plank was the promise of taking the liquor question out of politics and putting before the people by means of a referendum, mention of this being greeted with applause.

Again promising a full discussion of the C.C.F. program on her return visit on the 14th, and declaring that she was very tired, having spoken to an audience of over twelve hundred at a picnic in Toronto that afternoon, Dr. Cotton sat down amid prolonged applause. The chairman declared the meeting dismissed, but as the people were moving out, he added: "I have been reminded that we should have sung the National Anthem; as the instrument is locked, we will let you go for this time without."

NEWFOUNDLAND HAMLET IS WIPED OUT

Britain Halts Debt Payments To U.S.

OTHER NATIONS ARE EXPECTED TO FOLLOW SUIT

Note Declares Transfer of Sum Due June 15 Cause World Confusion.

NOT REPUDIATING.

British Sacrificed 15 Years—Nothing From Other Debtors—Ask New Deal.

WASHINGTON, June 5. —(AP)—The $12,000,000,000 war debt that Europe owes the United States became a frozen asset today.

Now that Great Britain has decided against paying pending a revision, other countries are believed likely to follow suit.

Only Finland has announced it will pay its full instalment of $166,538 June 15. Except for talk of a possibility that one other debtor might pay something, the prospects for much cash on $474,000,000 due or overdue in mid-June was considered extremely remote.

The British decision—announced in a note delivered to the State Department last night—heralded a virtually complete collapse in a situation that has filled the international scene with bitter recriminations for years.

Great Britain said she would defer all payments on her $4,000,000,000 debt until intergovernmental talks revise the debt funding agreements on a payable basis.

Britain, on the last two due dates, has made token payments. Her note said a partial payment would have been made on the $262,000,000 due June 14 except for the new Johnson Act, which brands as a defaulter any nation which fails to pay in full.

Under the circumstances, the note said in effect, it is to the advantage of all to have a showdown on the whole question immediately.

Four Reasons

The British note said, in effect, that 'carrying on' was impossible because:

1.—The British people can't go

Kirk Wins Appeal Will Get New Trial

TORONTO, June 5.—(CP)—Court of Appeal at Osgoode Hall today allowed the appeal of Creighton R. Kirk of Toronto, sentenced to 3½ years on a manslaughter charge in connection with the death of William Sim, father of Kirk's fiancee, Betty Sim. Kirk will be given a new trial.

The Appeal Court held that Mr. Justice H. T. Kelly, the trial judge had erred in not instructing the jury to consider whether Sim had not died a natural death at his home last November. Evidence at the trial was that Kirk and Sim had fought when Kirk broached the subject of his marriage to Betty Sim. Sim was found dead later.

BELLEVILLE BOY DROWNS

BELLEVILLE, Ont., June 5. — (CP)—James Seeley, six years old, playing near the coal docks this afternoon, was drowned. The body was soon recovered and resuscitation methods applied but failed to revive the child. The coroner declared an inquest unnecessary.

Hundreds Rendered Homeless by Forest Fires

Photo taken from the air showing the billowing clouds of smoke that have risen up in scores of places in New Brunswick, particularly in Restigouche, Northumberland and Kent counties. It is estimated that there are about 30 fires in this territory. Hundreds of homes have been burned by the fierce fires. It is as yet impossible to estimate the amount of damage, for many of the fires are still raging, completely out of control. The parched undergrowth is like tinder in the path of the flames.

Extra Kentucky Police Called in as Posse Combs Country.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 5.—(AP)—A posse of Indiana state policemen, deputy sheriffs, volunteers and 25 Louisville police were reported early today to have trapped at Henryville, Ind., four desperadoes charged with shooting and killing one Indiana officer and wounding another on a mad flight through Southern Indiana last night.

Deputy Sheriff Harold Amick, 33, of Scottsburg, died of his wounds in a hospital at New Albany, Ind., after being shot by the fugitives. A short time earlier John Pfaffenberger, 35, Seymour policeman, was shot down with four bullets in his body when he tried to block a highway intersection in Seymour. His condition was critical.

The desperadoes began their flight at a filling station near Seymour, where they obtained gasoline and drove away without paying for the fuel. Seymour police were notified, and Pfaffenberger used his automobile as a barricade. The men swerved past the officer's machine and poured a volley of shots at him. He fell, but emptied his pistol at the fugitives

Chase Lasts 5 Miles

Twenty miles away, Sheriff Wilbur Amick and his deputy and half-brother Harold Amick were hunting chicken thieves when they were told of Pfanfenberger's wounding. They sighted an automobile they were sure contained the fugitives and started in pursuit. Both machines roared down the highway for five miles, and at Underwood the pursuers forced the fleeing men from the road.

The latter's machine was wrecked.

The gunmen then opened fire, and the Amick's returned it. Harold who was democratic nominee to succeed his brother, fell with a bullet in his head.

A posse searching for the quartette was quickly augmented by officers from half a dozen Southern Indiana towns. Carloads of state policemen arrived in Scottsburg, making it their headquarters.

Louisville police sent the 25-man squad to Henryville and maintained guard over the Kentucky approaches to the two brides over the Ohio bars.

Room in Jail

PHILADELPHIA, June 5.—(CP)—"I'd like very much to go to jail if you don't mind," said Jack Smith as he stepped up to Police Sergeant Kelly. "I'm one of the guys you're looking for in that $17,000 mail truck holdup in Conshohocken last week."

At the police station Smith changed his mind.

"My wife got mad at me and I decided I'd rather be in jail," he explained.

The magistrate decided he should be, fixing bail at $5,000 for further hearing.

SCORE INJURED IN FASCIST RIOT

Group of "Anti" Adherents Attack French Rally—Stones Fly Freely.

MOB TURNS ON POLICE.

ROUBAIX, France, June 5 (C.P.)—Bitter political passion which has flared throughout France since the fatal demonstrations of February 6, left 100 persons injured to-day and brought fresh concern to the government.

A four-hour "anti-Fascist" riot was broken up last night by cavalry charges at the cost of many broken heads.

The disorder followed rioting in Paris and other parts of the country on Sunday.

"The United Front," a group waging war on what it declares to be the "Fascist" tendencies of the Government, stormed a meeting being addressed by Deputy Phillippe Henriot, critic of the former Radical Socialist Government's investigation of the Stavisky scandal.

It was another incident in the fight being steadily waged between Right and Left Extremists.

Some 2,000 men attacked the meeting, shouting "Down with Fascism." Vegetables then stones and scrap iron began to fly.

Police arrived, only to have the crowd turn on them after throwing up barricades. After repeated charges the officers gained control of the situation.

ALL MARITIMES PRAY FOR RAIN AS FIRES SPREAD

Restigouche Hamlet is Wiped Out and Residents Flee Others.

WIND FANS FLAMES.

20,000 Acres of Timber Already Levelled—Extra Rangers Added.

(By the Canadian Press).

Weary Maritime forest rangers and fire-fighting volunteers scanned the skies to-day for rain, their most effective ally in combatting flames that yesterday terrorized villagers, wiped out one settlement, burnt up 1,000,000 feet of sawn lumber, and left their mark on thousands of acres of forest land.

Women and children fled before the blaze that crept up on White's Brook and Fall Brook in Restigouche County, N.B. At Fall Brook all the buildings were destroyed with the exception of one or two, and sawn lumber burned like tinder.

Residents of the tiny Nova Scotia village of Polly Brook fought desperately to turn back roaring flames that surged forward to within three-quarters of a mile of their community. Fire breaking out in mid-afternoon was fanned by a south-west wind. It raced over a five-mile trail, leaving destruction in its wake, to menace the village.

In nearby River Hebert 100 men worked side by side with rangers in fighting a stubborn fire that had threatened homes in that area for nearly a week. Already it had swept over 20,000 acres of timber.

Drizzle Aids Little

A drizzling rain in some parts of the Maritime Provinces last night failed to give much relief to the danger areas. Chief forest rangers declared that if the wind died down somewhat there was a possibility of controlling the outbreaks.

Electric transmission lines and telephone lines in northern New Brunswick, seared by the terrific heat, brought disruption of service,

WAY OF BULLETS

OAKLAND, Calif., June 5 (CP)—William Biehl, 68, winked and a flattened .38-calibre bullet came out of his right eye.

Physicians looked up Biehl's hospital record and learned he had been treated for an accidental bullet wound three years ago. The bullet was not found at the time.

Sticking to Post

HAMILTON, June 5.—(CP)—A policeman's duty is to stick to his post no matter what happens, but the thing can be carried too far.

Yesterday, the sun beamed on the freshly repaired block pavement at King and James street. The tar softened and melted. The constable directing traffic attempted to step back a pace to let a street car pass and discovered that he couldn't move.

This, Mayor Wilton informed the Board of Control today, was carrying the thing too far. The City Engineer was ordered to see that the officer didn't get stuck again.

OTTAWA, June 5 (C.P.).—The Vancouver department store of Woodward Stores Limited made net profits of $5,045,247 in the 10-year period ending January 31, 1934, it was shown to-day before the Parliamentary Mass Buying Committee.

On sales aggregating $82,431,183, gross profits were $17,865,850. By ploughing back profits, capital was increased from $1,194,320 in 1924 to $5,529,382 in 1934 without adding one dollar from outside sources.

The store is owned by Charles H Woodward and his family who have withdrawn sightly over $1,000,000 in dividends in 10 years, $155,920 in each of the last two years.

A. E. Nash, Toronto auditor, today started his report to the committee that will cover all the important department stores in Canada.

Quebec Mine Plant Burns—Two Ontario Fires Get Out of Control.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. June 5. —(C. P. Cable) — A raging forest fire swept through the little coastal village of Keels today, destroying 25 dwellings, the Church of England, the school and numerous barns and shacks. About 100 people were homeless and most of the 450 fisherfolk had abandoned the village.

Scores had gathered up a few belongings and pushed their boats off into Bonavista Bay to escape the flames, which still held sway in the community at noon.

No lives had been lost, a brief message to the capital stated, but most of those whose homes had burned had lost nearly everything they owned except boats. Fishing gear had been destroyed as the fire used small shacks to spread from house to house.

Roaring through parched woodland on the outskirts of the settlement, the fire entered the village about six o'clock this morning, steadily driving back volunteers who had been fighting the flames for hours.

Women and children labored side by side with the fishermen in a futile effort to stave off disaster.

Slowly they retreated as the fire advanced, razing dwelling after dwelling. They made a determined stand at the church and again at the school, but without proper equipment their efforts were feeble.

Soon they were running before a conflagration and walls of flame cut off the scorched and smoke-blackened fighters from groups of buildings that might have been saved had pumping apparatus been available.

As the morning wore on nearly the whole settlement was abandoned some escaping by land and others by sea.

Fires Out of Control

In Ontario two serious bush fires near Stupart, in Moffatt, Buelah and Amoyet Townships, and near Gogoma are out of control and spreading, Forestry Branch officials at Sudbury reported to-day.

Advices they received said the Stupart fire is spreading slowly to the south. More than 500 men are

PARIS, June 5.—Peace with the whole world. Normal trade relations with the whole world, not a single country excepted. International collaboration with dignity for all peoples, the smallest not excluded. Respect for existing treaties, international obligations, pacts and agreements. A willingness to disarm immediately and completely but simultaneously with all other nations. Working together with all who are imbued with a desire to bring peace, happiness, prosperity and the benefits of modern science and culture to all human beings, irrespective of race or color. There you have in a nutshell the program of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, according to His Excellency Valentin Dovgalevsky, Moscow's distinguished ambasador to Paris.

"Speaking of trade relations," I said, "you must be aware, Mr. Ambassador, that there still are plenty of people who say: 'what good is a trade pact with the U.S.S.R.? where will it lead us?' These people fear namely, or at least they say they fear, that the prodigious development of industry and agriculture in

Enjoying Life

TORONTO, June 5 (C.P.).—Four Toronto nonagenarians, living within 10 minutes' walk of each other in the Bloor-Bathurst district, to-day expressed themselves as completely satisfied with life.

"I enjoy every minute of life, and frequently walk down to church twice on Sundays," said Mrs. Louisa Collins, who will be 90 next Christmas.

Mrs. F. J. Long, whose 90th birthday was in February, didn't mind old age, and wanted to live a long time yet. She added that she had 14 children, and enjoyed better health "than most people with only two."

Mrs. Grindle of 27 Herrick Street, said she likes living, and found life interesting. She will be 91 in September.

Oldest of the quartette, W. G. Turner will be 92 in October. He thought life was fine, and his only regret lay in missing a big wedding last week. He still had 19 teeth of his own. ... .

OTTAWA URGED TO CONTINUE FEDERAL AID

City Council Protest to Local Member Discontinuing of Relief.

ACTION ON POST OFFICE

Name of James Stevenson Park Changed Back to Riverside Park.

The Dominion Government's decision to discontinue all payments toward direct relief after June 15 met with the strong disapproval last night of the City Council. Unanimously the council decided that a letter should be forwarded to E. A. Peck, K.C., M.P., informing him that Peterborough strongly urged the continuance of the Government paying its share toward direct relief.

In phrasing the resolution, Alderman Hamilton said, "Mr. Peck should be informed that this council is strongly of the opinion that the Government should not discontinue direct relief at this time."

Alderman Tuggey asked, "If the Dominion Government is going to cut off paying its share then what are the municipalities going to do. I think Ottawa should be urged to pay a larger share so that the burden on the city might be reduced. Better than that the Government should take over the whole expense of relief."

Action on Post Office

It was apparent that the council is getting a little anxious that when the proposed Federal program of public works is announced Peterborough's new post office and customs house building will not be included in it. It was decided that a letter be written Mr. Peck urging him to make an apointment be-

C.C.F. Will Contest All But 15 Ridings

TORONTO, June 5 (C.P.).—The co-operative Commonwealth Federation will contest every Ontario riding in the Provincial election on June 19 except the 15 ridings where the United Farmers of Ontario had candidates in the field. Graham Spry, chairman of the Provincial Executive Committee, said last night. Speaking at a meeting of the 11 C.C.F. candidates for Toronto and the Yorks, Mr. Spry said that there were already 40 C.C.F. candidates in the field. There remained, he added, 50 seats where the party had no candidate. In 15 of these seats was a U.F.O. candidate whom the party would not oppose, he said. For every one of the remaining seats Mr. Spry promised that candidates would be announced by the local constituency council within a week from to-day.

500 Bathers Sought Escape From Heat at Inverlea Yesterday.

PUMPING STATION BUSY.

70,000 Pounds of Ice Sold to Cash and Carry Customers on Week-end.

Five days of unseasonably searing heat have left the earth and its people in this little section of the globe wilted and almost gasping.

Official probabilities of rain since last Friday have been only daily disappointments to the rural and also the urban populations of Peterborough county and its immediate neighbors. News reports from many parts of the world of intense and prolonged heat indicate worse effects than in this section, but with the thermometer above the ninety degree mark local conditions and their probable result to field crops are regarded as having possibly serious results.

Farmers who were anxious for rain last Saturday have scanned cloudless, burning skies over the week-end, and to-day promised no further relief than the weatherman's dubious probabilities of thunderstorms.

500 At Inverlea Beach.

The heat since Saturday drove hundreds of people to the Otonabee river, and at Inverlea Beach yesterday afternoon five hundred bathers sought escape from the heat and humidity.

The caretaker of the beach, Chas. Willson, began his supervising duties this morning. The electric alarm system was connected up again, new water coils have been placed in the fountain, and Alderman Stocker reported that the beach was officially open to the public.

BLAME FRANCE FOR ARMS TIE-UP

Henderson Threatens to Resign Unless Draft Resolution is Accepted.

ARGUE TWO DAYS.

(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

GENEVA, June 5 (CP Cable). — Acute difference in the steering committee of the World Disarmament Conference to-day led Arthur Henderson, who has presided over the big parley for two years, to threaten to resign and lay the blame for failure of the conference on France.

Henderson made the threat after Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, had rejected his draft resolution, the French wanting the conference to go right ahead discussing national security first. Barthou said he had no wish to offend Henderson, and added, "You will not resign," but the differences were still unsettled when the committee rose.

The steering committee had been arguing all day yesterday and for hours to-day over the British suggestion that the conference be recessed so the Governments themselves could have another go at finding a way out of the present deadlock.

Louis Barthou, French Foreign Secretary, declined Mr. Henderson's draft resolution along these lines. He stuck stubbornly to the French position that the question of national security comes first before any disarmament talk. The French with some others want the conference to proceed with discussions of possible security agreements.

In turn, the British, through Anthony Eden, Lord Privy Seal, declined to accept a modification in the draft resolution which would have struck out references to the British, Italian, French and German arms cuts earlier this year.

The delegates were seemingly hopelessly split on future course. The conference itself is to meet again tomorrow, but this was doubtful.

After M. Barthou had spoken this evening Mr. Henderson said flatly that he had submitted a plan which the French refused to accept. Unless they brought forward a better plan, he said, he would resign.

Urges North Renfrewites to Query Hepburn on Seaway Policy.

(By Ernest Burritt, C.P. Staff Writer.)

PEMBROKE, Ont., June 5 (C.P.)—Electors of Ontario to-day stood assured by Premier George S. Henry that a development instigated by his Governmest would be continued to completion "to gain the full returns." The Premier left to-day by motor for Brockville to address a gathering to-night after outlining the Conservative platform to some 1,500 constituents of North Renfrew in the Armouries here last night.

Completion of its road program would be made by the Government if returned to power, said Mr. Henry, along with its course of development all the natural wealth and the benefits to be derived from the rich tourist trade.

Confidence that his party would be victorious in the election was expressed by Mr. Henry, who warned the people of Ontario to "weigh well" the past record of the Conservative administration and "the wild promises being made throughout the Province by Mitchell F. Hepburn."

The Premier said the Liberal leader had promised to reduce Government expenditures by 50 per cent., but Mr. Henry urged his opponent to "get down to definite facts" and show the people where the saving could be made.

"Ask him this when he comes here," said the Premier, who also challenged Mr. Hepburn to outline his stand on development of the St. Lawrence, which the speaker described as the "natural source for Ontario power."

St. Lawrence development, he charged, had been "tied up by opposition from Quebec and the Liberal party in Ontario."

Premier Henry said if re-elected he would keep his promises "and more," and he urged "anyone who has faith in his country to vote for the Conservative Party and join in the progress of development of our province."

ECONOMIC INDEPENDENCE IS AIM OF THE SOVIET SAYS AMBASSADOR

your country will ultimately lead to the complete economic self sufficiency of the Soviet Union. If that comes about and the Soviet markets are hermetically closed all relations with foreign countries will cease. Will this not lead to a great economic disturbance in the world, when so many nations suddenly see their exports diminished with whatever business they do with the Soviets?"

Never Self Sufficient

"I know that objection," replied M. Dovgalevsky, "and permit me to tell you that anyone making that objection must be wholly ignorant of the essential principles which underlie economic and social life in the Soviet country and its tendencies and ultimate goal. What do you think we want to do, build a Chinese wall around the U.S.S.R.? Can't you see that we are trying to do the very opposite?"

"We are not so presumptuous," he went on, "or so silly, I would almost say, to believe that we will ever be able to do without the contributions which human genius in other lands adds to the sum total of civilization. We are firmly persuaded that the more our economic life develops, the more prosperous the U.S.S.R. becomes, the more our agriculture and our industry develop, the more also our commercial relations with other countries will increase, in other words the more we will buy abroad. We know full well that there are certain articles in this world which are natural monopolies; by that I mean articles which are exclusively found in certain countries or which are produced by the particular genius of certain people. We would be very naive to deprive ourselves of such articles for the sake of some utopian and reactionary idea of self-sufficiency."

"Isn't it true though," I asked, "that you quite consciously deprive yourselves of certain commodities in the U.S.S.R. at the present time?"

Want Economic Independence

"That is, alas, true, but the new socialist life that we are building up in the U.S.S.R. does not mean a regime based in principle on restrictions," came back the ambassador. "We are not a nation of ascetes. We are not monks. We do not aim at a restriction of personal needs; what we aim at is a constant enlargement of prosperity. Not restriction but a satisfaction, as complete and wide as possible of the social, economic and cultural needs of the workers of thee U.S.S.R., that is our objective. And let me add, we have come a long way."

"But you are nevertheless striving after economic independence?" I objected.

"Economic independence, but that's a different matter entirely," he said. "Sure, we want economic independence. But what does that mean? It consists in the faculty of our country to produce her own immediate needs to create a heavy industry, to assure the normal functioning of daily life and above all to put ourselves in a position where we can defend ourselves at all times and against no matter what aggressor? Is that a danger to anybody? I don't think so. I don't think you will disagree?"

Do Not Seek Territory

"It's not a question of my agreement or disagreement Mr. Ambassador," I said. "I assure you I am not asking questions for my own edification. I know your country and have watched its evolution closely for a number of years. I am convinced of the value of the tremendous experiment in the U.S.S.R."

"Can anyone reproach us then," he went on, "with building up economic independence? We are forging a new life in the U.S.S.R. on the basis of a Soviet democracy. We are straining all our efforts to assure to the masses of the people the material, intellectual and moral conditions necessary for a life worthy to be lived. That is our sole and only consideration. We do not seek riches. We do not desire an inch of the territory of others. We do not menace anyone. We simply build socialism, that's all. For that we want economic independence, for that we want security, the means to defend ourselves. For although we do not menace anyone, others do menace us. Yet we are not afraid. We are in a position to say, as Stalin did say not long ago: 'Keep your swinish snouts out of our business.' We don't know what others are doing, we are building a society worthy of human beings. We are forging ahead, step by step. We want peace with everyone for we have a real job on hand, a real idea to pursue—the happiness and well-being of nearly two hundred million workers and peasants."

Britain Lifts Duty Placed On Insulin

LONDON, June 5 (C.P. Cable).—Insulin, the diabetes remedy Sir Frederick Banting gave the world, hereafter will enter the United Kingdom without the restriction of a 33 1-3 per cent. duty imposed last year under an Act of 1921 and more or less in error.

Despite protests of a Welsh Laborite, who is a doctor, the House of Commons last night approved repeal of the key-industry tariff against insulin. The substance will be admitted under the general 10 per cent. duty from foreign countries and duty-free from Canada and other parts of the Empire.

Dr. J. H. Williams objected to repeal of the high duty on the ground it was inappropriate that the same day the Toronto research worker was honored by a knighthood from the King the House should approve a clause that might have the effect of handing manufacture of the substance he discovered to a foreign monopoly.

Dr. Williams moved rejection of the measure but withdrew his motion when Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, explained how the duty was imposed on insulin.

TORONTO, June 5.— (C.P.)—Premier George S. Henry of Ontario promises the jobless of the province they will be cared for even if the Dominion Administration reduces its relief contribution. Premier Henry was in Brockville today to continue his campaign for the Ontario General Elections, June 19.

He was in Pembroke last night when he announced he had received no official word the Dominion intended cutting its contribution to relief. Electors need not worry, he declared, if this proved true, because "the needy in Ontario will be looked after by the Henry government."

Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader, journeyed to Vanleek Hill and Cornwall to-day after charging the Conservative party at Gananoque last night with trying to "coerce" business firms through a publication called the "straight furrow" which the Liberal leader said was being sent "free" to rural homes. He read a letter he said was sent to business firms by the publication, soliciting advertisements and stating the organ would appear until after the Dominion General Elections which led Mr. Hepburn to state these firms might benefit or suffer from tariff changes.

Hon. Charles McCrea, Ontario Minister of Mines, continued his tour of his Sudbury constituency yesterday and described himself as "proud of the debt of Ontario" which he maintained showed the government had confidence in the province and was "not afraid to borrow money to invest and develop this great province." TWIN MEASURES AIMED TO KEEP MEN UPON LAND

Ensures Appraisal of Farmers Ability to Pay and Arrangements With Creditors.

CASH TO BE ADVANCED.

Second-mortgage Loan to Cover Situation following Form of Assignment.

OTTAWA, June 5.—(CP)—What may be regarded as a new deal for debt-laden Canadian farmers was laid before the House of Commons yesterday. Prime Minister R. B. Bennett introduced two companion measures designed to open a way for those engaged in agriculture to secure a fresh lease of economic life.

Mr. Bennett introduced a debt adjustment measure — "an act to facilitate compromises and arrangements between farmers and their creditors," and "an act to amend the Canadian Farm Loan Act."

He was inviting parliament to take these steps, the prime minister explained, in recognition of the national interest involved in keeping farmers on the land as efficient producers.

The new legislation will set up for the farmer a means by which he may secure, at no cost to himself, an appraisal of his ability to pay and, failing to make satisfactory arrangements with his creditors, the services of a judicial commission which will compose his financial difficulties on the basis of his potential ability to pay and design a settlement agreement bind-

RAIN IN WEST ENDS DROUGHT

Downfall Starts at Midnight and Shows No Sign of Abatement.

WORTH THOUSANDS.

WINNIPEG, June 5.—(CP)— The worst spring drought the prairie wheat belt has experienced in more than two decades was broken today. Drench rains fell in Manitoba to bring to a end a 13-day siege of blistering heat that threatened a crop failure.

The downfall brought relief to tender grain shoots in Southern Manitoba denied generous precipitation that visited Aberta and Saskatchewan over the week-end. Sunbaked crop and pasture lands were soaked in the downfall that started after midnight and gave no sign of abatement.

The moisture came as a boon to farmers threatened with loss of grain and livestock. Waterholes in some districts were stagnant and livestock suffered from the prolonged drought. Plans neared completion today for shipment of farm animals to northern grazing grounds.

Throughout Saskatchewan and Alberta rain fell in a steady stream adding thousands of dollars to the value of a cereal crop in the most important stage of its growth. The precipitation provided an effective check for the time being to depredations of grasshoppers.

Deseronto Youth Drowns At Kingston

KINGSTON, Ont., June 5.—(CP). George Mitchell, aged 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mitchell, of Deseronto, was drowned while swimming off the dock at Kingston Mills last night. The body was recovered an hour later. The young man was not a good swimmer and it is believed that he got into difficulty when he reached deep water.

His brother-in-law, H. G. Fleming, of Kingston, with whom he lived was sitting in a car a short distance away, but did not know that he was having trouble. Besides his parents, deceased is survived by two sisters and two brothers. Dr. M. J. Morison, coroner, decided an inquest was unnecessary.

WOMAN HURT IN CRASH.

LONDON, Ont., June 5 (C.P.).—Mrs. Myra Carroll is recovering in hospital to-day from injuries received when her husband's automobile collided with another car and gasoline broke into flames. Mrs. Carroll and her husband, Walter, were assisted from the wreck as the flames leaped about them.

The three occupants of the other machine escaped through a hole in the top of the overturned car. Mrs. Carroll was removed to hospital and fire engines appeared to extinguish the flames. The accident occurred at a street intersection last night.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., June 5 (AP)—Will McDaniel, negro, told Magistrate Joe Carpenter that he didn't intentionally steal several ducks and turkeys from a local market Saturday night.

McDaniel said he was walking home when he saw a pole lying on the street. Being civic minded, he picked it up and carried it home to keep somebody from stumbling over it.

"My, was I 'sprised, Judge, when I got home to see them ducks and turkeys had been roosting on it all the time.

The court surprised McDaniel again by giving him 60 days.

ALL MARITIMES PRAY FOR RAIN AS FIRES SPREAD

as flames from the Adams Gulch sector spread to the Upsalquitch river.

Resident of Upsalquitch village fled from their homes, but a band of 100 firefighters arrived in time and the buildings were saved. The fire was travelling in an old burn left by a fire which crossed the international boundary from Quebec several years ago. Yesterday Quebec Fire Protective Association members linked with New Brunswick rangers in preventing flames from spreading across the provincial border.

Ashes and cinders fell on roofs in Campbellton during the day and a heavy black cloud enveloped the town. Residents were somewhat alarmed, but no buildings were set on fire.

Three hundred men from the federal relief project in Sunbury county patrolled the Upsalquitch river sector.

CUMBERLAND, Md., June 5 (C.P.). — So dearly did Frank E. Bowles cherish a spot on the streets of Cumberland where he first met his bride-to-be, that when they were married the ceremony was performed right there, with the public looking on and wondering what it was all about.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. S. Price with the aid of automobile headlights. The bride was Miss Josephine Wilson.

SCORE OF FIRES RAGE IN NORTH

Whole of Provincial Air Service on Duty Scouting New Outbreaks.

SOO MAIN CENTRE.

(By the Canadian Press).

Only scattered showers were promised anxious fire rangers to-day as they fought more than a score of bush blazes in Northern Ontario and considered the probability of further serious outbreaks if no drenching rain falls.

Twenty-one aeroplanes, the whole fire-fighting force of the Provincial Air Service, were on duty to-day scouting to detect new outbreaks and directing the hundreds of men fighting the blazes from the ground. Authorities reported no settlements in danger.

In the Sault Ste. Marie district, 22 fires are burning, 16 of them caused by lightning and the rest evidently by camp fires. One was only 40 miles from the Soo. Sighted by fire tower watchers, it swept in half an hour over a half-mile strip of bushland.

Another fire is burning in the Trout Lake area and is reported spreading despite a hard fight by 25 men. A serious outbreak is located near Sand Lake and has swept over more than 600 acres.

In the North Bay district only one fire was feared, that in Matachewan Township. Sudbury officials were worried about the blaze in Ogilvie Township.

Six-Year Holstein Sets New Record

TORONTO, June 5.—(C.P.)— A six year old cow, Pontiac Dutchland DeVries, bred and owned by Byron Rath of Mossley, Ont., has set a North American record in milk and butter production. The cow started its twice-a-day milking tests May 8, 1933, and ended May 2, 1934 with 28,138 pounds of milk containing 1,311.25 pounds of butter to her credit.

She had an average test of 3.7 per cent. fat and gave 2,859 pounds in a month, according to the records of the Extension Department of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada. The cow was sired by Dutchland Hengerveld Calamity, a qualified bull, and her dam was Pontiac Abbekerk DeVries who gave 13,969 pounds of milk containing 581.25 pounds of butter in the 305-day division when 10 years of age.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY PLANS STREET DANCE AT MILLBROOK

Members Spend Busy Session Naming Fall Fair Committees.

START FOAL CLUB.

MILLBROOK, June 3 (Examiner Correspondence) — Jas. L. McCamus, president of the Millbrook Agricultural Society took the chair for the meeting held in the council chamber on Friday at 8 p.m., the dates for the 1934 fair being announced as October 2 and 3.

July 19 was named as the date for the street dance sponsored by the society in an effort to further reduce the note for $1400 held by the bank; the entertainment committee was appointed to secure an orchestra for the dance, and the committees on the various features of the street fair and dance were reappointed from last year, each to name its own chairman.

The secretary, J. N. McGill, reported having tried to secure the "Kansas Farmer" (Jack Tyne) and his orchestra who gave such satisfaction last summer at the two street dances held by the society, but this season this leader is touring the Maritimes and is not therefore available.

Communications read by the secretary included one from the Department regarding standing field crop competitions for the current season, for which special grants are available, ten competitions being allowed in each Ontario Fair Association district. Also from A. E Summers in reference to the forming of a foal club in this district, same having been an attractive feature of the annual fall fair for the past two seasons. On motion R. J. McKnight, R. McCamus and J. H. Whittington were again made the committee responsible for organizing such a club, the Ontario Horse Breeders' Association providing half the forty dollars of prize money, the local society to provide the other half.

Class committees for the fair were appointed as follows: Light Horses, G. A. Fair, I. W. Larmer, R. I. Fallis and R. McCamus; Heavy Horses, W. E. Ball, R. O. Larmer, L. W. Smith, H. Tate; Dairy Cattle, B. Sharpe, A. H. Jeffrey, F. Lowery, L. H. Winslow, T. W. McCamus, L. C. McNeil; Beef Cattle, Sheep and Swine, N. Belch, L. Sutton, D. Sheppard, N. Earl; Poultry, W. E. Ball, L. McNeil, M. McDowell, D. Sheppard; Grain and Seed, K. W. Hamilton, J. H. Paul, R McCamus, V. R. Hunter; Roots, I. W. Larmer, J. W. Whittington, F. Lowery; Garden Vegetables, I. W. Larmer, J. Whittington, V. R. Hunter; Fruit, G. A. Fair, L. H. Winslow, W. E. Ball, R. J. McKnight; Plants and Flowers, Mrs. J. W. Hamilton, Mrs. H. A. Fallis, L. Sutton, R. Fallis, N. Belch; Manufactures, E. O. Larmer, A. J. Henderson, J. L. McCamus; Dairy, Cheese, Apiary, Domestic Produce, Mrs. C. Thorndyke, Mrs. Hamilton, R. O. Larmer, P. I. Bentley; Domestic Science, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Thorndyke, R. O. Larmer, P. I. Bentley; Ladies' Work, Miss Burnham, Mrs. G. F. Harrington, Mrs. Henry Fallis, R. J. McKnight, I. W. Larmer, L. McNeil; Arts and Crafts, Miss Pearl Burnham, Mrs. C. Thorndyke, P. Stinson, V. R. Hunter.

It was regretfully noted that two of the directors, T. C. Ingram and J. L. Fair, had been removed by death during the year. The committee on street arrangements for the dance on July 19 was named as all the directors (men), and H. A. Fallis as chairman. On motion the meeting adjourned.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 5. — Enough moisture to give at least temporary relief from drought and heat forced a maximum drop of 2¼ cents a bushel in wheat values yesterday.

Reports told of heavy rains in parts of the North-west and West, whereas other sections received little. The forecast pointed to a likelihood of additional showers throughout practically the entire domestic grain belt.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1⅛c to 1⅞c under Saturday's finish, corn 1⅜c to 2¼c down, oats 2c to 2⅛c off, and provisions varying from 7c decline to a rise of 5c.

Corn and oats prices gave way with wheat. Weather conditions were regarded as more favorable to the growing corn crop, but rains appeared mostly too late to be of material benefit to oats.

Notwithstanding upturns of hog values, the provision market averaged lower, responsive to weakness of grains.

"A GENIUS FOR GOODWILL."

One of the most helpful gestures toward stimulating tourist traffic in Canada this summer is the action of the Scripps-Howard chain of 25 United States newspapers in publishing an editorial urging their readers to "visit our nearest neighbor."

Canadians generally will appreciate the neighborliness of this appeal, and if they are wise they will endeavor to show that the tribute paid them by Roy Howard, chairman of the Scripps-Howard board, that they "have a genius of goodwill" is thoroughly justified.

As we have frequently pointed out, that "genius for goodwill" is an essential part of successful tourist promotion.

If we treat our visitors as a one-year crop we will be guilty of a colossal error in judgment.

It is not enough to induce tourists to come to Canada; we must also see that they are so treated that they will want to come again year after year, and that they will act as advertising agents for this country in their own neighborhood.

Apparently we are to have the pleasure of entertaining large numbers of American visitors this summer, many of them making their first trip to Canada.

It is necessary therefore that we should exercise that "genius for goodwill" that Mr. Howard has so generously eulogized so that nothing but favorable impressions of Canada will be carried back over the border.

THE WEEK-END CASUALTY LIST.

With the coming of summer weather comes also the week-end casualty list with its tragic Monday story of sudden deaths in traffic and drowning accidents.

It is the irony of fate that when the period of greatest enjoyment for most Canadians arrives it brings with it the certainty that every week lives will be snuffed out on the highway and at river and lake resorts.

There is little that can be done about it except to appeal to the common sense of the public generally.

Motorists can do their part to reduce the casualty lists by exercising care and courtesy on all occasions, remembering that at this season of the year traffic is approaching its peak, and that consequently more than the usual caution is justified.

Most of the drowning fatalities come from careless practices, from non-swimmers bathing in dangerous places, from swimmers taking foolish chances, and from carelessness or lack of experience in handling boats.

It cannot be too strongly urged upon those who are unable to swim to take every opportunity to cultivate the art, but to be sure that they do their bathing at supervised places or where the conditions are not dangerous.

There is wisdom, too, in the suggestion made by the Globe that those who go boating or bathing should have knowledge of first aid methods in reviving victims of accidents.

As the article points out, what the Boy Scouts know about the resuscitation of drowning persons all others may learn and with little effort.

THE KING'S BIRTHDAY HONORS.

So long as the granting of titles and honors to Canadians follows the course of this year's King's birthday lists objections in this country are likely to be reduced to the vanishing point.

Even those who are absolutely opposed to titles are willing to admit that if such honors were ever justified they are justified in the granting of titles to such eminent Canadians as Dr. Frederick G. Banting, discoverer of the insulin treatment for diabetes, and Charles Edward Saunders, former Dominion cerealist, whose discovery of four new varieties of wheat made an enormous contribution to the national wealth of this Dominion.

These two men have richly earned recognition at the hands of their Sovereign, and there will be general satisfaction that the two knighthoods which came Canada's way on this occasion have been granted to Canadians whose achievements have made them world figures.

In the lesser honors awarded, too, the principle of merit has been consistently adhered to. Political service or the possession of money have not entered into the picture at all, but science and literature and social service work have fittingly been recognised, and veteran civil servants who have given their best in the country's interest have not been overlooked.

The whole list, in fact, is such as to cause most Canadians to feel that if the restoration of titles mean a continuance of this recognition of those really deserving of honors there is little cause to complain.

OF IRELAND

Eamonn De Valera has decreed that Ireland shall use her native tongue, and discard English.

This is an island which perhaps more than any other land enriched and spiced the English language with its own unique and inimitable lore and legend.

This is an island which has woven into its own tradition the pithiest learning the world had to offer.

De Valera's insatiable insistence on revenge for Ireland has already cut her off from her greatest material market. It has cost her farmers millions of dollars.

Now he has decreed an even more grievous wrong. He has severed the cultural tie that binds Ireland to the world, and the world to Ireland.

His country has had sorrows enough and to spare. But De Valera does not see it.

Even yet it is not too late. Ireland can still be her own best friend.—Vancouver Sun.

UNCONTROLLED RADIO "NEWS."

The radio rumor-mongers had a wonderful time with the recent stock-yards fire in Chicago. A despatch from that city says many protests have been made against the "hysterically alarming" stories sent over the air while the conflagration was in progress. The area in flames was "exaggerated inexcusably"; the World's Fair, which never was in danger, was said to be menaced; a rumor was told and repeated that three fire engines and their crews had been trapped by the flames—"sending horror throughout the city and carrying anguished anxiety to th e families of all firemen."

Newspapers, whatever their faults, don't do that sort of thing. They have a long tradition of responsibility to their readers, and they are not readily victims of panic. They hear all the rumors, but they check and verify, they sort the facts out of the mass of fiction which accumulates on every big story.

Fortunately the arrangement of the Canadian Press and the Canadian Radio Commission under which authentic news is provided for two daily broadcasts by such stations as wish the service prevents the possibility in this country of such a brutal exploitation of public interest as was seen in Chicago. In the United States equally authentic news services are available, but apparently the use of them is voluntary and a station which prefers may gather its own news.

No doubt what happened in Chicago was that some broadcasting stations decided this was a magnificent chance to "show up" the newspapers, make the printed sheets trail behind the radio, and so they put on the air everything about the fire which could be secured regardless of its truth. Without any check on them, perhaps without any reporting experience, the broadcasters just ran wild—and the listeners were hoaxed.—Ottawa Journal.

GARDEN ROBBERS.

A correspondent wants to know what can be done about the persons who steal flowers out of private gardens, break off and carry away tulips and lilacs and what they fancy, ravage and damage and destroy and generally conduct themselves like the hoodlums they are.

Frankly, we do not know. The flower-thief is a pretty low specimen in the scale of citizenship, likely to be impervious to criticism or admonition. Many gardens are wide open—open to public view and benefit, but open also to the male and female marauder. They can be protected by nothing save a sense of decency. It is a shame that there are exceptions to the respect shown by most people towards other people's property.

A fine garden represents the loving care of its owner, a considerable expenditure of money, a great deal of hard work. It is a joy to the flower-lover who has created it, and also it is a civic asset made out of private funds, because anything which increases the city's charm and beauty is something all should be interested in preserving. The ruthless depredations of sneak thieves discourage such public-spirited efforts, cause bitterness and resentment to oust the kindliest feelings towards humanity commonly entertained by those who love and create beautiful things.

Garden robbery is a species of theft difficult to prevent through the police and the law, but education in the schools should help. Boys and girls are taught kindness to birds and animals: respect for gardens and private property generally might be added. And private property, they should be told, includes lawns at street corners, and it should be impressed upon them that the person who takes "short cuts" over the grass, perhaps over a hedge or through shrubbery, or a flower bed, displays lamentable ignorance and boorishness.—Ottawa Journal.

WIPING OUT A DISGRACE.

Herbert Morrison, who was the real father of the Transport Board in the last Labor Government which now controls all the traffic systems of London, has set himself to an even bigger task. His party, the Socialists, won a remarkable victory in the recent London County Council elections, largely on the housing question. In an interview the other day he stated that there are 100,000 people in London who live in basements; that there are several hundreds of thousands living in slum homes. "This is a disgrace," he said. "We shall wipe out that disgrace."

In a vast aggregation like Greater London where nearly 9,000,000 people live, there is bound to be an immense number of slum homes. They are bad enough in London, but there are worse in Liverpool and Glasgow. Recent revelations have shocked the country as to the appalling conditions in which a very large number of working people live in those two cities. There are people in Liverpool living in dwellings which were condemned 80 years ago, and houses were not condemned in those days unless they were very bad. Stories of eight, ten and even a dozen people living in one room were common. Tenements of eight or a dozen families with only one sanitary convenience for all are numerous in both places.

Mr. Morrison's plans for London include the building of satellite towns on the rim of the metropolis, each to be a self-contained community; 200,000 workers' apartments, many of them housing hundreds of families and possessing roof gardens, swimming pools, gymnasiums, laundries, etc. Hospitals and schools will be recognized, children's clinics will dot the city, and vast solariums will be established.

All this will cost money, but London is still the richest city in the world, and the increase in taxes will be small. When the job is done the London workers will be the best housed in the world, and whatever the cost is, it will be repaid in happier, fitter and healthier people.

All told, the slum clearance schemes scheduled by the British municipalities will mean the erection of about 300,000 new homes for nearly 2,000,000 people.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

To-night is your last chance to get on the voters' lists—and remember, if you are off on election day you cannot vote.

June heat waves make it difficult to remember that we are just nicely over a winter of record cold weather.

Cornelius Killingbeck, of Peterborough, is one individual who is firmly convinced that sweepstakes have a real place in the scheme of things.

With the Attorney-General and Mr. Hepburn monopolizing the air for three hours and a half, other commercial advertisers have a legitimate grievance.

Motorists who refuse to come to a full stop before making a right turn are likely to be invited to stop in front of the magistrate.

WHAT HAS LIBERALS TO OFFER?

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Sir,—Mr. Hawthorne the Liberal candidate is a worthy member of one of Peterborough County's oldest and best-known families. He is now "stumping" the riding in the usual way but at a very unusual and critical time. What has the Liberal party to offer? We do not want to go on as we have been doing, do we? No one surely is so devoid of common-sense let alone self-interest as to wish to commit political suicide. What then has Mr. Hawthorne to offer that will give the mass of the people hope for the future? Criticism is no good. Everything has been torn to tatters long ago. Contrast the programs of the three candidates and see what they have to offer?

MOTOR BOAT RESPONSIBLE

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—In your edition of May 29th there was a letter signed by S. H. Mitchell referring to the accident of the 24th regarding myself and lady friend being almost drowned by being upset from my canoe by a motorboat.

I would like to state that Mr. Mitchell's letter is not only misleading but is far from being the truth as nobody could have told him that the accident happened at six o'clock nor that a motorboat did not cause the accident.

Mr. Mitchell refers to the matter as being a story of a romantic disposition, this part is just as ridiculous as the rest of his letter and would seem to me that he had some reason (known only to himself) of going to the trouble of writing a letter referring to the matter at all. I could, if it were necessary have lots of witnesses prove that it was between 9 and 9.30 when the accident happened and it was quite dark at that time.

Thanking you for this space, I am,

Yours,
Arthur McLaren.

It is now apparent that there were two accidents—one about 6.30 and the other about 9.30 of the same evening.—Ed.

HALF HOLIDAYS

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Sir,—Toronto closes on her half holidays, London closes, Hamilton closes Cobourg and Lindsay practically every Ontario town closes but what about little Peterborough. Oh, no, little Peterborough is too important a town to let her merchants close and lose the enormous trade that otherwise would mean so much to them.

The months of June, July and August are extremely hot and especially in a downtown store but as long as the manager can sit in his cool office with a fan, what does he worry about the clerks, salesmen and saleslades. Most of the clerks in the stores are given their holidays during the inclement weather and they don't get much pleasure out of them but still there are a few merchants that object to them having a half day during the nice weather. Does a faithful, hard-working clerk who goes to work in some of the stores at seven o'clock Monday morning and works till past six in the evening and until twelve o'clock Saturday night so that the boss might thrive on the early worm and the last minute man, not deserve five hours off each week of the three hot months. It is also too bad that our city does not enforce the by-law whereby every store closes at a certain time on Saturday night.

Thanking you for your valued space and hoping that a certain group of merchants will see the point as others see it. I remain,

Yours truly,
Co-operator and Worker
For Peterborough.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

YOU CAN QUIT A HABIT

Jack used to say: "If you live long enough with any bad habit, you'll finally wear it out. It will give up before you do."

I used to deny that when I was talking with Jack. But he had lived a fairly long life, crammed with excitement and danger, and he had picked up a great variety of experience.....So I respected his judgment, even when I did not always agree; but he never talked without thinking and he thought often and deeply.

He'd been a burglar, a wanderer in the dark ways, a hider-out, a desperate character. He'd cracked safes, robbed homes on tiptoe, faced men on dark corners, fought the police, spent years in jail. Once when he was a young fellow in jail, he feared tuberculosis. So every day he'd go to a corner of the yard where there was a barrel of repulsive cod liver oil and take a big drink....He'd been a narcotic addict. And he used to tell how he had half-heartedly tried for years to rid himself of the habit. Until a friend of his pulled him through the window of a jail and sent him on his way, advising him to "quit the hop before it made a bum of him"....So he quit it, flatly, and never went back to it....In many a jail and prison he learned to do his time, as he put it, instead of letting the dreary time do him.

He quit thieving. He quit cracking safes. He quit going to jail. He quit carrying a gun. He quit taking dope....Although he did all those things, he'd never really liked them....They were bad habits and at last he abandoned them. Or, as he might have said, they abandoned him. Jack was too much for them.

Nevertheless I can't believe they would have quit a weaker man than Jack. He was strong and stubborn, he had character. And deep inside of him, he WANTED to quit. He knew when he had enough. He didn't "wait for the breaks." He made them.

gave rise to Democracy is equal to the task of immuninzing our youth against the virus of Fascism, Communism, Nazism and other reactionary political isms. The school, the church, the press and the literature sanctioned are the white corpuscles to attack and destroy the enemies of Democracy. The contribution of the home to the upbuilding of nation is in larger part determined by these forces. In our Dominions their constructive largess is obvious.

They are the anemometers of a nations weather. When kept in good condition they not only record but also determine what to-day is and whot to-morrow shall be.

Consider the result of a questionnaire circulated among the students of McGill University of Montreal by its Labor Club:

Do you favor the abolition of the C.O.T.C.? Yes 140. No. 123.

Do you favor abolition of fraternities at McGill? Yes 87. No 172.

Do you think Canada should support Britain in another European war? Yes 107. No 144.

Would you resist military conscription to the point of going to jail? Yes 118. No 134.

Do you favor union of Canada with the United States? Yes 70. No. 190.

Do you favor public ownership of the main industries of Canada? Yes 162. No 112.

What party do you intend to support in the next Dominion elections? Conservatives 53. Liberals 41. C.C.F. 81.

The questionnaire is of recent date. Ought every Canadian to be concerned?

SANTO DOMINGO

He is serving his first term. His first term in butchery has equalled that of Machado at any hour of his rule of Cuba.

Dictator Trujillo Re-elected May 16

Trujillo has inherited his instinct for intolerance from the military occupation of Santo Domingo by the American navy in 1916. The Americans were not blood-thirsty. But intolerance was meted out to the natives in the very act of military occupation by the navy. H. S. Knapp was the American commanding officer. On the day of assuming control of the island he made known to the Dominicans that he was the "Supreme executive, the supreme legislator, and the supreme judge." This assumption of control, of absolute authority awakened in the hearts of the Santo Dominicans a sense of lost political, and human values.

For eight years this military occupancy continued. But the experience of the Santo Dominicans with a constitution, with defined Suffrage, with a President, and a Legislature, and Judiciary of their own superceded by the military occupation of a great foreign power could not last. Beneath the surface life of the natives revolution seethed. Resentment aroused by the violation of the self government rights of any people, of any little people, of the dwellers of any little island cannot be limited. The commotion of Santo Domingo rocked far-off Central and South America. Latin America is one great market for the United States. To hold that market or a reasonable part of it the United States dealings with any and with all the governments must command confidence. The military occupation of Santo Domingo and the military pressure exercised endangered all the gains of respect won during one hundred years. This was the precurser to the evacuation by the United States of Santo Domingo in 1924.

AUSTRIA

Austrian workers had built creditable libraries throughout the nation. They stocked them not alone with books favorable to their ideals. The best of modern literary works had a place on their shelves. The selections were quite cosmopolitan. For Austria desired to keep pace with the most advanced nations. Books that will lift any one nation into greatness hold a dynamic for all nations. Dolfuss doubtless knows the potential of a book. The workers of the whole world are fast becoming the most avid of readers. Books digested live again. They do things. Their resurrection life is their might. Dolfuss undertook to tell the workers what to read and what they should not read. He closed their libraries. The workers became sullen. The repercussions were ominous. He then decided that a sullen people were more dangerous than a reading people. The libraries were reopened. Before the decree to open officials searched every library and ransacked them for books that should not be read in Austria.

English folks will have a good laugh when they learn that such eminent writers as Galsworthy, and Driser, and Sinclair are on the proscribed list. Brilliant writers of Jewish blood such as Feuchwanger, Solomon Asch, Wassermann, and Schnitzler were placed on the same list, and their books burned. Then to go on mention several such men like Arnold Zweig, Toller, Kastner, Glaser, Wedekind and Weiskkopf and the works of the famed Swiss authors, Ernst Zahn and Belasco Ibanez.

The Austrian workers libraries were stocked with a plentiful supply of works of the above mentioned authors and also with others equally worthy. Men may be destroyed by burning but not great books.

A Thought

STRIVE AND STRUGGLE

There is no royal road to the temple of melody where St. Cecilia dwells. There is no short cut to the temple of the beautiful, where Apollo reigns a lord of the arts of color, form, and music. The eager aspirant for eloquence, or wealth, or wisdom, begins a long, long way from the excellence that crowns one's life-work. Every morning Mother Nature whispers to the youth: "Strive, struggle." Every night her last message is: "Sleep to waken again to new struggles, wrestlings, and achievements." In realms of conscience and character man must work out his own salvation through ceaseless struggling, toiling long, hard, and patiently. And just in proportion as he goes toward excellence does the work become difficult.—Newell Dwight Hillis, D.D.

RED FLAG OF MILITIA PARADE

On this date, in 1838, the oyal people of Upper Canada were much excited by a report that a militia parade the previous day in Northumberland county preparatory to the annual county review on the 24th of May a red flag had been displayed and disloyal speeches made by some of the militiamen. It was known in official quarters, of course, but the general public was not allowed to know, that there was considerable dissaffection in the Midland district. Consequently the publication in a Toronto Reform paper of the "disloyal" demonstration at a militia parade caused much alarm. Attempts were made to discount the news by the government press and it was announced that the annual training of that particular company of the Northumberland militia had been dispensed with for the season.

The narrator of the incident does not describe the "red flag", in question. A family history states, however, that it was not really a flag but the red petticoat of the wife of one of those called out for militia, who though "a victim of radical doctrines", was not really a rebel in sentiment, but having a grievance against the captain, to whom he owed money, displayed the red article (whatever it was) more to anger the officer than to manifest any "red" political views. His action is said in this history to have caused laughter and cursing. His neighbors who knew the circumstances laughed at the challenge to the captain; others, strong Loyalists, broke ranks and tore the offending "flag" to ribbons, at the same time man handling the culprit.

There is another legend in Northumberland county that a few weeks after a stranger called at the man's log home and left a parcel for the wife containing a brand new and very red flannel petticoat of larger proportions than the good lady could wear. Whether it came from Bill Johnson the pirate, the leader of the Hunters in New York State, or from the husband who had fled across the lake, is not known. But it served the good lady the following winter and part of it was used as under garments for the children. Eventually the father returned home, was pardoned and the incident was forgotten, at least officially.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

PORT ARTHUR, ONTARIO

Port Arthur was first called "The Station."

In 1870 Geeral Wolseley came up the lakes with troops on the way to Manitoba. On board also were Thomas Marks and William Murdoch, C.E., with his staff to lay out the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Passengers and goods then were lightered ashore, there being no docks.

Upon leaving the steamer General Wolseley asked Mr. Marks the name of the place and upon hearing it said: "We'll call it Prince Arthur's landing."

The name took readily among the 200 residents and held until 1874, when the municipality of Shuniah was created and officially fixed the name which so remained until 1883. Then, the C.P.R., being under way, the name was changed, by their wish, to Port Arthur, supposedly as a companion to Port Moody, the Pacific terminus, and a compliment to Prince Arthur, and partly for president Arthur. The name of the post office also was changed and in May, 1884, when the town was incorporated, the name was finally and formally adopted.

Major J. Woolcott Is Under Transfer

Major Joseph Woolcott, in charge of the local corps of the Salvation Army, is to be transferred from Peterborough according to advices received from territorial headquarters over the week-end The Examiner learns.

Particulars of his new appointment are not yet to hand, but it is understood that the transfer is to become effective during the third week in June when special farewell services will be held at the Salvation Army Temple.

Major Woolcott, with Mrs. Woolcott and their family of four children came here from Belleville last June, succeeding Adjutant E. M. Falle who was removed to Hamilton. It will be of interest to the many friends of Adjutant and Mrs. Falle to learn that they are also to be transferred from Hamilton this month.

During their residence in this city, Major and Mrs. Woolcott have contributed a great deal of fruitful service with the local corps, and it will be not without some measure of regret that their many friends will learn of their pending departure.

Juvenile crime is reported to be increasing in Scotland.

$200,000 BLAZE SARNIA STORES

Fire Rages All Morning, Ruining Stocks of Three Firms.

SUSPECT WIRING.

SARNIA, Ont., June 5 (CP) — Firemen at noon to-day were still battling a stubborn blaze in the city's main business section on Front street. Dense volumes of smoke which poured from the basement of the stores spread to adjoining buildings and to office and apartments above the stores and at noon it was unofficially estimated that the loss might exceed $200,000.

The blaze originated in the basement of the Sellers Ltd., and quickly spread to the clothing store of Watson McDonald and the local branch of the Metropolitan Store, Ltd. Smoke increased in volume as firemen arrived and they were forced to don smoke masks before they could enter the premises. In their efforts to reach the seat of the blaze firemen went to the second floor, entered a doctor's office, and chopped holes in the floor in order to pour waetr into the Sellers and Watson-McDonald stores. George Buchanan, occupant of an apartment above the store, made his exit when he observed smoke coming through the walls. The dense clouds of smoke also seeped through to the F. W. Woolworth Store, and to the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch and caused some damage. At noon as firemen appeared to have the fire under control it was stated the stock of Sellers and Watson-McDonald had been completely ruined and heavy damage inflicted on the Metropolitan Store block.

The fire attracted thousands of residents to the scene and at one stage, spectators were driven back by a sudden outpouring of dense smoke.

The presence in the stock of Sellers, Ltd., of many articles of a readily inflammable nature caused the dense smoke, it was stated.

G. H. McFayden, manager of Sellers Store, said no one was in the building at the time of the fire and he believed it might have been caused by defective wiring.

Up to noon no firemen had been injured battling the blaze.

WINNIPEG, June 5 (9.50 a.m.).—Real rains over Manitoba yesterday afternoon and evening. This general over greater part of the three provinces. Those southern districts receiving special attention. Winnipeg had a real drenching; would guess two inches well here.

Brokers' Opinions.

Woolman and Co.—That things are confused is apparent. At the same time, the worst that may happen is appreciated and probably already discounted so that any change in the market could be easily toward the favorable side.

Stein Bros. and Boyce.—We favor the suggestion of purchases made on weakness for a rally of several points during the week.

E. A. Pierce and Co.—We are inclined to the theory that the list as a whole is gradually but definitely making a bottom above the lows of last fall.

NEW YORK, June 5—(10 a.m.)—The halt in the decline of the stock market short of the lows of May 14 became more clearly defined yesterday. That puts the weight of evidence on the side of a solid bottom, even though the up-turn from the lows of Saturday cannot be said as yet to represent more than a technical upward correction of last week's decline. The market picture is better than it was towards the end of last week. There has been a test of the May 14 bottom and that low has stood the test. The most obvious indication during the decline that the lows would be met without a break into new low ground was the reluctance of the rails to break the lows of May 14 and the rails yesterday contributed thei rshare of strength in the general market. Yesterday the gold stocks as was the case on Saturday were better than the general market. They begin to act as if they were discounting favorable news of some sort and as we have mentioned several times the possibility of further dollar devaluation in this country as a means of attaining a higher level of commodity prices is a possibility not altogether remote. The rally yesterday was selective. The most favorable group action was in golds tobaccos, oils, dairy and silver issues. Among the better acting individual issues were American Tobacco, Liggitt Myers, Reynold B. 'AR', UVV, Standard Brands.

"If they made up their minds to try it in a bottle or on a cork there's nothing we could do to stop them unless it was to pick them up after they got sick of the enterprise".

Mr. Hawken was queried with respect to the reported intention of John Smith, to canoe from Peterborough, Ont. to Peterborough, England.

REASONABLE PRICES

Monday's Highest Was 93 Degrees

The mercury in Peterborough's official thermometer hit 90 degrees at 1.30 to-day, and was still climbing steadily, Walker Peters reported.

Yesterday set up a new all-time heat record for this time of year with 93 degrees. Last night was the hottest Peterborough has endured so far, the temperature failing to fall below 61 degrees.

"We are hearing a great many reports about the extreme drought in this district, but in this regard we are much better off than most places in Ontario," Mr. Peters said. "Recently we have had 1.68 inches of rain, which is just double what fell around Barrie and four times as much as they received in the Toronto area."

fighting the blaze and more are being sent in. The area of the fire cannot be estimated at present, due to heavy smoke which makes accurate aeroplane observation impossible.

About 100 men are at the fire near Gogama, so far as is known it has not yet reached the Canadian National Railway tracks. Its exact size is not known but officials believe it is not as large as the blaze at Stupart.

Only scattered showers were promised anxious fire rangers as the battle continued.

Mine Plant Burns

AMOS, Que., June 5 (CP)—The plant of the South Tiblemont Mines in Northern Quebec has been destroyed by a raging bush fire, according to word reaching here. Thirty-nine workers were taken to Senneterre by airplane when the flames spread from the bush yesterday.

An urgent appeal for supplies came from Tiblemont and food, clothing and some medical equipment were being flown into the region by Canadian Airways.

Forestry patrol planes reported serious fires were burning north of Maniwaki also and it was feared they woud get out of hand.

The forest fire situation improved with rains a week ago, but the lack of moisture in the meantime has caused the danger to return. Throughout the mining regions of Northern Quebec careful watch was being kept and efforts were being made to quell outbreaks as they occurred. In some cases, however, fires in the bush have not been discovered immediately and have been of dangerous proportions when they reached settlements.

At Senneterre the miners were given temporary quarters.

Mrs. Robinson, who became lost after joining the searchers early this morning, made her way safely to the home camp.

HEAVY TRADE VOLUME.

U.S. IS SPEEDING DROUGHT RELIEF

Roosevelt Outlines $525,000,000 Program Under Seven Headings.

BRIEF DISCUSSION.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(A.P.) —President Roosevelt outlined a $525,000,000 emergency drought relief program to-day to United States' congressional leaders and it was agreed to rush it through before the approaching end of this session.

The Congress house leaders were in agreement that little time would be required to put through the urgent appropriation.

The President outlined the situation to more than 50 members of the Senate and House from the drought States who gathered about his desk in the executive office. There was brief discussion.

The relief program tentatively outlined contemplates ear-marking sums as follows:

1.—A $100,000,000 fund for purchasing additional beef and dairy cattle under the Jones-Connally Act.

2.—Approximately $100,000,000 for processing cattle and other products for relief purposes.

3.—A cash outlay of $100,000,000 for work programs and emergency needs in the drought belt.

4.—A live-stock feed fund of $100,000,000.

5.—A $50,000,000 fund for retiring sub-marginal lands and moving populations, particularly from sections such as some of those in North and South Dakota where crops are reported to be completely ruined.

6.—A $50,000,000 civilian conservation corps fund to provide employment for young men in the hard hit areas.

7.—A $25,000,000 wheat, corn and forage seed buying program.

Robinson said the appropriation would be in addition to the regular budget.

chief operator, informed the Examiner this afternoon.

The total pumapeg yesterday mounted to 4,600,000 gallons, and the peak load for the day reached the rate of 9,000,000 gallons between 6.45 and 7.45 p.m. last night.

The average daily flow from the pumps is 2,600,000 gallons, and the records for a year ago yesterday showed a total of 3,004,000 gallons.

Incidentally the temperature of the water at the pumping station was 72 degrees yesterday, an increase of six degrees within a week.

Mr. Hunt stated that the filter plant at the pumping station was in operation nearly twenty hours yesterday as compared with twelve hours a year ago. In fact the filter was running almost at its capacity.

An Ice Record.

Seventy thousaid pounds of ice were sold to cash and carry purchasers at the Sanitary Ice plant during the week-end.

"We never had such a period of extra business in which the people came in automobiles and took the ice away with them," Reg. H. Turner said this morning. "Three and a half tons, all in ordinary sized purchases indicates how busy it was. The cars were lined up in rows. And this was additional to our regular business."

No Prostrations.

Both hospitals repotred no heat prostrations or other cases attributable to the hot weather.

Every last electric fan was turned on in stores, factories, offices and homes; and in the meadows instinct kept the cattle in the shade of the elms and maples.

CLAIMS TORIES AIM TO COERCE BUSINESS FIRMS

Hepburn Cites "Straight Furrow" Letters Going Through Mails.

SENT TO THOUSANDS.

Differs With Premier— Says Anglo-Saxons Can Not be Socialized.

GANANOQUE, Ont., June 5 (CP).—Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader, with an extensive northern tour behind him, was in the midst of a journey about Eastern Ontario as he continued his Ontario general election campaign to-day. At Vankleek Hill and Cornwall the Liberal leader will address meetings to-day.

Mr. Hepburn spoke at Westport and Gananoque yesterday. Before the Gananoque electors he charged the Ontario Government was attempting to "coerce" business firms in the province and he read what he said was a letter sent to firms by the "Straight Furrow" a Conservative publication.

The letter, according to Mr. Hepburn, said the publication was "going by direct mail to the farmers of Ontario, into every mail-box and farm house, a circulation of over 200,000 copies weekly." The letter, he declared, noted the depression had resulted in cancellation of subscriptions to other papers and magazines.

Sent To Farmers.

The "Straight Furrow," the Liberal leader read from the letter, will be sent to the rural homes "free." Further extracts from the letter added that the "extensive complete rural coverage of this paper provides to advertisers an unusual opportunity of getting their stories across to a class of people whose spending power has been very seriously curtailed and who now must replenish their stocks of everything."

"Live advertisers," the letter added, "who take this opportunity of reaching all the farmers can be assured of favorable returns."

Mr. Hepburn declared the fact the letter said the publication would continue appearing until the Dominion general elections indicated the companies asked to advertise might be affected, adversely or otherwise, by Federal tariff changes.

Premier George S. Henry's charge that he favored socialization of industry was met by Mr. Hepburn with the remark, "You can't socialize an Anglo-Saxon race, and I throw it back in the teeth of the Prime Minister."

The Department of Education required an overhauling, Mr. Hepburn added. "With Mr. Henry as Minister, there is no hope for the Department," he said.

OTHER NATIONS

on making the financial sacrifices they have made since the war.

2.—It is economically impossible to make transfers on such a tremendous scale; any attempt to do so would have disastrous effect on world trade and prices.

3.—The British funding agreement (under which they still owe more than they did at first despite payment of nearly half of the original amount) is unjust.

4.—The United States has refused to accept payment in goods and services.

The note said Britain faced the alternatives of paying in full, or deferring payments. Great Britain is collecting nothing from its debtors, the note declared and payments to United States would necessitate a demand on those creditors.

To do that, the note said, "would be a re-creation of the conditions which existed prior to the world crisis and were in a large measure responsible for it. Such procedure would throw a bombshell into the European arena which would have financial and economic repercussion over all five continents and would postpone indefinitely the chances of world recovery."

"While suspending further payments until it becomes possible to discuss an ultimate settlement with a reasonable prospect of settlement," the note declared, "Great Britain has no intention of repudiating its obligations and is prepared to enter into discussions on the subject whenever President Roosevelt considers such discussions would be likely to produce results of value."

Ten To Follow Suit

Ten other European debtors are expected to phrase notes in somewhat similar vein. Dispatches have indicated a possibility that France, which suspended payments last time, might pay something on account this June.

The present British agreement, the note says, imposes "a burden which is both unreasonable and inequitable in relation to other countries." Great Britain, figures show, borrowed $4,277,000,000 and has made payments of $2,025,000,000 but because of the interest rate she still owes $4,713,765,000.

Other debtor nations, the note points out, borrowed $5,772,300,000 and havere paid only $678,500,000, indicating that Great Britain, which borrowed less, has paid more than three times the total paid by other debtors.

11 Nurses Graduate From Nicholls Hospital

MISS MACKENZIE WINS 1ST PRIZE FOR PROFICIENCY

Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr Delivers Address to the Graduating Class.

ATTRACTIVE SETTING.

1,676 Patients Were Treated at Nicholls Hospital Last Year.

"The Rhythm of Life" was the subject of the address given by the Rev. A. T. Barr, B.D., Ph.D., at the fortieth annual graduation exercises of the Training School for Nurses of Nicholls Hospital, held last night in the auditorium of the Collegiate Institute, with an audience of between seven and eight hundred people present, and an excellent program which bowed to the warm evening and let the audience out at less than an hour and a half after its commencement.

The eleven graduates of this year from Nicholls Hospital are as follows: Miss Annie Dorothy MacKenzie, daughter of Mr. William MacKenzie, of Warkworth; Miss Mary Ellen Montgomery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Montgomery, of Colborne; Miss Clara Edna Larson, daughter of Mr. Oscar Larson, of Oshawa; Miss Edna Isabel Beer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Beer, of Bethany; Miss Margaret Jean Beavis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Beavis, of Colborne; Miss Daisy Lauretta Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Reid, of 168 Antrim street; Miss Doris Clarkson, daughter of Mr. E. H. Clarkson, of Garden Hill; Miss Jean Esther Preston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Preston, of Harold; Miss Margaret Elizabeth Roy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Roy, of Oshawa; Miss Margaret Olive Willis, daughter of Mrs. W. E. Irish, of Colborne; Miss Myrtle Violet Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Jones, of Alfred street.

The first prize for proficiency, $25, in this year's graduating class went to Miss Annie D. MacKenzie, of Warkworth, while Miss Mary E. Montgomery, of Colborne, received the second prize of $15. Both are presented by the Trustee Board.

In the second year class, the first and second prizes for highest marks in examinations, presented by the medical staff, were won by Miss Rotha A. Lothan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lothan, of Almonte, and Miss Margaret E. Mitchell, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Mitchell, of Collingwood.

Prizes to the first-year students for bandaging went to Miss Merle A. Meade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Meade, of Port Hope, and Miss Mildred I. Mullett, daughter of Mrs. E. Mullett, of Trenton. These are also presented by the Trustee Board of the hospital.

Attractive Setting.

The usual lovely setting for the girl graduates was provided by the elaborate decorating of the stage, which was bordered with a double fringe of gold and purple, in the hospital colors, and quantities of gorgeous crimson and pink roses in vases, bowls and tall wicker standards, flanked by many tall green ferns and palms.

The graduates, dressed in their crisp, immaculate uniforms, and bearing in their arms lovely bouquets of roses tied with gold and purple satin ribbons, occupied the front rows of seats in the auditorium, while their half-sisters, the pupil nurses, were seated opposite, in their neat outfits of striped blue and white, with white caps and aprons.

Later, the graduates were called to the stage, to receive their diplomas and repeat the affirmation after the chairman, and to have their medals pinned on by the hospital superintendent, Mrs. E. M. Leeson.

"I shall endeavor by my life and conduct and the faithful discharge of my duties as a nurse, to honor the diploma conferred upon me," solemnly repeated each graduate, reiterating the words of Dr. J. Malcolm McCulloch, who discharged the duties of chairman in a very thorough and efficient manner, and taking the place of J. J. Turner, the chairman of the Board of Trustees, in this capacity, on Mr. Turner's invitation.

The main address of the evening was made by the Rev. Dr. Barr, who spoke on the "Rhythm of Life," and took his theme from a suggestion contained in the following statement by Sir Philip Gibbs:

"There is little doubt in my mind that rhythm is the secret of life and of long life. Diets and rules of conduct are useful; but rhythm is the way; for by the power of faith, it brings the whole being into the harmony we call peace. Life without it is no life at all. Those who live in it can never die."

Definition of Rhythm.

"What is meant by rhythm?" went on the reverend speaker. "I find it comes from a Greek word which means 'a regular recurring motion.' The same root, strange to say, also gives us the word rheumatism, which always has as an accompaniment a rhythmic painful motion, as perhaps some of you have known by experience. In any case, it underlies all the forces of nature, like the waves that crash and recede on the seashore, or the pulsations of the ether waves in the atmosphere. It underlies all music, poetry, art. It is found in the mechanical world; you listen to the rhythm of your automobile engine when something goes wrong. In human life it means joy in living, contentment resulting from proper poise of mind and body and soul, and the amazing thing is that, looking at life the world over today, with all our skill and science and knowledge, this very thing—the rhythm of life—is lacking.

"Now, this condition in the world is not new. Away back when Carlyle wrote his Sartor Resartus, he said significantly that he 'found in life the strangest dualism; light dancing with guitar music will be going on in the forecourt, while by fits from within comes the faint whimpering of woe and wail." Such a picture accords very well with facts to-day. In industrial, political, community and family affairs to-day, the rhythm of life is replaced too often by a shrill dissonance, because those who should dwell together in unity are fighting for their own selfish ends. A world that should be filled with melody resounds with barbaric discords, distressing to every sensitive spirit attuned to higher themes.

Root Cause.

"Now, if the rhythm of physical life is affected in the individual, one goes to the medical man, who makes a diagnosis and prescribes a cure. Lots of folks are making diagnoses of the ills that affect the body politic in these days; all sorts of quackeries and nostrums are being offered. If I were asked what I believed would cover the situation in one sentence—although this is just my own opinion and liable to contradiction—I would say that the root cause of all our troubles in every department of life is worry arising from atheism.

"But wherein lies a possible cure? Bertrand Russell, one of our modern philosophers, in an article, 'What shall we educate for? An inquiry into fundamentals,' makes a suggestion: 'I will take four characteristics which seem to be jointly to form the basis for an ideal life—vitality, courage, sensitiveness and intelligence. I do not think this all, but I think it carries us a good way. A free mental life cannot be as warm and comfortable and sociable as a life enveloped in a creed; only a creed can give the feeling of a cosy fireside while the winter storms are raging without.' Of course, nothing new is there. Alfred, King of England, said that years ago when he mentioned the four virtues attaching to wisdom. That venerable saint, Thomas Aquinas, used to pray for these very things daily when he asked God to 'infuse this understanding with some ray of divine brightness . . . and bring me safely to the end of the road, even happiness and glory." But the achievement of the rhythm of life depends in the cultivation of such virtues as these, and the way of education alone will never bring about the desired result. The school can do its part, the medical profession with its nursing services can also make a contribution, but ultimately and finally the church alone can complete the structure of life being built. For the most ancient admonition from a graduate of a most ancient university states that 'whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report . . . think on these things.'"

Historical Glimpse.

In his opening address, the chairman, Dr. McCulloch, gave a brief resume of the history of Nicholls Hospital and the manner in which the generosity of its founder, the late Charlotte Nicholls, had benefitted the city and its people for the past half century.

"Nicholls Hospital belongs to the citizens of Peterborough," he said. "The Board of Trustees represents only the management of the institution. And I am sure the people of Peterborough will demand for their hospital the best so that it may continue to give the best service."

In the past year, 1,676 patients were treated there, with a total of patients' days 23,740 and 65 as the average daily number of patients.

Dr. McCulloch paid a tribute to the medical staff, to Mrs. Leeson and her staff, to the graduates, and especially to John Crane, secretary-treasurer, for "more years than any of us can remember," and "a faithful and long-tried servant of the board who has placed for many years his financial and other abilities at its services."

Dr. A. Moir, chairman of the medical staff, addressing the graduates, told several humorous anecdotes and then went on to congratulate the graduates of this year.

"There are many training schools throughout the Dominion," he said, "but I don't think there is any better than that of Nicholls Hospital. And smaller training schools furnish more advantages than larger ones, in that they afford opportunities for a wider training. I am sure that Mrs. Leeson has given you the best possible training in your work."

Dr. Moir, speaking of the need of leadership in times like the present, said that nurses could lead in educating the public against the cults and isms of the moment. "The nurse occupies a strategic position in this way. Nursing, like medicine, is largely a public service, and I am sure you appreciate that. Although you may not reap a great financial reward for your labors, you will be able to do much that is worth while, and you are to be congratulated on the width of the field of service into which you have entered."

The prizes for proficiency were presented by Dr. McCulloch, the second-year awards by Dr. S. Y. Walsh, secretary of the medical staff of the hospital, and the prizes for bandaging to the first-year students were presented by Dr. A. W. McPherson, both of the last named making appropriate brief speeches.

The musical entertainment of the evening, which added much to the enjoyment of those present, was arranged by M. B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O.

The Sunday school orchestra of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church played some snappy, bright selections as an opening, followed by songs by three of the members of St. Paul's choir, all of whom were in excellent voice, and received hearty and enthusiastic applause. Mr. Stanley Willis' soft, clear tenor was heard in the strains of a sweet love song; Miss Jessie Pattison's lovely contralto voice was as attractive as always in "Come to the Fair" and its encore, "Comin' Home," and George Coleman's striking, beautifully-modulated baritone was loudly encored in "The Road to Mandalay," with a second number in "Smilin' Thru."

JUST AMONG US GIRLS

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Lilyan Glaum,
337 McDonnel St., Peterborough.

The handwriting as delineated on your card for analysis is expressive of your gentle, upright personality. The queer little 'quirks' attendant to your capital letters lend intrigue to your versatility, and suggest that you never show all your 'cards' at the same time. You seem refreshingly interesting, quite independent and tenacious in obtaining your desires, be they pleasure or work. The writing which is evenly spaced and closely knit illustrates a keen policy of yours to always think before you act, then you seem to act with careful complaisance, knowing that your conclusions are sensible and correct. You are fair minded and conscientious, gifted with a rather imaginative foresight. Perhaps a little secretive, but not at all aggressive. You are careful as to detail, even to the most minute. You are fastidious as regards your clothing prefering a few of especially good quality to a number of others of inferior quality or material. Your general character is excellent. You are kind and thoughtful.

Annie Gray,
540 Water St., Peterborough.

Your handwriting as portrayed on your sample for analysis illustrates secretiveness and reserve. The very small letters indicate that you have a propensity to 'crawl into your shell' as it were, and to be afraid to express your very intelligent opinions. Office work should interest you, but is not the only line of endeavour for you to choose. You would do very well in anything which your better judgment allowed you to undertaken. You readily comprehend facts, but you do not enlarge upon them. You are well poised and refined. You have a certain amount of family pride which will not let you go beyond a certain limit, no matter what the occasion might be. Your disposition is what is termed a placid one, because you endeavour to avoid strife at all times. Your general talents are about even. You are discreet, obliging and courteous. You do not appear to be temperamental, but you can be exceedingly witty, in a quiet sort of way. That, I might add, is typically you. Quiet and unassuming. You are born under the sign of Libra the Balance. You are ruled by Venus. Your number is 5. August and December are your best months, and Friday your lucky day.

Miss Lulu Elliott,
Box 376, Lakefield, Ont.

The handwriting as portrayed on your sample expresses a discriminating personality. You are quick-witted and keen minded, honest and open-hearted. Your letters are all so evenly spaced that it is not at all difficult to understand what an 'easy-going', pleasant disposition you possess. You are gracious, and have a social nature. You express your affections in honest, descriptive terms. You are easily able to deal with the public, and appear to be at your best when in the company of congenial people. You have imagination, but it is the practical type. It does not carry you into the clouds of idealism and romance. You believe that anything which is worth having is worthy of diligent effort. You have the ability to manage business or enterprise on a large scale. Your intelligent suggestions demand a 'listening ear'. You are a good critic, keen judge, and are diplomatic at all times.

Gertrude Halpin,
496 Rogers St., Peterborough.

Your handwriting shows versatility and impulsiveness. The variable shape and size of the small letter formations illustrates a changeable disposition and shows that you are not set in your ways or stubborn. There is a certain dramatic tendency noted in some of the half-formed letters which suggests that you might make a study of this art for your own amusement as a hobby. It is noteworthy because you have a gift of thinking one thing and doing another, or in other words one might say that you are successful in hiding your true feelings. When you work, you put your best foot forward, but you soon become mentally tired and then do not feel in the mood for work at all. You see you are inclined to worry as to the outcome of your labor. You wonder if it is as well done as it might be, even when you know that you have done your level best. Your number is 6. Your sign Cancer the Crab. You are ruled by the Moon. February and September are your best months, and Monday your lucky day.

Matilda Pipe,
519 Elm St., Peterborough.

Your handwriting shows that you are slightly nervous but endeavour to hide the fact by forcing yourself to do things which cause you mental stress. You are not really well enough, physically, to undertake any strenuous labor. You need quiet, refined surroundings in order to recuperate some portion of your nervous energy. You are what is termed 'complaisant.' You will do anything to please another. You cannot endure quarrels of any nature; they upset your mental equilibrium and cause anguish and pain. The uneven formations of your letters bespeak of versatility and a desire to be different. You mean to do well at all times, but must take your time and not rush into anything. Keen, careful thought will assist one of your personality greatly and a few moments of absolute silence alone, each day, will work wonders. Try it.

Mildred Dent,
Keene, Ont.

Your writing shows that you are possessor of an even temperament, and are not easily disturbed by the vicissitudes of life. Your words are clear-cut and concise, sometimes to the point of being blunt. Even though at times you are blunt, your humorous nature has a charming way of soothing the ruffled feelings of your listeners. You seem to be straining the wires which communicate your thoughts to the brain just now, and appear to be unsettled. It would be well for you to cry 'halt' and endeavour only to accomplish one definite object in a day. Your delicate, sensitive hearing, is keyed to a high pitch and suffers agonies over the carelessness of other people. You could do much for yourself were you to branch out anew. Make new friends, see new places and grasp a different aspect on life in general. You must spare your own energy for yourself. Enjoy life as one with your kind, gentle, loving nature was meant to enjoy it. Your number is 3. Your sign is Capricorn the Goat. You are ruled by Saturn. March and November are your most fortunate months, and Tuesday and Saturday your lucky days.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

Your Best Vacation Aid is a Railway.

As well as providing, efficiently and economically, an unrivalled system of transportation embracing the length and breadth of the Dominion, the railways of Canada are the owners and operators of hotels, camps, and resorts which give to the vacationist and pleasure-seeker the maximum of comfort and enjoyment at the minimum of expense and effort. At the seashore, at the lake, or in the mountains the desires of the holiday-maker have been anticipated and the tourist has at his choice scores of places selected because they represent the best in their respective localities. A sojourn at one of these places is not necessarily an expensive matter—indeed the reverse is the case—and its duration may be for any period, long or short, during the summer season.

Families and children are made welcome and everything that experience and skill can suggest to ensure a happy and healthful time is done.

To get to these favored spots special railway fares have been made, and special tariffs have been arranged to cover the period of the vacation. Interesting alternative routes, with stopover privileges, to the outstanding resorts and cities of Canada have been planned. A holiday under the auspices of a railway company will be found to be surprisingly cheap this year; and after the doleful recent years it will be doubly enjoyable.

Obviously within the limits of this advertisement it is impossible to go into detail. But not very far away from where you, the reader, now are, is some ideal spot—whether for fishing, bathing, boating, golfing, or simply resting, is a matter of your own taste—to which a railway will carry you and give you the joy of obtaining your heart's desire.

The railways, through their local agents and representatives, will be glad to furnish complete particulars and to co-operate to the end that you will know the best place to which to go, what you may confidently expect at your destination, and exactly what your expenditure will be. They will be glad to tell you of the many excursions and the special fares that are now available, not only to summer resorts but to all parts of the Dominion. And, of course, the C. N. R. will be particularly pleased to be allowed to help in changing your vacation problem into vacation happiness.

RICHARD HALL LIMITED

J. D. McEACHERN RE-APPOINTED

Will Receive $500 Salary as Tax Collector for 1934 —Council Meets.

LOAN BY-LAW PASSED.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 5. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—Tax collector for the Town of Campbellford for the past year, J. D. McEachern was re-appointed to that office for the current year, by the Campbellford town council, sitting in regular session last evening. His salary was set at $500 Two other by-laws were also passed by the council, one calling for the borrowing of a sum up to $50,- from the Canadian Bank of Commerce and a by-law appointing Councillor J. R. Battisby and Deputy Reeve E. C. McKeel, as agents to look after the interests of the town, at the the adjourned tax sale.

Very little business came before the council, which was presided over by Reeve N. Alex MacColl, in the absence of Mayor H. N. Carr. After discussion, and following a report by Councillor John O'Sullivan, chairman of the Road and Bridge Committee, the council decided to build a cement sidewalk from the residence of E. H. Greig on Rannie street, to meet the pavement on Second street.

The council viewed this project recently, over which there was much discussion, it having been decided on some years ago, and held over owing to retrenchments on the part of the council. Councillor O'Sullivan placed the cost of the work at approximately $140.

Request Turned Down

The request of A. K. Loucks for a sidewalk standard in front of his store, for the purpose of an electric sign, was turned down, although he was given the privilege of erecting a hanging sign over his place of business, on the condition that he sign an agreement with the town, taking the responsibility for any accident liability caused by it.

Following a discussion on this, a motion was sponsored by Deputy Reeve McKeel and Councillor P. J. Sarginson, requesting the Legal Committee to consider a by-law regulating the signs above and on public streets, and an indemnity agreement covering existing signs. This motion carried.

T. J. Horkins appeared before the council, asking that action be taken in the matter of an assessment, in which he was assessed for a lot and house and on which lot there was no building at all. The assessment was for $350.

Mr. Horkins pointed out that when the lot was assessed last year, he never reviewed the assessment notice. Reeve MacColl explained to him however, that the council could next year instruct the collector to return the taxes on this property uncollected, and that the error could be rectified when the new assessment was made.

A motion was passed requesting the Legal Committee to consider and report on the alteration of the present Pedlers' By-law. Councillor O'Sullivan told the council in response to a question from the chair, that the silent policeman on the west side of the bridge would be placed in position immediately.

READY TO BURN

NORTH BAY — Scorched by a blazing sun, the bush in this district was yesterday a great mass of inflammable wood which, it was feared, would break out in fire at any moment.

One serious blaze in the region, the fire in the Matachewan area, was still proving troublesome, W. B. Greenwood, Chief Forester for North Bay district, said.

One hundred men will be out of work as a result of the fire and the new mill will not be completed until about July 20, company officials state. There are 100,000 logs in the river ready to be cut.

200 CHILDREN ARE COMPLETING COURSE OF 10 SWIMMING LESSONS

Classes in Y.M.C.A. Open to All Boys Eight Years and Over.

3 LESSONS A WEEK

More than two hundred youngsters from the public and separate schools of the city are completing a course of ten free swimming lessons in the Y.M.C.A. pool this week. Since the classes began on May 14 about one hundred have learned to negotiate the width of the tank, some swimming the length without difficulty.

The classes were open to all boys of the city eight years of age and over. Although there were a few over twelve years, the majority of those enrolled were between eight and eleven. Each boy was given three twenty-minute lessons each week from the date of enrolment and asigned arm, leg and breathing exercises to be practiced at home. Doug Loomis, physical director, and James McClenaghan, secretary of the Boys' Department, supervised the classes assisted by Vern Janeway, Don Welch, Allan Holmes, Bill Gerow and Bill Loomis.

The attendance from the respective schools was as follows: Central, 50; Queen Alexandra, 47; Prince of Wales, 41; King Edward, 34; King George, 30; Queen Mary, 23; St. Peter's, 6; Sacred Heart, 6.

For those who are still unable to swim after completion of the free course this week, the privilege of taking a further course of lessons is to be extended by the Y.M.C.A. A nominal fee is to be charged.

OTTAWA URGED TO CONTINUE FEDERAL AID

tween Hon. C. A. Stewart, Minister of Public Works, and the council so that the need of such a building in this city may be urged upon the Government. Alderman Hamilton recalled that Mr. Peck had promised the council that he would arrange such an appointment for the council.

Bridge Plenty Wide

Mayor Denne informed the council that he had been assured that the n ew bridge over the Otonabee river at the locks will be installed this year. Alderman Max Sloan questioned whether the bridge being moved here from the Welland Canal would be suitable. Alderman Hamilton said that the council could rest on this point because the bridge was wide enough to permit two lanes of motor traffic and also had sidewalk for pedestrians on each side.

Riverside Park

The city's park, playgrounds and ball park in Ashburnham will again be officially known as Riverside Park. Alderman Stocker introduced a resolution to change its name from James Stevenson Park to Riverside Park. The resolution passed unanimously and without question, the council maintaining that Riverside was the proper name for it and aptly described it.

In preparation for the expected request of local merchants for by-laws fixing the time for the closing of shops in the evening and also governing Wednesday half-holidays during the summer months, the council passed a regulatory by-law governing such petitions. By this by-law three-fourths of the merchants affected by such by-laws must have signed the petition, and those objecting to the petition also must be listed and thoroughly checked by order of the Board of Police Commissions. City Solicitor J. R. Corkery pointed out that the regulatory by-law just protected the council under the Factory, Shop and Office Act which was revised by the Legislature last year.

TWIN MEASURES

ing upon his creditors as well as upon himself.

Amendments to the Canadian Farm loan act will extend the scope of the Farm Board so that it may advance the necessary ready cash to carry on operations once his debt obigations have been refinanced.

The legislation is an answer to the problem arising from the fact that the farmers who are in the greatest economic difficulties are the ones who cannot afford to take the first legal step to secure relief, because of the costs.

Form Of Assignment

Re-arrangement of the farmer's debt burden, involving a form of assignment and a fresh start, would not be enough, the government feels because he would still be unable to finance his running operations. A second mortgage loan will therefore be made possible to meet that situation.

The loans from the Farm Loan board will be at six percent for first mortgage and probably 6½ for the second mortgage advance. Provision is made in the bill, effective from the moment the Act receives royal assent, which will render it possible to liquidate with three months notice, any mortgage costing the farmer an interest rate greater than seven per cent.

Since the proposal invades provincial jurisdiction, enabling legislation by the provinces will be necessary. It is already in existence in two of the Prairie provinces. Alberta and Saskatchewan, and Manitoba will pass it at the special session to be held within a few weeks.

Official Receiver.

The debt adjustment measures provides for the setting up in each judicial district in the provinces to which the Act applies, an "official receiver" who will be appointed by the Governor-in-Council. More than one in each district may be appointed if necessary.

This official will be available to the farmer who desires to compose his debts. The receiver will call a meeting of creditors and seek to advance a settlement. He will act in the capacity of official receiver, custodian and trustee under the Bankruptcy Act.

Should the efforts of the official receiver fail to secure a debt adjustment the matter may then be taken to the Provincial Board of Review. That body will be set up in each province to which the legislation applies, by the Governor-in-Council. It will consist of a chief commissioner and two commissioners who will hold office at pleasure and receive such remuneration as the Governor-in-Council may provide.

INSTITUTE ATTENDS CHURCH SERVICE

Millbrook Branch and Representatives From Other Branches Attend Divine Service.

MILLBROOK, June 5 (Examiner Correspondence)—The members of the local branch of the Women's Institute, with representatives from a number of the other branches of East Durham, attended divine worship in a body on Sunday evening, at Grace Presbyterian Church, a large congregation being in attendance.

Early summer blossoms were banked within the altar, and the choir sang the anthem, "Seek ye the courts of Jehovah." Rev. H. R. Williams, B.A., preached an inspiring sermon from the text found in Mark 4:34, with special reference to the words "other little ships." Paying tribute to the Institute for the excellent work which it is doing, the minister likened it to "a little ship going out to the help and rescue of other little ships."

Making the question individual the speaker asked, "How many of you are leading other ships, that may be drifting to shipwreck on hidden rocks of temptation and indulgence, into the safe harbor of God's love?" Some of the best 'ships' were listed as friendship, partnership and companionship and these reach their highest peak of attainment when they are made the rule of life with Christ.

At the conclusion of the sermon the handsome baskets for flowers for the church, the gift of Mrs. R. J. McKnight as a contribution with her talent money, were dedicated, and on behalf of the congregation and session the minister extended thanks to the donor for her kindly and useful donation to God's house.

Announcement was made that the special preacher for the Centennial Sunday, June 24, will be Rev. S. A. Hill, B.A., B.D., of Hastings, and the service was dismissed with the blessing and the National Anthem. Afterward the visiting organization extended grateful appreciation to Rev. Mr. Williams for his helpful message. Mrs. Garnet Shield, of Mount Pleasant, president of the East Durham W.I., and Mrs. T. A. Stitch, past president, were among the visitors in attendance.

Miss Ida Pue of Windsor is visiting in the vicinity.

On Friday night the Bensfort Club presented their play "There Goes the Bride," at Springville Church. Among those who accompanied the cast were Mr. and Mrs. James Hall, Mr. Judson Pue, Mr. Jack Staples, Joe Wood and Mrs. James Wood.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter.

Al. Sharpe, George street men's clothier, has a unique window display that is attracting quite a lot of interest and comment.

Alongside one of the briefest of brief, 1934 men's bathing suits is displayed in striking contrast a voluminous bathing suit of 1834 vintage. The old bathing suit, of red and brown vertical striped material, probably the quietessence of smartness in its own day and generation, now presents a most ludicrous display.

It was recovered from the attic at the residence of one of Peterborough's recently deceased residents, and is claimed to be more than 100 years old.

FOUNTAINS "ICED UP."

Welcome news for overheated pedestrians was the announcement that the Allin Ice Company this afternoon "iced up" the drinking fountains in the city's parks and at the corner of Simcoe and Water Streets. The City Council let the contract last night for icing the fountains, which have been getting a "great play" during the heat wave.

TRYING TO GET COOL

"What's doing?" an Examiner reported asked to-day as he walked into a usually busy downtown office.

"Not a thing," was the reply. "We are just trying to get cool. A little breeze just sprang up a moment ago, sit down and don't disturb it." And the office worker went on slowly fanning himself with a straw hat while his feet rested comfortably on the desk.

TOO HOT FOR HORSES.

So great was the heat to-day and yesterday that many farmers in the district refused to work their horses. Horses and cattle were let out in the fields, and they remained under shady trees in fence corners.

THE WALTZ IS COMING BACK

Special Waltz Program Tomorrow Night at Brock St. Summer Gardens.

At the request of numerous patrons the Brock Street Summer Gardens is putting on a feature once a week—every Wednesday half holiday night when the program will be equally divided between waltz and fox trot music.

You folks who so much enjoyed the Merry Widow waltz and old favorites such as Three O'clock in the Morning and others five, ten, fifteen or twenty years ago, should drop around to the Brock Street Summer Gardens and see how modern youth is enjoying itself in this dancing age. See the pleasant surroundings; hear excellent music and notice the clean-cut manner and excellent behaviour of the boys and the girls in this particular place of entertainment. Fathers and mothers can see for themselves the fine auspices under which their boys and girls are enjoying themselves this season. 1d.

LARGEST STAFF PLANT'S HISTORY NOW ON PAYROLL

Increased Production Due to Improvement in Canadian Car Industry.

MOULDED LININGS.

Raybestoc Brake Clinic Have Given City Valuable Advertisng.

"We have double the number of employees now that we had a year ago at this time," Robert Abbott, manager of the Raybestos plant, told The Examiner yesterday in an interview in which he outlined the greatly increased business of the company during the past five months.

"Our plant has been working at peak production and we have been employing more hands than ever before in our history," commented Mr. Abbott. "Our increased employment is partly due to our adoption of a new style of production. Instead of woven brake linings, we are now manufacturing moulded linings, and this greatly increased the number of operations in production.

"But that is not all. Our sales have greatly increased. This is due to the great increase in production of the Canadian car industry and also the acceptance of the policy by car manufacturers of using products made in Canada in their cars. Then we have the natural increase in our jobbing business."

Change in Car Styles.

Mr. Abbott pointed out that the change of style in cars from external to an internal brake had caused Raybsetos to manufacture moulded brake linings.

Much of the business the local plant has secured has been from General Motors and Ford in Canada. "These companies are both making a sincere effort to buy everything in Canada needed to build their cars," stated Mr Abbott. "We have been successful in supplying their brake and clutch linings because we had the plant and facilities to give their orders efficient attention."

The city of Peterborough has received valuable advertising throughout the cities and towns of Canada during the past six months owing to the Raybestos Brake Clinic and its tour through the country.

An important feature of the program of the brake clinic is a talking picture, taken in the local Raybestos plant, showing the methods of manufacturing brake linings The picture opens with a bird's-eye view of this city and a description of Peterborough's advantages as a manufacturing and residential centre. The clinic toured Canada from coast to coast, and 10,000 automobile service mechanics received instruction through it.

MANUFACTURERS PLAN TO DISCUSS SUMMER TIME

Effort Will be Made to Get Uniform Schedule for Local Factories.

MEET ON WEDNESDAY.

Manufacturers' Association Likely Be Reorganized During Meeting.

In an effort to get a uniform schedule of summer time for local factories a meeting of the local Manufacturers' Association will be held to-morrow evening at 5.15 in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

The meeting has been called by Robert Abbott, president of the association, and every manufacturing concern in the city is being asked to send a representative with the authority to "say yes or no for his company on the question of Daylight Saving Time." It is hoped that the association will be re-organized, also during the meeting.

Schedule Not Satisfactory

Mr. Abbott stated that the present various time schedules upon which local plants are operating are not satisfactory, and that some definite policy on which all plants will operate during the summer would be preferable.

Incubator Used For Quintuple Babies

Nurse Yvonne Leroux showing Mrs. Elzire Dionne, mother of the quintuplets, three of her babies in the incubator which was rushed from a Chicago medical supply house to Callander, Ontario, to aid in saving the lives of the five tiny infants.

Every Possible Aid Offered To Keep Quintuple Babies Alive

Through the medium of their now world-famous quintuple daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Ovila Dionne of Corbell, Ontario, have suddenly been lifted from poverty to riches. By agreement with an agent for a Chicago World's Fair show, Mr. Dionne will, it is reported, receive $100 a week starting immediately as long as all the babies live. If one dies, the contract is cancelled. As soon as they are able to move the babies to the World's Fair—in about six weeks time, providing all goes well—they are to receive $250 a week and all expenses in addition to a percentage. Meanwhile every effort is being made to keep the five children alive. Special incubators, doctors and nurses have been sent to the little home near Callander, Ontario, and the parents insist that World's Fair or not, the health of their babies comes first. The layout shows LEFT, a nurse weighing one of tiny infants. RIGHT, Mrs. Dionne with one of her famous children.

He may be the biggest man in the country to the rest of England, but to his newest granddaughter, little Margaret MacKinnon, Ramsay MacDonald is just "grandpa." Here Premier MacDonald relaxes with Margaret and his son, Malcolm and daughter, Mrs. MacKinnon, at his estate in Lossiemouth, Scotland.

As a memorial to Dr. Sun Yat Sen, founder of the Chinese Republic, a grove of 5,000 trees has been planted in Siyukang Hills near Canton.

Innocent was the name of thirteen popes.

Wes. Ferrell Traded To Boston

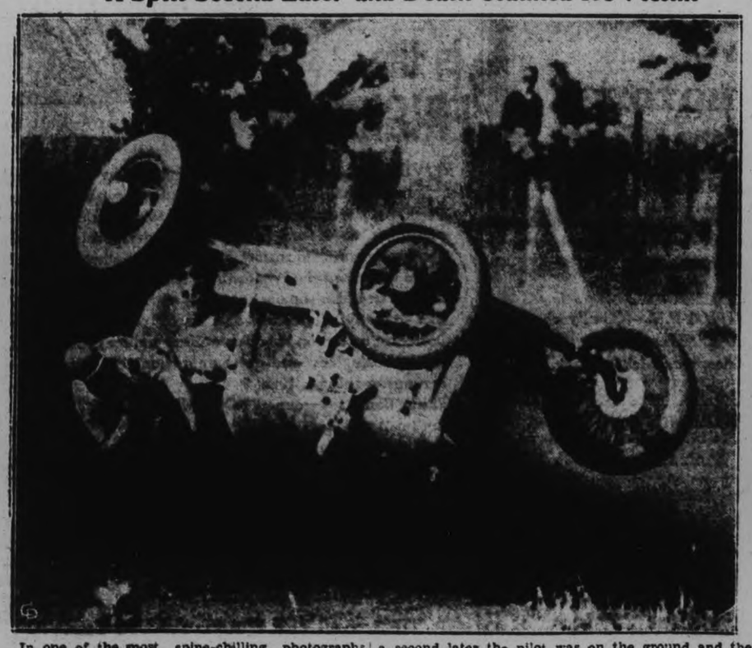
A Split Second Later and Death Claimed Its Victim



In one of the most spine-chilling photographs ever made, George Hersog and his racing car are shown clear of the ground and upside down after a skid on the 98th lap of the 25-lap feature Memorial Day race at Kohokus, N. J. In the merest fraction of a second later the pilot was on the ground and the car, hitting on top of him, had snapped his neck like a twig. The bright-eyed youth of 23 who had started the race, was a limp and mangled form. He died a few minutes later in the ambulance.

Old-Fashioned Cowboy Round-Up Provide Thrills

Colorful, exciting scenes such as these are being enacted in many towns and villages in the wideopen spaces of the U.S. wes., if not so much in Canada. The great Calgary Stampede has taken its place as Canada's great exhibition of Rodeo and ranks with Pendleton, Salinas and Cheyenne. These smaller shows confine themselves mostly to bucking broncbos, but the Calgary and other shows put on races, bull-doggin' and ropin as added attractions. Nowhere is there such a colorful scene as a Rodeo, with the ki-yipping cowboys, pounding, flashing, fighting horseflesh and brilliant settings.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Now that strawberries are becoming plentiful and much more reasonable in price I thought it would not be amiss to give the readers a recipe for "Fresh Strawberry Pie"

• • • • • • •

FRESH STRAWBERRY PIE

One quart strawberries. One-quarter cup cornstarch. One cup sugar. One-quarter teaspoon salt. Method: Cover whole berries with sugar and let stand several hours to extract juice. (If the berries are cut, they need stand only one-half to one hour). Strain berries from the juice. To the juice add water to make one and one-half cups of liquid. Combine cornstarch and salt. Mix with a little of the liquid to form a smooth paste. Add to the remaining liquid. Bring to a boil and cook over boiling water until clear (10 to 15 minutes). Add berries; cool and pour into pastry.

• • • • • • •

Corn Flake Pastry is delicious for this Strawberry Pie so I shall give you the recipe again:

• • • • • • •

CORN FLAKE PASTRY

Roll the flakes to make fine crumbs. For one 9-inch pie melt one quarter cup butter in the pie pan. Add one-quarter cup sugar and one cup fine corn flake crumbs. Blend thoroughly and press the mixture firmly around the sides and bottom of the pan. Chill the pastry in the refrigerator for a few minutes before putting in the filling. A little cinnamon or nutmeg can be added to the pastry mixture to suit the flavor of the filling. The flavor of the butter and the corn flakes is all that is needed to make a delicious pastry. A few of the crumbs can be reserved for sprinkling over the top of the pie if desired.

Finn officiated at the Nuptial Mass and marriage of Annie Josephine Corbin, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Corbin of Western avenue, and Mr. Alfred W. Gardner, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Gardner of 490 Elm street.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, entered the church to the strains of the wedding music played by Miss Veronica Scollard, A.T.C.M. She wore a dainty frock of white crepe, a white veil wreathed with orange blossoms, white slippers and gloves and flesh-colored hose. She carried a bouquet of white and pink carnations.

The bridesmaid, Miss Emma Grovelle, was in pink crepe with white hat, shoes and gloves and bouquet of pink carnations.

The best man was Mr. Maurice Hynes.

After the ceremony, a dainty wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, where decorations were carried out in pink and white. Relatives of the young people, numbering about thirty, were guests.

Later, Mr. Gardner and his bride left by motor for Toronto, the latter travelling in a grey ensemble, with matching accessories. On their return, they will live at 489 Elm street.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

The dark, handsome young physician bent with knitted brow over the patient. He was going to give an injection into the vein of her arm. He put a rubber tourniquet around the arm. Then carefully he got the hypodermic needle in the vein. He shot the plunger home, injecting the medicine into the vein. And then he took off the tourniquet.

Well, it was all in the movie called "Men in White", so I guess it did not do the patient any harm, but it is worth while to point out to Clark Gable and his colleagues that they oughn't to try to do that in real life. The trouble is that when we do it in real life we put the tourniquet on in order to allow the veins to swell up so that we can see them and get into one with the needle. As soon as we get in we take the tourniquet off before injecting the medicine—not after. Because if we did it before, the pressure of the injection would burst the vein.

There are plenty of other peculiar things in "Men in White." These features of the Hollywood development in surgery, however, could hardly do any harm because real surgeons would not do them. Where the picture did do harm was in two places. In one they had a blubbering, sniveling doctor come in with an X-ray plate of his wife's chest and a specimen of her sputum. The sputum was examined in the laboratory and found to contain tubercle bacilli, at which the doctor, still sniveling and blubbering, with bowed head left the room, the impression being that if tubercle bacilli are found in the sputum it inevitably means that the patient is going to die. Preachers of public health have tried to tell the public for 20 years that it does not mean that, and its representation on the screen undoubtedly caused a great deal of unnecessary sorrow.

The other thing was the question as to whether a patient in the hospital, a little child with diabetes who had received insulin, was going to die from insulin shock. Now, in spite of the fact that insulin is an almost magical remedy, it is sometimes very hard to get people to use it. I know of a case in which the family refused to allow the doctor to give insulin in diabetic coma and the patient died. The fear of insulin which this picture instills is totally unwarranted.

The number of doses of insulin that have been given in the last 12 years can be gathered from the fact that there are estimated to be a million diabetics in this country of whom 100,000 probably take two doses of insulin a day. This means that approximately 876,000,000 doses have been given since its invention, and the last report which I know of reports only 20 deaths from insulin, some of them being very doubtful as to whether insulin was the cause. I have seen many people with an overdose of insulin, but I have never seen anybody die from it.

When adverse propaganda is put out against so valuable a remedy which has so few dangers, who is responsible for the deaths which such ignorance causes?

CONTRACT BRIDGE

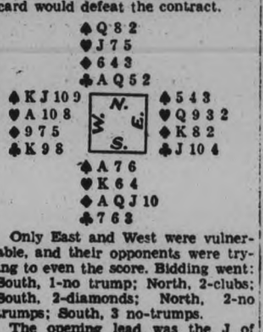
By E. V. SHEPARD

LUCKY OVERBIDDERS

It is exasperating to have two overbidders lucky enough to find every finesse go right, so that they go game, when a single misplaced card would defeat the contract.



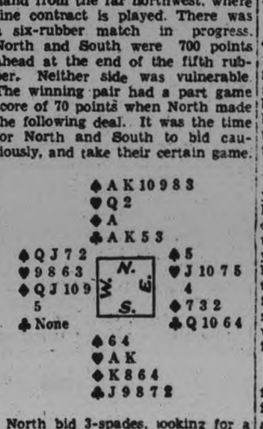
Only East and West were vulnerable, and their opponents were trying to even the score. Bidding went: South, 1-no trump; North, 2-clubs; South, 2-diamonds; North, 2-no trumps; South, 3 no-trumps.

The opening lead was the J of spades, which held the trick. Dummy's Q captured the lead of the 9. South's 10 of diamonds won a finesse. Dummy's Q of clubs won the next finesse. The J of diamonds won the fifth trick. East led back his last spade, and the declarer's ace won. South's last club was led. That suit broke, and dummy's ace and thirteener won two tricks. Each of the othr three players let go a heart.

Dummy's last diamond was led, and the declaring side won its eighth and ninth tricks. The defenders had won two of the 11 tricks played, and they won the last two tricks with West's ace of hearts and K of spades. Making this lucky game scored North and South 100 points for game, and saved them 200 points rubber premium, when East won the next game and rubber.

A Saskatchewan Hand

Here is an unusually interesting hand from the far northwest, where fine contract is played. There was a six-rubber match in progress. North and South were 700 points ahead at the end of the fifth rubber. Neither side was vulnerable. The winning pair had a part game score of 70 points when North made the following deal. It was the time for North and South to bid cautiously, and take their certain game.



North bid 3-spades, looking for a slam. The hand was played at 6-clubs. The opening lead was the five of spades. The hand was defeated a trick. Before tomorrow see if North can fulfill his contract against the best subsequent defence of East and West.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

"Dear Miss Glad: I have a very nice, smooth skin, but it is rather sensitive. I've been told that a barley flour mask is the best kind for my type of skin, as it is milder than most. Could you tell me how to prepare and administer a barley flour mask? FLORA."

The barley flour face mask is really quite simple to administer. Mix enough rosewater with half a cupful of barley flour to form a thick, smooth paste. Before applying the mask, cleanse your skin well, and smooth a tiny bit of cold cream around your eyes and mouth. Then spread the paste generously over your entire face, with the exception of your eyes, and permit it to dry. When it is entirely dry, remove the mask with tepid water and a soft cloth. If your skin is dry, you might find it advisable to apply a bit of cold cream to it after you have removed the mask. If your skin is oily, however, you should have no need of such lubrication.

"Dear Miss Glad: I have achieved really excellent results through the advice in that 'New Figure' booklet of yours. My bust has become much rounder and firmer, and I've lost 24 pounds from my waist, hips and thighs. The approaching bathing suit days can't scare me now! However, I have rather oily hair, and would be grateful if you'd tell me how to give myself an egg dry shampoo. WINNIE."

A really excellent dry shampoo can be made from the whites of eggs. First brush your hair vigorously, in order to loosen any particles of dirt that may have accumulated on your scalp and in your hair. Then apply the stiffly-beaten whites of two eggs to your head, and rub the albumen through your hair and over your scalp with your finger tips. All the egg whites should be permitted to remain on the head until dry. When entirely dry, brush them thoroughly from your hair with a flexible-bristled brush. This will remove all accumulated dirt, dust and oil from your hair and scalp.

"Dear Miss Glad: I wonder if you can possibly aid me. I really have a slender body, but always look a good deal too plump because I have a very short, broad face. Do you know of any tricks of make-up or hair arrangement that I could use to help give my face a longer and thinner appearance? VIRGINIA."

If your face is short and broad, you should try to wear your hair high on your head. Even short hair can be worn high if it is cut to pile up in the center. You should keep your hair off your forehead, too. A bang or swirl of hair down across the forehead will only make your face appear even shorter than it really is. To decrease the apparent width of your face, bring your hair forward on your cheeks and keep it flat over your ears. Then, when applying your make-up, blend your rouge in toward your nose. This will give the illusion that the centers of your cheeks are closer together, and will thus help to reduce the apparent width and fullness of your face.

SURPRIZE PARTY FOR MRS. MAGEE

Birthday Surprise Party is Tendered Mrs. Isabella Magee.

CAMEMEE, June 5.—On Saturday last, June 2nd, the home of Mrs. Magee and her beautiful lawn were the scene of gay activities, when some twenty-five of her nieces and nephews swooped down upon her unexpectedly and made whoopee on the occasion of her birthday which turned out to be a happy day for Mrs. Magee and the surprise of her life.

The following were present and took part in the festivities, viz: Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bick, Wallace Bick, Miss Pearl Junkin, Miss Roselle Junkin, Miss Dorothy Tully and Mrs. Magee's only brother, Mr. J. A. Tully of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Thomas, Mrs. Thos. Graham, Mrs. Wm. Martin, Mrs. Wm. Gillies and Miss June Gillis of Fenelon Falls; Mrs. Jas. Capstick of Lindsay; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bick and Mr. Roy Bick of Bobcaygeon; Mr. and Mrs. Melville Elliott, Mrs. Nellie Deyell, Miss Bettie Deyell and Mrs. Magee's cousin, Mrs. Isaac Fee of Omemee.

The following nieces and nephews sent their regrets and heartiest congratulations although they were unable to attend in person: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bick and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Tiers of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Junkin, Thos. Graham, Wm. Martin and Wm. Gillis of Fenelon Falls; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Ford of Omemee.

A congratulatory telegram with good wishes but regretting their unability to attend was received from Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tully of New York City.

Tables were spread on the lawn; refreshments were served after the grace was offered by Mrs. V. Bick.

Mr. J. A. Tully was unanimously chosen as the chairman and toast master when after the toast to the King and the singing of the National Anthem the toast to the guest of honor was offered and responded to by Victor Bick. In the middle of his address Mr. Bick called on little June Gillis to present Mrs. Magee with a most beautiful basket of roses—one rose to represent each year of her birth. Mrs. Magee replied very nicely and expressed her appreciation.

In conclusion songs were sung, games played, and Mrs. Fee told stories for which she is an expert until the singing of God Save the King when all present departed for their homes after the singing of "She is a Jolly Good Fellow."

JOHNSTON'S TIREMEN HEAD CITY SOFTBALL LEAGUE

"IRON-MAN" GEHRIG FINALLY RESTS.

Lou Gehrig, baseball's leading "iron man," took a day of rest yesterday for the first time since he joined the New York Yankees on June 1, 1925, but it was only an exhibition game, and won't affect his record of 1,391 consecutive performances.

It has been Gehrig's misfortune that he has been forced to play second fiddle to the glamorous Babe Ruth, but it is questionable if Ruth is his superior as an all-round performer. Gehrig, called "Columbia Lou," rates with the greatest of first basemen, and is one of the heaviest hitters in the major leagues.

To know Gehrig is to like him. Fame has not affected him to the slightest degree.

HALF-WAY MARK IN TORONTO RACING.

Spring racing in Toronto has reached the half-way mark. Thorncliffe closed yesterday, leaving but Long Branch and Dufferin to follow on, unless you count in Hamilton. To-morrow Long Branch opens. Statistics on the first two meetings show that the mutuel figures at Woodbine were about the same as a year ago, and not as good at Thorncliffe, but still good enough to be the highest so far, thanks to yesterday being the second best day of the meeting.

Long Branch will introduce quite a number of horses which didn't even start at Thorncliffe, because their owners were afraid to risk them over the hard track, due to the extremely long dry spell which has left everything high and dry.

THORNCLIFFE catered to a capacity crowd on Saturday and provided a wonderful card for their entertainment. Young Kitty, the pride of the Seagram stable accounted for her third win of the season. After today's racing, the gates of the popular Leaside oval will be closed until the fall meeting which opens in September. Khaki John who won the second race Saturday by four lengths was just galloping at the finish and could have won by twice the length had his rider wanted to. This hide is back in his form of two years ago when he was a favorite to win the King's Plate but last year he suffered from some ailment and never reached his true form all year. This season should see him win many more races.

Hogarty who ran such a good race the other day at Thorncliffe has been shipped to Blue Bonnets, his old stamping ground, and you may look for him to turn in a winning performance right off the bat. Squeaky and Rompridge, both owned by the Fontaine stable of Peterborough, are also at the latter track and expect to earn their cakes before long. Both are in great condition and have a nice turn of speed. They tell us that Long Branch is going to be the spot for Freethinker to make a killing. This one has tender feet and the soft cushion on the Lake Shore course will suit him right down to the ground. Bubbling Out is another that is very partial to this plant.

IF ABE ORPEN is successful in putting on his Canadian bred special at Long Branch for which he has offered a $500 gold cup besides the regular purse it will be a real horse race. Such outstanding performers as Horometer, Crofter, Easter Hatter, Shady Well, Spey Crest and last but not least Young Kitty will be brought together. And what a sweet morsel that will be for the racing fans.

× × ×

Harry Hatch has eleven head quartered at Long Branch now and is shipping fifteen more from Detroit tomorrow. We suppose you noticed where our old friend Princeton finished a bangup second at Detroit on Saturday and paid off $30 for place. The track was lightning fast and just suited her as she never did want any part of a muddy racing strip . . . Long Branch is running a two dollar daily double which produce some nice prices but hardly as big as Thorncliffe where it was a $5 ticket. These daily doubles have become very popular the last year or so.

HARWOOD BASEBALL CLUB COPS 18 TO 2 WIN FROM BAILIEBORO

Homester Girls Also Take It on the Chin, Losing to Gore's Landing 15-13.

HOLD FIELD DAY.

(Examiner Correspondence)

BAILIEBORO, June 5.—Over two hundred persons attended the annual field day held on the local athletic grounds on Saturday afternoon and a series of exciting ball games were keenly enjoyed by the crowd who braved the intensive heat to watch the local teams fall in defeat to their opponents who proved superior teams and demonstrated a better class of ball.

The second game in which the locals have taken part in the Northumberland league fixture, was the most ragged game of the day. Wood the manager just couldn't get the club organized to play ball and weak pitching with poor support in the field and two scattered hits gave Harwood, the opponents a great day to come through with a victory of 18 to 2.

Mel Harrie twirled steady ball for the visitors and registered seventeen strike-outs, allowing only two scattered hits and did not walk a single batter. Carl pitched six innings for Bailieboro, allowing fourteen safe hits including seven two-base hits. Wood twirled the last three innings, allowing six hits and getting three strike-outs. Carl walked two and struck out eight.

The teams lined up as follows:

Harwood—Hogg, 3b; J. Minifee, 1b; Lee, c; McLean, 2b; M. Harire, p; C. Wade, rf; Young, lf; Figlds, ss; C. Harvie, cf.

Bailieboro— P. Harris, 2b; K. Barnard, rf; Howson, lf; H. Dean, lf; A. Dawson, cf; Griffith, c; Wood c, p; G. Dean, 1b; Carl, p, 3b; Jewison, 3b; Earnshaw, ss; Barker, 3b; H. Long, c.

Girls Also Lose

The girl's softball game between the locals and Gores Landing proved an exciting and extremely close contest, both teams exhibiting a good brand of ball. Gore's Landing gave it to the locals on the chin to the tune of 15 to 13.

The lineups:

Gore's Landing—H. Harris, cf; C. Stalter, 3b; Marg Harris, p; F. Buttars, lf; D. Harris, ss; E. Harris 1b; B. Brisbin, 2b; M. Good, c.

Bailieboro—A. Barnard, c; W. Watt, p; I. Jewison, 1b; D. Dawson, 3b; R. Wood, ss; M. Whittington, cf; I. Campbell, lf; P. Carl, 2b; M. Wood, rf.

Score by innings:

Gore's Landing .....310 032 141—15

Bailieboro .....132 121 030—13

Umpires—Wood at plate; Watt on bases.

School Competition

A softball competition between Bailieboro, Millbrook, Fraserville and Harwood public school attracted great interest and Millbrook public school carried off the awards, defeating the Bailieboro school team by a score of 8 to 5. Harwood defeated Fraserville 10 to 8. While Millbrook in the final game won from Harwood 27 to 13.

Each of the schools exhibited an excellent brand of ball and the children took a keen interest in the contests.

The ladies aid of the United Church had a booth on the grounds and served supper to the large crowd who partook of the bountiful repast.

The business men of the village furnished prizes which were awarded the school teams taking part in the contests.

The receipts at the gate, booth and supper tables were most gratifying.

HITLESS BROWNS OF YEAR AGO STAGE COMEBACK UNDER ROGER TO ENTER THICK OF STRUGGLE

Rajah Has Developed "Bad-boy" Rollie Hemsley Into One of Great Catchers of Day.

TEAM HITTING WELL.

American League Enjoying Wide Open Game for First Time in Years.

(By Herbert W. Barker, Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Miracle Man of the major league campaign is none other than our old friend, Rogers Hornsby, baseball's stormy petrel extraordinary.

He started the American League season with a bunch of fellows named Browns. To-day, perhaps by sheer force of the Rajah's indomitable spirit, St. Louis Browns are the big league sensations of the year.

A complete lull in activities yesterday gave baseball observers an excellent chance to check up on Hornsby's accomplishments with a team almost universally consigned to the lower regions of the standing in pre-season forecasts.

Going Strong at Bat

The "hitless Browns" of a year ago are walloping the ball to fine effect; the fielding has held up remarkably well despite some infield tinkering necessitated by the failure of young Alan Strange to hit and the presence of an untried rookie, Harland Clift, at third; and the pitching has been good enough to allow the club to cash in on its increased power at the plate.

Perhaps the Rajah's greatest single feat has been his handling of Rollie Hemsley, who "playboy-ed" himself out of jobs with Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Chicago in the National League. He has been the Brown's regular catcher from the start and now is leading the league in hitting with his healthy .414 average. The last batch of averages showed three other members of the club over the .350 mark. Deb Garms, who recently has supplanted Bruce Campbell in the outfield, was around .400, and Ray Pepper, slugging fly-chaser, and Frank Bejma, now installed at shortstop, in the .350's.

Team Hits .282

As a team the Browns are hitting .282, compared with their .23 mark a year ago when Sam West, at .300, led the regulars. More important, however, has been the team's run-scoring ability. They have tallied 215 runs in 39 games. If that sort of run-production continues, the Browns will score around 860 runs this year as against only 669 last year.

To-day Hornsby's men were in fourth place, only three games out of the lead. Since May 8 when they had won only five of their first 16 game, they have captured 15 decisions in 23 games, just under a .667 gait.

The rise of the Browns, and the fine showing so far made by both Detroit and Cleveland, incidentally calls attention to the fact that for the first time in years the American League apparently will enjoy a wide-open race such as has come to be the custom in the National.

Sometimes, I think that playing good golf is simply a matter of observing accurately. By observing accurately I mean seeing exactly what you are doing.

Few players have any idea of what they actually do during the swing, particularly as they take the club away from the ball.

Surely, anyone with their eyes open could follow the movements of arms, hands and the club in the very slow movement. Yet the majority actually close the clubface in this first move and thereby spoil the whole swing just because they are willing to think that the clubface opened whether it did or not.

Your imagination causes you enough trouble on the course; don't let it swamp you altogether.

Johnston's Tires smacked over Fashion-Crafts, 15-10, in an exciting men's softball game last night at Central. Fourteen Tiremen were injected into the fixture and eleven Fashion-Crafts before it was over. Foley, the losers' leftfielder, left the game in the third with a broken thumb received in a fall while chasing a fly-ball. The game was played under protest by Manager Jack Russell of the losing squad because of two Omemee players, A. McQuade and Parsons, used by Johnston's.

The Deck outfit piled up an early lead and stood off a late rally by the Clothiers. They received good hurling by Massey, who allowed only five scattered hits as he walked five and fanned one, till he hit a wild streak in the eighth, when Elliot finished. Chuck Butcher for the Russell crew struck out ten and gave only three walks, but he was nicked for a dozen hits and received poor support, his teammates kicking in with eight boots. The winners, on the other hand, fielded good.

Ellis led the victors with the willow, banging out a triple, two doubles and a single in five times. Dorrington hit a double and two singles in five and Crary, with three walks, hit one in two. Delahaye topped the losers with a double and two singles in four trips, Clarke got two out of four and Butcher clouted a double. Nice fielding was turned in by the whole Johnston infield, Allen, Creighton, Gardner and Clarke.

SCHOTT REGISTERS HIS 7TH VICTORY FOR TORONTO LEAFS

McQuinn Drives in Winning Run With His Third Hit For 4-3 Victory.

REDWINGS ON TOP 8-3.

(By The Associated Press)

A five-day bombardment, largely at the expense of Montreal Royals, to-day had carried Toronto Maple Leafs into a threatening position back of Rochester Redwings and Newark Bears in the International League pennant race.

On May 31 the Leafs were trailing the pace-setting Wings by 6½ games and the Bears by four games. To-day the margin between Ike Boone's sluggers and first place was only four games, while only three game separated them from Newark.

Since starting the drive from the first of the month, the Leafs have beaign the Redwings once and taken the Royals into camp four times in five games. The only defeat was at the hands of the Royals in the second game of Sunday's double bill.

Win in Ninth Frame

Yesterday's victory was a 4-3 decision achieved in the ninth inning when George McQuinn, Toronto first baseman, singled to send Ray Fitzgerald, who also had singled, home with the winning run from second. The Leafs took an early lead off Chad Kimsey with a three-run attack, featuring Gene Schott's triple, in the second inning. Thereafter, until the ninth, however, they found Clarence Fisher and Dutch Henry puzzles, while the Royals counted twice in the fifth and then tied the score in the eighth on singles by Ben Sankey and Hal King and Jimmy Ripple's long fly. Schott went the route for the Leafs to hang up his seventh victory of the season.

Homers Count in Wing Win

Home runs by Whitehead, Goodman and Carey gave the league-leading Rochester Redwings an 8-3 decision over Buffalo Bisons. Once he got past the first inning in which he allowed three runs, Ray Harrell was invincible. He shut out the Bisons with three hits over the rest of the route. A crowd of nearly 14,000 turned out to see the first night game of the season at Buffalo.

Elgin Nine Defeats Outlaws 14-8 Count

HASTINGS, June 5 (Examiner Correspondence). — Elgin defeated Outlaws 14 to 8 on Friday in the best exhibition of softball played to date in the local schedule. In marking up their first win at the expence of the classy Clapper-led clan the rural boys gave a much-better display than in their past performances.

Although McGee registered six strike outs, the winners placed their ten hits in the right spots. Richardson on the mound for Elgin only had one strike out but kept the Outlaws' hits well scattered.

DUKES TO PLAY DOUBLE-HEADER HERE SATURDAY

Motor City Club to Receive $25 Guarantee for First Games Away From Home.

Will Draft New Schedule.

At an executive senior baseball meeting in Oshawa last night, it was decided to accept the C.O.B.L. terms and re-enter the Central League, the re-entry to take effect at once. This decision was wired to Secretary Newt Thompson in Belleville last night, Mr. Thompson in turn sending word to President Max Swanston in Peterborough. The Dukes will play two games in Peterborough — both league fixtures—this coming Saturday, and a revised four-team quadruple schedule will be drawn up within a week.

The terms agreed upon were that Oshawa be given a guarantee of $25 to play their first game in Peterborough, Belleville and Kingston; all games after that to be under the C.O.B.L. ruling of a $35 guarantee by the home club to the visiting one. This first $25 guarantee to Oshawa will help that club get on its feet financially and it can then carry on on an even guarantee basis with the other clubs.

Both the Belleville and Peterborough clubs were agreeable to this, but Kingston objected to it. However, they were advised that not only would this settlement help keep baseball alive in Oshawa, being a real sporting gesture by the league, but it would also bring about a well-rounded C.O.B.L. of four teams. It was felt that the return of Oshawa after an absence of four years would be a good thing for baseball in the four cities concerned. Furthermore, Kingston was out-voted by 3 to 1, the Peterborough and Belleville delegates and the president favoring such a settlement. Kingston finally submitted via telephone, though still not entirely satisfied.

Plan Doubleheaders

Arrangements will be made in the drawing of the schedule to permit Oshawa and Kingston to play double-headers in each other's town, thereby eliminating two trips each. But Oshawa, after this Saturday, will play single games in Peterborough and Belleville, with single games in return in Oshawa. The Motor City club executive also requested that Oshawa be not scheduled to play too many games for the next two or three weeks, so as to ensure a full turnout of players—some of them being busy at work now, whereas they will all be available shortly when the rush season in General Motors is over. This request will be granted.

"I am glad it is settled," President Swanston stated last night. "It was the sporting thing to do and not only helps Oshawa but doesn't hurt our league any either, as the Dukes should field a strong team within a few weeks. Oshawa wanted altogether too much at first, but they became more reasonable and there should be no further differences of opinion. Newt Thompson and I will be both at Riverside Park Saturday to welcome them."

The Cogs and C.G.E. will be at it in an E.P.L. game at six tonight down at the Fair Grounds—that is if the farmers' prayers aren't answered and it doesn't rain. As a matter of fact more than the farmers are hoping for rain and the baseballers themselves wouldn't kick should it pour. However, this tilt promises to be the best there yet this season, neither team having dropped their opening game. Fans can get a load of how they shape up in competition and lay their bets accordingly. Personally, we're sinking all our spare cash these days into Inc. Ice Cream and Pop. And how that "buy" goes down these days!

'Twill be gals' softball eve over in Armour Field this gloaming, what with Keene and Maple Leafs opening the local lasses' season at 6.15 on the Ashburnham diamond. They're still waiting for the grass to sprout or something at the Bowl, and are playing hither and yon meantime. Armour Field is at the east end of Douro Street which is a block north of Hunter. If the game isn't so hot, and fans are, they can ankle over the hill to the canal or take a short jaunt to the river for a swim. However, we imagine the gals will put on quite a show.

• • • • • • •

Keith Foley, Fashion-Craft leftfielder, had tough luck in a softball game last night at Central. He had an "off" night and booted several. Then, trying hard for a tough hit after a long run, he tripped and broke his thumb—a nasty fracture. He was taken to the clinic and later to the hospital, and will no doubt be kept out of the game for quite a time. Usually, a fine outfielder and hitter, Foley will be missed by his team. Incidentally, young kids should be kept back from the base-lines during games or some of them will be getting hurt. A few days ago a softball player in Oshawa let a bat slip after a hard swing and two kids received serious head injuries, one having a broken nose and concussion of the brain. There have been a few close shaves here, too.

• • • • • • •

Johnston's Tires won the game, 15-0, and are perched high on top of the loop standing. However, the game was played under protest, Fashion-Crafts claiming Parsons and A. McQuade of Omemee belonged to the Lindsay softball district and should not have been used by Johnston's. At any rate, it was a good game and the Tiremen deserved the win on their pitching, fielding and hitting. Bert Deck has a smart gang now, one that will hustle 'e'm all. Fashion-Crafts didn't show their best form, Butcher being hit hard and getting rotten support, also.

• • • • • • •

But Bertram certainly believes in giving his players all a chance. We didn't have an adding machine handy—it being rather warm to tote one around these days, and anyway we seldom have anything to add—but offhand we counted some fourteen or fifteen players in his lineup throughout the game. He may even have had ten or eleven in the field at one time for all anyone knew. At least, Fashion-Crafts thought there were altogether too many men out there when they tried to wriggle a hit through that mob. When you get twenty-five players two umpires and umpteen kids all messing around in front of you—well it's no wonder scorers generally pass peacefully away along about forty-six!

Local intermediate lacrossers had a good workout last eve at the Exhibition Grounds, and will be back there at six bells Wednesday and Friday nights and Saturday afternoon at three. The juniors will practice down there Tuesday and Thursday evenings at six and at three Saturday afternoon. Everyone interested is asked to come out as games start in two weeks time. This lacrosse note was clipped from The Star last p.m.: "The cry from the east which resulted in the O.A.L.A. sending Fred Waghorne, Sr., down to organize the Trent Valley section, had its official recognition at a monster meeting in Cobourg Friday night. Three groups have been formed . . . . This is a great stroke of business in a section of the province which only needs a little assistance from the parent body to get results".

City Council has decided to re-christen Stevenson Park "Riverside Park" as it used to be known. The Jas. Stevenson handle was a tribute to a former mayor and prominent citizen, but people persisted in calling the old ball grounds Riverside, and that name is more appropriate anyway. So henceforth 'tis Riverside Park—and oldtimers will take this as a signal victory. And now if the Council will just give us permission to toss umpires who annoy us into the river that flows by the park, even more of the old charm that was Riverside will be restored.

• • • • • • •

Oshawa is definitely back in the C.O.B.L. and will play a double-header—both games to count in the standing—at Riverside, this Saturday after lunch. It'll start sharp at 2.15, second game to go seven frames Oshawa's loss in Belleville May 24th will stand. The Dukes' executive tried to bluff a one-way guarantee for the season out of the other C.O.B.L. towns but the bluff was called. However, in order to give Oshawa a break—and it won't hurt the loop, either—Oshawa will be given a one-way guarantee for one game each in Peterborough, Belleville and Kingston. After that, all teams will play on an even-stephen basis. The schedule will be out early next week. We're glad it's all settled as the Dukes-C.O.B.L. feud was developing into one of those mother-in-law vs. son-in-law tangles that just go on and on, ad nauseam!

SPYING ON SPORTS

"GOSSIP AND SUCH

THE SPORT experts who rup the life out of Barney Ross rup the life out of aBrney Ross are now busily explaining why just the opposite happened.

* * *

A number of them, it is noted, believe that the reason McLarnin failed to shine against the young Chicagoan was due to a natural lack of incentive, the loss of the driving will to win which characterised the work of the more youthful Barney.

* * *

Not that McLarnin did not want to win. He wanted to, desperately. Fiercely proud, Jimmy knew he had the punch to put Barney away — if he could land it. And tried to put it over—but he couldn't.

* * *

And, now, say the experts, perhaps the reason McLarnin could not break through the Ross defense was the same reason that other great fighters have failed to continue winning in the latter years of a long reign. Time had dulled their spirit.

* * *

Which may indicate that these experts are much better guessers at explaining why than they are at predicting what.

* * *

Great fighters seem to lose their driving spirit when they have been in the squared circle as long as has Jimmy McLarnin. Punch and speed may still be there and they have the enormous advantage of ring-wise brains, but the old snap is gone. Maybe they are bored.

* * *

For them victory has lost something of its magnificent thrill. To them the adoring thousands about the ringside are just replicas of other crowds, many other such crowds, they have seen before.

It's probably true that no champion ever has the same blissful thrill reading about the victory bringing him the title that he had when, as an unknown preliminary boy, he read about his first knockout win over an equally unknown youth in some obscure, little fight club.

* * *

It's true of newspapermen. To a veteran a widely syndicated story or a magazine article under his name hasn't the kick that first page one by-line story carried 'way back in the dim days of cubhood.

It's true of football players. It's true of movie stars. It's true of those i n the other occupations, professions and callings which bring the performers or workers into the public eye.

So why shouldn't it be true of boxing?

* * *

It appeared to be true in the careers of Mickey Walker, Jack Sharkey, Bud Taylor, Tony Canzoneri and many other fighters who, when they still appeared to have everything they needed to continue their grand strings of victories, began to lose.

* * *

So maybe that's why Jimmy McLarnin lost—he just didn't have that youthful spirit which Barney Ross, years younger, has, along with many other great fighting qualities, in abundance.

Wrestling Last Night.

Portland, Me.—Steve Pazaza, 174, Hartford, Conn., defeated Fred Bruno, 175, New York, two falls to one.

It is a little early in the season to make any predictions—the boys have hardly hit their stride yet. In group No. 1 Dyer, Chesler and Howden are all tied with two straight wins, while in Group 3 Bob Hendry leads with two wins and no losses.

The greens are sure looking well considering the dry spell and we would humbly suggest that a little more rolling would not be amiss.

You know last week we mentioned about the smooth pebbles for the ditches; well we believe we are going to click on that one—we kind of got the president warmed up to the idea, and when "J. T." gets going, everybody else has to step lively.

Judging by the interest shown in this masquerade tournament for to-morrow night it looks like one big crowd. Remember, every body who plays must have a masquerade costume on. The draw will be made at 7.35 p.m.

PARK ST. WINS BY SINGLE RUN

Ousts St. James From Top Place of Bantam Section With 11-10 Victory.

GAMES POSTPONED.

Other church activities forced the postponement of the St. Paul's-All Saints' Bantam Church Softball League game and the George Street-Mark Street senior fixture last night. This latter contest will be played to-morrow at the Oval. To-night' games are: George Street vs. Trinity Bantams, at Queen Mary; St. James' Juveniles vs. St. Paul's, at Queen Mary—umpires from Murray and St. John's; and St. John's Juveniles vs. St. James' at King Edward Park—umpires from George Street and All Saints'. Lakefield United won from George Street Juniors, 12-11, in Lakefield last evening.

The only local Church loop tilt last night was the one in which Park Street Bantams pulled out a fine 11-10 nod over St. James' to oust the Saints from first place and make for a second-place tie by Park Street, St. James' and St. John's, half a game back of George Street. The losers yesterday threatened late in the fixture. Sanderson pitched good most of the way, while McMaster was hit more often. H. Campbell, D. Martin, Anderson, Leether and Henwood all hit well. LORD GLANELY'S COLOMBO HOLDS FAVORITE ODDS

Public's Confidence Outstanding Feature of Pre-race Discussions.

TRACK, HARD AND DRY.

LONDON, June 5 (C.P.-A.P.). — The Derby, greatest of flat races, will be run over the famous course at Epsom Downs to-morrow amid the familiar scenes that always mark this prime holiday of the year.

The picnic indeed already has begun. The Downs are thickly studded with the caravans and other temporary dwellings of hundreds of gypsies, showmen and other hangers-on. These did a merry preliminary trade on Sunday when thousands of Londoners swarmed the Downs to "get the atmosphere" of the big race and have their fortunes told by the gypsies.

Many days of hot sunshine and a strong wind have dried out the turf, causing fear that the track will be so hard as to spoil the racing. The hope of preventing such a catastrophe lay in the fact that the course is sufficiently covered with grass which, if untrodden, will give the horses a foothold.

The crowd's respect for the Jockey Club request "to keep off the grass" has done much to ensure good footing for the thoroughbreds. Although the course is very hard and may bother some of the contenders, it is not more so than in previous years.

The starting field to-morrow probably will number 18 with Lord Glanely's unbeaten Colombo an unshakeable favorite at 13 to 8, shortest price in many years. The public's confidence in this colt is the outstanding feature of pre-race discussions. His optimistic supporters decline to listen to cautious suggestions that favoirites have been beaten before and that Colombo may suffer a similar fate.

OMEMEE GIRLS AGAIN BEATEN

Electrics Enter Win Column of District Softball League With 28-17 Victory.

HEAVY SLUGGING.

C.G.E. girls stepped into the win column last night in the Ladies' City and District Loop when they journeyed to Omemee and battled the village team to a 28-17 victory.

The Electrics nabbed four counters in the first, and went on a batting rampage to pile in ten more. The game dragged to a weary close with the winners adding to their total in every frame. E. Evans started on the rubber for the locals but the Omemee squad got to her early and pounded in nine runs in the first two innings. She was replaced by Marg Snowden, who finished the game, pitching a fast ball that was hard to hit. E. Morcombe twirled six frames for Omemee, pitching fair ball, but her teammates gave a ragged performance, kicking in with several glaring errors and the C.G.E. runner were almost able to run the bases at will. P. Bigelow started in the sixth on the mound and finished the game but also proved unable to stop the winning batters.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

READ THIS FIRST

John Tait, stepson of wealthy Lady Tait, is engaged to marry Lucy Burnham, a widow. This is resented by Alysia Naylor, John's cousin, who has been making her home with her sister, Etta and her brother, Claud, at Tait's abode in London. Lady Tait sees her stepson talking with a beautiful girl revealed as Gillian Dundas, in the hotel lobby at Vichy where she, Tait and Lucy are stopping. Gillian, it seems, is blackmailing Tait for a past indiscretion. Back in London Lady Tait shows John a letter from her dead son's wife an Italian woman she despises, demanding money for her son, Lady Tait's grandson. Tait learns of the fatal shooting of his business associate, Lord Mills, for which his valet, Brown, is held. Tait had recommended Brown for the post. Reggie Claridge, Alysia Naylor's fiance, attracted by Gillian Dundas whom he met in Paris, follows the latter and a strange-looking young man in a cab. Miss Dundas returns to the station and Claridge follows the man into an apartment. He comes upon a human fiend sitting before a mirror. The stranger spies him, runs after him but Claridge leaves him behind. Tait goes to Lord Mills' quarters in an effort to have Brown, the valet, released from police custody.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 15

Dartmoor looked at Tait with those keen, blue eyes of his, but all he said was:

"The porter's well known to us. Respectable man with a respectable wife. They run these flats as service flats with a handful of dailies. He gives Brown rather a bad-tempered character. Says he's moody and drinks a bit at times."

"Liar!" snapped Tait.

"He says that's why Brown was being dismissed. As he was cleaning the stained glass of the door, a job which he is supposed to do himself, he heard loud voices from inside the flat."

"Loud because Brown is slightly deaf."

"That's what Brown says too." Dartmoor permitted himself a fleeting smile at the indignant protector before him. "But the porter says loud because of anger. According to him Lord Mills' voice was unmistakably indignant."

"No fingerprints on the revolver?" Tait asked after a pause. Many a detective officer would have refused to answer. But Superintendent Dartmoor never hedged. He wanted the guilty, not merely the unlucky.

"No. And it's not been wiped. Whoever used it left no prints, and that, Mr. Tait, speaks—slightly only—for Brown. For, in my experience, many a suicide has cold hands when he fires the fatal shot, but the murderer's hands are generally clammy."

"Yet, even so, you think Brown, with 8/30 and over in his pockets, would come back here to be arrested?" Tait asked.

"He would not expect the body to be found. But for the chance of its being the day the windows are cleaned, the corpse would probably have lain undetected for the rest of the day. Or at any rate for some hours."

Tait took that in silence, and after a warm word to Brown about seeing him through, left, looking very grave.

"I rather think we shall hear from him again," Dartmoor said, when, back at the Yard, he mentioned the affair to Chief Inspector Pointer, who had come in to hand over a report on a case which he had just finished. "He looked to me like a man who has a piece of information which is burning a hole in his pocket. Certainly he either really believes that Mills shot himself, or intends to take that line. And as he's a co-director of his, that's rather odd. Rather-er odd. But then Mr. Tait himself was odd. Very."

Pointer was putting his papers away in a filing cabinet. Evidently the superintendent was waiting for something, and wanted to fill in the time with talk.

"In what way, sir?" the detective inspector asked.

"That's just what I can't make up my mind about," Dartmoor replied. "He gave me the impression—impression only, of course, not opinion—that the death affected him tremendously, so much so that he wanted time to think over things. Afraid lest he might say something. I don't think he would have come near us but for Brown. Because of that impression of mine, I talked Brown all the time. And I'm sure of one thing whatever thought is disturbing him isn't connected with the valet. In fact ——" Dartmoor's own ideas were beginning to clarify in talking them over, as he had hoped would be the case. "In fact I rather think Mills' death had staggered Mr Tait and that he wants time to think out or find out whether something he knows, not merely suspects, should be told us or not."

"You say they're co-directors. Could that be the reason for the caution?" Pointer suggested.

Dartmoor shook his head. "I shall be very much surprised if it's not something that affects Mr. Tait much more than business would ever do. Unless I've read him wrong. If it's suicide, or rather since he thinks it's suicide, I should rather expect it to be some woman who is, or who he thinks is, mixed up in the tragedy."

"You don't think it was the valet, sir?"

Dartmoor was not prepared to reply to that yet. "But there are two facts that look as though some else might have seen Mills, and therefore been able to shoot him, while Brown was away. On a chair by a table near the window we found a glove. Not one of Mills'. Too small for him. Made, so the expert tells us, from Peccary-hog hide. Only one firm makes in England and they're not in much request. It may be possible to trace the owner. The glove was a right hand one, too small for Brown. Nor can we find its mate in the flat. Brown knows nothing of the glove, and assured us, when he looked around the room after we had taken it, that nothing had been altered, and he looked very carefully."

"What kind of gloves was Mr. Tait wearing or carrying?" Pointer asked with a smile.

"None. But this one that we found should fit him, I fancy, as it would fit me. I don't mind telling you that I dropped one of my own gloves on the place where the other had laid, just to see if he seemed interested in it. But he never glanced at it, let alone made any effort to pick it up. No, as far as one could tell by merely watching him, Mr. Tait came really, as he said, to help Brown out by giving him the best of characters. And also, as I said just now, with something—some knowledge or suspicion in the back of his mind which—to him at least—means suicide."

There was a short silence.

"When I asked him when he had last seen Lord Mills, he gave me an evasive reply. I didn't press the question, for I feel pretty sure he's only turning things over in his mind, before making an important statement to us. Nevertheless, I'd give a good deal to know where the mate to that glove is at this moment. It may have nothing to do with the case, of course, but apparently we can feel fairly sure it wasn't in the flat when Brown left it. . . ."

"And what was the other thing that bears out Brown's story?" Pointer asked. He was a tall, brown, youngish-looking man, with a grave face and fine dark gray eyes, of that shade that has no admixture of blue in it. They were the eyes of a man who would be guided by reason rather than feeling. He was a coastguard's son, and something about Pointer always suggested open spaces and wide horizons.

"The other thing," Dartmoor answered slowly, "were some smudges on the marble flooring just outside Mills' own front door. The halls had been washed just after Brown hurried out. The charwoman responsible is certain that she left it spotless, and, judging by the rest of the landing, she is probably to be trusted in saying so. The marks look as though some one had hurried in with dusty shoes while the marble was just not dry. They aren't prints, but they are smudges, and suggest that they were made by some one entering rather than by some one leaving Mills' flat. Now at this hour in the morning, the house is practically thrown open to people. Nor are they at any time fussy, I take it, as almost all the people have their own valet, or maid, who answers the doors. There are only two known keys to Mills' flat. One was on his key ring. One in his valet's pocket. The porter, of course, has a pass key. So that if any one stepped on the marble flags while they were still damp, it must have been Mills himself who let the visitor, or visitors, in. There were no signs of cocktails. And, by the way, Brown says that no visitor has come to the flat for a week, as Mills was away for that time. He, Mills, I mean, only dropped in two days ago, and was to be off early next week to join his family in Yorkshire."

Pointer now looked inquiringly at his superior.

"You're wondering why we detained Brown?" Dartmoor guessed rightly. "Personally, I always detain servants if there's anything suspicious. They're so easily hidden, and so difficult to find. But in this case—well, Lady Mills says that of course her husband didn't shoot himself—of course he was murdered and of course the valet did it. She very much dislikes the man apparently—judging by the talk I had with her over the telephone. She was so insistent that the A. C. was glad to hear we had our hands on the man. But between ourselves, Pointer, I shouldn't be surprised if we lift those hands very shortly. Certainly it'll need more than we've found out so far to make us really arrest him. Ah, here comes Dobbins ——" and the superintendent plunged into work again.

For Wednesday, June 6

The planetary configurations bearing rule on the affairs of this day have some adverse aspects both lunar and mutual. While employment is under fairly satisfactory condition for success or the preferment of superiors, on the other hand there is sign of certain financial loss, and also there may be difficulties about contracts, papers or writings.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year for advancement, promotion or honors in employment.

A child born on this day may make a fair success in employment but may have difficulties with contracts, documents or writings, or it may lose through unwise, reckless or extravagant use of funds. Although socially popular and gifted yet may lean to the unconventional.

Mr. William J. Tracey, Toronto, Ont.

"I do Solemnly Declare that I suffered so severely from rheumatism and neuritis that I could hardly walk upstairs or close my hands. After taking Fruit-a-tives for four days the swelling left my hands and knees and I was able to climb a ladder which I have to do in my work."

PROBE SWINGS TO DRUG STORES

Independent Retailers Attack Chain Firms and Combines Act.

TACTICS OUTLINED.

OTTAWA, June 5.—(CP)— Chain drug stores and their methods of doing business are the latest to come under the fire of critics before the mass buying and price spreads committee of the House of Commons. Representatives of independent retail druggists attacked their larger rivals with vehemence before the committee yesterday when R. P. Sparks of Ottawa appeared as their spokesman.

The machinery of the Combines Investigation Act was wholly inadequate, Mr. Sparks argued. Instead of protecting the public when it led to the Proprietary Articles Trade Association being declared an illegal combine it had worked against the interests of the public. That association was set up to combat the chain stores and to regulate prices, not to secure high profits.

He suggested a board should be set up with powers of investigation and decision in matters of trade. It would be along the lines of the Board of Railway Commissioners and composed of men of business experience and a knowledge of economics.

Chain store firms, Mr. Sparks, charged, endeavored to locate near an established independent dealer and then proceeded to undercut his prices. They sold standard articles at cost or less in order to attract customers But on articles carrying their own brands they exacted excessive profits and thus made up the balance.

PRESENT AWARDS THURSDAY NIGHT

Judging of Compositions in Humane Society's Contest Completed.

Judging of the compositions in the Humane Society's contest for children of the second and third books in rural and city schools on the subject "What it means to be kind to animals," has been completed Mrs. A. M. Young told The Examiner this morning, but the awards will not be made public until Thursday night when the prizes will be presented in St. John's Sunday school room.

Rev. Dr. Blagrave will be chairman of the evening, and it is hoped that all the children who wrote essays will be present with their parents. Short addresses will be given by A. Mowat and R. F. Downey, Public School Inspectors, and it is intended that the meeting will be concluded within an hour, in order that the children may return early to their homes.

Mrs. Young intimated that the rural children had done exceptionally well in this competition.

Set Central Bank Dividend At 4½ P.C.

OTTAWA, June 5. —(CP)— The dividend rate on Bank of Canada (Central Bank) stock will be fixed at 4½ percent cumulative instead of six percent as provided in the first draft of the bill. Two members of the Banking and Commerce committee had proposed amendments which would reduce the rate to five percent when that section was reached today.

Hon. W. D. Euler, (Lib. North Waterloo), maintained that five percent was not low enough in view of the fact that the present trend was for lower rates and he believed parliament should encourage that trend as much as possible. He moved a sub-amendment which would fix the rate at 4½.

Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, said the government was ready to accept the will of the committee in this respect and the vote was taken on the sub-amendment, which carried with a comfortable majority.

William Duff (Antigonish-Guysboro), the only Liberal to vote against the sub-amendment, suggested that the amount be left open and fixed each year by the directors as was the case with other corporations.

ARMS PARLEY DEADLOCKED

GENEVA, June 5 (C.P. Cable)— The steering committee of the World Disarmament Conference adjourned yesterday afternoon after failing to reach agreement on the procedure to be followed, split between recommendations the big parley proceed with deliberations when it resumes Wednesday, and the British contention it should be placed in recess while the governments themselves endeavor to solve the dilemma.

BABY TOOTH

BEND, Ore., June 5. (CP)—Larry Shattuck, 13, was confident he had lost all his baby teeth many years ago, but a physician convinced him he hadn't, producing a baby tooth from the boy's ear for proof. It is believed the tooth was in the ear for six or seven years.

LINDSAY GETS NEW INDUSTRY

Australian Syndicate Purchases Old Distillery Property.

MAKE WOOL TOPS

LINDSAY, June 5. (By Examiner Correspondent).—The announcement was made yesterday that Lindsay has secured another industry. Parties from Australia have purchased all the buildings of the old Lindsay Distillers, Limited, south of the river and will commence operations in the fall on the manufacture of wool tops. This is an entirely new enterprise for Canada. The promoters are thoroughly familiar with the whole wool industry, it is announced, and are confident that there is a place for such a plant in Canada. The necessary machinery will be imported from Great Britain.

The Kirkfield Stone Quarry, which has been idle for some time, is to resume operations. Men have been called off the highway to make preparations for the opening of the plant in a few days.

Former Teacher Honored

A former teacher at the Lindsay Collegiate Institute—Miss M. E. T. Addison, has been honored by His Majesty King George. She has been named Dame Commander of the Order of the British Empire.

W. J. McCarroll, aged eighty-two years, suffered serious injuries on Cambridge street on Saturday. He was riding in a truck with his son when it left the road. The aged man had a shoulder dislocated and also sustained other severe body injuries.

A pretty week-end wedding was solemnized in the Baptist Church when Miss Shirley L. Robinson, town, was united in marriage to Harley Overholt, of Cobourg, and formerly of Omemee. Rev. G. M. Holmes officiated at the ceremony. The bride was assisted by Miss Mildred Bentley, town. Mr. Ray Overholt, of Toronto, brother of the groom, was best man. The young couple will reside in Cobourg.

The funeral took place yesterday of a highly esteemed resident of the town in the person of Sarah Ann Carew, widow of the late F. C. Edmunds, in her eightieth year. The deceased, who was born in Emily township, was a sister of the late John Carew, M.L.A., South Victoria. She resided for a time in Peterborough. Her husband, who was well known throughout the province as a ventriloquist and magician. The deceased is survived by five daughters and one son. Interment took place in Riverside cemetery. Rev. Canon Marsh, rector of St. Paul's Anglican church, conducted the funeral services.

Lindsay Boys' Band has been engaged for Port Hope's centennial celebration on July 2nd. Lindsay Orangement will also take part in the Twelfth of July celebration in Port Hope.

Mr. Duxbury, Grove, beat Mr. Rigby, Kawartha, 6—3, 5—7, 6—4.

Messrs. Smith and Fletcher, Grove, beat Messrs. Holgate and Fanjoy, Kawartha, 6—2, 6—3.

Messrs. Dunn and Dench, Grove, beat Messrs. Langley and Shields, Kawartha, 6—0, 6—4.

Messrs. Hepburn and Gunn, Grove, lost to Messrs. Crowe and Sills, Kawartha, 0—6, 2—6.

Messrs. Braid and Hepburn, Grove, lost to Messrs. Cruthers and Emery, 3—8, 8—6, 11—9.

Mr. Strickland, Grove, lost to Mr. Donaldson, Kawartha, 3—6, 1—6.

SHIP MAGNATE BELIEVES FAR EAST WON WAR

(By Louis P. Lochner—A.P. Foreign Staff).

BERLIN, June 5 (A.P.).—Neither Europe nor North America but the nations of the Far East "won" the Great War in the opinion of Rudolph Firle, president of the Executive Bureau of the North German Lloyd Steamship Line.

Addressing a meeting of Cabinet members, admirals and shipping men on his return from a tour of the Orient, Firle said. "Asia for Asiatics has a deeper significance since the war.

"Europe and North America emerged from the gigantic struggle greatly weakened, but the Far East profited thereby," he continued. "Now the Orient is a land of unlimited possibilities."

Firle expressed belief that danger of war in the Far East was not so great as it seemed to Europeans because the United States "has withdrawn from the Orient" by embarking on a policy of independence for the Philippines; Japan depends upon United States for a large part of her exports; and because Australia and Japan are finding opportunities for the exchange of commercial relations.

Bloodhounds Loosed On Lost Lad's Tracks

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., June 5 (C.P.). — Finding of new tracks about five miles from Searchment led searchers for six-year-old Jimmy Wheeler to hope to-day that he would be found alive.

Lost in the wild bush country of Algoma since Saturday, the child has been the object of a widespread search, and to-day bloodhounds were brought into use. They were put on the trail of his tiny tracks, and his father, Douglas Wheeler, cook at the Sinclair Mine at Searchment, 30 miles north of here, is confident they will lead him to his son.

The bloodhounds were brought to Searchment last night from Menominee, Mich. Provincial Police constables Guy Carmichael and George Taylor of Sault Ste. Marie, are directing 100 men beating through the bush country and several airplane flights have been made.

DE LAVAL IS ON SUMMER TIME

Plant and Office Started Operations on Monday on Fast Time.

UNIFORMITY NECESSARY.

Both plant and office of the De Laval Company switched operations to a daylight saving schedule yesterday following the example of several other local industries. The majority of the company's employees is in favour of the move and business relations with the larger centers of Canada will be simplified, General Manager W. R. Breyfogle commented today.

The company will likely continue on the daylight time schedule until Labour Day, Mr. Breyfogle said. Informed that the Manufacturers' Association is going to seek a general adoption of daylight saving among the industries of the city, he declared himself in accord with the proposal. Due to the lack of uniformity in the matter considerable confusion exists in the city at present, he said.

COST OF PUPILS STIRS DEBATE

Havelock Board Send Cheque to Norwood for Second Time.

RAILWAY TAX RECEIVED.

HAVELOCK, June 5 (Examiner Correspondence). — The regular meeting of the village council was held in the council chambers on Monday evening, with all members present. Reeve Richard Sanderson presided.

A letter from the Norwood High School returned the cheque forwarded to cover what the village considered their share of the cost of educating county pupils from Havelock attending the Norwood High School.

Under a certain section of the School Act, the local council claims they are not responsible for the cost of two pupils from here who could attend the local continuation school. The Norwood board on the other hand claims that since these two pupils came to them of their own free will and are taking music and agriculture, that Havelock is responsible.

As a result of a long discussion of the subject, the council as a whole thought they were exampt under the same section of the High School Act, and on motion of Councillors Hooper and Johnston, a cheque for the village's share was ordered forwarded again. The council prefer to have the Norwood board take any action that might be necessary.

A letter from G. N. Gordon in connection with the seizing of chattels on the Patterson property gave the council another knotty problem for consideration of the council. Only four items of the shop were seizable, and these were tools of the trade and a letter giving consent to seize would be necessary. No action was taken on Mr. Gordon's letter.

A letter from the Federal Railway Board of Canada said the railway tax due the village was $70.38, and according to the Dominion census of 1933, the population of the village was 1,173. This meant the amount assessable for the Hospital Board was $70.38, or by a strange coincidence the two amounts were the same.

The matter of a request by a local resident for a payment of the Foley estate was left in the hands of the clerk, who will make out a cheque for $5.

Ben Sarginson waited on the council regarding the painting of the doors of the fire hall, the jail door and the new fire escape at the west side of the Town Hall. After considerable discussion and bargaining he was finally given the job on motion of Councillors E. W. Seeney and Joe Johnston at twenty-five cents an hour. The village will furnish the paint.

On motion of Councillors F. J. Hooper and A. Spencer, the insurance policy carried by J. W. Holcombe was ordered renewed and the $1,000 adjustment made. This transfers that amount from the coverage on the hall to contents.

John Kinnaird then presented his report on relief. On motion of Councillors Seeney and Spencer, the council adjourned, to go into Court of Revision, when half a dozen or so ratepayers were present.

SERVICES HELD BY MADOC W.M.S.

Members of Oxford Group in Belleville Give Stirring Testimonials.

PASTOR IS ABSENT.

MADOC, June 5. (Examiner Correspondence). — On Sunday, June 3rd, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. G. W. Rivers at the Bay of Quinte Conference in Brockville, the morning services were, as is usual on Conference Sunday, in the hands of members of the Women's Missionary Society in Trinity United Church.

These ladies sponsored a Worship service under the leadership as their leader declared "a cross section of the members of the Oxford Group Movement in Belleville". Introduced by Mrs. Rivers the program for the morning was given over to these leaders of the Oxford Group after the usual devotional exercises. Mr. Abbott sang "My God, My Father, While I Stray" very effectively, after which each member of the group of six gave most fervent testimony as to the reality and real strength of the work in his or her own life. The first to bear testimony was Miss Lillian Hart of the Belleville Public School staff and one of our own Madoc girls.

As the hearers listened they could not be in any doubt as to the sincerity and real feeling of the speakers as they spoke of the requisites of absolute honeshrdlcmM solute purity, absolute unselfishness and absolute love demands, preceded as it was by a call for full surrender and willingness to follow the leading of the Master. One speaker dwelt lovingly on the value and peace gained by the quiet hour which is preferably spent in the early morning.

The demand for 'sharing' one's innermost life and thought with a personal friend seemed to most one of the hardest points, while the urgency of spoken testimony carried many of the hearers back to the days of the old-fashioned Methodist fellowship meetings and the Hallelujah Band.

The invitation of Trent Bridge branch to attend the summer meeting there on June 14th was accepted, and the secretary was instructed to advise the secretary to that effect.

Representatives from the branch will also attend the summer meeting at Norwood on the following afternoon June 15th. The appointment of a sick committee which was overlooked at last meeting was attended to and Mrs. Jamieson, Mrs. Iles and Miss Wright will act on that committee.

Plans which are mooted to have a convention area established in Peterborough for the branches in the immediate vicinity were outlined, by one of the older members of the local branch. This will be one of the questions discussed at the meeting at Hall's Bridge on Wednesday next. It is thought that if the five counties surrounding Peterborough would unite it would be mutually beneficial, and the center for the convention would be Peterborough. Thus the district hereabout would be heard to better advantage, than at the Toronto convention.

After the business session was concluded a very interesting program was enjoyed. A reading 'Pansies' and 'Forget-me-Nots" read by Mrs. Johnston; a vocal solo 'Lay My Head On Your Shoulder Daddy' by Mrs. (Dr.) D. J. Holdcroft; and a garden contest were all much enjoyed. Miss Wright was the winner of the contest with eleven out of sixteen answers correct. She received a china cup and saucer as a reward. Mrs Jay Bedford was program convenor, and thanked all those who had contributed to the success of the afternoon.

A dainty lunch was afterwards served under the convenorship of Mrs. James Wilde, the assisting hostesses being Mesdames McCutcheon, Hubel, Miss Wright and Miss Seeney.

WINDSOR LAD WINS 155th EPSOM DERBY

$5,025,000 PAID SHAREHOLDERS IN CASH MELON

Auditor Reports on Investigation Into Robert Simpson Company.

Started With 1,375 Shares.

In 1929 Majority Shareholders Sold Out for $20,000,000.

OTTAWA, June 6. — (CP) — In 1898, Three men bought control of the Robert Simpson Company, Limited, Toronto—Sir Joseph Flavelle, A. E. Ames and H. H. Fudger— with 1,375 shares of common stock.

In 1925, through stock bonuses largely, the outstanding shares of the company had increased to 100,000 of which Flavelle, Fudger and the Cox interests of Toronto owned 85 percent. In that year a cash melon of $5,025,000 cut among the shareholders and further stock bonuses given which had a nominal value of $3,350,000. The relative stock holdings were not disturbed.

In 1929, the majority shareholders sold out for $20,000,000 in cash secured by bonds offered the public.

Details of the financial set-up of the Toronto departmental and mail house were disclosed today before the mass buying committee of the House of Commons by George Adamson, Toronto auditor.

The names of Sir Joseph Flavelle, former meat packer and industrialist, appeared often in the evidence. In 1925, when the $5,000,000 cash melon was cut, he owned slightly over 50 percent of the common shares. Accordingly he evidently received about $2,500,000 and still retained his shares.

In 1929, when Flavelle and his fellow majority share holders sold control he owned 38,000 shares of 70,323 affected. Therefore, Sir Joseph received over $5,700,000 in cash when he sold his holdings.

Founded In 1872

The Simpson store was founded in Toronto in 1872 by Robert Simpson and since then has spread over the Dominion with retail stores and mail order branches. In 1915, its mail order sales were $4,500,000 and in 1933, $7,095,000 after a peak of $13,668,000 in 1928. Retail sales were $9,034,000 in 1915, $15,000,000 in 1930 and $30,430,000 in 1933.

Mr. Adamson explained the Robert Simpson Company Ltd., was a holding company for Robert Simpson Eastern, Robert Simpson Western, Robert Simpson, Montreal, Keen's Manufacturing Company, Thompson Manufacturing Company, Paris Buying Company,

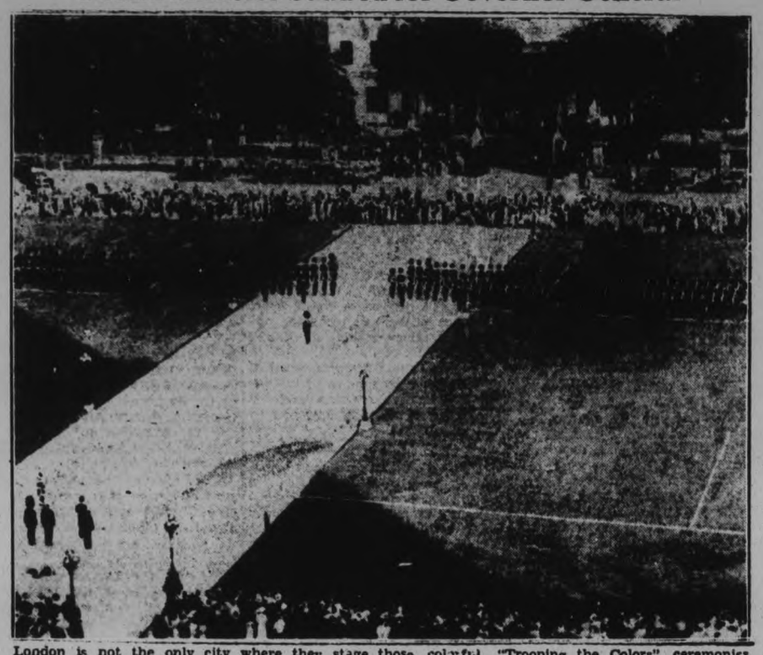
Free For 16 Years Burglar Recaptured

MONTREAL, June 6 (C.P.)—Free for 16 years after he escaped while being taken from the jail at L'Orignal, Ont., to Rockland, Ont., August Godier, 49, will be taken back to Rockland to-morrow to face a charge of being a fugitive from justice and to be sentenced for burglary.

After being convicted at Rockland, Ont., on a charge of burglary, Godier was being taken from L'Orignal Jail to Rockland to be sentenced. He escaped from custody in May, 1918, while the transfer was being mtde. His partner in the robbery for which he had been convicted was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

Godier, who was arrested by police here a month ago, declared he had come to Montreal immediately after his escape and had never been in any kind of trouble. He had been following his trade of being a painter, he stated.

Prime Minister Subbed for Governor-General



London is not the only city where they stage those colorful "Trooping the Colors" ceremonies. Here is a scene from Ottawa when the Governor-General's Foot Guards paraded for the Governor-General, who wasn't there. Being indisposed, His Excellency was forced to call on Prime Minister R. B. Bennett to pinch-hit for him. Mr. Bennett can be seen in the foreground as the parade, which lasted well into the evening, passed before him.

Strange Malady Known to Medical Science As Leucocythemia Fatal to Young Woman

Victim of the strange malady known to medical science as Leucocythemia and for which no known cure exists, Mildred Abbie Harrison passed away at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Harrison, Lot 17, Concession 5, Smith Township, last evening.

Only 22 years of age, the deceased was stricken with the fatal disease some weeks ago, since which time her system had gradually been accumulating an excess of white corpuscles that virtually turned her blood to water. The Lakefield physician who attended the late Miss Harrison declined to comment on the case.

The late Miss Harrison was born in Emily Township, and had resided for some time in the Lakefield district where she was held in high regard by the whole community. She was a member of the Fairview United Church. Her death is widely mourned and the sympathy of a wide circle of friends has been extended to the parents and to her four surviving brothers, Gerald, Jack, Barrett and Keith Harrison, all at home.

The funeral is to be held from the family residence on Thursday at 2.30 p.m., with the Rev. Mr. Miller officiating. Interment will be made at Lakefield Cemetery.

IMPROPER FOR C.N.R. TRUSTEES ENTER AMALGAMATION DISPUTE

Too Trustful

WENATCHEE, Wash., June 6 (CP) — Deputy Sheriff John Rausch, who set out to "get his man," explained why he returned empty-handed.

'Bob Garretson, who caught a man robbing his gasoline pump, asked the thief to wait outside the service station while he called the sheriff's office," Rausch reported.

Justice Fullerton Claims Co-operation to Date Has Saved $1,260,000.

TRACK TO BE SCRAPPED.

OTTAWA, June 6 (CP)—It would be improper for the trustees of the Canadian National Railways to enter into any controversy over the suggestions for amalgamation publicly advanced by E W Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific, in the opinion of former Justice C. P. Fullerton, Chairman of the Trustees, expressed before the House Committee on Railways and Shipping to-day.

Furthermore, Mr. Fullerton observed, Parliament itself, in the Canadian National-Canadian Pacific Act of 1933 had expressly provided that nothing in the act would be deemed to authorize such amalgamation.

Mr. Fullerton made his second appearance before the committee to-day and presented a brief covering three phases of the railway problem, co-operation with the Canadian Pacific, capitalization, and amalgamation proposals.

The co-operation efforts up to date had yielded a saving estimated at $1,260,000 in yearly joint economies Projects of co-operation to reduce duplication now under study involved abandonment of approximately 2,100 miles of line on 36 different project, while Canadian National economies contemplate further abandonment of 1,150 miles of light traffic lines in various parts of the country.

With respect to proposals that the capital structure of the Canadian National be written down, the chairman said this was not new. It his his own personal opinion that the capital structure was top-heavy. It contained interest-bearing debts incurred to acquire assets now obsolete or which had ceased to exist.

On the subject of amalgamation as suggested in public addresses delivered by Mr. Beatty the chairman observed that any attempt by

FREIGHTER HITS SUPERIOR LEDGE

Three Coast Guard Cutters, Two Tugs Answer SOS Calls.

BOW OUT OF WATER.

DULUTH, Minn., June 6 (A.P.).—Three United States coastguard cutters early to-day sped to the rescue of the freighter Mariposa, grounded and in distress with a crew of 34 off Lamb Island in Lake Superior, 50 miles east of Port Arthur.

Radio S.O.S. calls early to-day indicated the vessel's bow was out of the water and its tanks had been damaged, and that while there was no immediate danger, the craft would be in difficulty if the wind changes.

Capt. H. R. Searles, in charge of the Chicago division of the coastguard, ordered the cutters Crawford from Two Harbors, Minn., The Nansemond from Marquette, Mich., and the Deminole from Sault Ste. Marie to proceed full speed.

Capt. A. Kristiansen of the Mariposa sent out the S.O.S., and urged all possible haste, fearing a freshened wind. The freighter carrying a light cargo, was bound

FARM LABORER DIES SUDDENLY

John Barry Stricken With Heart Attack Near Norwood.

DIED IN HOSPITAL.

"Coronary thrombosis" is ascribed by Coroner Dr. H. G. Carleton of Norwood as the cause of the death of John Barry, 50-year-old transient farm laborer who died shortly after being admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital here at six o'clock last evening. No inquest is to be held.

Dr. Carleton who brought the man into hospital, stated that Barry had told him that he was born near Madoc, and had worked at various farms through the district as a laborer. On Monday while working for a Mr. Skeinkle in the Norwood district, Barry is stated, to have complained of severe pains in his chest. He managed to reach the farmhouse before he collapsed on the kitchen floor.

Yesterday Dr. Carleton said, Barry had sufficiently recovered from the heart attack that he was willing to come to hospital upon medical advice. "He told me he had never been sick in his life before", Dr. Carleton said. Before working for Mr. Skeinkle Barry is believed to have been working in Warkworth district.

Frank Cain, at whose undertaking parlors the body is resting, was this morning in communication with a Mrs. Meader of Toronto, who is a sister of the deceased. She expressed the intention of coming to Peterborough on Thursday morning, at which time funeral arrangements will be completed.

CRUSHING UPSET SEES FAVORITE IN THIRD PLACE

Hitherto Unbeaten Colombo Nosed Out of Second By French Colt Easton.

19 GO TO POST.

Over Half Million Race Fans Stunned as England's Best Loses.

EPSOM DOWNS, England, June 6. — (C. P. Cable) — Scoring a smashing upset, Windsor Lad won the 155th running of the Derby today.

The French-bred colt Easton raced into second place and the hitherto unbeaten Colombo, hottest favorite in years was third.

Windsor Lad, owned by the Maharaja of Rajpipla, administered a decisive trouncing to Lord Glanely's Colombo, who took his first defeat in nine starts. Easton, second to Colombo, in the classic two thousand guineas, also got revenge on the Glanely crack.

The race was run over extremely hard going. Nineteen went to the post, with Colombo strong favorite at slightly less than 2 to 1.

Windsor Lad had been third or fourth choice, behind Colombo, Easton and Umidwar.

More than half a million people were stunned by the defeat of Colombo, who had been called the best colt in England since Isinglass, forty years ago.

Windsor Lad paid 15 to 2, Easton 100 to 9 and Colombo 11 to 8, the latter's odds having further shortened sharply overnight.

Wins By Length

The winner had a length margin at the finish of the gruelling up and down mile and a half of the historic Derby course. In turn, Easton beat Colombo out of the place by a neck.

In view of Colombo's dominance in the meeting there was special place betting in which Windsor Lad was at 13 to 8, and Easton proportionate.

Easton, for whom Lord Woolavington paid Ralph Strassburgher of Philadelphia $75,000 after the colt had run a good race behind Colombo in the Guineas, was well beaten by the winner.

Charlie Smirke had the mount on Windsor Lad, a colt by Blandford out of Resplendent, who could win only one of his three starts as a juvenile.

Gordon Richards, record-breaking jockey of last season, rode Easton for Lord Woolavington and the veteran Johnstone had the mount on Colombo.

Tiberius Fourth.

Sir Abe Bailey's Tiberius finished fourth.

Admiral Drake, the second French horse in the classic, was unplaced, as was Bondsman, running for William Woodward of the United States, and the Irish colt Rathmore.

Windsor Lad, bred in Ireland, equalled the Derby course record of 2:34 made by Hyperhon last year, aided by the lightning fast condition of the track. He was sent into command by Smirke after lying off the pace in the hard uphill drive to the finish and won easily.

Colombo was never in front at any stage of the journey. He raced well up, but in the home stretch went wide as Windsor Lad surged forward, then dropped back.

At the mile post Mediaeval Knight was in front, having set the pace since the field settled down. At Tattenham Corner he was displaced by Tiberius, who was in front of Windsor Lad, Mediaeval Knight and Colombo. In the final drive Windsor Lad went in the lead over Easton, while Colombo hung on in third place.

Perspiring humanity will welcome Walter Peters' announcement that "the worst of the heat wave is over." While the thermometer had climbed to 90 degrees shortly after two o'clock this afternoon, the weatherman predicted that more endurable temperatures will prevail to-night and to-morow.

The minimum overnight temperature was 67 degrees, while yesterday's maximum thermometer reading was 91 degrees.

CHARLESTON, W.Va., June 6 (CP)—The woman who dances on spindly-heeled shoes is really resting, the West Virginia Osteopathic Society was told.

"When a woman puts on high-heeled slippers and goes out to dance she is giving her feet a beneficial treat," said Dr. H. E. Clybourne, of Columbus, O.

"The change to high-heeled slippers changes the muscular pull of all the muscles and gives the feet a rest."

NO INFORMATION ON RAIL LINES TO BE CLOSED

Will Stir Up Uneasiness, Manion Replies to Request for Areas.

"RAILS OUT OF POLITICS."

"Can't Be Done," Says Hanson—Move Will Hurt Private Member.

OTTAWA, June 6 (CP) — The Canadian National management did not propose to give out in advance information as to the abandonment of lines, the Commons Committee was told to-day by C. P. Fullerton, chairman of the board of trustees. The question was raised by Thomas Reid (Lib., New Westminster).

Earlier, Mr. Fullerton had told the committee that the plans now under advisement invoved joint abandonment of 2,100 miles of ine abandonment of 2,100 miles of the National alone of 1,150.

"Is there any reason why the public should not be advised what lines the railway contemplates abandoning?" asked R. B. Hanson (Cons., York-Sunbury).

"I think there is a good reason " replied Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways. "If you spread out the list under consideration you will stir up a terrible uneasiness and discontent. The Government and management will be inundated with protests and possibly the proposals would not all be carried out."

"Who is going to suffer?" exclaimed Mr. Hanson. "It will be the private member of Parliament who will have to carry the millstone. He's blamed if he cannot retain the line, and many a man will go down to defeat on that count. He should be advised in advance so that he can prepare to meet the situation and try to look after his constituents."

"We're trying to keep the railways out of politics," Peter McGibbon reminded the committee.

"You can't keep it out of politics," retorted Mr. Hanson. "Public opinion won't let you."

Speeder Passes Cop And Fine Is Levied

When a speed cop passes a motorist it is a mere nothing, but when a motorist passes a speed cop it usually results in a fine. And so it did to-day in Magistrate Langley's traffic court.

A. D. Langdon of Columbia County, N.Y., failed to notice the khaki clad figure of Highway Patrol Officer A. E. Hornick astride his motorcycle on Highway 28 the other day and raced past him at 60 miles an hour. "He was the nicest American I have ever met on the road," Constable Hornick said. The fine was $10 and $3.75 costs.

Wilfred Huggins, South Monaghan, entered a guilty plea to operating a car without a driver's permit and was fined $10 and $3.25 costs. Jack Rowland, R.R. 2, Peterborough, pleaded guilty to having no driver's permit and also to operating a car with faulty brakes. His fines totalled $20 and $3.75 costs.

GEORGIAN BAY SLIDE.

OWEN SOUND, Ont., June 6. — (C.P.).—Huge boulders, some of them as large as an eight-room house, are lying along the edge of Georgian Bay at Cabot's Head, the result of the recent landslide there. Capt. Norman McKay, of the motorship Normac, said here today.

Capt. McKay reported the slide recently but was unable to come close to shore until his last trip, when he took his boat in close. The rocks had torn trees from their roots as they plunged down to the lake, he said. For 200 feet there was white gash on the cliff, its face cleanly shaved for a distance of 75 feet.

BLAZING FOREST HALTS EXPRESS NEAR GOGAMA

Two Outbreaks Race Toward Each Other Despite 500 Fire Fighters.

WHOLE COUNTRY TINDER.

300 Homeless in Two Maritime Communities—Damage Soars Steadily.

(By the Canadian Press)

Serious forest fires which started north and south of the Canadian National railway tracks near Cogama, Ont., were believed today to be within a few miles of each other. Officials in charge of the 500 men fighting the blazes believed they might meet today.

The larger fire, which started north of the tracks, crossed them last night, holding up the Montreal-Vancouver train, number two, for 70 minutes. It was held out of reach of the flames and proceeded without any damage to equipment.

The two fires which threatened to close the gap between them and become one huge blaze are 20 miles northwest of Sudbury. Their area could not be estimated because dense smoke hampered Ontario air service planes in their work. Authorities said no settlement was in danger.

Only scattered showers were promised today to aid fire rangers. Forests have become dry tinder through weeks of rainless weather and authorities fear more serious outbreaks at any time.

Of the score or more small fires burning in the Sault Ste. Marie district none was reported serious today.

Continue To Spread

Forest fires which spread through thousands of acres of valuable timberland wiped out villages and caused residents to flee for their lives continued to burn in scattered areas of Maritime Canada and Newfoundland today, but less furiously than yesterday for rain in some districts held them in check.

A welcome downpour prevented flames from entirely wiping out the fishing village of keels in Newfoundland but it came after men, women and children were driven to their boats for safety.

Eagle-eyed forest protection aviators reported an outbreak on the international border between Maine and New Brunswick that had been raging unnoticed for a week, leaving in its wake a worthless stumpage of 40,000 acres. Fire rangers of the Canadian province and the American state went forward today determined to check the blaze.

$10,000 Damage.

Residents of Point Spain, Kent County, N.B., to-day summed up a total loss of $10,000 after four houses, three barns, a number of smaller buildings, and a square mile of valuable timber went up in smoke.

Fires in Cumberland County, N.S., which had raced through virgin forest land almost unchecked for a week were under control today. The little village of Polly Brook had been saved just in time by rainfall. Forest rangers saw less danger in smouldering areas in other parts of the province.

Strong shifting winds made the situation in Restigouche County, N.B., worse than ever yesterday, but weary rangers hoped for relief to-day. New outbreaks were reported in the Kedgwick and Upsalquitch districts, where serious damage has been done in the past week. Only a few scattered showers have occurred in the New Brunswick danger zones—not enough to be of much help to the army of firefighters.

Two communities, Fall Brook and Oliver, were wiped out by the flames, leaving more than 300 homeless, while scores of camps and summer cottages in remote districts were burned up like pasteboard boxes.

OWNER OF FARM HOLDS UP WORK LAKEFIELD ROAD

Robert Cox Refuses to Let Highway Works on Farm Until Settlement.

TAKING PART OF LAND.

Men Withdrawn When Owner Protests to Government Road Inspector.

Threatening the first man who trespasses on his property, Robert Cox, owner of a farm in Smith Township a short distance above the Nassau turn on the Lakefield road, has brought to a stop the construction of a projected short cut across his property which the Department of Highway workers were to begin this week. Mr. Cox declared to-day that he refused flatly the offer made him by the Department for the land, the short cut will require and that he will not let the workers enter on his land until a settlement satisfactory to him is reached.

Men Withdraw

Mr. Cox's first brush with the workers occurred last Friday when a highway gang under the direction of Joseph Gibbons, Government road inspector, and Wilfred Swanson, foreman, began to tear down the fences on his property near the turn into the Peterborough Ski Club. In answer to his warning, Mr. Gibbons withdrew his men and promised to bring Assistant Property Valuator C. Beldam of the Department out to arrange things, Mr. Cox relates. No representative of the Department has yet interviewed him, he states. He has secured W. J. A. Fair of this city to act as his counsel in the affair.

The settlement which was offered Mr. Cox was payment at the rate of $65 an acre for approximately two acres required for the new course of the highway. Mr. Cox declares that his grievance is not a matter of the money offered so much as the disfurgement which his land is about to suffer. The new road is to cut across a pasture he owns sixty feet to the river side of the present Lakefield road and he fears that the Department has no intention of filling in the ditches of the old road. The value of his farm will be depreciated $1,000 he estimates while the Department proposes to pay him only $130.

"It's not fair," he told The Examiner. "It's not the money I care so much about. In fact, I'd be willing to pay them $500 an acre if they would follow the old road instead of cutting off my pasture. Of course, I'm not going to buck the law about it. I'm willing to settle the affair by arbitration providing the men they have for arbitrators know property."

Wants About $450

Asked what nature of a bargain he intends to demand, Mr. Cox said he was going to insist on a payment of $450 or $500 in addition to the $130 for his two acres. He has been working for years to beautify the frontage of his property along the roadway and it will require a sum in the region of $600 to put it back in shape after the new highway is laid, he said.

Mr. Cox has a 70-acre farm west of the present highway and a 30-acre pasture to the east. The course of the proposed stretch of highway will cut five acres off the pasture land.

In addition to his land trouble, he has a further grievance with the Department of Highways, he reports. When the Department tore down one of his fences last week, a cow was allowed access to the road and was struck by a car. The cow was seriously injured and, on its account, he will seek $30 indemnity from the Department.

Unable to proceed with the work on the Cox property, the gang of 37 men on the scene is concentrating on cutting away the side of the steep hill around which the road at present curves immediately above the Nassau turn-off. As the Cox pasture is low, swampy land, the plan called for a long fill across it.

BOND PURCHASES ARE REVIEWED

W. J. Bragg, Liberal Candidate, Holds Meeting at Millbrook.

ASSISTED BY DUFFUS.

MILLBROOK, June 6.—William J. Bragg, Liberal candidate in Durham and member of the Legislature from this county in the last Legislature, reviewed some of the bond transactions of the Conservative Government at his meeting here last night in which he was assisted by J. J. Duffus of Peterborough. Vernon Hunter was chairman.

Mr. Bragg stated that purchasers of Ontario bonds had made a net profit of $20,727,000 over an above interest on Ontario bonds purchased during the Premiership of Hon. George S. Henry.

In January, 1931, the Government issued $30,000,000 in bonds bearing 4½ per cent interest which sold at $98, and which were to-day worth $108 to $109 each making a net profit to the purchasers of $3,102,000.

In June 1931 there was an issue of $30,000,000 bonds at 4 per cent which sold at $94.19 and were now worth from $101 to $103, showing a profit to the buyers of these bonds amounting to $2,643,000.

In 1932 the Government sold $20,000,000 of 5½ per cent bonds at $94.25 which to-day were worth $114 to $115, realizing a net profit of $4,150,000 over and above interest.

In July 1932 there was an issue of $30,000,000 at 5½ per cent on which the purchasers of the bonds made a profit of $3,200,000.

Last year, Mr. Bragg continued $15,000,000 bonds bearing 4½ per cent sold at $98, and were now worth $105 to $106, a profit of $1,800,000 to the buyers.

And in January of this year there was a profit of $1,500,000 on two issues amounting to $25,000,000.

Octogenarians Of Ottawa Wed

Romance budded as soon as they were introduced, and putting the younger generations to shame they arranged to be married after a four-hour courtship. Within a week they were married. The photo shows Mr. and Mrs. Houle just after the wedding ceremony in Ottawa. Mr. Houle, father of 13 children, has been a widower for a year. HUGE EXHIBITION TESTIFIES TO THE GROWTH OF PALESTINE to surpass the other in the beauty of style and design, stretches along the shores of the Mediterranean Sea. Tens of thousands of visitors are pouring into the Holy Land from the adjoining countries and from as far away as British India.

In geographic-economic terms, all this means that one of the great unexploited markets of the world—the middle east—which takes in all the Arabic countries and the Levant,- is on the eve of being opened up to modern methods of exploitation. Palestine is the centre of this vast development.

Miracle Been Performed

Ten years ago Palestine was a backwash in the stream of the world's commerce and industry. To-day it is emerging as a factor of major importance in world trade. Nothing less than a miracle has been performed. Almost given up as rock, wasteland and desert by the Turks, the Holy Land is one more a garden spot, "flowing with milk and honey" as it was when Sinaian desert. Prophecy is being fulfilled.

So successful is the Jewish reclamation of the once dying land that neighboring countries are inviting the Zionist organization to extend its colonization activity to their territorities. The president of the Lebanan Republic declared at the fair of Tel-Aviv, when he had come to take a look at the show: "Every Jew who wants to settle in Lebanon can do so and acquire as much land as he needs. We invite the Jews of the world to come and live in peace and prosperity in our country. For we in the Lebanon make no difference between peoples and races. We will respect every immigrant who respects our laws."

"Lebanon is a rock," says the Bible...."but it shall become as a fruitful garden." Prophecy will be fulfilled. Negotiations are going on and are near termination whereby fifty thousand dunams of land will be set aside for Jewish colonization in that country.

Arabs Are Impressed

A comparison between the very unfavorable economic situation in Syria with the mighty upswing in Palestine has not failed to make a deep impression in the Arabic press and among Arabic nationalists, who are for the most part determined opponents of Jewish immigration into Palestine. Syria is following the example of the Lebanon republic in inviting Jewish colonization. A preliminary agreement has been entered into by M. Schertok, chief of the Zionist executive in Palestine, and the French authorities in Syria, whereby the Jewish colonization bodies acquire an option on a block of several hundred thousand dunams of fertile land, the Btecha valley, situated in south Syria. The Jews, however, make the stipulation that settlement in Syria must not only be by invitation of the French authorities, but must have the full approval of the social organizations representing the Arabic people.

Twenty years ago there was no Tel-Aviv. To-day there is a city nearing the 100,000 mark. Last year the holding of a fair was still in doubt. Red hills of arid sand marked the spot where a magic city of sixty pavilions and a midway with several hundred selling booths stands to-day. Richard Kauffmann, one of the most advanced architects of Germany, a former professor at the world-famous Bau-Haus (Architectural College) of Dessau, is the creator of the fair ensemble. "It was a difficult job," Dr. Kauffmann writes me, "to safeguard the architectural unity of the ensemble of the buildings which were to represent so many different nations and house such a diversity of material. We sought to express something of the character of each people in the style of the buildings and we succeeded in doing this and yet not depart from 'eine einheitliche architectonische Linie,' that is, preserve the spiritual unity of the whole."

Huge Exposition

Forty miles of street and sidewalk were laid out for the Levant fair. Six hundred tons of steel were used in the buildings, and 2,580 tons of cement. The wood used in construction could not have been shipped on a twenty mile long freight train. A hundred thousand square yards of cement were laid for squares. Eighteen thousand monumental arc-lights were installed. And the whole area was provided with a modern system of electricity, water-mains, telephone, telegraph and radio. And this was done in less than eight months' time. The fair opened on the dot with all the buildings complete and the exhibit of 51 nations in their place.

"The most significant feature of all was the zeal, nay, the love, with which the young Jews did the hardest work," so writes Misrad Kabiani, who was in charge of construction.

Building walls of their own!

Becoming Industrial

Although Palestine remains predominantly an agricultural land, industry is so rapidly forging ahead, that the main building at the Levant fair, a six-storey tower, is completely devoted to showing what products are being made in the Holy Land at the present time. I am inundated with letters from Palestine this week, from engineers, agricultural workers, scientists, doctors and one from Mayor Dizengoff of Tel-Aviv, telling me of the magnificent exposition "which shows," write one man, "how far Palestine has progressed in the short time that you have been away."

I did not need these letters to tell me that Palestine is on the upward grade. But I am glad for the sake of Israel that there is at least one land in the world—his own land, Eretz Israel—where the Jew may live in peace and security and where he has begun, which is not possible anywhere else on earth, to work out his own destiny according to his own national genius and character, and to set the stamp of a Hebraic renaissance on the manifestations of a new corporate Jewish life.

Foster Mother

HAVELOCK, June 6. (Examiner Correspondence). — As Fred Kellar, the proprietor of Restawhile summer hotel at Healey Falls was motoring along a road near his home recently with his young son Jerry they observed a partridge hurrying ahead of the car, following a zig zag course. Unfortunately the bird got under one of the wheels and was killed.

The youngster looked back and saw it lying in the road, and called out to his father that it was a mother partridge with a covey of young, which were running about the dead mother bird. Taking them home Mr. Kellar placed them in a chicken run with an old hen.

With joyous cluckings the hen which Mr. Kellar had hoped would adopt the orphans, spread out her wings and invited the youngsters to gather in, and the invitation was gladly accepted. One of the little ones was accidently killed, but the other four are thriving under the tender care of their foster mother.

PRESS SUPPORTS GREAT BRITAIN ON DEBTS MOVE

Note Real Aid to Settlement by Mutual Consent Says Times.

EMBARRASSING POSITION.

Gets Rid of Humbug of Token Payments Comments Daily Herald.

LONDON, June 6 (CP Cable) — London morning papers to-day gave unanimous approval to the Government's stand in suspending war debt payments to the United States, although a note of regret crept into The Times' editorial on the subject.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express took advantage of the fact the Derby will be run to-day at Epsom to make its comment in the form of a cartoon entitled "Debtacon Downs." The cartoon depicts Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, dressed as a gypsy woman, examining Uncle Sam's palm and telling him: "Fortune smiles on you, Sir You will become very prosperous by losing a lot of money that would have ruined you."

This, appparently, was a reference to the British contention that payment of large sums of money across the world's exchanges would cause a serious dislocation bringing unfavorable repercussions to debtor and creditor alike.

The Times said the real merit of the British debt note to Washington is its help toward a practical settlement of the debt question by mutual consent.

Embarrassing

Nevertheless the newspaper maintained: "The present position is embarrassing to everyone concerned." It said many persons would be apprehensive concerning the note "gets rid of the humbug in the United States and its indirect effect" in weakening the general respect for sanctity of international agreements."

The Daily Herald, official mouthpiece of the Labor Party, declared the note "gets rid o fthe humbug of token payments." It added: "Cancellation which should be secured by agreement in effect is secured by default."

The Government, in the view of The Financial Times, demonstrated by the note that it regards as meaningless any stigma the United States Congress might seek to attach to it under the Johnson Act.

Appeal Is Allowed In Peterboro' Case

TORONTO, June 6. — The Court of Appeal at Osgoode Hall yesterday allowed the appeal of Isabelle de Carlo, domestic of Peterborough, against a judgment by the late Judge Huycke and decided that George Voss of North Monaghan was the father of a child born to Miss de Carlo. There were affidavits in this case deposing that when the case was heard by the late Judge, J. A. O'Brien, counsel for Voss, had guided his client when he was giving evidence by shaking his head and raising his hand.

The court yesterday referred the matter to the County Judge to determine the amount Voss must pay.

HENRY PREDICTS OVER 60 SEATS FOR HIS PARTY

Sees Liberals Toppling "Like Tower of Babel" on Divided Policy.

ATTACKS SLAGHT.

Asks Broker to Deny He Received $250,000 Defending Certain Brokers.

(By Ernest Burritt, C.P. Staff Writer.)

BROCKVILLE, Ont., June 6 (C.P.). — Confident his Conservative Government would be returned to power in the Ontario election of June 19 with "between 60 and 65" of the 90 Legislature seats, Premier George S. Henry left Brockville today for Kingston to continue his election campaign in this section of the Provice.

The Premier expressed confidence of victory at a meeting in the New Theatre last night, and predicted the Liberal Party, because of its "divided policy," would topple "like the Tower of Babel."

He said the Liberal Party "has nothing" to offer the electors of Ontario, and if it were elected to power the Government would be unable to fulfill "the wild promises" which he claimed were being made by the Leader, Mitchell F Hepburn.

"Realising the desperateness of its situation," said the Premier, "the Opposition is resorting to scares of all kinds in an effort to discredit the present administration. But I believe the electors have too much common sense to put their trust and hope in an opposition that is blowing a half-dosen different ways at the same time."

Goes After Slaght.

Premier Henry, taking the platform occupied the night before by Mr. Hepburn and Arthur G. Slaght, K.C., of Toronto, attacked the two Liberals along with Senators A. C. Hardy and George P. Graham of Brockville.

Mr. Slaght, he declared, had been "posing in the role of a friend to the common people," and Mr. Henry said "of all the men in the province there is none which ill fits that role more than Arthur Slaght."

It had been suggested the Toronto barrister was being paid for the campaign speeches on behalf of the Liberal Party, Mr. Heiry said, but the Premier said "I don't suppose he is—at present." He said he had no doubt, however, Mr. Slaght would get "his reward" if the Liberal Party is victorious "easily to the tune of $5,000 for his speech." The Premier charged Mr. Slaght drew $30,000 for services "as a side-

Currency used was credit slips issued by the prison commissary.

Kirk Wins Appeal Will Get New Trial

TORONTO, June 5.—(CP)—Court of Appeal at Osgoode Hall today allowed the appeal of Creighton R. Kirk of Toronto, sentenced to 3½ years on a manslaughter charge in connection with the death of William Sim, father of Kirk's fiancee, Betty Sim. Kirk will be given a new trial.

The Appeal Court held that Mr. Justice H. T. Kelly, the trial judge had erred in not instructing the jury to consider whether Sim had not died a natural death at his home last November. Evidence at the trial was that Kirk and Sim had fought when Kirk broached the subject of his marriage to Betty Sim. Sim was found dead later.

MURDER IS LAID TO 4 BROTHERS

Indian Eye-witness Describes Fatal Fight at B. C. Reserve.

FLASHLIGHT, CLUB USED.

MERRITT, B.C., June 6 (C.P.).—Four Indian brothers, Richardson, Eneas, Alex. and Joseph George, were named by a coroner's jury today as the slayers of Dominion Indian Department Constable F. H. Gisbourne.

Gisbourne and British Columbia Provincial Police Constable Percy Carr were slain May 23 near the Canford Indian Reserve, and their bodies thrown into the Nicola River. Gisbourne's body was recovered.

Three of the brothers, Richardson, Eneas and Alex., have been charged with murder, and will be given preliminary hearing Thursday. Joseph is in hospital here with a fractured skull.

Joseph Edwards, a short, crippled Indian of Enormous build, gave a coroner's jury here Tuesday night an eye-witness account of the slaying. He named Richardson, Eneas, Alex. and Joseph George as the men who fought with the constables when they visited the reserve to probe the stabbing of the wife of Eneas George.

Richardso nstruck Gisbourne five times on the head with a flashlight, and later with a club, Edwards stated, describing the blows. He died there. Gisbourne was the son of Dr. F. H. Gisbourne, chancellor of the Anglican Diocese of Ottawa.

In the fight Joseph George went down and Edwards testified he heard Richardson say: "Since our brother is dead we can kill the other policeman and we die after." Witness thought Carr was killed cutside the reserve, and the bodies of the two constables thrown into the Nicola River.

Edwards, during his testimony, said the day after the trouble, Alex. George gave him a pair of pants and told him to throw them into the river. He found a revolver in the pants pocket, and threw this into the river with the pants.

Moved by Fairman, seconded by Brooks that names as per list written be added to the assessment roll.

Moved by Doherty, seconded by Fairman that the roll as amended be accepted.

Moved by Kelley, seconded by Doherty that this court of revision be closed.

BOND PURCHASES

"These profits which have gone to the buyers of bonds represents a vast sum which should have been saved for the people of Ontario," Mr. Bragg said.

He contended that it was an example of financing which could not commend itself to the electors. In regard to the cost of constructing and maintaining provincial highways, Mr. Bragg said that if the Government had assumed the entire cost the counties of Northumberland and Durham would not have had to pay the sum of $600,000 as their share of highway expenditure. The Liberals, he added, had contended for assumption of entire cost of provincial highways by the Government, and this was one of the promises which M. F. Hepburn, Liberal leader, has made to the electors in his campaign appeal.

line" the last year the King Government was in power, and he asked him to deny reports that he received $250,000 from "certain stock brokers to keep them out of jail."

Small, Still Voice

Mr. Hepburn, the Premier continued, was talking of "blowing the lid off the stock brokerage situation but a small, still voice from Mr. Slaght said 'Go easy Hep, go easy just now. We may touch some of our friends'."

"Other papers had carried a remark reputedly made y a Liberal leader at Westport," Mr. Henry said. "Why did not Senator Graham print that slighting reference to me in his Brockville payer?" He also asked the Senator why Mr. Hepburn and his lieutenants should be permitted to make such statements—such statements the Recorder and Times refused to print."

The Premier also outlined "the fight" of Senatory Hardy with the Ottawa Journal, and he pointed to what he called inaccuracies made from the platform by Mr. Hepburn. But the Senator, the Premier, apparently believed the Liberal leader "could do no wrong" and could make no "mis-statements."

At a meeting in Westport near Brockville, said Mr. Henry, "one of the Liberal speakers described me as 'not being worthy to tie the shoe lace of Mr. Hepburn.' Why did not Senator Graham print that slighting reference to me in his Brockville paper? The other papers carried it. Why, I ask the Senator, should Mr. Hepburn and his lieutenants be permitted to make such statements as that; statements which the Brockville Recorder and Times refused to print."

"Hepburn Can Do No Wrong."

A letter to the Ottawa Journal by Senator Hardy upholding Mr. Hepburn, was recalled by the speaker, who said the Senator apparently believed the Liberal Leader could "do no wrong," and could not "make misstatements."

"Well, I'd like to tell the Senator," the Premier continued, "that Mr. Hepburn said our debt increased $100,000,000 last year when the actual increase was $21,000,000. Mr. Hepburn has stated the Chippewa power development cost $150,000,000 when the price was $77,000,000. These are only two deliberate misstatements that I point out to the Senator. And because Mr. A. E. Gaby, chief engineer of the Hydro, took ocasiol to reveal Mr. Hepburn's inaccurate statement regarding the Chippewa development, Mr. Gaby is now slated by the Liberal Leader to head the parade of public servants which he says he will fire if he is elected."

are pledged to proclaim the beer and wine legislation, approved at the last legislature session.

Attorney General W. H. Price stated in a Dundas address that the legislation would be proclaimed by July 1 if the present government attained power in the elections. Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader, told a Cornwall meeting last night if his party was elected he would "proclaim the measure at once."

The Conservative government already has completed its machinery to implement the measure, it is learned. Numerous hotel-keepers have sought information on the question and have been informed by the government the course they will be required to follow when the legislation is proclaimed. Mr. Hepburn also declared his party had completed preparations.

Harney McLellan, a 65-year-old relief worker at Road Camp 122 near Bellevue, Alta., probably wishes he had accepted the $8,000 offered him for a half share of his ticket on Umidwar, one of the second choices in the betting. McLellan refused and gets only $2,570. Fred C. Blampied, Montreal, accountant, also held a ticket on Umidwar and as far as was known, sold no part of it.

15 Injured In Red Battle At Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, June 6. — (CP).—Communists and Nationalist party adherents counted their injured at 15 to-day in fights originating in friction of long standing. Seven others are under arrest charged with "taking part in an affray" following a clash between groups of the two parties at a meeting here.

The demonstration took place when a small group of Nationalists objected to demands of Communists to vacate their meeting place Tuesday night. Police arrived to dampen the ardor of the more belligerent but not before several were injured. The majority received only superficial hurts.

Music In Schools Adopted By Board

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, June 6.—At a meeting of the school board held on Friday evening last Mr. Renaud of Norwood was present to discuss the matter of teaching music in the school, and the matter was thoroughly discussed. The cost was remarkably reasonable and is reduced by the government grant, and the net cost to the school will be rather less than $300. The board decided unanimously to adopt the scheme beginning the first of September next. The demonstration given a few weeks ago by Mr. Renaud was a great success and the board was very much impressed.

KENNETH BAKER DIES SUDDENLY

Body is Found in Victoria Park — Coroner Investigates.

BORN IN CITY IN 1907.

After investigating the circumstances under which Kenneth Charles Baker, 27-year-old photographer was found dead in Victoria Park yesterday afternoon Coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young decided that an inquest would not be necessary.

Lying prone on the grass under some shade trees in the park in a restful posture, it is not definitely known how long the young man had been dead before he attracted the attention of passers-by.

Mr. Baker, it is learned, had been chatting with a friend in the park at about three o'clock and a little over an hour later Dr. J. M. O'Brien who had been summoned pronounced him dead.

Following the arrival of the coroner and Dr. Herbert N. Young assistant coroner, the body was removed to Belleghem's Funeral Home where identification of the young man was definitely established.

Held in popular regard by all who knew him, "Ken" Baker was the son of Harry E. Baker and Sarah Edwina Forsyth of 723 Bethune street. Born in this city on July 1, 1907, he had res'ded here all his life.

After completing his schooling, Mr. Baker entered the service of Fred L. Roy of the Roy Studio, with whom he worked for over four years before branching out into business on his own account with a studio in the Kresge Building.

During late months, he had been conducting his photographic business at his residence at 410 Dublin street.

At one time "Ken" played baseball in the City League, and also with the Cognawaga Intermediate baseball team.

Besides his sorrowing parents, and one brother, Halldean, the deceased leaves his widow, formerly Jessie Hill, and one child, Donald, aged 13 months.

The funeral is to be held on Friday at 2 p.m., from the family residence, 410 Dublin street, with the Rev. J. E. J. Millyard, pastor of George Street United Church, and Rev. William McDonald, pastor of Knox Church officiating. Interment at iLttle Lake Cemetery.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 6, 1934

SIGNIFICANT GAINS.

The reports from every quarter of improved conditions in Canada leave little room for doubt as to the steady betterment of the Canadian business and industrial situation.

One significant indication of the fact is the announcement from Toronto that for the first time in that city since May, 1932, the customs and excise revenue collected amounted to over $4,000,000 last month, an increase over May, 1933, of $857,280.

The total gain for the past eleven months was $5,159,702, and as another substantial increase is predicted for the present month, the total revenue is expected to be at least $44,000,000, compared with about $38,000,000 for the previous twelve months.

From Montreal come reports of a similarly encouraging condition.

There the gain in customs and revenue receipts last month was $2,074,437 over May a year ago.

This is the largest monthly increase in the history of the port of Montreal, except for that recorded in January, 1929, the banner year in Canadian trade.

The gain can mean only one thing, a substantial increase in Canadian trade generally; it implies more employment, more business and a general improvement in conditions great enough to warrant a considerable amount of optimism as to development in the near future.

RESCUING THE FARMERS.

The significance of the two farm relief measures introduced at Ottawa by Premier Bennett and likely to be supported by all parties in the House will be appreciated by all who know the handicaps under which Canadian farmers have been struggling, and who realize the necessity of a helping hand from the state.

This legislation is designed to aid the farmer who is burdened with debt, to keep him on the land as an efficient producer, as Mr. Bennett has explained.

The first bill, described as an act to facilitate compromises and arrangements between farmers and their creditors, will provide machinery by which the agriculturist who is in debt may secure an appraisal of his ability to pay, and in the event of his being unable to make satisfactory arrangements with his creditor, will have the services of a judicial commission which will effect a settlement on the basis of his potential ability to pay.

By this arrangement it is hoped to re-establish debt-laden farmers upon a sound financial basis, and then the second measure amending the Canadian Farm Loan Act will step in to make it possible for farmers so released to borrow on reasonable terms the cash needed to resume normal operations.

The twin relief measures offer a ray of hope to thousands of hard-pressed farmers, and will be welcomed in all parts of rural Canada.

The necessity for such relief is so apparent that it is not believed the Opposition in the House will place any obstacles in the way of a speedy passage of the legislation.

THE COUNCIL'S PROTEST.

In protesting against the cutting off of federal relief by June 15th, the local City Council is in distinguished company.

Hon. M. A. McPherson, Acting Premier of Saskatchewan, has already sent a strong telegram of protest to Ottawa, and Premier Bracken of Manitoba declares that the action of the Dominion Government in merely extending its assistance to June 15th "means next to nothing."

The situation seems to be, that Ottawa is hopeful that the provinces and the municipalities will be able to carry on relief operations during the summer, and that by autumn conditions will have so improved that it will be no longer necessary to make any further relief grants from the federal treasury.

It would be heartening to feel that this confidence is justified, but to most people it appears obvious that no matter how much the economic and industrial situation may be bettered in the next few months there will still be large numbers of people who will have to be taken care of under the relief scheme.

In view of that prospect it does not seem fair that the whole burden should be thrown upon the provinces and upon the municipalities, even if in the case of Ontario Premier Henry has already made the announcement that relief operations will be continued as usual in this province without federal assistance.

The City Council has done well to enter a complaint to Ottawa against the dropping of the Dominion Government's share of relief grants; its resolution will probably be one of many to the same effect.

THE NEWSPAPERS' PART.

The investigations that are being carried on by the Stevens Committee have already accomplished several things, not the least important of which is the fact that they have supplied a complete answer to the charge made by certain irresponsible groups that the press of Canada was controlled by big business, and that the papers of this country did not dare publish anything harmful to the interests of the larger industrial and commercial enterprises.

It must be admitted on all sides that there has been no evidence of this control or this temerite so far as newspaper reports of the evidence offered before the Stevens Committee are concerned.

The whole story has been told day after day without any glossing over or attempts to hide the facts.

It can well be imagined that if the press were really under the thumb of big business, as these critics would have the public believe, there would not have been the big headlines with which the probe evidence has been played up and the damning details that have been brought out during the investigation would have been suppressed or buried.

On the contrary, the papers of this country have given full publicity to the proceedings, despite the fact that majority of the firms whose interests suffered by the broadcasting of the evidence were big advertisers who contributed materially to the revenues of the press of the country.

Remember that the next time some agitator attempts to tell you that the "capitalistic" press "does not dare print the facts."

STRIKE WAVE IN U. S.

With all the ballyhoo, propaganda and patriotic appeals which have accompanied the New Deal since it was inaugurated by President Roosevelt, the results seem painfully inadequate. Shorter hours, higher wages and manipulation of currency have disturbed the economic situation without bringing about stable conditions. To-day the stock markets are just as sluggish as they were in the days of the depression. Industrials have made some advance, but there they have stopped. And one of the causes of the stoppage is the uncertainty of the labor situation.

There have been strikes for a year or more, but there are more to-day, or more threatened to-day, than there have been in the United States for decades. Rising costs have left neither the manufacturer nor the worker better off. Prices and wages are like the kitten that keeps running around after its tail and never catches up. The price is always just a bit ahead of the wages. But it is not wages that are the cause of so many strikes to-day. In some instances there are demands for increased wages, but the primary cause is—union recognition.

When workers strike for more pay it is often a healthy sign; a sign that factories are turning out more goods and making more profits which the employees want a share of. In the present unrest most of the strikes are due to the unfortunate section 7-A of the National Industrial Recovery Act. That section proclaimed the right of the workers to collective bargaining with employers. The American Federation of Labor contends that this means union recognition in every industry—the closed shop. Industrialists hold that it means nothing of the sort, and that they still have the right to maintain the open shop so long as they are willing to meet a committee of their own employees. The Government leans to the side of the employers, but seems to be afraid to come out with a downright, unequivocal pronouncement one way or the other. It is afraid of the powerful A. F. of L.

But the union leaders are demanding full union recogintion everywhere. Employers are afraid of union domination, so they resist, and these costly and sometimes bloody strikes go on. The Government has got itself into an invidious position, due to too hasty enactment of a gigantic, or series of gigantic economic measures, which required far more study and consideration than were given to them.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

TOO MUCH SMALL STUFF.

The election campaign has two weeks to run, and we are certain that the reputations of leaders and of their followers have already been sufficiently blackened, and the blackening has been done and is being done by the leaders and the followers themselves.

According to report there is a great deal of money available in this election. There is so much of it that those who used to think and act in terms of two dollars for a vote are out of the running. One candidate, we find, has been offered $1,000 to retire from the field, and in the year 1934 that is indeed a good deal of money. Of course, the name of the party making the offer was not given. But it was Conservative money that was allegedly offered.

Then we have another clipping here which tells of a speech by a Conservative candidate, in which he said, "It has come to me that one of the men in the city of Toronto who is backing Mr. Hepburn and putting up the money called him into his office and said, 'Here, Mitch, pipe down or you and I will have to separate.' And if you read the papers you will see that Mitch piped down."

If these statements are true it would mean that there is money available for this election. Great stacks of it. That form of campaigning is as old as the hills, but not as large or as lofty. In fact, it is very small, and the wonder is that those who put forward this sort of flap-doodle do so apparently believing that they are making a hit with the electors.

Supposing, for the sake of argument, that some person did seek to get a candidate to quit the field, or that some person did order Mr. Hepburn to pipe down, what difference is that going to make to the people of Ontario? Plain, stubborn truth is that the people of Ontario have not yet found their way out of difficult days. They are looking for strong men with strong convictions, and we do not believe they are in the mood to be fooled with the old methods which seek to show that scandal and trickery are abroad in the land.

We have had personal knowledge of political candidates around here for a number of years, and we have not yet found one who, around election time, had a pocket filled with easy money. We have known of candidates who, when the election was over, found they were expected to pay most of their own expenses. The political candidates we have around here are plain, honorable men, and we take it that the same rule would hold good pretty much all over the province. Then let there be an end to this slush and talk. Lay hold on the great issues and let the people of Ontario know whether or not they can expect the leadership to which they are entitled after the voting on June 19.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Well, two weeks from to-day and we'll know all about it.

No matter what any one else may be doing, the breweries are doubtless getting ready for the sale of beer by the glass by Dominion Day.

Radio election broadcasts might be made more intelligible if the announcer were to say "off-stage noises by so-and-so."

Up to the present stage the election campaign in this part of the province has been completely outclassed by the weather so far as warmth is concerned.

Mr. Hepburn promises to auction off the cars used by Cabinet members. Probably he'll expect his Ministers to travel around on bicycles.

A six-year-old Kitchener boy can read without being taught. But what baffles us is how he knows the pronunciation of those queerly-spelt English words.—Hamilton Spectator.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

READER: You take things too seriously. You must be a solemn fellow.

WRITER: I hope you don't mind if I disagree. I don't think I take things too seriously. But even if I did, how else is one to take thing? You can't laugh your way all through life.

READER: Why not? The laughers are a good sort and very useful, and they ligthen life beautifully for all around them.

WRITER: That's true, they do. But even a laugher, now that I think of it, may be a most serious person laughing because he sees into the heart of things.

READER: You're quibbling again; you're just trying to be smart.

WRITER: No, really I'm not. I think every man or woman MUST take life seriously. If you don't, you are frivolous. If you don't, you miss the cream of the jest or the joy of the adventure, and you never dig down to the bed-rock of living. You float on every vagrant breeze or an idea or an event and follow no charted course through the years.

READER: How can any man follow any charted course through this life? The forces in which he lives are so mighty and so ruthless that he is hardly more than a wisp in the wind or a leaf on the stream. He's fooling himself if he tries to be too serious.

WRITER: Nevertheless, a man or a woman should decide what is serious and what is not. If he is playing a game—of golf or football or bridge—he must take the rules serious, obey them, use them; he must try to exhaust every possibility of the game and enjoy it to the full. But he must not let it become the major element in his life. If he does, he is light-minded, not serious at all....My idea is that a man must be serious about life, but not take himself too seriously. He isn't particularly important, but some of the things he does and the thoughts he thinks ARE important.

READER: You remind me about that old saying that life is a tragedy for those who feel, a comedy for those who think. Do you agree?

WRITER: Yes, but everybody both thinks and feels. Life's a tragedy for you some days, a comedy for you at other times....I wouldn't have it otherwise. Would you?

READER: No, I wouldn't...But don't take things so seriously!

CHICAGO GRAIN

Sensationally low estimates of United States 1934 spring wheat production did much to bring about nearly six cents sheer rise in wheat prices today.

The steep climb of the wheat market was from a transient early setback and was associated with reports the Dakotas and Minnesota this season would yield only about 50,000,000 bushels of spring wheat, and that rains northwest had come too late to improve the crop outlook. It was also asserted that drought over the United States as a whole had by no means yet been broken.

Announcements that the United States would buy 12,000,000 bushels of corn for relief purposes was also a stimulating factor, and so, too, were reports that the price of gold might be increased.

Wheat closed buoyant at virtually the day's top level, 3¾c-4⅜c above Monday's finish, corn 2⅝c-2⅞c up, oats 2⅞c-3c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5 cents.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 6. — Cut down more than 4 cents in early profit-taking and stop-loss operations, the wheat prices recovered all their lost ground on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday, and ended ½c higher to unchanged.

Reports that rains had failed to effectively check drought in Southern Saskatchewan, coupled with heavy commitments from export interests, brought about the reversal of price trend.

New York and Chicago interests bought wheat extensively also, adding to the support that pulled values more than 6 cents over the day's low points at one time.

July wheat closed at 72½c, with October option at 80¼c. Foreign sales of Canadian wheat were between 1,500,000 and 2,000,000 bushels.

Cash grains spreads improved ¾c to 1c for better grades of wheat, and coarse grains steadied after early weakness to close with gains.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

BEAUSEJOUR, MANITOBA

The little hamlet on the trans-Canada highway, just east of Winnipeg, has borne three names. First it was Stony Prairie, later Burgoyne and then it received its present name.

It was still called Burgoyne when Mrs. H. D. W. Armstrong, of Toronto, wife of the resident engineer of the C.P.R. visited her husband at the construction camp then on the townsite.

After a few weeks spent there, Mrs. Armstrong prepared to return to her home, as the rough camp was not a congenial place for a white woman. As she stood chatting to her husband just before the train departed, she told him she did not like the name given to the place.

"And what name would you suggest?" he asked, banteringly.

"I think Beausejour would be an ideal name, for it means 'a place of pleasant days'." And Beausejoeur it has remained to this day.

A Thought

SELF-PITY

There are many things we think and do that are futile and stupid, and one of the worst of these is the amount of self-pity we give ourselves day in and day out. There is no need for it, no justification. However much people and affairs are against us, not all the self-pity in the world will help to get rid of the troubles.

Self-pity, if we are honest about it, always sounds like a measure of whining. Things go wrong, or we think they do, and we begin to get a feeling of resentment which frequently develops into an attitude of self-pity. If we let that feeling grow, our sense of proportion, and certainly our sense of humour, will be on the lean side. You can't pity yourself and have a right balance of things.

Many good resolves and wise decisions have been turned to so much emptiness by giving way to self-pity. Moreover, it affects our health, whereas a fine and vigorous fight will more likely put us firmly on our feet.—G. H. G.

Address On Europe Given At Meeting

BETHANY, June 6 (Examiner Correspondence) — The Women's Institute held their monthly meeting on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Herb Fallis, with a good attendance. The president was in the chair.

It was decided to hold the demonstration of articles made from flour and sugar sacks until the October meeting to be held in the Town Hall.

Mrs. Carscadden gave a very delightful talk on her European trip.

Following the service of refreshments the meeting closed.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

WHEN THE FIRST "MOUNTIES" LEFT

On this date, in 1874 a special train left Toronto with some 150 men recruited in Eastern Canada chiefly Ontario, for service in the then new Northwest Mounted Police. They were bound for Dufferin, Manitoba, to there meet the men recruited at Fort Garry. Permission had been obtained from the United States Government for the men and horses to pass through that country and so the journey was made via Chicago and St. Paul, thus avoiding the long journey by lake and portage which the Red River expedition of 1870 had to make.

The Toronto party was under the command of Lt.-Col. G. A. French, afterwards the first commissioner of the force, which, as his second in command, Major J. F. McLeod who was also commissioner later, the name parent of Fort McLeod and who gave the name to Calgarry, the second "r" having been dropped in the intervening years.

The train was abandoned at Fargo, Dakota, where the march to Fort Dufferin was begun. Among the easterners was a youngster, Sam B. Steele, who was to become not only commissioner of the N.W. Mp. but also commander of the Strathcona Horse in the South African war. He wrote home that the party from Toronto "was composed a fine, carefully selected and well educated body of men, with exceptionally good horses." The night after their arrival a storm swept the prairie and the Toronto horses stampeded, some of them running a hundred miles to the south in their panic. They were all rounded up save one, but after that those Toronto horses were scared stiff in thunderstorms and had to be carefully watched.

It may be worthwhile here stating that the scarlet tunic was due to Sir John A. Macdonald. The original plans was to give the men a dark blue or green uniform like the Irish Constabulary, but Sir John laid emphasis upon the fact that the Indians associated the red coat with the great queen. And that's why the mounties wear scarlet instead of blue.

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Edward Clancy,
Bobcaygeon, Ont.

The handwriting as delineated on sample for analysis represents a keen mind, it appears to work better on some occasions than others and your pen cannot register your thoughts on paper as quickly as your brain commands. It would be well for you to slow down a little and endeavour to segregate your thoughts, for they are usually intelligent thoughts, but if you continue to wear yourself out mentally, due to your haste, you will find that the most useful thoughts have gone from you. Engineering should interest you, and perhaps haste would be essential in this line of work. Haste yes! but thoroughness also. I do not desire to discourage you, for you appear to be destined to meet with success. Those disjointed letters show keen intellect, the shape and size of the letters illustrate ingenuity and persistence. The small formed letters depict reserve and a tendency to hide the true feelings. People of your type as a rule are fond of change and travel, they appear restless, because of their ability to accomplish more in less space of time than others, leaving time in which to ponder upon what next to do. Your number is 6. Your birthsign is Aries the Ram, you are ruled by Mars. June and July are your best months. Tuesday your lucky day.

Beatrice Rutherford,
Campbellford, Ont.

The handwriting on your sample for analysis with its tendency to lean forward in one direction, is characteristic of your dominant traits. You are impetuous and impulsive. You actually seem to 'fall all over yourself' in order to accomplish some little detail, which perhaps is not worth consideration. However, you are too good natured and must take life's little drawbacks and hard knocks with a smile. The signature shows that you are imaginative, rather reserved, critical and analytical, but not what might be termed obstinate, though yo do like to have your own way as often as possible. You are a steady conscientious worker anxious for advancement, but not too ambitious, prefering love and happiness to monetary recompense. You are careful in your choice of friends, and you enjoy the society of one really honest person, to that of many casual acquaintances. As you earn, so you spend, but you always seem to keep within the boundary line of debt, because debt is abhorrent to you. Certainly continue your studies either in school or music. Your birthsign is Scorpio the Scorpion. You are ruled by Mars. January and July are your best months. Tuesday your lucky day. You omitted year so I am unable to give your number.

Marjorie Sherin,
R.R. No. 4, Omemee, Ont.

Your handwriting indicates a keen mind, a propensity to indulge in sudden moods, easily irritated, and perhaps a little too sensitive. You are gifted with very clever and keen perceptions, and seem quite secretive, especially where your own affairs are concerned. There is a noted capacity demonstrated in the minute formations of your writing, which exhibits the alluring characteristic of one who can, as a rule turn a situation, no matter how serious, to one's own advantage and generally humor is created in so doing. You can be very biting in your remarks when the necessity arises, but because of a natural-born, inherent sensitiveness on your own part, this does not occur very often. You are analytical, critical and shrewd. Your mind has a gift of penetration which usually sees below the surface, therefore you are easily aware of good or bad in others and can readily disseminate truth from falsehood. You possess exceptionally good taste and create an atmosphere of confidence. You work best when not under supervision, because you do your own thinking. Taurus the Bull is your birthsign and you are ruled by Venus. May and July are your best months. Friday your lucky day.

Imedia Cerruthers,
R.R. No. 1, Peterborough.

Your handwriting depicts you as an individual who is never quite satisfied with a day's work. You always wish you could have done just a little more. There are times when you let yourself worry a great deal over occurences which really ought not to worry you at all. You are thrifty and utterly abhor debt of any kind. You are gifted with a noteworthy sense of proportion, and have an ardent love of family pride. You observe your friends from a standpoint of their hereditary background. The characteristics in your handwriting lend an air of refinement to you. Many, many times you are disillusioned and tired. You feel that life is not worth very much after all but just as you reach the depths of inertia, something inspires you. You see and remember some beautiful bright spot in your life, an encouragement flows back into your veins, then you lift up your head and carry on. Capricorn the Goat is your birthsign. Your number is 6. You are ruled by Saturn. March and November are your best months. Tuesday and Saturday your lucky days.

The increase in the sales of branded beef in Canada for the first four months of this year was considerably more than two million pounds compared with the corresponding period of last year, namely, 12,209,056 pounds this year; 10,167,515 pounds last year.

SNOW AT HEARST

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., June 6. (C.P.)—While the rest of Ontario sweltered, snow came to northland regions this morning, to send the themometer, previously showing a record high temperature, shooting downward.

Hearst, Frans and Oba reported snow, with temperatures of 34 at Hearst, 31 at Frans, 34 at Oba and 35 at Hawk Junction. Cooler weather has reduced the bush fire menace.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 6.—Fenner & Bean: From a technical standpoint the tendency to pull away from recent support levels appears to be a favorable pointer. We believe the direction of the market insofar as appreciable price changes are concerned to be upward.

Jackson Bros. Boozel & Co.—The stock market shows signs of having reached an oversold condition.

Frazier Jelke—Stocks have shown good resistance as they have approached the lows of May 14th. We believe equities should be purchased on weakness and expect prices to improve as the year progresses.

TORONTO, June 6 (C.P.). — Mining shares held the Tuesday rally and added to the gains in some of the secondary gold shares in today's Toronto Exchange operations. Activity broadened out to take in some of the silver and base metal shares although Nipissing and Noranda were the only issues in these groups to record headway. Several of the Penney stocks were very active and higher.

CLOSE IS FIRM.

TORONTO, June 6.—(C.P.)—The industrial section of the Toronto stock exchange staged a slow but firm performance in to-day's session, closing with narrow gains and losses about balancing. Gains of small faractions were retained by the Oil, Food and Steel shares and price changes in the interlisted group were mainly on the up side. The close was firm.

The general tone of the industrial share market was firm. Prices in some groups were shaded narrowly around the noon hour but recoveries were being effected in the early afternoon on more active trading. The play given the metals on the New York Board was reflected in higher International Nickel and Consolidated Smelters.

Profit-taking on the latest rally nicked a point off Walkers common and the other di stillery shares were unchanged this afternoon.

IMPROPER FOR C.N.R. TRUSTEES

the trustees of the Canadian National to publicly answer propaganda urging amalgamation or unified control might place them in a false position. "The public controversy of the nature indicated, as well as being improper, would, because of its futility, raise obstacles in the way of the plan of co-operation," said Mr. Fullerton.

"I am not one of those who believes that the Canadian National is a hopeless proposition," said Mr. Fullerton. "I am impressed with the potential earning power of the property. To be a defeatest with regard to the potential earning power of such a property is to be a defeatist with regard to the future or Canada."

Revenue Down 50 Per Cent.

Gross revenue shrank from $312,000,000 in 1928 to $148,000,000 in 1933, well over 50 per cent. Revenues for 1933 were lower than the average for the previous 10 years by 42 per cent. The shrinkage of revenues was common to other railways in Canada and the United States by practically the same ratio.

The present trend was upward, however, the chairman stated. The first five months of the current year showed an increase of 21 per cent. over the same period last year.

With respect to possibilities of Canadian National operations during the next four or five years the chairman was hesitant about making any forecast. It was not unreasonable to expect a gradual return to a more normal level of business. Taking the level of business over the period from 1923 to 1932 as normal he believed the revenues this year would be up $100,000,000, which would be within measurable distance of meeting fixed charges on the funded debt held by the public.

Economies had necessitated throwmen out of work, since 63 cents out of every dollar was a direct payroll expense, the chairman said, but he was gratified to report that the first three months of 1934 had seen an increase of 6,463 employees as compared with the same period last year.

There had been a gradual reduction in total interest charges payable to the public since 1932, by virtue of refunding economies, and further opportunities would be given for this saving. Next year two issues of seven per cent. Dominion guaranteed sinking fund debenture bonds would mature and if refunded at 4½ per cent. there would be an annual saving of $900,000.

$5,025,000 PAID SHAREHOLDERS

Central Garage, and Robert Simpson, London, England

Witness gave a skeleton outline of refinancing of the company in 1925 and 1929, the result of which was the distribution of $15,000,000 of "winnings" among certain shareholders.

"Is it correct to say that the funds necessary to pay these large sums were taken out of bonds sold to the public?" asked Mr. Stevens.

"es," replied witness.

'And the only security was the common shares of the Robert Simpson Company" commented Mr. Sommerville. It was not a bond mortgage issue on real estate but the issue by a company that owned the common shares in another company. Thus, he said, the first financing of the 1925 company was done by the sale of three bond, subsequently the sale of the securities of $20,000,000 to the public provided the money necessary to finance the distribution and elimination of the majority of shareholders of the Robert Simpson Company. In 1925 the $5,000,000 was paid to the majority shareholders.

Giving a survey of the Robert Simpson company Mr. Adamson declared it was established by its founder of that name in 1872 in 1896 capitalization was $500,000. In 1898, a total of 1,375 shares were issued to Sir Joseph Flavelle, A. E. Ames and H. H. Fudger. These, in 1925, had become 33,500 shares.

Mr. Adamson was unable to determine the amount of original investment.

Mail order offices of the Robert Simpson Company were located at New Toronto, Oshawa, Brantford, Barrie, Brockville, Hamilton, Kirkland Lake, Owen Sound, Peterborough, Rouyn, Timmins and Trenton.

A system of merchant agents was also in vogue. These handled Robert Simpson merchandise, paid expenses of distribution and received 15 percent commission.

In 1914, total sales of the company amounted to $14,000,000; and in 1929 to $48,000,000 said the accountant. In 1933 the total volume was $37,500,000.

The total sales for the whole organization for the past 20 years amounted to $696,346,137, witness answered.

The initial authorized capital of the Robert Simpson Company Ltd., incorporated in 1896 consisted of 5,000 shares of a par value of $100 per share—$500,000.

The entire capital issued to 1898 (1375 shares) was acquired at that time by the late H. H. Fudger, Sir Joseph Flavelle and A. E. Ames, stated the accountant.

No Increase in Monies

When the common share of 1,375 were increased to 36,500 there was no increase in monies that went into the company, Mr. Adamson said. A total of 36,033 had been issued to the original holders or to their successors as stock dividends.

Sold to Cox Estate

In 1902 A. E. Ames sold out his interest to the Cox interests. An issue of $2,250,933 of five per cent. first mortgage bonds was sold to the public in 1912, of which $1,375,222 was still outstanding in January of this year.

When the 1925 company came into being the outstanding bonds and shares of the Robert Simpson Co., Ltd., exclusive of certain mortgages and bonds of subsidiary companies, totalling $698,166, were $1,852,059 in first mortgage bonds, $3,350,000 in preference shares, and $3,350000 in common shares.

At that date undistributed surpluses of the company and its subsidiaries totalled $4,752,743, equal to $142 per common share outstanding.

In addition to common stock issued as dividends, there were also cash dividends ranging from five per cent to 11½ per cent, said Mr. Adamson.

"That is the bonus issued this year would bear dividends of five to 11½ per cent next year?" asked Mr. Sommerville.

"Yes."

In 1925 when the reorganization took place the new Robert Simpson Co., Ltd., became owners of all the common shares.

"Of these there were 26,033 shares for which nothing was paid," said A. A. Heaps (Labor, Winnipeg Centre).

"It represented stock dividends," said Mr. Adamson.

"The net result of this was that the original shareholders of the original company got $5,025,000 in cash," observed Mr. Sommerville.

"The shareholders in 1925 got that," witness replied.

"The net position was that by this means $5,000,000 was withdrawn and distributed among the shareholders. Of this, over 80 per cent went to Flavelle, 25 went to Cox, and 10 per cent to Fudger," said Mr. Sommerville. "The balance went to the minority holdings. Was not the result that they withdrew $6,000,000 and had the same control as before?"

"Yes," said Mr. Adamson.

To obtain this $5,000,000 the company had sold 5,600,000 bonds to the public.

"Were these bonds secured by real estate?"

"No."

"Were there any fixed assets?"

"No."

"They were issued against common shares of the operating company?"

"Yes."

"And these common shares were already subject to a bond issue on the common shares outstanding."

"Yes," replied witness.

TRENT RIVER WOMEN'S INSTITUTE CLOSES YEAR WITH $47 BALANCE

Membership at End of Fifth Successful Season Totals 37.

AN ACTIVE GROUP.

TRENT RIVER, June 6. (Examiner Correspondence). — The Trent River Women's Institute has passed its fifth successful year with a membership of thirty-seven. In spite of the fact that it is a junior branch and are laboring under great difficulties, since the meetings are held only in the homes of the members and the little resort offers few opportunities for the raising of funds for our work.

The district annual, the red-letter day of the Institute year, held in Aspley in 1933, was attended by all the members and the trip in the truck hired with Institute funds proved a most delightful day. Early in the year the members resolved that one of the standing committees should be discussed for a few minutes at each of our monthly meetings and although all did not quite live up to expectations, the members covered most of the work and this proved quite helpful in makng out reports at the end of the year.

In the meeting devoted to community activities it was decided to erect picnic table and benches for public use in the park.

As a result of efforts in the meeeting devoted to historical research, a book was purchased in which past history of the community will be kept and current events of importance.

Dance Swells Coffers

A successful dance was held in May in Whitehall Gardens Pavillion, the proceeds of which almost financed the expenses of the convention. Also on the day of the regatta, which is the greatest annual event at Trent River, the proceeds of the cooking sale adderd considerably to receipts.

In June all journeyed to Havelock and heard their summer speaker and spent a most enjoyable afternoon at the meeting held in the Town Hall. In the same month the branch was the guest of Seymour West Institute when Miss Collins addressed the meeting as their summer speaker.

In August members also held a joint meeting with this same branch and divided the proceeds of the afternoon tea. Grandmothers' Day attracted many outsiders with its unique lunch of warm biscuits, maple syrup, ginger-bread and johnny-cake.

In November the president was sent to Toronto as a delegate o the convention and reported a most profitable three days' outing.

An exchange of Christmas gifts was a feature of the December meeting. The ladies enjoyed a three-storey fruit cake which served for our birthday and Christmas anniversaries. Two baskets of Christmas cheer were given to men living alone in the neighborhood.

Donations During Year

During the year sixty-three yards of flannelette were donated to expectant mothers, and two night shirts were given to a young boy whose leg was broken in an accident. Some relief was tendered a needy family in a neighboring vicinity. A small donation consisting of a pair of sheets and a pair of pillow covers was sent to the Red Cross hosptal at Apsley. A quilt was made and sold for the sum of three dollars. The sum of two dollars was allowed each of two schools for school fair purposes. The first aid kits of these schools were replenished with the usual necessities. Two dollars also went to the girl winning the scholarship at Guelph. A gift to a member who moved away and one to a new baby were other little instances in the Institute work. Fruit, flowers and cards were always sent to the sick and bereaved of the community. The copies of the "Home and Country" received during the year always proved helpful and interesting.

Financial statement follows: Receipts, cash on hand from previous year, $53.42; members' fees, $9.25; grant, $3; miscellaneous, $64.41; total, $130.08.

Expenditures: Federal fees, relief, delegate to Toronto convention, truck to Apsley, donations to schools, fruit to sick, donation to Red Cross hospital and girl to Guelph, $82.53.

Balance on hand, April 30th, 1934, $47.55.

COUNCIL WILL CUT ROAD COST

Seymour Township Decides on Maximum Road Expenditure of $4,000.

COURT OF REVISION.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 6 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — The Seymour Township Council, in view of the present situation and crop prospects, will endeavor this year to keep down expenditures on the township roads, and will try to spend no more than $4,000. it was decided yesterday, when the council met in regular session, with Reeve William J. Duncan presiding. The division of expenditure was: Councillor Rowe's division, $650.00; the other four divisions, $450.00 each. This will not include the cost of the maintainer.

Reeve Duncan was appointed by the council, to meet the Rawdon Council, in connection with work on the Seymour-Rawdon boundary.

Clerk Wesley Stephens was instructed by the council to write John Ruttan of Trent River, to the effect that the council cannot legally assess the cost for fire protection under the Local Improvement Act, or any other act.

This followed a request that the council levy on the Trent River properties to pay part of the initial cost of fire protection aparatus, and the upkeep of the same, which has been secured by the village by part public subscription. It was pointed out at the council, that if Trent River had been a police village, this assessment could have been made.

A license was granted Miss Josephine Terry, to operate the White Hall Gardens at Trent River, as a dance pavilion.

The school report was handed in by the school attendance officer, G. W. Anderson, and received and filed. Accounts to the amount of $864.00 were ordered paid.

Court of Revision.

Prior to the meeting, the Court of Revision for the township was held, the council acting in this capacity, with Reeve Duncan in the chair.

Ina E. Clark, executor of the M. T. Stephens estate, complained that the north half of Lot 20, Concession 6, was assessed too high, this being reduced to $900, on motion of Councillors Frank Lee and Thomas Fry.

A. S. Free complained that the assessment of the south half, Lot 16, Concession 3, was wrongly assessed, as he was the owner of the east half of the said property. On motion of Deputy Reeve W. S. Milne and Councillor Fry, the east half of south half of Lot 16, Concession 3, was assessed to A. S. Free, land $800; and that the west half be assessed to Joseph Hoey, and his sisters, at $800 land and $600 buildings.

In accordance with a motion passed at the April meeting of the council, and notices given the assessed owners and A. S. Free, applications for apportionment were as follows: East half of south half, 50 acres, $91.79; west half of Smith half, $160.62; total as at April 30, $252.41. This was on motion of Deputy Reeve Milne and Councillor Lee.

Part of Lot 26, Concession 13, was assessed to William Holden and Augustine Holden, as follows: Land $25, buildings $225; total $250.

Part of Lot 14, Concession 13, was assessed to Carl Jacobson, of Cleveland, Ohio, land $50.

The property assessed to James Bowers, Lot 10, Concession 7, was charged to George W. Lacy and Clare Lacy, dog tax to be cancelled.

The name of the tenant on assessment for Lots 8 and 9, Concession 1, and gores 8 and 9, was changed from William Hall to Alex. Hall.

The following were added to the roll: William McLaughlan, Havelock, part of Lot 7, Concession 14, land $50. Charles Ray, Willoughby, Ohio part of East quarter, Lot 14, Concession 13, half acre, land $50.

Sales of hogs to stock yards and plants for the four months ended April 30 were approximately 19,000 more than for the corresponding period last year.

RANGERS PLAN WAR MUSEUM

Special Glass-Panelled Oak Cabinets Are Now Being Constructed.

SEVERAL DONATIONS.

A war museum that is to be established in the Peterborough Rangers officer's mess is a proposed innovation that is believed to be unique so far as Military District No. 3 is concerned.

Special glass-panelled oak cabinets, that are to house war trophies are now in course of construction in a section of the mess, the work having been entrusted to ex-Company Sergeant Major William Hales.

Several war trophies and souvenirs of special historical interest to the unit, have already been promised for donation to the museum it is learned, including an old blue helmet that was worn by the late Colonel Rogers, second Officer Commanding the old 57th Regiment.

Lieut.-Colonel G. G. Winterbottom, M.C., D.C.M., Officer Commanding the Rangers, stated that the museum was conceived as a place in which ex-servicemen and others, might deposit war souvenirs or any other souvenirs that might be of special historical interest to the unit, such as obsolete dress uniforms for safekeeping.

Seek Donations

Anyone having souvenirs, he stated, might donate them to the museum on any Tuesday evening during the training period of the unit at the Armouries.

Any articles donated to the museum, he said, will be catalogued and marked with the name of the donor, while it is also requested that in cases where it is practicable a brief history of the article should be presented along with it.

The idea of a war museum, to augment the collection of souvenirs that the regiment already possesses relative to the South African campaign, and which includes assegais, spears and shields, is credited to Capt. Fred Hart, president of the Mess.

Captain Hart felt that a need existed in the city for a museum of such a character, where souvenirs of the Great War and other campaigns and relics pertaining specially to the unit itself might be preserved for posterity. Most war souvenirs, Capt. Hart believed were now to be found in the recesses of dusty attics, and he felt that instead of being discarded the souvenirs might well provide an interesting collection which would be available for public inspection.

LARGE ATTENDANCE WARSAW CHURCH

Rev. Mr. Baker Delivers Two Addresses at Presbyterian Anniversary Services.

(Examiner Correspondence)

WARSAW, June 6. — Notwithstanding the heat, capacity congregations attended both morning and evening anniversary services in the Presbyterian church on Sunday, June the third.

Rev. Mr. Barker preached at both services. At the morning service Mr. Barker took for his subject the lives of several of those about whom Paul wrote. He pointed out that these early Christians whom he met in his travels through Asia minor were earnest and strong. They were no halfway Christians. He gave some illustrations from more modern life, especially a place where he had preached in England, which celebrated its hundredth anniversary.

The choir's special selections were "The Touch of His Hand," and a duet, "List to the Voices," by Mrs. Munro and Mrs. Frank Davis.

Evening Service

At the evening service the speaker took for his subject the Epistle of Jude, one of our Lord's brothers, especially the words — "earnestly contend for the faith," stressing that there should be no slackness in our faith. We should study our Bibles and catechisms, understand them, firmly withstand anything not taught by conscientious Bible study.

The choir selections were "Whisperings of Jesus," and a duet and chorus, "It Pays to Serve Jesus," Mrs. Frank Davis and Mr. Clarence Watts taking the duet.

The congregation was honored at the morning service by the attendance of an elderly lady whose life has been one of good works: Mrs. Rueben Hamblin, who in a few days will complete her ninety-third year.

STRIKES NOW THREATEN U.S. MEAT PACKING TRADE

WASHINGTON, June 6 (C.P.)—While a way around the threatened steel strike was sought in conferences here and peace returned to the Toledo automotive strike zone, scattered labor troubles appeared to-day in the United States meat packing industry.

Agreements definitely ending the strike of Toledo auto parts, workers have been signed by the companies and a majority of members of the union committees, Charles P. Taft, Federal mediator, announced.

Packing plant workers were on strike at Oklahoma City, Wilson & Co., one of the packers affected, issued an ultimatum that employees failing to report for work to-day would forfeit their jobs.

Packing plant unions at Kansas City, a meat centre, considered walking out in sympathy with the Oklahoma City workers, who want a wage increase and recognition of their union.

BOARD WILLING TO CO-OPERATE HEALTH SERVICE

Mayor Denne and Alderman Stocker Attend Meeting of Board of Education.

GLAD TO HELP.

Too Much Work for One Man is Opinion of Several Members.

Mayor Roland Denne and Alderman Walter Stocker, chairman of the Board of Health last night received definite assurance from Peterborough Board of Education of their co-operation with the City Health Department when the health services are reorganized following appointment of a new Medical Officer of Health.

His Worship in bringing the matter to the notice of the Board, stated that at a recent meeting the City Council had felt it advisable that before the new Medical Officer of Health was appointed, the council should consult with the Board.

As a body, he said, the council was inclined to favour the appointment of one doctor to handle both the schools and other health work in the city, but personally he was of the opinion that one doctor could not handle all the work.

He would like the Board of Education to co-operate with the medical officer of health, the Mayor stated, in order that the public could be assured of the efficiency they expected.

Alderman Stocker also addressed the Board on the subject, but said he realized the Board could not arrive at any definite conclusion that night.

E. F. Reid, chairman of the Board, while assuring the delegation that they could rely upon the co-operation of the Board felt the question should be referred to the supervision committee.

Mrs. W. R. Morris felt that when a plan of action had been outlined by the medical officer of health following his appointment, the Board would then know where it would be required to fit in, and could then be counted on to co-operate.

The Mayor feeling that Mrs. Morris had taken the point well, was inclined to agree that after the medical officer had been appointed by the council, he and Dr. A. W. McPherson the School Medical Officer could get together and draw up a plan of action that would meet with general approval.

Dr. A. Meir said, "If we are interested in the welfare of Peterborough we should be glad to co-operate." Personally he did not think it was possible for one M.O.H. to look after the City Health Department and the schools, but he did feel satisfied that Dr. McPherson would be willing to co-operate with the M.O.H.

On motion of J. R. Marshall, seconded by Mrs. Morris, the Board passed a resolution in which they gave the city council assurance of their active support in the administration of the city health services conforming to the plan that might be laid down by the M.O.H upon his appointment.

FARMER-LABOR PARTY HOLD FAITH IN "FOSTER"

YORKTON, Sask., June 6 (C.P.).—Confidence in the "integrity and honesty of purpose" of L. C. Fletcher was expressed by the Farmer-Labor Executive of Yorkton constituency here to-day. Mr. Fletcher will continue in the provincial election campaign as a candidate of that party.

The question of Mr. Fletcher's candidacy under the name of "Leslie C. Foster" was discussed at a general meeting of the party adherents last night. It was agreed the candidate made "an unfortunate mistake in withholding the facts of his proper name," but the committee regards this as merely "proof of his inexperience."

Rev. Dr. W. P. Fletcher of Odessa, Ont., father of the youthful candidate, explained his son was a victim of amnesia. "Foster" disappeared from a United Church Conference at Odessa in 1933. He retained the name of Foster, adopted when his memory failed, pending complete restoration of health.

RECITAL GIVEN BY THE PUPILS OF MRS. PARK

Appreciative Audience Listened to Splendid Program of Song.

APPLAUSE WAS GENERAL.

(By Jeanette)

An appreciative audience of over one hundred music-lovers listened to a recital of songs by pupils from the studio of Dorothy Allan Park, given last evening in the hall of the Conservatory of Music.

Mrs. Park, announcing the recital, promised a "cool, classical program," which was an appropriate general description for a delightful entertainment that comprised compositions by the old masters and newer, modern composers.

Those taking part were Mrs. R. W. Hitchcock (formerly Miss Peggy Carpenter) and Miss Eileen Hinds, both of Toronto, also Miss Mary Medd, Miss Eleanor Brown, and Miss Mabel Lewis.

Accompaniments were played by Mrs. Park and Agnes Logan Green, and a most effective arrangement of the stage included quantities of cool, green ferns and palms, lighted floor lamps and a profusion of lovely flowers, with some gorgeous pink roses as a highlight.

A new note that gave a friendly, personal touch to the evening was the grouping of the singers in a semi-circle in easy chairs on the stage, where they remained for the evening, each rising in turn to present groups of songs. Those taking part, as well as Mrs. Park and Mrs. Green and the announcer of the evening, Miss Margaret Dickson, wore light-colored, dainty frocks.

Applause was general, with just as generous a meed of appreciation for the final as for the opening song, a proof of sustained interest, even on such a warm evening.

Each pupil, in turn, presented several groups of songs. Miss Mabel Lewis, first on the program, and a new pupil, sings easily and clearly, with much expression in a sweet contralto voice that possesses some attractive husky overtones.

Foreign Words

Miss Lewis sang with beautiful expression the lovely solo, "Thanks Be to God," her program including pictures of spring and autumn seasons, in "Gathering Daffodils" and "Leaves and the Wind," also "A Prayer for Me," and Teresa del Riego's charming composition, "My Gentle Child."

Miss Mary Medd, whose attractive, bright soprano was at its best last night, sang with effective ease some very difficult selections that appeared to have no terrors whatever for the clear, ringing, sweet tones. Two very exacting solo numbers were an aria in Italian, "Dove Sono," from "The Marriage of Figaro," also an outstanding aria from Haydn's "Creation." "With Verdure Clad," and another Italian song that aroused repeated applause for its charming rendition. This was the gay "Mecca verrai su quella," and it had a brilliant companion in Sanderson's "Spring's Awakening" that was delightfully rendered. Miss Medd also sang Schubert's "Hedge Rose."

Miss Eleanor Brown, third on the program, has a voice that promises much for the future. Already, in so youthful a singer, it has a sweet, rich resonance that holds the attention. Combining these sweet tones with a maturity of expression that is strangely at variance with the extreme youth of the possessor, Miss Brown invests every number with captivating charm. She appealed immensely to the interest of her auditors.

Liszt's lovely composition, "O, In My Dream," was beautifully rendered in those sweet, expressive tones. "Whither?" was another delightful number, as were the songs in the second group: "Du Bist Die Ruh" (Thou Are Sweet Peace), and the gay "Song of Florian." Deepening the impression this attractive voice made on its listeners was the dainty charm of the last group of Three Little Fairy Songs."

Miss Eileen Hinds of Toronto has a clear, light, high-toned voice that is eminently suitable to difficult arias such as the reiterations of Handel's aria, "As When the Dove," and the light touch in Purcell's grand "Evening Hymn." Miss Hinds sang also "Sombre Woods," "Lovely Kind and Kindly Loving," "Hark, the Echoing Air," and "My Heart Ever Faithful."

Mrs. Hitchcock of Toronto has a rich mezzo-soprano voice and the peculiar charm of being able to sing every number differently. One could not tire easily of such a voice, as it has a range that varies from rich, deep tones to a light, higher pitch, and the singer gives to each composition the requisite shading and interpretation.

Mrs. Hitchcock's first group of three songs included the airy "Trout," "Mignon's Song" and a French bit, "Mai." She sang "One Summer Night" and another very beautifully rendered French number, "D'Une Prison," while her third group was comprised of Grieg's dainty song, "To a Water Lily," Frank Bridges' "Even as a Lovely Flower," and Chaminade's lovely "L'Amour Captif."

LAST SHOT NEAR IN MARKET ACT

King Moves for Certain Changes to Make Measure Unanimous.

BENNETT SPEAKS TO-DAY.

OTTAWA, June 6 (CP)—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett will speak on the Marketing Bill as the last shots in the long debate on that measure are fired in the House of Commons to-day. The bill is up for third reading and as was expected the Opposition took the chance to assail it anew although most bills receive third reading with little question.

A move towards a unanimous acceptance of the measure was made last night, when Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal Leader, urged the Government to allow it to go back to committee for the making of certain changes. It is expected the Government will refuse.

Mr. King took credit to the Opposition for amendments already made, which, he said, brought it more in line with principles of responsible government and parliamentary supremacy.

There were still clauses which negatived the rights of Parliament and if the Government would go the whole way in the direction on which it had already embarked, the Opposition would support it.

Strong objection was taken by Mr. King to the sections of the Act which permit marketing boards, representing groups of producers, to establish codes which would have the force of law without parliamentary sanction. The British Marketing Act provided that any scheme adopted must have the approval of both Houses of Parliament and he thought a similar provision should be embodied in the Canadian Act.

JANETVILLE W.A. HOLDS "PINK TEA"

Members From District, Including Mount Horeb, Attend—Mixed Program.

(Examiner Correspondence)

JANETVILLE, June 6. — An unusually large crowd of people congregated at the United Church parsonage on Tuesday evening to enjoy a "pink tea," sponsored by the Women's Association.

The spacious rooms of the parsonage were filled to capacity as friends from the Presbyterian church and from Mount Horeb church swelled the representation of members from the United Church.

Rev. W. C. Smith, B.A., B.D., pastor of the church, was the genial chairman for the occasion and in a brief address on behalf of Mrs. Jas. Marshall, president of the W. A., the members of the W. A., Mrs. Smith and himself, heartily welcomed all guests. The ladies of the Association were thanked and congratulated for the very fine way in which they had re-decorated the parsonage.

Following Mr. Smith's address a very enjoyable short program was announced, as follows: Instrumental quartette numbers by Misses Bessie Howe, Olive Fisher, Marjorie Armstrong and Mr. Cecil Bradburn: Reading, "Shine just where you are," by Isobel Marshall; duet, "Qui Vivi," by Mrs. Smith, and Bessie Howe; reading, "I Love Old Things," by Miss Evelyn Millson; piano duet, "King of the Forest," by Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Grandby of Mount Horeb.

Reading, "The Psalm of Life," Longfellow), by Miss Edna Robinson; reading "Our Minister's sermon," by Mrs. Howard Jackson of Mount Horeb.

At the conclusion of the program a delicious lunch of cake and sandwiches was served by the ladies of the association. The tea table was prettily decorated with pink candles, pink apple blossoms and tulips. Dainty pink tulle was softly draped around the centre decoration.

The ladies poured tea while the young members ably assisted with serving. A liberal silver collection was taken and and the ladies felt that this novel venture was a most successful event financially as well as socially.

Price Of Explosives Is Again Lowered

Repeated reductions have been announced by Canadian Industries Limited during the past eight years in the selling price of all types of high explosives, and a still further reduction, effective May 31st, of 25c per hundred pounds on all shipments from mills and magazines throughout Canada has just been made public. It is pointed out that C-I-L has been able to accomplish this, in spite of increased costs of raw materials, on account of an expanding market for explosives due to increased activity in gold mining and greater demand for Canadian base metals. The news will be as welcome to lumbermen, farmers and contractors, as to mining concerns, since explosives provide economical and efficient service in many branches of industry.

Obituary

The funeral was held on Monday at Blairton United Church of the late Eliza Cain relict of Albert Peterson, who died on Friday last in her 83rd year.

The late Mrs. Peterson was born in Marmora Township, the daughter of the late George Cain and Margaret Clark. In 1873 she became the bride of Oscar Mason of Springbrook and settled in Marmora Township on the farm known as the Cain Farm.

Of this union there were three children, namely: Mrs. Harley Moore of Kansas City, Arnold Mason of Norwood, and Mrs. James Mack who predeceased in 1926.

In 1879 her husband passed on and she remained on the old homestead until 1885 when she married William Albert Peterson. Of this union three children were born. They were Henry Peterson of Deloro Albert Peterson of Lakefield and Miss Mae Peterson at home.

In 1903 the family moved to Blairton where Mrs. Peterson had since resided. Her second husband died about eight years ago.

The late Mrs Peterson was a woman of stirling qualities and although quiet and reserved she had a host of friends and leaves behind a beautiful memory.

Funeral services were held Monday. A short prayer service at the house preceded the public service at Blairton United Church where an impressive funeral was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Hollingsworth of Marmora.

George Runger presided at the organ and two old favourite hymns: "Rock of Ages" and "Safe In the Arms of Jesus" were rendered by choir. A touching feature of the service was a solo by little Joyce Peterson of Lakefield granddaughter of the deceased who sang very sweetly "My Jesus I Love Thee." Interment was made at Maple Grove Cemetery, Havelock, the bearers being: three sons Arnold, Henry and Albert, and three grandsons, Sam, Ray, and Roy Milligan.

Besides her sorrowing family, Mrs. Peterson leaves one sister Mrs. Alex Chisholm of Roslin, and one brother William Cain of Riverton, Wyoming.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

BREAK IN HEAT COMING TONIGHT RAIN PROBABLE

All Night Downpour at Kingston Fails to Satisfy Farmers.

COOLER IN NORTH.

Galt Passes 24th Day Without Shower—Mercury Soars.

(By The Canadian Press)

Rain at such widely separated points as Kingston and Sarnia and the weatherman's guarded promise of local showers, thunderstorms and much cooler weather gave Ontario's drought-stricken farmers new hope to-day.

Rain fell almost all night in the Kingston area, drenching the parched land but failing to break the heat wave. It lasted until eight o'clock this morning and clouds gave promise of more. It was accompanied by a heavy electrical storm but no damage was reported. Grateful for the moisture, farmers said much more was needed.

At Sarnia the drought was broken last night when an electrical storm, accompanied by a fair volume of rain, broke over the district. The temperature dropped about 15 degrees and parched fields received much-needed moisture.

Forecasts to-day said there was "some slight probability" local showers or thunderstorms in the lower lake region and promised cooler weather. It will be decidedly cooler in northern Ontario and much cooler in the Ottawa and upper St. Lawrence valleys, it was reported.

Rain on Way

Other than Kingston and Sarnia, no Ontario districts reported rain although indications at several points were that it was on the way. At Galt there was no sign of it after a scorching day yesterday in which the temperature touched 93. The weather was sultry there and water wagons were out early cooling downtown pavements.

Some rain was reported from the St. Catharines district but it was said to be not enough to do any real good. The mercury hit 90 there yesterday. Ottawa hit 94 yesterday and at eight o'clock this morning another hot day was promised when the mercury reading was 74. Brantford reported 85 this morning.

Sudbury's temperature of 98 indicated the fight the provincial fire forces have on their hands in the district. If the heat wave continues without rain, authorities said the fire situation will become serious.

To-day was the 24th day without rain in Galt. District farmers seem philosophical about the situation but the weather is their main topic of conversaion, the Ontario election sliding into the background.

Lakes Drop

The dry weather has affected wells and streams and many lakes have dropped inches during the past week. Reports from Bancroft and Coe Hill, in Hastings County, are that the country is tinder-dry, needing only a spark to start a fire that would sweep miles of forest.

In some sections of the province cattle and stock are wandering aimlessly over bone dry pastures, snatching at weeds to appease their hunger.

United Church Shows Deficit Of $32,577

TORONTO, June 6 (C.P.). — A third year of deficits in the treasury of the Toronto Conference of the United Church was indicated to-day in a statement prepared for the statistical committee. Deficit on the past year's operations was $32,577, and debt of the conference was thereby increased to $1,499,226.

During 1931 and 1932 there was added to the deficit the sum of $300,000, but H. W. Barker, treasurer, expects an improved financial statement because the past year's deficit was considerably lower.

Infant baptisms totalled 4,391 during the year, an increase of 148; adult baptisms were 375, an increase of two; marriages decreased by 58 for the previous year, the 1933 total being 3,009; burials were 3,552, a decrease of 51. Total membership is 118,630, an increase in the year just ended of 990.

The value of the property in the conference was placed at $18,209,759.

EASTERN WHEAT BEST FOR CAKES.

TORONTO, June 6 (C.P.).—Properties of wheat flour were discussed here to-day by the convention of the American Association of Cereal Chemists, in the third day of their annual meeting.

R. M. Bohn, of the Trent Institute, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, told the convention that a better grade of cake is made by using flour from Eastern Canada winter wheat, which contains but little protein. In cakes, he said, a lower protein content tends to make a finer texture and lightness.

Madamoiselle, Remember Me (DON TOMPTON).
Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life, Blue Hours (WALTER FARR).

HOT SUBJECT WARM NIGHT

Board of Education Hears Representatives Stoking and Blower Apparatus.

WANT TO SAVE FUEL.

With midsummer temperatures prevailing and the heat in the board room almost unendurable, the members of Peterborough Board of Education last night listened to two representatives of stoking and blower apparatus, who claimed to have devices that would reduce coal costs in the heating of the city's schools.

When W. J. Hancock, chairman of the Property Committee announced the purpose of the deputation that awaited the Board in the ante room, the collective membership of the Board virtually wilted.

Without exception, however, the members listened to the arguments advanced by the heating experts, considering it their duty to do so in the interests of the taxpayers they represent.

While nothing definite has yet been decided upon by the Board, E. F. Reid, chairman, stated, "we are willing to give consideration to any system where it can be proved to us that it will result in a big saving in fuel costs."

TO GIVE PRIZES FOR GARDENING

Committee Receives Promise of Further Awards in Competitios.

EFFORT WORTH-WHILE.

Several prizes have already been promised in connection with the annual contest among the people of the city who enter the Garden Plot competition.

The Examiner will give the usual three prizes of $5, $3 and $2, as first, second and third awards to those having the best garden plots; Dr. A. J. Madill has promised to repeat his prize of last year, $2 for the best plan or layout in a garden (open to men and women), and Miss Cathleen McCarthy is repeating her prize of last year, $2 given to the woman working a garden plot who is judged as having the most difficult conditions to battle with.

The list is open to anyone desiring to donate a prize for this worthwhile effort which had such excellent results last season.

SEE BAPTISTS "CLOSING SHOP"

Middlesex Delegates Warned of Present Trend of Decreasing Interest.

MEMBERSHIP DROPS.

LONDON, Ont., June 6 (C.P.). — Predicting the possibility of the Baptist denomination in Canada having "to close up shop" if the present trend of decreasing interest, reducing membership and falling off of financial aid continues, Rev. P. P. Ziemann, pastor of Talbot Street Baptist Church, city, told delegates to the Middlesex Lambton Association of Baptist Churches in Egerton Street Baptist Church this morning, that immediate steps must be taken to promote closer co-operation between the church boards and the other church organizations and that a realignment of the various boards is necessary.

Rev. P. J. McLennan, Parkhill, was chosen Moderator for the coming year, succeeding D. J. Watson, London layman, and other officers were elected, with Harold McGill, Talbot Street Church, as vice-moderator.

Mr. Watson, in his final address as Moderator, scored lack of leadership in the Church, particularly in the part of the pastors, and analyzed conditions during the past 25 years which in his opinion have resulted in deceased interest in the Church.

Chicken Coop Hermit Shot Seeking Home

CHICAGO, June 6 (AP) — Abe Kinkley, 62-year-old "naked hermit, who lived for 12 years in a chicken coop, put on clothes early to-day—but it cost him his life.

He was shot and killed by a farmer who told police he saw Hinkley prowling about his chicken coop. The aged recluse was wearing brown trousers and a grey shirt—the first clothes he had donned in a dozen years. His only friend—a starving black cat—was found in his battered suitcase, 50 feet away. Hinkley had also some old tin cans and an old Bible.

Hinkley was going away—driven from his home by police who sought to arrest him for indecent exposure one complaint of residents. It was supposed he was seeking food or a place to sleep when he was slain.

PRO FOOTBALLERS ENGAGED IN PLAY, JUDGE DECIDES

"They Are Not Working at Manual Work," Court Argues

INSURANCE CASE

London.—It was decided in a "friendly" test case recently that a professional footballer is not a manual worker, and is therefore not liable to make health and unemployment contributions. The decision was made by Mr. Justice Roche in the king's bench division.

The question was raised on a reference by the ministry of health, Len Graham, the Millwall half-back, being the respondent. The court was asked to decide whether, although a player might be paid more than $1,280 a year, he and his employers were still liable to make health and unemployment insurance contributions.

Cricket, golf, and the work of an acrobat and a conjurer were mentioned analogously during the argument, and Mr. Justice Roche observed that to style cricket manual labor—and professional cricket was in exactly the same relation in that position as professional football—would seem to be almost absurd.

Anthony Hawke, who appeared for Len Graham and the football league, explained that the league had no wish to escape their responsibilities and obligations towards players, who did them such admirable service. If, in fact, on a true construction of the act, players in receipt of a salary exceeding $1,280 a year were not insurable persons, the league did not want to continue making payments which, of course, involved a great deal of expense, not only upon league clubs, but upon the players themselves. A professional player was certainly not an insurable person—provided he was in receipt of a salary exceeding $1,250—within the terms of the National Health Insurance Act, he believed.

Mr. Justice Roche: "Because he is not engaged in manual labor?"

Free' Salaries Aired

In giving judgment, he said, that if professional footballers were manual workers or laborers they had to pay unemployment insurance contributions and were entitled to receive unemployment insurance benefits, whatever their salaries or remuneration might be. If they were something other than manual workers or laborers, then they were not bound to pay the contributions or entitled to receive benefits, if their salary was over $1,200 a year.

Len Graham, and, he gathered, most professional footballers, enjoyed salaries or remuneration which exceeded $1,200 a year. He did not think there was any doubt about the case, and, if he might hazard an opinion, the reference of the matter to him by the ministry of health did not involve the proposition that they felt any doubt either.

His honor stated he had made no secret during that case that he was not prepared to assent to the dicta of the learned judges in the court of appeal case. Those dicta were contrary to decisions he had given in two previous cases. "Play and work are two different things," he said. "Professional footballers are engaged not in work but in play. They are playing for reward or payment—and so are professional cricketers—but they are still playing a game.

"It may be said they are working at their play, and so they are, but what they are not doing is—they are not working at manual work. Footballers and professional cricketers are engaged to amuse and entertain other people at playing a game. For these reasons I hold that this man is employed, not by way of manual labor, and is not insurable."

BLESS GROWING CROPS IN SOLEMN PROCESSION

Picturesque Ceremony Dates Back to Days of Pagan Rome

Bridgwater.—A ceremony dating back to the days of St. Chrysostom, archbishop of Constantinople, at the end of the fourth century, was celebrated in the little village of Cannington, near here.

This rite — adapted from paganism — was the blessing of the growing crops.

School children carrying wands on which were tied posies of wild flowers marched in procession round the village, headed by the vicar and the choir clad in surplices, and chanting litanies as they went.

They stopped at the school gardens and at various allotments to seek a blessing. Finally they reached a large field, where a short service with prayers and hymns was conducted.

Cannington is one of the few remaining places to observe this custom, which derives directly from the festivals of pagan Rome in honor of Ceres, goddess of agriculture. On being adapted to Christian usage, the heathen ceremonies were discarded, and those of Christianity substituted.

Instead, they are to be employed on these jobs in police time, and the money will go to the Metropolitan police fund. All applications to hire men will have to be made to Lord Trenchard.

Every police station will keep a list of persons who can be trusted to pay after the event. The ordinary public will have to pay in advance.

TURKS RETURN BIBLE LOST 19 YEARS AGO

Pilgrim to Gallipoli Receives Testament He Used During Great War

London. — Nineteen years ago a British soldier in the trenches on the slopes of Achi Baba, in Gallipoli, had to run for his life in fierce floods sweeping down the hill in a terrific rainstorm in the black of night.

Now, by an amazing turn, his New Testament, which he left behind him with his kit, is to be restored to him.

The manner of the restoration is most romantic. Just as the liner Duchess of Richmond, which has been taking the Gallipoli pilgrims to the scenes of the old campaign, was leaving Istanbul a few days ago, a small brown-paper package was brought aboard addressed to Captain Rothwell, in command.

It contained a buff-colored New Testament and a note from a Turkish woman explaining that it had been given to her by Turkish soldiers who had found it on the peninsula and expressing the wish that it should be restored to the owner or his relatives.

The name on the fly-leaf was "Alfred Gurney Golton, 11 Citizen Rd., Holloway, N. London."

The book was well preserved, and on a blank page facing the end of Revelation was Turkish writing in indelible pencil.

Mr. Golton now lives at Ritchings Ave., Walthamstow, E., where he is married and is employed as a postman.

GAS ENDS CAREER OF RADIO FUNSTER

Canadian Ex-Soldier Grieved Over Dead Woman-Friend

London—England's pioneer radio comedian, John Henry, is dead—by his own hand. In life he amused thousands, but he died alone in a gas-filled flat.

Once a teacher of languages and world traveller, Henry, whose real name was Norman Clapham, lived for some time in Canada, enlisting with the Canadian forces at the outbreak of the war.

He died a lonely man, broken with grief over the death of the woman to whom he was passionately devoted. During recent weeks he had shunned the companionship of friends who were anxious to help him and spent much of his time wandering the streets. Although he paid his rent regularly, he had little money. For many years he was known to thousands of radio listeners as John Henry, the comedian with the soft, burry Yorkshire voice, whose recitals of domestic advantures with his wife and their dog, Erbert, were a source of constant delight.

OFFSPRING OF ELITE PLANNED BANDITRY

Police Discover Underground Rendezvous and Halt Kidnapping Plans

Bucharest.—A descent made by the police on an underground establishment in a remote part of the city has brought to light the existence of a secret society recruited from the public schools and carrying on various "rackets" and forms of banditry.

The five ringleaders arrested belong to some of the best families, and it is stated that the recruits of the organization, numbering scores, came from the most elite schools in Roumania.

The society was well supplied with arms of all kinds, including machine-guns, with large quantities of ammunition.

And a contract had been entered into for the delivery of an aeroplane which was to be used for the activities of the society, one of the members having taken a special course in aviation so as to be able to serve as pilot.

The leaders had drawn up plans for the kidnapping of prominent persons, who were to be held as prisoners for ransom.

One of those on the list was Mme. Lupescu, the beautiful red - haired favorite of King Carol.

The gang had fitted up a boudoir-bedroom which was destined to be her prison, and it was intended that as soon as they had seized her they should enter into negotiations with the military party, who resent her influence over the king, offering her to them in return for a ransom.

PALS GIVEN FREEDOM THIRD AWAITS NOOSE

Murder Which Netted Six Shillings Puts One Man in Death-Cell

London.—Two men walked out of the dock of the court of criminal appeal to freedom!

A third man tottered down the staircase to his cell to wait for the taxicab to take him back to the condemned cell at Wandsworth to wait for his execution.

It was the end of the day and half fight for the lives of three men sentenced to death for the murder of the lonely old Croydon widow, Mrs. Eliza Ray—a murder for six shillings!

Ansell and Ross are free; Martin is to die—unless the efforts for a reprieve are successful.

Martin's appeal was the first of which the lord chief justice—acting as the mouthpiece of the three judges composing the tribunal—disposed.

Martin's young wife sat near the dock listening to the words which meant death to her husband. She was brave—just as she was at the Old Bailey—when she listened she listened to the judge uttering the death sentence.

Martin — his fate sealed — turned round and waved farewell.

'BONNIE BABY' TURNS INTO YOUTHFUL GIANT

15-Year-Old Stands Over Six-Feet and Still Growing

Carshalton.—At the age of fifteen John Sharp stands six feet six inches and weighs 196 pounds. When a child he won a merit certificate at a "Bonny Baby" contest.

In the last sixteen months he has grown more than three inches. He wears size twelve in shoes, and all his clothes have to be made specially for him. His collars are size sixteen, and the biggest school cap that is made only just fits him. Visitors to the school often mistake him for one of the masters.

READERS CLEAR AWAY DEBTS FROM EDGAR WALLACE'S NAME

Huge Sale of His Books Provides Estate For Famous Author's Kin

DIED A BANKRUPT

London.—A dead man who owed his creditors $405,000 has paid them in two years—in full.

His name, Edgar Wallace. His genius, still vital, has been responsible for the greatest and last drama of his career.

When he died in February, 1932, of pneumonia at Beverly Hills, California, the world realized that the most dramatic story-teller for generations had gone. It suffered a shock when it heard that he had died—bankrupt.

But since then his books and plays have been read just as widely. The loyalty of the people has enabled his debts to be paid, and hundreds of pounds to be assured to his children in the future.

When Edgar Wallace's widow died in April, 1933, the affairs of his estate were further complicated.

Year's Court Struggle

For a year the executors, S. E. Linnitt, the theatrical agent, and E. A. Lomax, struggled against the dissolution of the estate.

Legal proceedings were started here and in America. Mr. Justice Eve, in the chancery court, decided on the final settlement for each creditor. One of the chief was the inland revenue.

All the creditors were satisfied out of money collected from royalties accruing since Edgar Wallace's death.

Recently, Mr. Justice Eve granted permission for the executors to form a company to hold the copyrights of all Edgar Wallace's plays and books. It was to be called Edgar Wallace Ltd.

The shareholders include the four children—Bryan Wallace, a scenario writer for a famous British film company; Pat, who married the managing director of a great publishing house, and Michael and Penelope, who are still at school.

During these two years none of the children has received a penny from the estate. But such is its healthy condition now that they will get a substantial yearly benefit.

Several revivals of Edgar Wallace's plays have been planned, including one of "The Green Pack," his last, which was being played when he died. One of his stories is at present being filmed.

TOOK OF WORLD'S BEST ERE ENDING OWN LIFE

His Funds Low, Former Manager Ate Expensive Meal

London.—The letter of a man who had "crammed every possible experience into life without finding happiness" was read at his inquest at Westminster.

He was formerly a store manager, receiving a yearly salary of $25,000, and was found dead outside a west end restaurant with a revolver by his side.

Before his suicide, it was stated, he had as his last meal soup, sole, asparagus, sauterne, whiskey, gin, and vermouth, port, coffee, a liqueuer, and a cigar.

The bill came to nearly $5.00 and there was five cents in his possession when the body was found.

CHILDREN WILL MISS "WINNIE THE POOH"

Zoo's Favorite Bear Dies of Old Age

London.—"Winnie the Pooh," the old American black bear at the Zoological Gardens, Regent's Park, has died from old age.

She arrived at the zoo from America in December, 1914, and had been a universal favorite.

On her birthday she received hundreds of postcards from children. It is believed she was about 30 years of age.

NURSE ROCKS CRADLE AND OVERRULES EARL

Faithful Servant Guards Francis David Robin Guy, Warwick's Heir

Warwick. — The most important person at Warwick Castle now is not the lovely countess (formerly Rose Bingham), nor the handsome young earl, nor even the very young son and heir, Francis—David—Robin—Guy, but—his nurse.

She has defied ninety imposing members of the Midland Association of Gas Engineers, the pleadings of the Earl of Warwick's secretary, and the earl himself.

Said they: "Please allow Francis—David—Robin—Guy to come to his own first party in the banqueting hall of the castle."

"I never heard such a thing," said the nurse. "His lordship is asleep."

"But," they pleaded, "he is to be given his first present, receive his first presentation—a silver mug—by the Midland Gas Engineers.

"Could you not lift him out of his crib and carry him downstairs without waking him up . . . just for one minute? Why, he is the first baby in England to be presented with a presentation at the age of two days!"

Nurse pursed her lips even tighter: "I am responsible for his lordship," said she, "and I will not risk waking him up. Why, the little mite scarcely knows where he is yet. . . . Very kind of the gentlemen, I'm sure, but there's time enough for him to have many presentations—when he is older."

With that the delegation was left holding—the silver mug.

SURPRISE FOR PRINCE WAS THRILL FOR BOY

Admiring Lad Hands His Hero Cigar-Lighter, Made by Self

London.—The boys of the Shaftesbury Homes and Arethusa training ship took the Prince of Wales to themselves and gave him a genuine welcome recently.

At the meeting a little knicker-bockered orphan boy had a surprise for the prince and the thrill of his own young life.

The prince had just presented prizes sent by the Queen when the boy, Llewellyn Evans, stepped from a corner of the stage.

In his hands Llewellyn clutched a treasure—a brass model of an aeroplane which he had designed and made almost entirely by himself at the Bisley home of the institution. It rested in a lined, wooden box and, half-timidly, half-proudly, the lad offered it to the prince.

The prince accepted the gift, which glistened and shone. He was told that it was a cigar lighter.

"It is supposed to be a copy of my aeroplane, isn't it?" the prince asked the boy. "Yes, sir," whispered Llewellyn.

"Thank you very much," said the prince, as he shook hands with the lad, who then left the stage—the proudest boy in the great gathering.

ONLY WINDED AFTER THOUSAND-FOOT JUMP

Girl Parachutist Lands in 40-Mile Gale

Brooklands.—Two women jumped one thousand feet by parachute here.

The first was Miss Vera Turl, aged 20, of London, and the second Mrs. G. E. Alington, aged 30, of Southampton.

Miss Turl is a red-haired, pretty, vivacious girl. She landed in a 40 m.p.h gale, bounced several feet, turned two somersaults, doubled up, and lay on the ground.

Officials rushed to her, but found her only winded. After two minutes she was on her feet, bruised but laughing.

She laughed because the spectacular landing qualified her as the first girl parachutist to hold an air ministry professional license.

VALUABLE FINDS IN CAVES DISCLOSE STONE AGE LIFE

Folk of 4,000 B.C. Almost Physically Similar to Present

SOME CANNIBALS

London.—The oldest complete skeletons from any part of the world which go back to about 75,000 years ago, and were recently found in the caves of Mount Carmel, Palestine, are now being cleaned and scraped in the laboratory of the Royal College of Surgeons.

They were secured for the British Museum by Dorothy Garrod, daughter of Sir Archibald Garrod, formerly Regius professor of medicine at Oxford. Among her assistants, in her yearly trips to the caves, have been Mrs. Christopher Hawkes, the daughter of Sir Frederick Gowland Hopkins, the president of the Royal Society, and Theodore McCown, a young American excavator, who was in charge when the first of the complete skeletons was uncovered.

The site of the caves is the Wady al-Mughara (valley of the caves) at the western foot of Mount Carmel, twelve miles south of Haifa, and looking over the plain of Sharon to the sea. They were inhabited from the old stone age up to the present day.

Among the finds is a Hellenistic terra-cotta of Venus, perhaps the finest Greek object yet found in Palestine.

Skulls Perforated

About 400 B.C., roughly a millenium before Abraham, these caves were inhabited by a people of the middle stone age, for whom the name Natufian has been adopted. They seem to have settled there about 3,000 years earlier.

These Natufians were men and women rather like modern ones, but perhaps of rather slighter and shorter build. They do not seem to have had pottery or to have domesticated animals, but they used barbed harpoons and pointed weapon-tips with which they fished and hunted. Some of them, at least, seem to have been cannibals, for skulls have been found with fragments neatly chopped out, as if to get at the brains.

In levels below this the excavators came to other and older races known as the Aurignacian and Mousterian, who used stone implements of different types.

While Aurignacian man was superficially of the modern type, Mousterian man was tall and muscular, with massive jaws and a foreward jutting face. Above his eyes was a ridge of bone much thicker and more prominent than even the most primitive and brutal-looking of modern mankind. The woman had a slender, chinless lower jaw.

PEER DOES NAVVY'S JOB

Contented Laborer Abhors "Cushy" Job

London.—Lord Naas, 44-year-old son and heir of the Earl of Mayo, is working for $12.00 a week as a builder's laborer on a "job" in Croydon High St.

He is known to his employers as Ulick Henry Bourke—"otherwise plain Bourke, without the mister, that's me."

"I would rather be a bricklayer and be a free man than be pushed into a cushy job to be continually under the thumb of other people," he said.

ART SALES JUMP

London Auction Centres Do Million-dollar Business in Week

London—The art market is booming here. Nearly a million dollars went into the coffers of leading auction rooms, in one week, it is reported.

The highest price reached was $52,500 for Raeburn's portrait of the Allen brothers, which many experts thought would not fetch $30,000. This is the highest price paid for a picture in London for a long time.

AFTER FACING LIONS HE'S BATTLING SIN

Wild-Animal Trainer Now Leads Men to Penitent Bench

Liverpool.—David Maurice Selby, the lion-tamer famous throughout Europe for his power over wild animals, has become a savior of men on Clydeside. He has joined the Salvation Army.

A few months ago he daily faced the savagery of eight Bengal tigers and four African lions in the circus. To-day he faces Communists, down-and-outs, and "drunks" in the slums of Scotland's industrial towns, and tries to lead them to repentance.

Instead of whip-cracking in the lions' cage, he wise-cracks with sinners, then leads them off to pray.

MAN OBJECTS TO GIRL SMOKING IN SMOKER

Court Fines Mere Male for "Interfering With Comfort of Passenger"

Southport.—Miss Gladys Walker, a young woman, entered a smoking compartment of a Southport train and lit a cigarette.

A man passenger, William Reece, a non-smoker, objected. An elderly woman joined in the objection.

Reece, at Liverpool police court, was fined with costs, under the London, Midland and Scottish Railway by-laws, for interfering with the comfort of a fellow-passenger.

Miss Walker said that Reece exclaimed, "If she was my daughter I would knock the fag down her throat."

The elderly woman then said, "The present-day girls are all smoking. I don't know what will happen when they are old like me. I suppose they will be smoking clay pipes."

Reece denied the allegations, but admitted that he had said there was too much smoke, and switched on the fan. "I am a non-smoker," he added, "and have never stooped so low as to smoke a cigarette in my life."

He publicly apologized to Miss Walker after the case if he had said anything to annoy her.

WONDER OF RAILS AWAITS FIRST HAUL

Giant Streamlined Mogul Built for Grades

Doncaster.—A giant British engine, the most powerful passenger locomotive in the country, and of an entirely new type, has just been completed at the L.N.E.R. works.

The first express passenger locomotive of the "Mikado" type in the world, it is completely streamlined, has a double funnel with a new whistle in front and three cylinders fitted with poppet valves.

The "Mikado" is of the 2-8-2 type and has forward views on each side of the cab.

The "Mikado" will climb gradients at higher speeds and has an extra large boiler with great cylinder power.

Her trials are to begin soon and if she is successful the company will build five more of her type. They will be used to haul the East Coast day and night expresses over the heavily graded sections of the L.N.E.R. between Aberdeen, Edinburgh and Carlisle and at higher average speeds.

RECLUSE ADMITTED ONLY ONE CALLER

Mystery Man Nailed Door of Home Each Night

Muswell Hill—Charles Sherwood, an aged recluse, whose mysterious death is being investigated by Scotland Yard, lived a strange life at the house in Wetherill Rd. He never opened the door to callers except one man—his friend, William Fowler, of Hornsey—who was able to gain access to the house only by giving a certain kind of knock, the secret of which was known only to the dead man and himself.

Newspapers were nailed to the walls of the bedroom—which was the only one out of the six that the old man appeared to use—to the thickness of a foot.

He used to bolt himself in at night, and fix a chain from the doorway to the wall, and then drive wedges into the doorway which he nailed every night, and then had to knock away in order to open the door in the morning.

WHALERS LIMP INTO PORT

Boats Have Narrow Escape in Fierce Antarctic Gale

Cape Town.—Seventy men arrived here aboard seven whale catchers after a night of terror in the Antarctic, when their vessels were struck by a hurricane and narrowly escaped foundering.

Battered and rusty, the seven vessels limped into Table Bay, their bridges wrecked, rails twisted and torn, and lifeboats carried away.

"Not in my twenty years of Antarctic whaling have I ever experienced such weather," declared the captain of one of the whalers. "On that nightmare night not one of us expected to see the dawn."

A blinding snowstorm swept down and reduced visibility to a few yards. Icebergs were scattered here and there and there was grave danger of running into them, but with their engines running three-quarters speed the whalers were just able to hold their own.

USE U.S. RADIOS

Rio de Janeiro—The dominant position of American radio sets in Brazil is revealed in a report from Assistant Trade Commissioner J. Winsor Ives, Rio de Janeiro. Estimates just completed by a local advertising agency show that there are at present in operation throughout the country 120,000 receiving sets, about 80,000, or 80 per cent., are of American origin.

Excluded From Own Trial For Being Defiant and Unsubmissive

CONSPIRACY CHARGE

Sevlievo—In this little town, among the northern foothills of the Balkan mountains, 89 young men and four girls have been on trial before the district court for conspiring to form a Communist organization (a "Marx-Lenin circle") in the industrial town of Gabrovo.

Half the accused are Bulgarian schoolboys under 20 years of age, yet it is supposed that their sentences will range from 1 to 15 years' imprisonment. Most of them have already languished for eight or nine months in jail while awaiting trial.

The young people have in them the courage which characterised their compatriots Gheorghi Dimitroff, Popoff and Taneff during the Reichstag fire trial. They are unsubmissive and defiant—indeed, their defiance was so voluble that 67 of them were excluded from the court last week and the trial continues without them.

Most of those thus excluded are considered so dangerous that they are manacled hand to foot, even when in jail, by incredibly massive chains which weigh them down when they walk.

A newspaper correspondent watched 36 prisoners arrive at the "Library Cinema" in which the trial is being held. They came slowly, two pretty little girls at their head and two manacled youths among them, and they were surrounded by 20 soldiers with bayonets fixed and rifles at the "ready."

The cinema was already guarded by a score of blue-uniformed gendarmes with revolvers at hips, and after the prisoners had entered two sentries took post before the door.

No traffic past the front of the cinema was permitted. No photographs may be taken.

A lad of 18 was marched into the court room by two gendarmes and questioned by the presiding judge. He answered firmly and fearlessly. He was Ivan Stoyanoff, who had given himself up a few days previously after spending nine months in hiding in the mountains.

The prisoners, of whom 70 are organisers and 19 are acknowledged to have no connection with Russia, are defended by 24 lawyers.

It is contended by the state that the prisoners were guilty of subversive activities and the circulation of Communist literature secretly printed, whereas the case for the defence is that the accused were not Communists but Socialists engaged in anti-war propaganda and that their activities were not illegal.

HUBBIES SWAP WIVES WOULD SWITCH BACK

All On Good Terms, But Long for Original Partners

Paris.—French lawyers are grappling with a queer marriage tangle in which two business friends who swapped their wives some time ago after divorce proceedings again want to exchange them.

New divorce proceedings have been instituted by both men, and each names the other as co-respondent.

Both parties declare that there is no ill-feeling between them. On the contrary, they live on the best of terms. They say that the original divorces were a mistake and that happiness is more likely to be found in going back to the original state of affairs.

The controllers of the divorce administration argue that rearrangements of this sort bring the marriage laws into disrepute and suggest that the court should refuse to facilitate this swapping of partners for a second time.

LOVERS ARM-IN-ARM KILLED BY RACE CAR

Auto Swerving to Avoid Dog Crashes Into Crowd Killing Seven

Fontainebleau.—Arm in arm, an engaged couple met death here when a racing car travelling at 115 miles an hour crashed into the crowd lining the course.

A dog crossing the track three hundred yards from the finish was the innocent cause of this tragedy which took a total of seven deaths.

The driver saw the dog, swerved to avoid it, and lost control. The car then tore its way through the tightly packed spectators, somersaulted three times, and finally smashed itself to pieces against a tree.

One girl who a few seconds before was watching the race arm-in-arm with her fiance was killed instantly. Her fiance was found dead by her side.

Five other dead bodies were strewn over the grass at the side of the track.

A number of the spectators were injured, eight seriously. The driver of the car was picked up unconscious. He died later in Fontainebleau hospital.

He was a French air force pilot, 28 years old, who was driving under the assumed name of Eric Lora, because as an army airman he was not allowed to take part in any competitions under his real name.

The dog which caused the accident ran away into the woods, and no one knows to whom it belongs.

WHAT, BIG MUSHROOMS BYRON HAS 'EM BEATEN

Pinned Down by Fungus, Rancher Cut Way to Freedom, Claim

Oakland, Calif.—Paul Coppa, a youth, recently found a five-pound mushroom in his home city. Not to be outdone, a girl came forward with a mushroom that weighed seven pounds and was sixteen inches in diameter. This stirred up Frank Clark, a rancher, who got out his truck and went after one of the county of Byron's famous underground mushrooms to show the world a mushroom that is really a mushroom.

Clark located the object of his quest by a huge surface bulge. He backed the truck into position and uncovered the mushroom with a shovel in half a day's work. But in attempting to lift the behemoth fungus to the tailboard of the truck he slipped and the mushroom crashed down upon him, pinning the rancher to the ground.

Clark worked one hand free, got out his pocket knife and, tunneling through the mushroom, managed, he says, to work his way to freedom. He then procured an eight-foot saw, cut the mushroom into sections and loaded it on his truck. Part of the mushroom has been given to needy families, part dried for future use and the rest ground into food for Clark's 3,000 chickens. The story of this land freak, to hear Frank Clark, its discoverer, tell it, is enough to startle any one's imagination. But in this discovery one can't say that the discovery was an optical illusion, for Clark can produce concrete proof, he insists.

MOTHER TO JOIN HER SON LIFER AT DEVIL'S ISLAND

"I Shall Share His Sentence," Declares Wealthy Woman

OFFICIALS AGREE

Paris.—Mme Germaine Davin, a wealthy French woman, is going out to the tropical wilderness of Devil's Island to be with her son, Guy Davin, who is serving a life sentence for the murder of Richard Wall, a Paris-American, two years ago.

"And if my boy has to serve his sentence out there until the end of his life, why then I shall share his sentence and live out there until the end of mine," Mme. Davin said to a reporter in her beautiful Paris apartment in which she is living under an assumed name.

In September last year Mme. Davin stood on the jetty of La Pallice. She was watching, with haggard and tear-stained cheeks, her son who, with hands and feet manacled, hobbled painfully out of the great black prison van and down the gang plank on to the steamer that was to take him and five hundred other convicts to the Guiana prison settlement where, as they say in France, life is worse than death.

"If only I could have gone with him," sobbed Mme. Davin. "What will become of him out there? Guy is not normal. He will go crazy."

When she went back to Paris her mind was made up. She was determined to go out and join her son in that terrible plague-infested tomb.

Her love for her son was stronger than all fears for herself. She worked and fought. She used all her family influence. And now, at last, she won her fight.

The French authorities have agreed to allow her to go out and settle in Devil's Island. She will buy a little farm. Guy Davin will be sent to his mother's house to work there as her butler.

His head will be shaven and he will wear the convict's clothes, but his mother will not mind.

MINERS OF FUTURE MAY WEAR ARMOR

Foresee Heavy Covering to Guard Against Accidents

London.—British coal miners in the not-too-distant future may find themselves wearing a modernised form of armor.

When the House of Commons discussed pit accidents Ernest Brown, secretary for mines, stated that the safety in mines research board was applying itself with energy to means for preventing accidents.

Already 20,000 miners were going to the pits every day with hats specially designed to prevent head injuries. Experiments were also being made with safety goggles, boots and gloves.

'QUEEN OF DIAMONDS' MEANT LIFE TO HIM

Young Stranger Grief-Stricken Over Countess' Indifference

Nice.—Recently, Countess de la Porcerie, better known as the magnificently jewelled American, Mabel Boll, the "Queen of Diamonds", arrived at a Cap Ferrat hotel.

A young guest, Georges Chariot, met her in the lobby. Fell at once in love. For days he was most attentive. Then the countess took a magnificent villa; told him she was leaving the hotel. He betrayed his grief.

Then she found him in the rose garden of her new villa; clasping a revolver: a bullet wound in his side. He is in hospital. Doctors have hopes that he will live. He had written letters declaring that he could not live without the "Queen of Diamonds".

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

In summertime white gloves are popular. This season they come in endless variety, sometimes in white, sometimes combined with color, sometimes with textile ruffs, sometimes in fancy weaves. The openwork weaves which have been out of style so many years have a pronounced vogue this year, which was hinted at a little last season.

* * * * * * *

In order to have white gloves look right they must be kept of pristine whiteness. If the wearer wants to look well-groomed she has to keep this in mind. And so the correct way of washing gloves should be remembered, and after each wearing, the pair must be laundered. Fortunately it takes but a moment or two to do the work. If the gloves are of regulation weave, no ironing is required.

* * * * * * *

Gloves should be washed on the hands, in lukewarm light suds. Wash them as you would the hands. Take a nail brush with bristles not too stiff, and brush the finger-tips and any parts which are particularly soiled. When clean, remove from the hands and rinse in clear water. Pull the gloves lengthwise keeping each finger smooth and straight. They will dry quickest if wrung out in a Turkish towel. Then put on glove forms, or hang in an air current to dry. If the gloves are silk do not hang in the sun, lest they get yellowed.

* * * * * * *

Fabric gloves which have a color combined with the white, should have a little salt added to the first wash water. When wrung out be careful not to have the color pressed against the white. Dry as quickly as possible. Beware of ironing to hurry the evaporation of the water. Color will run under the steam when it will not crock otherwise.

* * * * * * *

Gloves with pique, organdie, or other textile cuffs, require the cuffs to be ironed. Pique will keep sufficiently stiff without the addition of starch to the rinsing water. Iron cuffs while still damp, and they will not only look their best, but will keep their crispness longer. Be cautious about keeping the rinsing starch water from the glove itself. Put a thin cloth over the cuffs when ironing those which have been starched. Cold starching calls for ironing before the article or starched part gets dry. The heat steams the starch and makes it adhesive.

* * * * * * *

When dark gloves with white organdy or other textile cuffs are washed, the cuffs may be laundered without the glove. If there is danger of crocking, run a folded Turkish or other towel up through the wrist opening and scrub the white cuff over the towel. Be careful not to let the colored part get wet lest it run. The towel will absorb enough water to aid this, if the work is done deftly.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

The well-known Earl Carroll, who recently took a number of his stage beauties to Hollywood for picture work, claims that there really aren't any actual beauties among the screen stars. Earl says that most screen stars resort to artificialities in order to appear unusual. And as a consequence, they lack the naturalness upon which true loveliness is based.

As a marked example of his contention, Earl Carroll points out that a good many of the present stars, after they'd been in Hollywood for a while, changed greatly. That lovely young English actress, Ida Lupino, for instance, shaved off her eyebrows shortly after her arrival in the movie city. She paints eyebrows on her forehead now. And their obvious artificiality does a great deal to detract from her natural loveliness.

Personally, I don't think that Earl Carroll exaggerates a bit when he says that true beauty is based upon naturalness. Just the other day, while strolling down Fifth avenue, I passed two young girls who certainly were an argument against artificiality. They were nicely dressed, had attractive figures and very nice features. But their faces wre so heavily made-up, so much like painted masks, that it gave them a hard, unyouthful appearance.

Today, naturalness is certainly the keynote to true loveliness. Make- up is supposed to be used skillfully, and only to accent the natural coloring of the face. Of course, the girl who uses no make-up at all, unless her natural coloring is good, would look drab and colorless. But it is wise to remember, nevertheless, that a little make-up is much better than a lot.

If you use cosmetics—and most girls do—use them to enhance your natural loveliness, and not to conceal it. Don't smother your skin and features beneath layers of make-up. If you do, it will give your face a hard look that is not at all in keeping with the present day standards of loveliness. Just a touch of rouge and lipstick, a bit of powder, and a little mascara and eyeshadow are all that you really need. And if you're prudent in the application of your make-up, it will not detract, but will rather add to, your own natural charm.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Weight

Ella: I think that a girl 14 years of age and 5 feet 5 inches tall should weigh about 120 pounds.

Shampoo

R. P. M.: The castor oil shampoo is very effective in promoting the growth of the hair. The method of applying this shampoo is contained in detail in my "Beauty Culture" booklet.

Reducing

Mrs. Kelly: If you follow a good reducing course, do proper exercising, drink enough water and use a a good skin food on your face nightly, you should be able to reduce without acquiring wrinkles and blemishes.

WHEN YOU'RE HEALTHY YOU'RE HAPPY!

THE blame for "blue" days can be laid often to common constipation. It may bring loss of appetite and energy, sallow and pimply skins, even serious illness. Correct it by eating a delicious cereal.

Research shows Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to relieve common constipation. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this better than taking patent medicines—so often harmful?

Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily, relieve most types of constipation. With each meal, in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. Get the red - and - green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

All Europe Supports British Debt Stand

(By The Canadian Press)

The Capitols of Europe were lined up solidly against the United States on the war debts question for the first time to-day and appeared to feel—"It's up to Washington."

As cheers rang out at home and abroad for Great Britain's decision to suspend payments, the sentiment was general that the complicated issue had been brought to a head.

A conference for a full and final settlement of the issue was England's goal.

France, happy to find Great Britain a bedfellow and a logical leader in moves for settlement, turned to its task of borrowing nearly $200,000,000 to pay for a military preparedness program.

Italy, it was indicated, would follow in Londons footsteps.

The development encouraged Germany to hope that its foreign creditors would now be more lenient.

Greece will erect many tourist resorts.

A TOUGH PROBLEM

Mr. R. A. Flavell, Grenfell, Sask., has a keen eye for tough problems. He has just sent me the following one. Failure to solve it in actual play, cost North and South a six-rubber match, as their opponents won the next two games and the sixth rubber, with a cumulative score exceeding that of North and South.

	♠ A 10 9 8 3 ♥ Q 2 ♦ A ♣ A 5 3
♠ Q 7 2 ♥ 9 8 6 3 ♦ Q J 10 9 ♣ None	W. N. E. S.	♠ None ♥ J 10 7 5 ♦ 4 ♣ 7 3 2 ♣ Q 10 6
	♠ 4 ♥ A K ♦ K 8 6 4 ♣ J 9 8 7

Clubs are trumps North won the opening lead of a spade with his K. He led his K of trumps, only to find West void. The remaining 11 cards are as shown. North is to lead and win 10 tricks against any defence possible, to fulfill his small slam contract. Can it be done?

The following solution is the simplest and safest against subsequent defensive play. Lead the Ace of diamonds, so that any return lead by East may be won in dummy, as the declarer must ruff one of dummy's diamonds to again lead a trump through East. Lead North's lowest club. To win that trick East must play his Q. He may win it. He may allow dummy to win it. The final result will be the same in either case.

First suppose that East wins the second trick with the Q of clubs. If East leads a heart, dummy wins the trick. Dummy leads a low diamond and trumps with the Ace. The 5 of clubs will be led through East's 10-6, and dummy will pick up East's 2 trumps. The K of diamonds will win a trick, leaving a single diamond in dummy. The 4 of spades will be led. North will win 2 spade tricks. On the second spade trick dummy's last diamonds will be discarded. The only 2 cards left in dummy will be the Ace of hearts and the thirteenth trump. A small slam must be made.

Suppose that when East wins with his Q of clubs he leads back a club or a diamond, instead of leading a heart. If East leads a club, dummy will win the trick. A diamond will be ruffed by the declarer. Dummy will gain the lead with a heart. East's last trump will be picked up. Then dummy will win one trick with the K of diamonds when North wins the 2 spade tricks. If East leads a diamond, after winning with his Q of clubs, the declarer will ruff with the Ace, and come back through East, picking up both his trumps. Tomorrow we will see what happens in case East refuses to win the second lead with his Q of clubs.

Greek shipping is much more active than a year ago.

SPYING ON SPORTS

"GOSSIP AND SUCH

SEVERAL YEARS ago Bonnie Witt, a syndicate scribe who knew more about sports and could outwrite plenty of sports writers your correspondent here might name, wrote a swell yarn about the wives of race drivers—and the punishment they have to take up there in the stands while the men they love toy with that sharp and sinister scythe held in the hands of a gaunt gentleman we call the Grim Reaper.

"SPARTANS OF SPORT". if we remember rightly, is the name Bonnie Witt gave those courageous girls. And it's a grand and fitting name.

× × ×

HOWEVER, Bonnie might have added others to that galaxy of feminine high faith and courage—the Spartans of sport. For instance, how about the mothers of prize fighters?

× × ×

ON FIGHT NIGHT no one remembers them. It's—"Zilch will kill Doakes if he lands that right" or "Doakes will tear Zilch's head off." Of course, those who say that do not mean it literally but a lot of them hope the other guy gets hurt so their man will win. We forget that Zilch and Doakes are somebody's sons.

IN OUR EXCITEMENT at the ringside as two magnificently-conditioned youths tear into each other we naturally forget that somewhere there may be an aging woman dying a thousand deaths before her radio each time the announcer bawls—"That last one hurt Doakes badly. He's bleeding freely."

× × ×

BOXING'S a grand and virile game. It's just unfortunate, that's all, that it is the mothers of fighters who take the greatest punishment—but they can take it! Did you ever hear one protest? Nor have I.

Cogs Cop Second Straight E.P.L. Victory 15-5

The Baer Facts Of Night Club Maxie

ELECTRICS PUT UP FAIR FIGHT BUT LOSE GAME

Seven-run Splurge in Last Inning Accounts for Lopsided Verdict.

TIMELY HITTING.

Cogs chalked up their second straight E.P.L. victory last night at the Exhibition Grounds, knocking off C.G.E. by a 15-5 count before a good crowd. It was a fair ball game till the classy champs of last year went on a seven-run splurge in the last inning to cinch the one-sided verdict. Hard and timely hitting, besides steady twirling and fair fielding, accounted for the Cogs' win.

Casey Masterson was on the winners' mound and kept eleven hits pretty well scattered while he fanned seven and issued one walk. Hetherington started for C. G. E. but went to the showers in the second after three hits and four runs. Clair McGillen took up the task then and threw fair ball to keep Cogs down until they reached him hard in the seventh. His support wasn't the best, three costly errors and a number of scratch hits being charged against his teammates. He fanned five.

Lead Cogs Attack

Padgett, Rooke and Moore led Cogs' attack with the willow, all of them clouting out four hits in five times. Wilson, Billingsley and Masterson got two safeties each. Hatton topped the Electrics with three in four, while McGillen, Saunders and Mowry got two apiece. Wilson and Billingsley pulled off nifty running catches and a Busby-to-Nicholls-to-Saunders double-play for C.G.E. featured the fielding.

Hits by Wilson, Padgett and Rooke sent a run in for Cogs in the first. They got four in the second on a walk, error, fielder's choice and hits by Moore, Masterson and Padgett. Hits by Wilson and Billingsby and an out in the fourth gave them another, while they shoved one more across in the fifth on singles by Rooke and Moore with a steal. Padgett singled in the sixth, stole, went to third on Billingsley's hit and scored on Rooke's safety. They went wild in the seventh to score seven on two errors, three stolen bases, singles by Padgett, Masterson and Moore, and doubles by Rooke, Cadd and Mein.

Trailing From Start

Hatton's double, a steal and error gave C.G.E. one in the second. They got two in the fourth on hits by Saunders and Hatton, three pilfered sacks and an error. Two more came in in the fifth on two miscues, a stolen base, an out and Mowry's bingle. Hits in the sixth and seventh came to naught.

CLERKS DEFEAT ACES BY 16-8

Campbellford Softball Fixture Gives Red-Backs a Greater Lead in Town Loop.

ACES PLAY GOOD BALL.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 6. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — The Clerks climbed another rung in league race in the Campbellford Town Softball loop last evening, when they registered a 16-8 win over the Aces, in a game that was played on the High School grounds before a large side-line of fans.

Playing their usual brand of ball, the nifty red-backs made an early start, building up the count in the first two innings by regisering a four and nine tally. From then on however, they dropped a little behind and despite good batting and splendid field work, missed their guess several times by rumbles and errors that cost them in runs. The Aces from the third on played excellent ball and despite two blank innings held the Clerks down in good shape, falling down a little however in lose fielding.

The Aces, who comprise many High School students, are improving their game every time they play, and look like finishing the schedule in a good position. Frank O'Sullivan in the catcher's box, did excellent work, and showed some real ball playing in the way he held down his end of the game. Several good plays were also made by Charlie Bush at second base, who was responsible for several slaughters on the clerks' batters. Only tow home runs were registered, both by the Clerks, Eddie Bush and Morton making the rounds.

BOONE CLAN SOUTHPAW HOLDS VISITING ROYALS TO 5 HITS

Syracuse Regains Sixth Place by Defeating Albany Senators 10 to 5.

BARTON GETS 15 HOMER.

(By the Associated Press)

A heavy-hitting outfielder and a clever southpaw pitcher took over the International League headlines today. The slugger was Vince Barton of Newark; the pitcher Al Hollingsworth of Toronto.

Leading the loop in home runs, Barton cracked out No. 15 in the seventh inning of Newark's tussle with Baltimore Orioles yesterday to climax afour-ru n rally that won the game for the Bears, 5-1. All square at 2-2 going into the last half of that frame, the Bears quickly put over two runs and Barton's home run with Jesse Hill on base, accounted for another pair. They were needed, as it turned out, for the Orioles came back with two runs in the ninth.

Baltimore gave a striking demonstration of how not to score runs. The Orioles punched out 10 hits off Floyd Newkirk in the first seven frames and added five more off Walter Brown in the last two, were handed four passes, and still wound up with only four runs. Newark made 10 hits off George Granger and Euel Moore. Keith Molesworth contributed four hits to Baltimore's attack and Hill hit three for three to lead the Bears' drive.

7th Straight Win

Hollingsworth, young left-hander, pitched his seventh successive victory for Toronto as the Leafs easily turned back Montreal, 5-2. He allowed only five hits, struck out six, walked only one and only one of the Royals' two runs was earned. Manager Ike Boone's triple and two singles featured Toronto's batting.

Regains Sixth Place

Syracuse regained sixth place, replacing idle Buffalo, by taking the last game of the series with Albany 10-5. Four run rallies in the first and seventh innings decided the game. Ralph Judd travelled the route for the Chiefs although walloped for 13 hits including a home run and two singles by Del Bissonette. Max Rosenfeld contributed a home run to Syracuse's attack.

RED SOX TURN BACK YANKEES

Senators Divide Overtime Games With Athletics, Win Nightcap 4-3, Lose Opener 8-7.

CHISOX-BROWNS SPLIT.

Boston Red Sox made the only real forward step in the American League when they turned back the pace-setting Yankees, 8-3, while all the other clubs divided double bills. Timely clouting against Russ Van Atta plus Wes Ferrell's two-hit relief pitching turned the trick.

Detroit Tigers barely failed to capture the lead from the Yanks. They equalled the season's high scoring record in the first game against Cleveland by slamming out 21 hits and a 20-2 victory, but lost out in the nightcap when Bill Knickerbocker's triple in the ninth brought a 5-4 decision for the Indians.

The Athletics and Senators had to go 10 innings in each game to split their bill. Philadelphia won first, 8-7, with a three-run rally off Al Crowder. Washington took the second, 4-3, with a couple of 10th inning walks off Joe Cascarella and Johnny Stone's single doing the damage.

Sad Sam Jones limited fourth-place St. Louis Brown to six hits to give Chicago an 8-2 opening victory but three flingers, starting with Less Teitje couldn't check the second-game hitting, and St. Louis won, 10-5, despite Zeke Bonura's 14th homer.

Wesley Ferrell, Red Sox — Limited Yankees to two hits in 5 2-3 innings of relief hurling.

CARPETMAKERS SCORE 9 RUNS IN 3 INNINGS

Currie Nicked for Eleven Hits But is Given Brilliant Support.

CLEVER DOUBLE-PLAY.

Unleashing a savage attack of base hits in the last three innings, Brintons triumphed over the C.G.E. last evening at Central, 15-6. It was a close struggle till the seventh when the Sturgeon crew broke out, driving Martin from the mound and continuing against Heffernan, who relieved him. Currie, on the winners' mound, pitched steady ball. Although a little wobbly at times, he was able to bear down in the pinches and pull out ahead. He was nicked for eleven hits, while fanning six and walkinf our. His support was good. A sparkling double-play was reeled off by the Brintons in the second, Bradshaw to G. Dormer to Smith.

Martin went along well for C.G.E. till the latter stages. Heffernan finished, and between them they allowed fifteen hits, seven bases on balls and one strikeout. Their support was just fair. Pat Calladine led the Brintons' attack with four hits out of five times. Sturgeon got a homer in the seventh to finish Martin's stay on the slab. Jones had three hits in three for C.G.E. The losers tried out Osterland at first, but the big fellow showed lack of practise and was relieved in the fifth. The infield functioned good after that, but the damage had been done. The teams:

Bill Taylor Made Creditable Showing

Wrestling fans in Peterborough have been interested to notice that Waldie Meyers, the 135 pound Toronto Central wrestling champion, who competed in Peterborough a few weeks ago, last night won the Canadian championship in Toronto, coming through without a fall, there having been a strong entry in his class Ben Engbloom, the 145 pound wrestler, who competed in Peterborough at the same time that Myers did, was not a competitor in the Canadian championships, but a few weeks ago won the Ontario 145 pound championship with ease.

Commenting on the fine wrestling of these two men since they competed in Peterborough, H. B. Cowan, the honorory wrestling coach at the local Y.M.C.A., stated that their impressive work reflected credit on the splendid showing Bill Taylor of Peterborough made against these two men when he wrestled both of them, each for nine minutes, before they obtained a fall. Mr. Cowan stated that in view of the fact that this was Taylor's first experience against high class wrestlers, his showing had been most creditable. At the time he wrestled in Peterborough, Engbloom weighed 152 lbs. and thus weighed almost the same as Taylor. Mr. Cowan expressed the opinion that if Taylor could have four or five months' experience wrestling with men of the class of Engbloom and Meyers he could throw both of them and that he would make an impressive showing in the 158 pound class.

KEENE GIRLS SLUG WAY TO 20-11 WIN

Rural Maidens Give Brilliant Display of the game to Defeat Leafs.

Keene Kirls slugged their way to the second straight victory of the season, in the City and District softball loop last night at Armour Memorial Park when they took the Maple Leafs by a 20 to 11 counts, after pounding the ball in big league style.

Marilyn McCarthy started pitching for the winners but ran into trouble in the fourth and her sister Mary took over the hurling and finished the game in her usual impressive manner. I. Burnham was the pitching choice of the Leafs and twirled fair ball for two and a half frames, when the Keene sluggers tallied twice and then loaded the bags. Genevieve Mann relieved her but her offerings failed to baffle the Rurals who pounded out seven more hits and countered eight times.

The Leafs failed to show a finished style of fielding, while the opposition gave a great display of clever defensive work.

The teams:

Keene—D. Cocks, c; M. Wedlock, rf; G. McCarthy, cf; H. Nelson, ss; M. McCarthy, p; L. McCarthy 3b; I. Short, 1b; Marilyn McCarthy, p; R. Gainor, lf; M. Brown, 2b.

Maple Leafs—A. Sturgeon, ss; D. Ferguson, cf; S. Sturgeon, 1b; L. Trollop, 3b; G. Mann, p; H. Mann, lf; B. Thirnbeck, c; I. Burnham, p; P. Rome, 2b; L. Cockerill, rf; Foster, rf.

Umpires—Galbraith at the plate, Frick on the bases.

Inability To Hit Costs Saints Game

St. James Juniors took a 7-1 victory over St. John's in a Church Softball League game last evening, poor base-running helping St. John's beat themselves besides their inability to hit in pinches. Mowry, on the winners' slab, was wild but he fanned nine. McGoverin, Simmons and Young led the hitters. The win assured St. James of a play-off berth. The teams:

St. John's: Patterson, p, ss; Young, ss, p; Howell, c; Pakenham, 3b; Coleman, 2b; Vollans, lf; Walton, lf; Stephens, cf; Pink, 1b; Pitchford, rf.

St. James: Heal, c; English 3b; Mowry, p; Ridley, ss; McGoverin, 1b; Smart, 2b; Spencely, lf; Simmons, cf; Grose, rf.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse, Soccer
Softball, Bowling, etc.

By C. J. P.

Sixth Line gals play Westclox at 6.15 this e'en up at Central, and no doubt the lasses—both popular teams—will draw a real flock of fans. The Line maidens always had a gang of local rooters, and then the Alarm Girls, winners last year, can generally brag of a heavy fan following. We haven't seen any of the gals' games yet this year and can't say whether they're better than before or not—but nevertheless it's a lead pipe cinch they'll continue to not only draw all the boys from seven to seventy, but also plenty of their own sex. 'Tis a women's' world.

• • • • • •

Keene defeated Maple Leafs, 20 to 12, in the first local maidens' melee, the tussle being run off last night in Armour Field. They drew a pretty fair crowd, the cars lining both sides of Armour Road and pretty nearly stopping traffic. The winners clouted the big ball lopsided and uneven ground didn't help the fielder's averages. Four hurlers were used—or is it abused?—two to each side. Some good defensive play was shown in spots, our scout reports.

• • • • • •

Brintons took a 15-6 smirk over C.G.E. in the men's softball game at Central yester gloaming, Ross Currie flinging good ball and getting support at bat and afield. The Electrics used Martin and Heffernan but their backing was a bit jittery in touchy spots, while most of their eleven clean clouts were just so much waste effort, enough dying on base to warrant a special softball cemetery. Pat Calladine and Manager Sturgeon became reconciled and the colorful Patrick was back at his old stand behind the plate. He got four hits in five. Maybe a few others could stand a layoff at that rate.

• • • • • •

The C.G.E. baseballers took it in the neck, too, Cogs applying the hatchet, 15 to 5. It was a good ball game till it blew up in the Electrics' faces in the seventh. After that, it was just a parade—up to the plate, down to first and so on around to the plate again. Moore got a hit and a life on an error in the seventh, while Crary had the doubtful distinction of fanning twice in this frame. Doug Hatton got three hits for C.G.E., stole three bases and did a good job of catching. Masterson pitched good ball, Hetherington not so hot, and McGillen fair.

• • • • • •

It was hit-hit-hit for Cogs. They just seemed to have the happy knack of smacking the ball everytime where the opposition wasn't. It was a combination of good hitting, luck and poor ground-covering by the other side. Half a dozen of the hits would have been scooped up by fast fielders. However, when a team can step in and club out something like twenty safe bingles in a game, including three doubles, they rate a victory. Cogs aren't invincible and will lose ball games this season, but they'll always be a tough morsel to chew if the false molars aren't hooked in right.

• • • • • •

The Ontario Ladies' 'Golf championship matches are on now in Kitchener, and the draw for today finds two Peterborough ladies in the third flight, second round. Mrs. O. A. DeGraw of this city is drawn against Mrs. Fred Fisher of the London Hunt Club, and Mrs. Gerald Wood of Peterborough meeting Mrs. D. T. Oreal of Westmount. The driving, approaching and putting competitions will be held late this afternoon.

• • • • • •

With the School Softball League scheduled to end this Friday, though there may be a few postponed games to run off after, the City Baseball League schedule should be out shortly. They are billed to open around the middle of the month, with three or four bantam teams and the same in juvenile. We haven't heard of any new entries in either class yet. St. Peter's, King Edward and Maple Leafs are the sure entries in the under-sixteen-class while Terriers, another East City entry and Jack McIlmoyle's squad are the likely juvenile starters.

• • • • • •

The Petes went through a stiff practise session at Riverside last night, and intend to grab both games from Oshawa here Saturday if at all possible. After all the battling back and forth, the locals would feel very embarrassed if the Dukes stepped in and slapped two lickings on them their first meeting of the year. Knotty Lee had another hurler—we don't know his name—working out and he looked good. He's a righthander. A good southpaw would make the local pitching staff a dangerous one to opponents. A wrong-side flinger like Frank Whitehouse would be just like money from home to the Petes this year.

• • • • • •

Grab-bag: Shiner Johnston and probably Reg. Fair of Oshawa will be the umps here Sat'day . . . . Only C.O.B.L. game today is the Kingston at Belleville one . . . . We were sorry to hear of Ken Baker's death yesterday; he was a former ball player around here, took an active interest in minor baseball and was a deservedly popular young fellow . . . . C. G. TORONTO CITY MATMEN HOLD GRAPPLE TITLES Ted McKinley Scores Only Upset by Close Decision Over Gar Fuller.

EVANS HEADS HEAVIES.

TORONTO, June 6 (CP)—Toronto matmen to-day held all Canadian amateur wrestling titles. Ted McKinley of Toronto Central "Y" scored the only upset of the finals here last night, when he won a close decision over the Ontario champion, Gar Fuller of Toronto West End "Y."

The heavyweight title went to Terry Evans of Toronto West End "Y", who was forced to the limit to gain a decision over Bill Watt of University of Toronto. The blonde collegian fought hard and broke most of Evans' holds, but the West ended kept him on the defensive throughout. Evans won the 174-pound crown Monday night.

Jim Allen of Toronto Central "Y" stopped the only out-of-town threat for a title, defeating L. Nell of St. Thomas in the 145-pound final. Allen almost scored a fall twice, but the ropes saved the St. Thomas boy. Joe Schleimer of Toronto Central "Y" had a slight edge over Harry Peace of Toronto Moss Park in the 156-pound final to win a decision. The speedy Schleimer kept on top while on the mat but could not down Pearce.

Waldy Meyers of Toronto Central "Y" counted the only fall of the finals in his bout with Bill Miller, also of Toronto Central "Y." Meyers was cut over the eye but after it was bandaged came back to hold his margin and win the decision and the 134-pound title.

The veteran Cliff Worthy of Toronto West End "Y" won the 191-pound crowd by gaining a decision over Bill Watt. It was the closest bout of the finals with neither being able to earn much of a margin.

ANTARCTIC HOT WAVE TOUCHES 25 ABOVE ZERO

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, June 6.—(Via Mackay Radio) (AP).—Sleeping bags have been laid aside by some members of the Byrd Antarctic expedition as a "hot spell" shows no sign of relenting.

The temperature yesterday reached 25 degrees above zero, about 10 degrees higher than the maximum recorded by any previous explorers of the Antarctic.

W. C. Haines, meteorologist of the expedition, said the warm winter possibly has a bearing on unusual weather conditions prevailing this year in other parts of the world.

Rumor Mme. Lupescu Will Flee To France

PARIS, June 6 (C.P.). — Reports that Mme. Magda Lupescu, red-haired intimate friend of King Carol of Rumania, would take refuge in France against alleged plots on her life persisted to-day.

Georges Dimitrescou, former secretary to Carol, came to Paris recently, and was said to be preparing Carol's chateau, Belleme, near Dinand, for Mme. Lupescu at the king's instructions.

Rumors said she would come to France in precautionary exile for several months because of hostilities against her in Rumania. A large sum of money was reported to have been deposited in a Zurich bank recently, presumably for Mme. Lupescu's use.

Dimitrescu said he was leaving his hotel here for a fortnight "in the country near Paris," but denied he was going to Belleme.

A group of Rumanian army officers was convicted recently of attempts against the life of Carol, members of the court, and Mme. Lupescu.

HEAVY HITTING WINS TWIN BILL FOR THE PHILS

Home Runs Decide Last-minute Verdicts for Battling Homesters.

CARDINALS KEEP LEAD.

Paul Dean Hurls St. Louis to 6-3 Victory Over Chicago Cubs.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.)

One of the best of this year's crop of baseball yarns concerns the fan who watched the Phillies as they lost their seventh successive game at the start of the season and toward the end loudly addressed Manager Jimmy Wilson:

"You asked for it, Jimmy; now you're getting it."

After a longer trial, however, it begins to appear that the Phils aren't quite as bad as they have been painted. The Phils showed plenty of power and in a crowd-pleasing way yesterday as they trimmed Brooklyn Dodgers in both ends of a double-header. And they made it look as if they might begin to go somewhere if they could only round up a little more reliable pitching.

After spotting the Dodgers a six-run rally in the opener, when Ed Holley weakened in the fifth, the Phils got four back and knocked Van Mungo out in the same frame and finally won out in the ninth, 11-10, when Bud Clancy, recently brought up from Buffalo to supplant Don Hurst at first, socked a home run with one on base. They repeated the comeback in the second clash, scoring all their runs in eighth for a 5-4 victory after Ray Benge had given only three hits in the first seven frame. Ethan Allen again brought in the winning runs with a homer.

Cubs Take a Fall

Philadelphia's double victory couldn't change the league standing. First-place St. Louis Cardinals took care of that part of the day's activities by trimming Chicago 6-3, to knock the Cubs out of the three-way virtual tie for the lead. Paul Dean pitched seven-hit ball for his sixth mound victory; New York Giants kept their place six points behind the Cards by making effective use of 16 hits, including three home runs, to beat Boston, 13-4.

The Pittsburg - Cincinnati game was rained out.

Rome was not built in a day; neither was our bowling club, but we sure are making great headway.

There is hardly a week passes but what some good suggestion comes forth, and bit by bit we are gradually reaching our objective—namely, to have one of the best equipped bowling greens in Ontario.

Now to-night is the mixed masquerade tournament and cool weather is promised—so if we were just sure that somebody would shoot all the mosquitoes we would be all set for a big night.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

When I have to help a player on the course who is slicing, some drastic treatment is needed.

First I have him take a starting position with an open stance and the club held so that the hands are well ahead of the ball. This position necessitates turning the left hand well over.

From this starting position the first few swings are generally failures.

Why?

Simply because the player thinks that his slice is caused by a lagging clubhead and the hands being ahead of the club in much the same position as I placed them to begin with. Few slices are caused in this way. It's cutting across the ball that does the damage and the proper starting position plus keeping the chin back will eliminate the cutting.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

READ THIS FIRST

John Tait, stepson of wealthy Lady Tait, is engaged to marry Lucy Burnham a widow. This is resented by Alysia Naylor, John's cousin who has been making her home with her sister Etta, and her brother, Claud, at Tait's abode in London. Lady Tait sees her stepson talking with a beautiful girl revealed as Gillian Dundas, in the hotel lobby at Vichy where she, Tait and Lucy are stopping. Gillian, it seems, is blackmailing Tait for a past indiscretion. Back in London Lady Tait shows John a letter from her dead son's wife, an Italian woman she despises demanding money for her son. Lady Tait's grandson. Tait learns of the fatal shooting of his business associate, Lord Mills, for which his valet, Brown, is held. Tait had recommended Brown for the post. Reggie Claridge, Alysia Naylor's fiance, attracted by Gillian Dundas whom he met in Paris follows the latter and a strange-looking young man in a cab. Miss Dundas returns to the station and Claridge follows the man into an apartment. He comes upon a human fiend sitting before a mirror. The stranger spies him runs after him but Claridge leaves him behind. Tait goes to Lord Mills' quarters in an effort to have Brown, the valet, released from police custody. At Scotland Yard Superintendent Dartmoor talks over the Mills shooting with Chief Inspector Pointer and tells him of Tait's interest in the case.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 16

Lady Tait looked at Mrs. Burnham in a silence that conveyed volumes. The latter had just returned from her outing with Tait, the outing cut short by the announcement in the papers that Lord Mills had been found shot dead in his flat.

Lucy Burnham returned the look with a half-entreating, half-quizzical glance.

"Don't say you think me mad! You'd have done the same in my place."

"Never!" Lady Tait spoke with emphasis. "Take a young woman in just because I found her crying on the doorstep! My dear Lucy, who is she? Companion to Mrs. de Souza? That's nothing to go on. What is she? How can you possibly tell?"

"I'm not clever like you," her guest replied promptly, "but I can read faces, and a nicer one than this pretty girl has, I've never seen. I thought so at Vichy when I first saw her there, you remember."

"Nice!" Lady Tait's very voice seemed to throw up hands of horror. "Beautiful, yes, very remarkably so. And I should say a nearly perfect figure. But nice! Oh, Lor'!" She would have added had she been given to such language, "If ever I saw a weak, shy p'easure-loving face, that girl has one. And what are you going to do with her?" She went on: "People are easier picked up than dropped, as well you know. Even the best of them. Especially when one's got your kind heart. Really, I'm afraid you'll find yourself saddled with an incubus, and perhaps worse. What reason did she give for being on my doorstep, pray?"

"She hoped I would be in. She came to me for help as some poor little wild animal might have done." Mrs. Burnham's voice was moved. "She has left Mrs. de Souza. A nephew has turned up who is quite impossible. She didn't know where to go . . . she thought I would be kind. Few women are kind to her, she says ——"

"Very few, I fancy," Lady Tait agreed grimly. "Forgive me being impertinent, dear, but oughtn't you to consult John now?"

"I hadn't time." Lucy looked as if tears were not far off. "I had to do something. She won't go back to Mrs. de Souza's flat. That dreadful young man is there, she says, and Mrs. de Souza has gone off to stay with some friends in the country. She seems to think poor Miss Dundas can remain on with him. I always did think her a frightfully selfish thing. Of course, I don't want to land the girl on you, Lady Tait. She has some little studio of her own in Fulham, it seems, where she works at china-mending and so on, only she can't afford to pay the rent if she's out of a place. It's all a rush, of course, and I know it's dreadful of me to bring her in here, but—until I can turn round I really don't quite know what to do with her."

"Take her to a G. F. S. Lodge, pay a week's board for her, and let her find another place," Lady Tait said briskly.

"They're always full," Lucy reminded her reproachfully, "and generally frightfully uncomfortable. You know the kind of beds they give the girls, Lady Tait, believe me, she really is in great distress. You'd have done just as I have, had you seen her standing there like some pathetic, stray cat in the rain."

It was not a poetical simile, but Lady Tait looked uncomfortable. "As for John, I know he will feel exactly as I do," Lucy went on. "Would have done just as I did."

There was a little pause.

"Where is she at the present moment?" Lady Tait asked.

"I told her to lie down. She looked worn out with worry and fright. Evidently the nephew was an absolute cad. Don't think that I intend to inflict her on you indefinitely. It's just for the moment." Lady Tait rang the bell and ordered tea to be taken up to Miss Dundas.

"Though I fancy she would prefer a cocktail," she said to Lucy. "Now, my dear, I'm no Gorgon. Besides, the girl is here as your friend. Of course she's welcome under that heading."

"I couldn't quite make out about her studio as she calls it, but if nothing else turns up at once, I'll find some way of making her useful to me."

"Such as?" Lady Tait asked dryly.

"Well—eh—companionship, and so on. With her good looks only a respectable girl would have been so utterly helpless."

Lady Tait acknowledged that argument with a rather grudging nod.

"Still, to take a girl as your companion, even though but for a couple of weeks, a girl you know nothing about . . ." she protested afresh.

"But what else can I do?" Lucy's tone was a trifle impatient. "I'm not prepared to adopt a daughter yet a while. But seriously I felt as though some lovely bird had flown on to my window sill for protection from the storm, and God knows what, outside."

"Ump!" was Lady Tait's only comment, but she kissed Lucy. She liked a soft heart in another, though she pretended that her own was Bessemer steel.

"And you're accepting her story as gospel truth?" she said finally. There seemed no way out of the difficulty. But quite apart from disliking Gillian Dundas, she would have much preferred not to have had her cross John's path again until his wedding.

"Oh, no!" Lucy was shocked. "Dear me, no! I shall go out this afternoon and see Mrs. de Souza, or at least find out where she is, and so on. Oh, no, I intend, of course, to check up her story."

And when the two met at dinner, Mrs. Burnham told her hostess that, so far as she could find out, Gillian had told her nothing but the truth.

"As to the young man, Mrs. de Souza's nephew, he has tried to make love to Gillian often before, and each time Mrs. de Souza pretends that it's her fault, and refused to do anything about it. I spoke to her on the telephone. She seemed to think Gillian was making mountains out of molehills. And she's most indignant over her leaving her. But Miss Dundas very naturally feels that nothing would induce her to go near the place again."

"And this studio of hers?"

Mrs. Burnham went on to explain. It seemed that Gillian's mother had bought the lease of it some years before, and let it intermittently to artists or craft-workers. "Gillian has done pottery work and intends to go in for mending old china. I think, with a little help, it ought to do very well. She's clever with her fingers, you know."

"I don't." But Lady Tait was smiling affectionately. "She seems, however, to be clever with her tongue. There, there, my dear, if you like, I'll let her try her hand with my cracked Sevres dish. Is she going to stay here entirely?" Lady Tait spoke with open hopefulness.

"Not to sleep here," Lucy said promptly. "It's all very well by day. The studio, I mean. I've just left her there. But the weirdest sort of people seem to live there. I don't think it would be at all the sort of place to leave her in, without any one to look after her."

And Lady Tait, against her will, let it go at that. After all, she might be quite wrong in attaching so much importance to that odd little scene in the hotel lounge. . . . But John was acting very oddly just now again. He had excused himself from luncheon for which he had meant to be back. He had not turned up at a friend's dinner which he had accepted. And, later on, he had telephoned to Lucy that he would not be able to go with her to a supper somewhere or other. The Ham Bone, Lady Tait believed, was the name of the club, where a party of the Naylors' friends were taking Mrs. Burnham.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, June 7

According to the dominant planets, activities seem to be of a doubtful or uncertain nature, yet the rewards of merit, steadfastness and industry seem to find recognition at the hands of elderly persons or institutions in a substantial manner. Otherwise there is need to be on guard against treachery, fraud or misrepresentation, also petty quarrels and jealousies. Writings of unusual, mystical or curious nature may flourish.

Those whose birthday it is have the augury of a year of some substantial gain, possibly as reward for their fidelity, hard work and responsibility in the interest of elderly persons or institutions. Writings out of the ordinary may thrive. Be alert as to fraud and deception, petty jealousies and shun small quarrels.

A child born on this day should be studious, steady and industrious and should find favor with elders, who may substantially advance their interests.

19 COMMUNISTS FACE MACAULAY

Try to Sing Internationale at Toronto Rally—Hurl Questions.

TWO WEEKS TO GO.

TORONTO, June 6 (C.P.). — Party chieftains to-day had less than two weeks to wind up their campaigning for the Ontario general elections which take place on June 19. The remaining days of the campaign are crowded with meetings for Premier George S. Henry, the Cabinet Ministers and Mitchell F. Hepburn, Liberal leader, and his lieutenants.

While Mr. Hepburn continues his campaign in Prescott and Glengarry, Mr. Henry journeys to Kingston to-day. The Premier will speak at Kingston to-night, and at the same time Arthur Slaght, K.C., of Toronto, Liberal supporter, will deliver an address in the same city. Mr. Slaght was the object of an attack by Premier Henry last night at Brockville.

In his Vankleek Hill and Cornwall addresses, Mr. Hepburn called for a new deal in Ontario and throughout Canada. He declared there was too much duplication in Federal and Provincial departments. He also promised his audience there would be a French-Canadian member in his Cabinet if his party was placed in power.

Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Ontario Minister of Highways, faced a band of 19 hecklers when he appeared at a Toronto meeting. The hecklers hurled numerous questions at the Minister and tried to sing the Internationale. When he asked the political faiths of those in the audience 19 hands went up in support of Communism. Then Mr. Macaulay expressed the hope his supporters would give the Communist candidates "a taste of the same medicine."

Hon. William Finlayson, Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests, speaks at Port William to-day as he starts a tour of the lakehead district. Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, addresses a Kapuskasing meeting and Hon. Leopold Macaulay appears at Waterloo.

Home and School Association News

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL

A very enjoyable concert under the auspices of the Home and School Association was given in Confederation School on Monday evening. This was the final meeting of the season and was well attended by parents, scholars and friends.

Mrs. J. Milby, president, welcomed the guests and asked for an increase of interest and membership in the association.

Mr. A. Pitchford, school trustee, made an efficient chairman, and after a few introductory remarks announced the following items, all given by the pupils: Guitar selections, Reta Husk; song selection, Elsie Jones; pageant, "Discovery of Canada," by the senior boys; song, Marjorie McGregor; recitation, "Dickens in the Camp" Ethel Barnes; guitar selection, Marguerite Welch; song, Joe McMahon (encored); recitation, "Little Mother of Mine" June White; violin solos, Chanson, Trieste, Clumberland, Aileen Hughes; song, "For Twenty-one Years", Ruby Tripp; quartette "Day is Closing" Viola Edwards, Marguerite Hawthorne, A. Pilling, H. Smith; Chimes, played by Mr. W. R. Potter, with Miss C. Milby at the piano—"Bells of St. Mary's" and Handel's "Largo", Viola Edwards taking the first named; songs, "Home on the Range", "Gliding Through the meadow" Viola Edwards; variety show by the senior boys. This tem was in the nature of a minstrel troupe with Arnold Pickles as interlocutor. The eight black faced minstrels proved very entertaining, with their songs, snappy jokes, and variety band.

After the singing of the National Anthem Mrs. T. Monk (past president) moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Jackson, Mr. Potter and the children for the splendid program provided, and endorsed the president's opening remarks concerning the interest and membership of the mothers.

Ice cream and cake were served to the artists and adults by members of the association with Mrs. A. Thomas as convenor.

NEW DRY SPOTS APPEAR IN U. S.

Downpours Fall in Sections Where Crops Already Beyond Hope.

MAY SAVE PASTURES.

CHICAGO, June 6 (AP)—New dry spots appeared on the United States drought map to-day as rains brought some relief to other hard-hit sections.

Spreading eastward, the dry area included States in New England, with crops in Maine threatened by a rainless spell already two weeks old.

Rains spattered dry and dusty fields in many sections of the Middle West, but came too late, Agriculture Department officials said, to be of benefit to wheat.

Some help for corn, forage crops and pastures was held out as a result of the rainfalls, especially as the official forecasts indicated "showers and cooler" for much of the drought territory.

The rains in dry sections ranged from gentle showers to downpours, ironically enough, falling in territory where crops already had perished.

Wheat Beyond Aid

Agriculture statisticians in Northwestern States were almost unanimous in the opinion that showers now were too late to help wheat much, but would prove invaluable in preserving other crops.

Ohio had rains and expected more to relieve a water shortage in Eastern and Southern portions of the State. N. W. Baker, Federal Crop representative, said fear of irreparable damage to crops was "hysteria," and that a fair shower once a week from now on would bring many crops through "in fair shape."

Maine, just beginning to feel the drought, has suffered considerable loss to gardens, pasture land and the hay crop, with the apple yield cut in half by sub-nomal temperatures last winter. The situation there was said to require abundant moisture within three days.

Minnesota and Upper Michigan did not look for rain, but lower temperatures were indicated. Showers were announced as probable in the Dakotas and were to spread eastward across the dry, parched wheat country.

TWO TEACHERS ARE APPOINTED

Appointments Are Made to Vocational School Staff by Board.

RE-ESTABLISH CLASSES.

Peterborough Board of Education last night adopted the report of the Advisory Vocational Committee and in so doing ratified the appointment of two new teachers, to the Vocational School staff, whose duties are to commence in September.

Donald Ross, B.Sc., is appointed to succeed George B. Sullivan, who has resigned, at an initial salary of $2,000, with increase according to schedule, but subject to a reduction of 15 per cent; while Mr. A. Shearer, B.A., has been appointed to succeed Miss Mary A. Moir, who has also resigned, at an initial salary of $2,000 with increase according to schedule, but subject to a reduction of 15 per cent.

In their report the committee recommended that the maximum salary of teachers in the shops (including woodworking, machine, drafting, auto mechanics and electricity), be for university graduates and specialists $2,700 and for non-specialists, $2,500, effective from January 1, 1935.

That subject to the approval of the Property Committee, permission be given for minor alterations between Rooms 14 and 16, and 16 and 18, to enable a connection to be made to the blue print machine from a 220-volt service in Room 18. The cost of the alteration, it was stated, would approximate $12 for materials, which cost would be taken care of out of the appropriations.

In adopting the committees report, the Board decided that night classes in mathematic, applied electricity and auto mechanics will be re-established for the balance of this year, providing the fee charged will make the classes self-sustaining.

To carry out the recommendations of the government inspector for a new type of lesson sheet, that will assist the instructor to handle mixed classes to greater advantage, Miss Sawyer, stenographer for the night classes, was appointed for the months of June and September at $12 per week.

The committee also went on record in appreciation of services rendered by the teachers of the commercial department, in supervising special classes in typewriting after school hours.

Your Health

by DR LOGAN CLENDENING

The last realm of physiology to be revealed—or at least the latest, for no one knows what the last will be—is that strange circulation of chemicals through our blood, excreted into it by those little masses of flesh placed here and there, called "ductless glands." Subtly these chemicals affect our tissues, our minds, perhaps our personalities, drawing the blood away from this spot and flooding that other organ, whipping our cells into activity until they grow and grow, warming us, cooling us, stimulating us, and then subduing us into a lethargy. So that all the processes of life seem to be activated and controlled by these regulators of our earthly system.

It was not a guess so wide of the mark that caused Descartes, the first describer of one of them—the pineal gland—to assert that it is the seat of the soul. One of the most modern of physiologists has ventured to call the pituitary gland, the cappel-meister of the dance of life. Which is not far from saying in a modern way—the soul.

Even more complicated do these activities become when the glands become diseased, and instead of their secretion, they produce too little or too much or even a secretion somewhat different in chemical comoosition from the normal. Treatment of such disorders is theoretically simple. When the secretion is too low, an extract of the secretion from the gland of a healthy animal is given. When the secretion is too high or is diseased, the gland is surgically removed, and a normal secretion substituted. But this is frequently unsatisfactory because we are not wise enough to know exactly how to regulate the secretion, even if we should have potent extracts for all the glands, which we have not.

So rapidly are methods changing, however, that even the general plan of these procedures may be modified. The latest word we get on the subject is that many new and active extracts of these glands are being perfected, and even anti-extracts or anti-hormones which have the effect of neutralizing an excess secretion. Thus in the near future, surgical operations on these glands may be entirely avoided, and the anti-hormone be given until the evil effect of increased activity be mitigated and the gland returns to normal activity.

Certainly it would look as if the future of medical treatment lay largely in the hands of the chemist.

Dynamite Man

Threatening to blow himself, and possibly many other persons, to bits, "if a false move was made," Frank Bennett, 42, shell-shocked war veteran, is shown in his car at Alameda, Cal., where he surrendered to police. Wired head to foot and holding contact switch which could set off a large quantity of dynamite in the car, Bennett, unemployed mechanic and father of three children, posed for the cameraman before giving himself up after maintaining an all-night state of terror.

GERMAN MOBS ATTACK STORES

Claim Woolworth Company Has Joined Anti-German Boycott in U.S.

RAIDS IN 3 CITIES.

BERLIN, June 6. —(AP)— Angry mobs demonstrated in three cities today against stores of the F. W. Woolworth Company, following reports the American firm had joined an anti-German boycott.

Windows of the store at Kassel were smashed, streaks of paint were daubed on the company's store at Bonn, and a chorus of excited voices shouted "Do not buy from this anti-German firm". At Ludwigshafen, as the attacks on the United States firm, inaugurated yesterday at Kassel, continued.

Woolworth's German representatives vigorously denied reports reaching Germany that the company had joined a boycott on German goods in United States.

"As a matter of fact," a spokesman said, "One of our New York buyers is about to sail for Germany. One from Canada was here recently, as was one from England.

"It is nonsense to talk of our joining the boycott. We are doing business with German manufacturers now as always and intend to continue to do so."

Woolworth officials said they would make vigorous representations to the German government demanding that the campaign against their stores be stopped.

TO BE NO DELAY IN PROCLAIMING NEW BEER BILL

So Hepburn Tells Audiences at Vankleek Hill and Cornwall.

AGAINST WATERWAY.

Reiterates Opposition to Appointing of Lieutenant-Governor at Present Time.

By JACK HAMBLETON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

CORNWALL, Ont., June 6. (CP). Still maintaining perhaps his fast electioneering pace Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader, left here to-day for Morrisburg, where he is scheduled to address electors of that district this afternoon. He will speak again to-night at Smith's Falls and has three addresses scheduled for Ottawa and district on the following day and night.

Mr. Hepburn spoke twice yesterday, once in Vankleek Hill, supporting 73-year-old James Sangster, "The Man From Glengarry" who is the oldest member of the legislature, and again last night at Cornwall. Supporters formed a procession more than a mile long behind Mr. Hepburn's car, and then packed a grand stand at the fair grounds.

Three separate planks of the Liberal platform were enunciated by the Liberal leader during the two meetings. Full value for the money expended by the province, and collection of outstanding taxation, particulars with regard to timber limits.

No Delay in Bill

He told his audience there would be no delay on the part of the Liberal government, if it was elected on June 19, in obtaining proclamation for the bill which will give Ontario beer and wine by the glass.

Regarding the St. Lawrence waterways, a vital issue in this locality, he declared he could see no economic necessity for its construction at the present time, "since the Bennett government is a government which restricts our markets" he saw the day, he said, upon a Liberal administration coming to power at Ottawa and with expanding markets when construction of the waterway might be warranted.

Again he outlined his position regarding his opposition to the appointment of a lieutenant governor in Ontario some time ago. "I am just as British as Premier George S. Henry," he said, "but I do not believe the appointment was necessary in these times of depression. Prior to the appointment of the present lieutenant governor, the work was carried on by Sir William Mulock, Chief Justice, who is more than 80 years of age, and he never complained."

Despite the oppressive heat which has prevailed for practically his entire election campaign, Mr. Hepburn is still fresh and full of energy.

STILL HOPEFUL

WASHINGTON, June 6. (CP). — President Roosevelt told newspapermen at his press conference today that he is still hopeful that some agreememnt may be reached for building the St. Lawrence waterway and is expected to carry on discussions with Canadian officials as members of the Senate to adjust difficulties which have prevented the United States senate from ratifying the present treaty.

RAIN TOO LATE TO SAVE CROPS IN MANY AREAS

Downfall in Dozen States Reaches Only Half Required Amount.

MAY MOVE FARMERS.

Feed for Stock Almost Gone—'Hoppers Increase—Call for Aid Grows.

CHICAGO, June 6.—(AP)—Rain has come to parched farms of the United States west, but in many places too late to pour life back into burned grain fields.

Water was still precious in spite of heavy rains in seven States last night. Additional rains were forecast generally for the ravaged area, lending hope that the peak of six weeks' drought damage has been reached.

Although rain fell in Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, Nebraska and Indiana, a survey showed to-day that much of the early small grain was beyond redemption and the need for immediate relief acute.

South Dakota farmers, their small grains heavily damaged, watched for rains to save forage crops.

Idaho estimated its water supply only 56 per cent. of normal. Double the $250,000 drought relief fund granted the State was declared necessary to save imperilled districts.

More Aid.

In Utah the water supply was from 10 to 40 per cent. normal. Its $600,000 drought relief program was estimated to make up only from 15 to 20 per cent. of the deficiency. A plan was considered of moving farmers out of the worst drought areas.

The Wisconsin State Department of Agriculture reported livestock feed virtually exhausted, other states being looked to for the purchase of supplies. The grasshopper menace in northern counties was as great as the lack of moisture.

The Iowa Department of Agriculture cited chinch bugs as the most serious threat to their crops. Heavy rains within 10 days would save the corn crop.

In Nebraska the feed situation was the most serious.

Wheat was virtually a total failure in Western Kansas, but the crisis was not reached in the corn crop. Stockmen hauled water.

Abnormal rains in Wyoming were held by Arnold King, Department of Agriculture statistician, as the only hope for cattle and crops. A foodstuffs carryover removed the danger of famine

Push Relief Program

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP)—Glad tidings of rain in the drought belt cheered United States congressmen today as they joined a White House conference extraordinary to push a vast relief program.

Whether the rain that fell in the parched midwest last night would affect plans to spend about $500,000,000; for relief remained to be seen. Officials have said that large sums would have to be spent in repair enormous damage already done.

President Roosevelt was described as "determined to meet the needs of the drought area in an aggressive and affirmative fashion."

Ominous reports from the field yesterday spurred congressmen from the 15 stricken states. They told of danger of food shortage in at least one section, and of water famine in another. Starving livestock, destroyed crops and brush fires added gloom to the picture.

President Roosevelt had at hand a plan suggested by Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator, Governor Wm. I. Mivers of the Farm Credit administration, Farm Administrator Chester C. Davis, and Acting Secretary of Agriculture Rexford G Tugwell.

It called for expenditure of at least $455,000,000, of which $100,000,000 would go for work relief, $200,000,000 to purchase and process beef cattle, $100,000,000 to feed livestock, $50,000,000, to buy submarginal land, and $25,000,000 to furnish seed.

$50,000,000 Crop Loss.

BUFFALO, N.Y., June 5 (A.P.).—The drought situation in the eight Western New York counties to-day was described as "desperate" by Richard F. Fricke, manager of the Erie County Farm and Home Bureau.

Fricke, returning from a survey of the area, said Erie, Wyoming, Niagara, Orleans, Allegany, Genesee and Chautagua Counties faced the possibility of a $50,000,000 crop loss. He said that no matter what happens now there will be a definite hay shortage with resultant hardships on farmers and an ultimate shortage of milk.

It will be in celebration of Lux twenty-fifth birthday, and promises to be a real Birthday Party, with plenty of fun for everybody. A novel inter-weaving of music and drama will provide a unique and different type of show. And speaking of "drammer," none other than Jack MacLaren, erstwhile director of that great original "Dumbells" Company is directing the large cast. A sustained, dramatic story will form the background for the colorful and varied music of Jack Arthur's Orchestra and a group of outstanding soloists. A point of technical interest is that three microphones will be used to blend the work of the whole company.

Find Minister's Son As C.C.F. Candidate

YORKTON, Sask., June 6 (C.P.)—Flight of an Ontario minister's son into Saskatchewan as a day laborer after a nervous breakdown was revealed today when the identity of "Leslie C. Foster," candidate of the Farmer-Labor (C.C.F.), party in the forthcoming Saskatchewan elections became known.

"Leslie C. Foster" is Ilewellyn C. Fletcher, son of Rev. W. P. Fletcher D.D., United Church minister at Odessa, Ont. He quit the east in 1933 and recently was selected the Farmer-Labor candidate in the Yorkton constituency for the June 19 elections.

Fletcher revealed his identity himself when pressed by questioners at a meeting at Rokeby, nine miles southeast of her, last night. He explained he suffered a nervous breakdown in 1933, adopted the name of Fletcher and came west to work in the harvest fields. After his recovery he decided to continue using the name of Foster.

HAVELOCK HAD 765 ON RELIEF

Total Expenditure Made by Special Committee Was $2,981.27.

COMMITTEE'S REPORT

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, June 6. — In spite of the increased amount of unemployment and consequently a larger list of dependents in Havelock the cost of relief to the village was reduced below that of last year.

At the council meeting held in the town hall on Monday evening the following letter to the reeve and councillors was read by relief officer John Kinnaird and will be of vital interest to the entire district: "We, your committee, appointed to assist the local relief work in the past few months have from time to time been approached by ratepayers of the village for information as to the cost, the numbers of families assisted, etc., and we deemed it necessary now that the period of direct relief is over to present a report.

"In presenting our report we do with a feeling of satisfaction that the cost has been light on the taxpayers; but we certainly regret that it has been merely a dole and we have given to the unfortunates only enough to assist them, and no more. To-day on our streets are to be seen children undernourished, and some who are poorly clad, and we believe that a systematic appeal to the generous people of the village would not be passed unheeded.

"The coming Fall and Winter will again make a demand on us similar to the period we have just passed through. We therefore humbly beg to suggest that our reeve and council take some immediate steps to make provision for those requiring assistance. Would it not be an opportune time to provide seed and plots for garden purposes? This is being done elsewhere and proving very satisfactory, not only in relieving the taxpayer, but in providing work.

"The cutting of wood, while hard work, last winter, was a wonderful asset to the village and the men performing the work, were generally speaking, glad to do it, and in a way to be on their own.

"In submitting our report we wish to thank Mr. Bruce Puffer, clerk and treasurer, for the able assistance he has rendered us, and we trust that the time may not be far distant when a kind Providence will reveal to those who are in comfort their duty to those who have not the material things, which will bring the promised blessings to all. We are your obedient servants, (Signed), John Kinnaird, relief officer, H. W. Roche, chairman, J. W. Ketchen and Mrs. J. Kinnaird.

December, total on relief 12; food $38.05; fuel, $8.50; medicine and services, $15.50; total $52.05. January, 23 on relief, food $62; fuel and light, $-9.10; medicine and service, ——; total $91.50. January relief work, total $143; food $325.41; fuel $10.50; clothing $5.18; light, $20.21; total $361.20.

February direct relief, total 76; food $169.00; fuel $103.17; shelter, $8; total $259.26; Relief work, food $503.71; clothing $72.88; fuel $83.07, light $5.82; shelter $10.50; total $675.98. Doctors' accounts: Dr. A. S. Thompson, $34; Dr. D. J. Holdcroft, $33.25; Dr. Jos. Holdcroft, $68.25.

March relief, all together, total on relief 177; food $644.93; clothing $88.34; fuel $58.08; shelter $49.44; total $840.79. Doctors accounts: Dr. A. S. Thompson $3.75; Dr. Jos. Holdcroft $101.25.

April total relief, total on relief, 177, food $303.59; clothing $26.05; shelter $1.05; total $331.14; doctors' accounts: Dr. A. S. Thompson $3; Dr. Jos. Holdcroft $53.75.

Total relief expenditure from Dec 1st, 1933 to April 30, 1934, $2,981.27; total on relief 765.

The administration of this was done by the very efficient committee named elsewhere in this article, and which is certainly to be congratulated by all good citizens for their untiring work without any remuneration.

Recall Sextuplets Born New York 1869

BUFFALO, N.Y., June 6 (A.P.)—The five Dionne babies of Corbeil, Ont. have revived memories in Western New York of the "Bushnell sextuplets," four girls and two boys, born in 1869.

They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. James Busnell, and were born while the family lived in Chicago. Shortly after their birth the parents came to Buffalo and later lived at Lockport and then at Albion, N.Y. At least two of the sextette still are living in Western New York.

One of the girls died when a year old and another at 14 months. Of the other four, Mrs. Alinca Jennie Bushnell Parker lives in Perry, N.Y. and Albert J. Bushnell at the Orlean's County Home at Albion, N.Y. A third, Norbert, was a resident of Buffalo util a few years ago and the other girl was last heard of as a school teacher in Mexico.

Mrs. Busnell, like Mrs. Dionne, was of French parentage. She was 29 years old when the six children were born. The father, a native of Phelps, N.Y., was 45. The mother died at 39. The sextuplets were the Bushnells only children and there were no grandchildren.

25,000 JAPANESE PAY ADMIRAL LAST TRIBUTE

TOKYO, June 6 (A.P.)—Japan's common people, saying farewell today to their hero, Admiral Marquis Heihachiro Togo, paid him a more moving tribute than the gold-branded dignitaries who participated in the state funeral.

During the noon hour the casket rested in a shrine at Hibiha Park, and after the princes, admirals and ambassadors departed the public was permitted to pay homage to the hero of the Russo-Japanese War, who died May 30.

An estimated 250,000 persons filled the park to overflowing and approached at least within sight of the casket. Police reported one person died of heart failure and 53 others were treated at first aid stations for fainting, suffocation and minor injuries.

At 3 p.m. an automobile cortege escorted the body to a cemetery.

Sailors of five foreign nations participated in a farewell salute. Business houses of Tokyo were shut tight during the day.

Our Slogan—

"Good Tea"

—is the measure of its quality

TODAY THE CEYLON TEA BUREAU in its advertising urges Canadians to "buy good Tea". "Good Tea" is a blend of better grades picked at the most favorable season when the young leaves have attained maximum flavor and strength. Forty years ago Red Rose Tea adopted the words "Good Tea" as its slogan. It was not the slogan that was to win and hold the confidence of Canadian women but an unvarying standard of excellence in Red Rose Tea, which would create confidence in the name.

YOUNG WOMAN FRACTURES NECK DIES INSTANTLY

Miss Winnifred Bailey Meets Instant Death in Home at Crow Lake.

VISITING HER AUNT.

Going Down Cellar Steps When She Suddenly Fell to Bottom.

MARMORA, June 7 (Examiner Correspondent). — Miss Winnifred Bailey of Belleville, 30 years of age, met instant death when she fell down the cellar steps of her aunt's home on Crow Lake at 8.15 o'clock to-day. She sustained a broken neck from the fall.

Daughter of Hugh Bailey of Peterborough, she had been visiting Mrs. Harry Warren during the past few days. Mrs. Warren was in the cellar engaged in putting the morning milk away to cool when she heard the thud of her niece's fall. She hurried to her side and found her already dead. The young woman had been subject to fits and it is thought that such a seizure may have caused the fall.

Coroner Dr. S. Eagleson of Madoc, Provincial Constable E. Hill of Madoc and Provincial Constabe Percy Gray of Marmora were summoned, and investigated. Coroner Eagleson gave the opinion that death was clearly accidental and that an inquest would not be necessary.

In addition to her father in Peterborough, Miss Bailey leaves a brother, Edward Bailey, and a sister, Mrs. F. S. Johnston, both residing in Marmora.

Child Is Stricken Spinal Meningitis

Another child in the city is stricken with spinal meningitis, and very little hope is held for its recovery. This child has had the disease for some weeks and is steadily growing weaker.

The is the second case of the disease here within the past three weeks, but Dr. A. W. McPherson, Acting Medical Officer of Health, stated definitely that both these have not been of the epidemic type, and there is no reason for parents to become alarmed.

"They were both isolated cases, and nether was of the epidemic type," stated Dr. McPherson. "Both were discovered early and every care was taken after."

There is one case of scarlet fever in the city, and several cases of chickenpox, but otherwise Peterborough has a most clean bill of health, Dr. McPherson said.

Thermometer Dipped 44 Degrees In Night

The thermometer regained its equilibrium to-day, descending from the dizzy heights to which it soared during the past few days to more endurable levels. To-day's maximum temperature, recorded officially at two o'clock this afternoon was 64 degrees.

True to the forecast of the weatherman, the atmosphere rapidly cooled off last evening, and overnight the thermometer dipped to 44 degrees, as compared with the previous overnight reading of 67 degrees. Present indications are that the weather will continue fair and cool.

RAIL OFFICERS' SALARIES CUT DRASTICALLY

Now Only Six in C.N.R. Employ Receiving Over $15,000 Annually.

36 IN YEAR 1931.

Hungerford Claims Road Compares Favorably With Others in Maintenance.

OTTAWA, June 7 (CP).—A drastic cutting of salaries of Canadian National Railway Executive officers was revealed to the Railways and Shipping Committee of the House of Commons to-day.

In answer to a request made yesterday by J. A. Fraser, Conservative member for Cariboo, Chairman C. F. Fullerton told the committee that the number of executive officers in receipt of $15,000 or more had dwindled from 36 to 1931 to an even half-dozen now. A total compensation of $667,500 for these officers in 1932 had now dropped to $117,800. Personal expenses of the 36 executives in 1931 totalled $51,461. Last year they amounted to $5,852.

The statement prompted one member of the committee, Wilfred Hanbury (Lib., Vancouver-Burrard) to protest strongly that C.N.R. executives were not receiving enough pay. He said that he understood heads of class A railways elsewhere were in receipt of salaries ranging from $75,000 to over $100,000.

The Canadian National, in common with other railroads, had deferred a considerable amount of maintenance work during the depression years, but compares favorably with other lines in that respect, S. J. Hungerford, president of the road, told the committee.

Many Units Stored.

Because of the great decrease in the volume of business and the resulting idleness of equipment, a large number of operating units have been stored in idleness. The main line of travel has been maintained at a high state of efficiency, comparable with pre-depression years, the president stated, and the same could be said with respect to those united of equipment being used.

As business increased and there were demands for more equipment it was taken out of storage and put in condition, the president said. The railway had some 30,000 wooden cars.

Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, asked the president if there would be any justification for a general equipment building pro-

A Tough Bird

BURLEY, Idaho, June 7 (CP) —The eagle is a tough old bird. Driving between Contact, Nevada, and this city with several passengers in his car, Howard Corless encountered a Golden Eagle, and came out second best.

The bird crashed through the windshield of the car, showering glass over the occupants, struck Corless a couple of "rights" to the head with a wing, hopped through a side window of the machine, and flew away.

$3,140 PROFIT MADE ON COATS

Same Shipment Netted the Montreal Manufacturer $237.

Marked Up 106.20 Per Cent.

OTTAWA, June 7 (CP)—The Robert Simpson Company, Limited, of Toronto made a profit of $3,410 on a shipment of overcoats upon which the Montreal manufacturer profited only $237, the Parliamentary Mass Buying Committee was told to-day when continuing its investigation of the Toronto retail and mail order organization.

The coats were bought in Sept., 1933, for $8.22 each. They sold for $20 and $16.95 in two lots, markups of 143.31 and 106.20 per cent. Simpson's therefore, made a profit of $3,410.

On the other hand, the material for each coat cost the manufacturer, $2.51; trimmings, $2.03; cutting, 50 cents; labor, $1.20; factory overhead, 73 cents, and profit, 76 cents. An inquiry will be held into labor

PRINCE IS BORN BELGIAN QUEEN

Nation Rejoices—New Ruler's Son to be Named Albert.

101 GUN SALUTE.

BRUSSELS, June 7. (AP).—Belgium plunged into sorrow three months ago by the death of King Albert, rejoiced to-day at the birth of his grandson, to be named Albert.

The child was born at 11:35 last night at Queen Astrid and King Leopold III in the royal castle at Laeken. Her Majesty and the infant son were reported to be well.

All Brussels was awakened at 6 a.m. to-day by the boom of 101 guns announcing the joyful event and the news was communicated officially by Burgomaster Max.

The newest member of the Royal family was born during a crisis in the government, several hours after the cabinet headed by Count Charles de Broqueville resigned

Count de Broqueville was expected to return to office shortly with virtually the same ministers, however.

BRONX MURDER SYNDICATE PAYS FOR $600 CRIME

State of New York Sends Four to Chair for Its Strangest Slaying.

SOUGHT INSURANCE.

Fed Victim Poison Alcohol, Fish, Ran Him Down, Finally Use Gas.

By DALE HARRISON

NEW YORK, June 7.—(A.P.) — At Sing Sing to-night the Bronx murder syndicate will sit down to death.

One by one — the undertaker Frank Pasqua, the speakeasy operator, Anthony Marino, the bartender, Joseph Murphy, and the fruit dealer, Daniel Kreisberger—they will die. For the sum of $600 a man will throw a switch, and the State of New York will have avenged the strangest murder in its history.

The murder victim was Mike Malloy, a nobody, a derelict of grog houses with a cast-iron constitution.

Afterwards he was to be called "Iron Man' Malloy, he was so hard to kill. The murder syndicate sought half a dozen times to kill him for the insurance they had taken out on him and failed.

At last, in a desperate combination of gin and gas, they got him. First the murderers tried to kill Malloy through his stomach. They served him oysters pickled in poison alcohol. He ate them with relish and lived. They served him food loaded with ground tin. He never even knew it. They gave him tainted sardines. He would not die.

Wood Alcohol Fails.

They launched a plot to kill him with wood alcohol, letting him have all he wanted, anytime. He had a capacity. He always came back, seeking more of "that good likker." Then, most amazing of all, they stupified Malloy with liquor and took him, unconscious, to a little travelled roadway. They laid him in the street, and ran an automobile over him—back and forth.

It didn't kill Mike Malloy. He was picked up by a passing car, and soon was back to see his pals once more.

Finally, they got him to a furnished room, filed him again with drinks to the point of stupification, and then turned on the gas. The gas did it.

To-night, at Sing Sing, in another furnished room, electricity will do it.

ALLOW WOMEN PATIENTS TO SMOKE.

LIVERPOOL, England. — Women patients in Liverpool hospitals will be allowed to smoke, on the ground that equal privileges should be accorded men and women, and smoking assists the patient's recovery in some cases.

Previously, the prohibition as applied to women caused them to "sneak" away for a gasper, it was said.

C. C. F. TO HAVE "GINGER GROUP" IN NEXT HOUSE

Graham Spry of Toronto, Addresses Meeting on Market Square.

SYSTEM INEFFICIENT.

C.C.F. Will Have No Difficulty in Providing Work, Speaker Declares.

Stout denial that the C.C.F. is a Fascist movement in disguise or that it is paving the way for Fascist control of Canada was made by Graham Spry, of Toronto, chairman of the executive of the C.C.F. Provincial Council, as he addressed a gathering of more than four hundred persons at a C.C.F. rally on the Market Square last night. The C. C. F. intention to seek the welfare of the masses leaves no room for a dictator in its program, he declared.

Mr. Spry took the platform in support of the local candidate, Rev. John Sutherland, in the absence of the scheduled speaker, Frank Regan, C.C.F. candidate in the St. David's riding in Toronto. Using the rear of a truck as a platform, he held the interest of his hearers for well over an hour, winning at times hearty demonstrations of enthusiastic appreciation. At several points in his address he was interrupted by hecklers from local un employed organizations and others with Communistic leanings, but he dealt with the interruptions quite handily. Members of the audience with less patience attempted to shout down the hecklers and applauded heartily the speaker's replies.

George Leader, prominent among the local followers of the C.C.F., was the other speaker of the evening, Rev. Sutherland addressing only a few words in a request for financial support of the party. Frank Regan was prevented from making an appearance by throat trouble.

TEMPERATURES DROP OVERNIGHT BY 56 DEGREES

New Threat to Crop Looms in Forecast of Frost To-night.

STRAWBERRIES HARD HIT.

Fire Fighters Gaining Control in North and Rain Aids in Maritimes.

(By the Canadian Press)

Although temperatures dropped an average of 56 degrees in Ontario overnight there was still no prospect today of the rain dried fields need so badly. What rainfall there was yesterday and during the night was so light it will have no effect on crops, Dominion government weather men said, and there is none in sight for today.

The temperature in Toronto dropped from 88 yesterday afternoon to 40 degrees at eight o'clock this morning and like drops occurred all over the province.

The cooler weather is expected to aid planting of tender flowers and garden plants while it will not be beneficial to crops directly will probably halt further damage by the sun. The strawberry crop will be practically a failure at many points if rain does not come within the next few days.

A new threat to crops was seen in the forecast of light local ground frosts tonight. It will be fair and cool today and Friday everywhere in the province, the weatherman said.

Moosonee reported the lowest temperature during the night, 30, but Galt's was only six degrees higher. At London and Toronto the mercury dropped to 48 during the night and Ottawa reported 46 and Kingston 50.

Flames Losing Ground.

SUDBURY, June 7.— In spite of strong head winds a force of over 500 men fighting bush fires at Stupart and Mileage 55 on the Canadian National Railway line made some headway in their efforts to check the flames yesterday. The forestry branch here reports that though the fires are not yet under control, it is just a matter of time now before they are checked. With continued good weather the fire fighters are not expecting any help from rain.

Forestry branch officials report that while a definite statement is impossible they believe that very little of the fire is burning in valuable timber and that by far the larger part is still in the patch of

REV. DR. SHORTT PRESBYTERIANS' NEW MODERATOR

Retiring Head, Dr. Grant, Sends Stirring Message to Assembly.

OUTLINES CHURCH'S STAND

Minimum Wage Should be Enforced—Upholds Unemployment Insurance.

(By Harold J. Fair, C.P. Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, June 7 (C.P.). — The task of choosing a new Moderator to succeed Rev. Dr. H. R. Grant of Fort William, disposed of last night, the second sederunt of the 60th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada settled down to business to-day under the direction of the new Moderator, Rev. Dr. James S. Shortt of Barrie.

Owing to illness, Rev Dr. Grant was unable to be present at the Assembly, and his message to the opening sederunt last night was read by his immediate predecessor, Rev. Dr. Johnston of Ottawa, who presided. He was assisted in the opening ceremonies by Rev J. G. Inkster, pastor of Knox Church where the Assembly is in session, and Rev. Dr. A. J MacGillivray of Guelph, a former Moderator.

The retiring Moderator's message based on the 39th and 40th verses of the 11th chapter of Hebrews, stressed the continuity of human achievement and said the lesson derived from the text was that each generation carries on the work in its time, never finishing, but leaving the accomplishment to its successors.

The Church's Part.

He touched on the part played by the Presbyterian Church in the spiritual development of Western Canada, and pointed to the new Empire rising in the north as constituting a challenge to Presbyterian endeavor.

Dr. Grant saw a new function confronting the modern church, in-

KING CONFIDENT HEPBURN WILL CARRY ONTARIO

"On the Eve of What is to be Another Era of Liberalism in Province."

"UNDER BIG HANDICAP.

Luncheon Tendered Hepburn by Former Colleagues in Federal House.

OTTAWA, June 7 (C.P.)—Two Liberal leaders, one Federal, the other provincial, predicted sweeping victory for the Liberals in Ontario here to-day. At a luncheon tendered Mitche F. Hepburn, leader of the Liberal party in Ontario, by his former colleagues in the Federal Parliament, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Dominion leader, declared his belief that "We are now on the eve of what is going to be another era of Liberalism in Ontario.

"All of us in the Federal Liberal party in the House of Commons and Senate express our admiration for Mr. Hepburn and entire confidence in his ability to lead the party in the province, asserted Mr. King. He expressed the belief the feeling was sweeping the province that Hepburn would win; and he sounded a note of caution in this direction. While he had no doubt that Mr. Hepmrn would be given a tremendous popular vote, "the government in office at Queen's Park has so manipulated the constituencies that he starts with a very heavy handicap."

The Henry Government had so "gerrymandered constituencies," said Mr. King, that "tory strongholds" were preserved. The strength of the "Tory machine" was such that its power might be

SOUTH WARD LARGEST.

A total number of 13,811 persons are entitled to vote in the city at the forthcoming provincial election according to the completed voters lists filed with the returning officer by the various revising officers in the city division of Peterborough County parliamentary constituency.

Sheriff F. J. A. Hall, returning officer commenting on the fact that the revising officers were only called upon to add 190 names to the voters' lists as originally compiled by the enumerators, thought it was a striking indication that the enumerators had done their work well.

In the North Ward the enumerators compiled the names of 3,251 electors, and the revising officers, added 34 names; in the South Ward there were, originally 3593 names listed by the enumerators, and 54 names were added by the revising officers, 34 of which were located on Parnell street which as formerly announced was overlooked by the enumerator in that division; in the East Ward the enumerators listed 1944 voters and the revising officers added 21; in the West Ward 3401 voters were originally listed and 62 were added by the revising officers while; in the Centre Ward the enumerators tabulated the names of 1432 electors, and the revising officers added 19.

PARIS, June 7.—That the rancors and the bitterness occasioned by the defeat of the Boers at the hands of Great Britain in the war of 1901, after a heroic defence which astonished the whole civilized world, that these rancors have not died out in South Africa but are once more growing dangerously sharp, seems the conclusion that must be drawn from the statements of Rev. Mr. Piet Wessels, an instransigent Boer "dominie" whom I met by chance in Paris when he asked me the direction of the Library of French Protestantism on the Rue des Saints Peres not far from my home in the Latin Quarter. When he spoke to me I detected his Dutch accent and as I am a frequent visitor to the famous library myself when in Paris, I volunteered to acompany the stranger to his destination and introduce him to the proper authorities there.

Mr. Wessels was on his way back, he said, to South Africa from Holland where he had attended some missionary conclave of the ultra- reformed church, the Calvinistic "gereformeerde kerk," by which is not meant the state church of Holland. He also car-

Stop Broadcasts

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 7 (CP)—Stop radio broadcasting and end the drought is the suggestion given to F. L. Dinterdick, Federal Weather Forecaster.

The complainant said he believed waves from the sending stations produce meteorological conditions repellant to rainmaking, and asked that the Government halt broadcasting for 90 days to let it rain.

BRIDE, WED ONLY 2 WEEKS ADMITS KILLING ADMIRER

DENVER, June 7. (AP).—A bride of a fortnight was held in jail today by police who said she admitted slaying an admirer.

"He dared me to and I did" Mrs. Fiske Newton, 30, was quoted by Roy Mack, assistant captain of detectives. The dead man was one of Mack's subordinates, Detective James S. Turner, 46. His body was found yesterday in a field near Aravada, a suburb.

Zoo Employee Mauled To Death By Lions As He Falls Into Pit Seeking His Hat

WHIPSHADE, Eng., June 7 (AP) L. Stetson, 26, a member of the staff of the big open air zoo, was mauled to death to-day by four lions when he tried to recover a hat which was blown into the lions' cage from a spectator's head.

Keepers shot two of the lions to death before they were able to get the body out of the cage.

Women screamed and fainted in the midst of the horror-striken crowd which watched the savage battle between the keepers and the beasts.

Stetson climbed a fence in an effort to get back the hat, he fell 17 feet from the top of the fence, landing on his head in the concrete pit below.

A doctor, examining his remains, said Stetson was unconscious—perhaps dead—when the lions reached him.

The screams of the crowd called keepers to the spot and they tried to prod the beasts away from the body with long poles.

The lions fought back and the keepers brought guns into play.

Winnipeg Artist Starts On Death Fast Rather Than Line Up Nude For Relief Test

WINNIPEG, June 7. (CP).—P. J. Rykers, unemployed artist, photographer and inventor, looked wonderingly to-day at a depleted larder and pondered the outcome of his announced intention to "starve until death." Behind his ultimatum, he said, was a principle.

"Humiliated" by accepting single men's unemployed relief as at present administered by the relief department Rykers took his last bite of food. He objected, he said, "to lining up, in the nude, in front of the doctor's office" in order to qualify for a food voucher.

It was a meagre meal—two thin slices and a crust of brown bread and some weak tea formed the menu. Unemployed for more than a year Rykers observed: "It has got so I don't care any more."

In a letter to a newspaper he said: "I'd like to go to sleep and never wake up again. I am not going to go through the humiliation of undergoing the treatment they give you when you are on single men's relief. I got my last meal ticket from the city on Saturday and am not going to ask for another."

Since Saturday Rykers has bought a little food with money obtained from the sale of photographs. The money is now gone. Tuesday night he muttered the last of his food supplies. He has a few photographs he may be able to sell. If he fails, he said, he is quite reconciled to his fate.

Great Britain Gripped By Drought

SCATTERED RAIN FAILS TO EASE LONG DRY SPELL

Appeals Pour in to Govt for Share of $5,000,000 Relief Fund.

WATER SHORTAGE ACUTE.

Conditions in United States Rapidly Approach Major Disaster.

LONDON, June 7 (C.P. Cable). — The United Kingdom, in the grip of a drought for several weeks, received scattered rain yesterday, but was told to-day it need not expect more for the present.

Rain fell yesterday over most of Southern England and Wales. In the agricultural areas of South Lincolnshire it fell for several hours, but the northern half of the same county saw 12 hours' continuous sunshine.

There appeared no danger of serious water shortage in London, athough the Metropolitan Water Board is using the reserve supply. So far no restrictions have been placed on householders, but the board has issued an appeal asking that all water users exercise economy and prevent waste from dripping taps or excessive use of garden sprinklers.

Shortage Acute.

Inspectors have been told to maintain close watch and legal proceedings will be taken against persons wantonly wasting the supply. Engineers at the Teddington Weir on the Thames near London said the flow of water past there was 60,000,000 gallons a day less than at the corresponding time before the drought of 1921. They took this as an indication the country's water shortage has become acute.

In some parts of the country conditions were considerably worse than around London. At Kettering in Northamptonshire water has been rationed for six months. Considerable anxiety over the situation is felt at Liverpool where a conference of experts is expected to meet soon to deal with the shortage.

Already local authorities in many districts have applied for portions of the $5,000,000 set aside by the Government for drought relief. Most of them wish to use the money in sinking wells throughout the dried and parched areas.

LIBERALS FIGHT MARKETING ACT TO LAST DITCH

Third Reading Vote in Prospect During This Afternoon.

KING LEADS ATTACK.

Maj. Griesbach Urges Navy Capable of Defending Dominion.

OTTAWA, June 7 (C.P.).—Fought to the last minute by an embattled Liberal opposition, pressing for changes which would give Parliament a larger control over its operations, the Natural Products Marketing Act is on the point of taking its final hurdle in the House of Commons to-day. The bill is at the third reading stage and a vote is in prospect this afternoon.

Yesterday Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, moved that it be referred back to committee for the insertion of amendments which would make it acceptable to him and his followers. Prime Minister R. B. Bennett will give his answer to-day. Mr. King could not carry with him his former Minister of Agriculture, Hon. W. R. Motherwell.

Although he was one of the sharpest critics of some clauses in the measure, Mr. Motherwell voted for it on second reading and announced he would do the same at the third reading. He would refrain from voting on the King amendment to send it back to committee.

Economic Imperialism.

Declaring his conviction the Government intended to use the bill as an instrument to bring about economic imperialism and as a battering ram in economic wars, Mr. King voiced his objection to the clauses relating to restrictions on imports and exports.

Economic imperialism had something to be commended in it, he said, although the Liberal party was opposed to it. But if the Government proposed to embark on that policy it should do so openly and make its intentions plain. The policy involved a central economic control for the Empire and Liberals always had and still insisted the parliaments of the units of the Empire should have absolute control over economic and fiscal matters within their own jurisdiction.

"There is nothing new under the sun," declared the Liberal leader as he replied to critics among the Conservative and Progressive members who had accused him of failing to understand modern conditions. The economic conditions of today were but a repetition of conditions which had been experienced repeatedly in the world's history.

The Government proposed to meet them by measures of trade restrictions, but Liberals believed the way out of the difficulty was by freedom of trade and removal of restrictions.

Stronger Navy.

Major-General W. H. Griesbach of Edmonton thought the Dominion should enlarge Canadian naval forces to the point where they could defend Canadian coasts and Canadian shipping on the high seas in time of crisis.

The idea was opposed by Hon. Raoul Dandurand, Liberal leader, on the ground the cost would be prohibitive, but Hon. C. C. Ballantyne thought the naval forces should be increased as circumstances permitted.

The debate will be continued again.

Girl Is Saved From "Coop Prison"

Held a prisoner in a vermin-infested chicken coop at her home for several months because her parents allegedly believed she was "possessed of the devil" and under a "witch spell", Mary Edarguarry, seven-year-old Santa Anna, Calif., girl, is pictured in a hospital eating her first meal in weeks after being released by authorities. The little girl, assertedly denied food by her parents, was kept alive by the gifts of food from Jimmie Dunn, five-year-old neighbor boy, who is shown, inset, demonstratng how he passed food through the coop to the imprisoned girl.

volving application of the Gospel to the everyday needs of the community, and he predicted the next great movement in religion would be a recognition by the Church that "the needs of each becomes the concern of us all."

That led him to state the Church's stand on social questions. He said it favored increased old age pensions, contributory unemployment insurance and a minimum wage that would be enforced by law. Starvation wages must go forever, he declared, adding that the Church must lead in reform and compel others to follow.

Only two candidates were nominated for Moderator. Principal Scott Mackenzie, of Montreal Theological College, put forward the name of Rev. Dr. Norman A. McLeod of Brockville. Dr. Shortt's name was proposed by Rev. A. C. Stewart, of Chalmers Church, Toronto. Rev. E. G. Thompson, Woodstock, would have liked to nominate Rev. Dr. Banks Nelson, of Hamilton, but the latter wouldn't stand.

HENRY PLEDGES EXTRA SESSION ON FARM DEBTS

Stands Ready to Call House After Election if Necessary for Legislation.

DEFENDS RELIEF POLICY.

Praises Kennedy for Aid He Has Been Giving Ontario Farmers.

KINGSTON, June 8.—If a special session of the Ontario Legislature should be needed to implement the Bennett Government's new farm-debts legislation, it will be called immediately after the election is over, Premier Henry definitely promised last night.

"I am not conversant with all the details or the form the legislation will take," Mr. Henry said, "and it may not be necessary for us to legislate on it, but if it is, I propose, as soon as the election is over, to summon a special session of the House so as to do our part in co-operating with Ottawa. If, I say, it is necessary for us to act, we will see that no stone is left unturned to assure that the advantages of the legislation will reach the man on the farm as readily and rapidly as possible."

The Premier's assurance in this connection was delivered before one of the largest and most enthusiastic audiences of his eastern Ontario tour, and came after he had eulogized the work his Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Thomas L. Kennedy, had been doing for the farmer and farming. Organized marketing on which Col. Kennedy had been laying particular stress, he said, had "proved its worth." It was now possible, he said, "to hold prices up to a reasonable figure and avoid gluts on the market." That policy would not only be continued, but extended in future," he asserted.

Backs Road Work.

Mr. Henry hit warmly out at criticism of his government's relief policy of widening road shoulders and filling up ditches, claiming that much of the pressure brought upon the administration to have this work done came from the great body of Ontario motorists. "And now," he said, "because we are seek-

HEPBURN SEES MOVE TO SPLIT THE OPPOSITION

Lays Ontario's Plight to Cabinet Members Who Sit on Interlocking Directoraes.

SURE OF MANDATE.

Duncan Marshall, Peel Candidate, to be Agricultural Minister if Liberals Win.

CARLETON PLACE, June 7.—A determined effort to divide the forces of opposition was being made by the Henry Government, Liberal Leader Mitchell F. Hepburn charged last night in an address to 750 electors of Lanark riding.

It was a desperate effort on the part of a government which saw the handwriting on the wall, Mr. Hepburn declared amid applause. "But I am convinced the people of Ontario will not be deluded by the actions of the Henry administration," declared Mr. Hepburn. The rise of the C.C.F. and other parties was an indication of unrest brought about by the maladministration to the Conservative regime, the Liberal leader declared.

He referred to the fact that his meetings all over the province had been accorded enthusiastic receptions with no heckling. It was an indication of the trend of thought on the part of the people. Despite three-cornered fights in many ridings, the Liberal party would be given the mandate to stop the steadily mounting debt, reduce the costs of administration and bring back sane government, he stated. "We are free to put into effect these changes which are so vital to the welfare of the people."

Duncan Marshall, candidate in Peel, is to be Minister of Agriculture in the event of a Liberal victory, Mr. Hepburn declared.

Admires Bennett

While he does not think much of the statesmanship of Premier R. B. Bennett, Mr. Hepburn has an admiration for "the brilliant mind and intellect of Mr. Bennett."

The Liberal chieftain spoke at Morrisburg for the first time this afternoon in the riding of Grenville-Dundas, where Charles Marselis, exwarden of county, is Liberal candidate. Mr. Hepburn admitted that the prime minister of Canada had outstanding qualities of mind and brain but criticized his lack of statesmanship and vison.

A vote against the Henry Government was a vote against the Bennett administration and would force a Dominion election, he declared. Turning from federal issues, Mr. Hepburn reminded his listeners that his opponents had said he would never go through with it. But he was in the fight to stay, he declared.

"I have neglected my own riding which the redistribution bill made tougher for me by taking away Liberal townships," said Mr. Hepburn. "I have left my riding to my friends, which is more than Premier Henry and his cabinet can say about their respective ridings. Listening in to radio broadcasts of Tory meetings, one can't help but think he is listening to a dog fight.

"The plight and misery of the people of Ontario today may be traced back to these minister of the Crown who sit as directors on these great interlocking directorates," said Mr. Hepburn, referring to the Ontario cabinet ministers.

Cleans Out Desk.

The Ontario Liberal Leader "cleaned out" his desk at the Parliamentary Buildings here to-day and prepared to burn his bridges behind him. Mr. Hepburn's resignation as a member of Parliament is now in the hands of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, his Federal chieftain. To-day the Liberal members of Parliament entertained the Provincial Leader at luncheon, while other engagements have been listed for him before midnight

ORLAND WOMAN DIES SUDDENLY

Hurrying Home to Escape Threatening Storm Woman Drops Dead on Road.

FOUND BY MOTORIST.

WARKWORTH, June 7 (Examiner Correspondence). — Believed to have overtaxed her heart as she hurried home to escape a threatening storm, Mrs. Hattie Buckout, an elderly resident of Orland, was found dead on the Brighton to Campbellford Highway a quarter of a mile from her home yesterday afternoon. A resident of many years, she was well known in Orland.

Joe Mutton of Hilton discovered Mrs. Buckout's body as he was motoring along the road shortly after three o'clock. He noticed her lying face down in the gravel and stopping his car, ran to her assistance. Finding life extinct, he summoned Provincial Constable Gordon Campbell and Coroner F. M. Dure from Brighton. The coroner expressed the opinion that she had been dead about three-quarters of an hour before her body was found.

No Inquest Necessary.

Mrs. Buckout had left the home of Albert Town, a neighbouring resident, after a visit earlier in the afternoon. In the absence of any body bruises or other indications that she might have been struck by a hit-and-run motorist, Coroner Dure decided that no inquest would be necessary.

For the past eight years she had lived alone in Orland, her husband having been killed in an accident while working in a local woods. It is believed that she has one son in Rochester and funeral arrangements will be made after the son arrives in Orland. At the direction of the coroner, the body was removed to the Orland home.

struggled with the drought in two ways:

1. More food, more money, more clothing were promised victims of the calamity.

2. Long-range planning to soften such cruelties of nature was declared necessary.

The president feels the drought is approaching the proportions of a major disaster. A survey by the agriculture department said it would "materially affect the national food supply" but did not mean a shortage.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace, speaking at Bismarck, North Dakota, last night, answered critics who said nature had shown the futilityof man-made control.

He said he could not see "how any one who has gone through this drought area can say a kind word for nature's method of crop reduction." Man's' methods, though imperfect, are "perfection itself by comparison with the occasional crudeness, the ruthlessness, and the uncertainties of nature," he declared.

Obituary

MRS. ROBERT McQUEEN.

ROSENEATH, June 7.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The funeral of Mrs. Robert McQueen, of Burnley, who passed away in the General Hospital, Cobourg, on Saturday, June 2, took place on Monday afternoon from her late residence, Haldimand Township, to Merrill's Cemetery. The Rev. Mr. Stevenson, of Warkworth, was the officiating clergyman.

The late Mrs. McQueen, who was 55 years old, had only been a resident of this neighborhood for little over a year, and her reserved disposition made her a stranger to many, but those who knew her found a real mother and friend.

Besides her sorrowing husband, she is survived by one daughter, Maizie, and three sons, Robert, Leslie and Cecil.

EDWARD WILLIAMS

HAVELOCK, June 7 (Examiner Correspondence).—Only ten days "out of the harness," Edward Williams, veteran railroader with fifty years in the employ of the C.P.R. passed away at his home Tuesday morning after a short illness.

Born at Stittsville, Ontario, sixty-three years ago to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Williams, he started his railway career in the shops at Carleton Place. He later entered the train service as a locomotive fireman and had been an engineer for the past thirty-seven years. With the exception of four years running out of Elora, the remaining years were spent on runs out of Havelock.

Mr. Williams married Agnes M. Barlow, daughter of Isaac Barlow, veteran railroader and pensioner thirty-eseven years ago here. Of this happy marriage three children were born. Rev. Milton G. B. Williams of Creemore, Mrs. J. E. Boundy of Toronto (Beatrice J.), Mrs. William Williams (Phyllis C. A.), of Guelph; one grandchild, Joyce Agnes Boundy of Toronto. He was one of a family of eleven brothers and sisters. The living are: John of Smiths Falls; David, of Duluth, Minn.; Adam, Nakina, Ont.; Omar; Mrs. Scharfe (Sarah), Carleton Place, and Mrs. A. Porter (Gertie), Carleton Place; and Mrs. Crozier (Lucy), of Spokane, Washington.

While it was generally known that Mr. Williams condition for the past few days was quite serious, the news on Tuesday morning, June 6, that Redney, as he was better known, had died shocked the whole village. His familiar figure going to and from work and his part as a good citizen of the railway village will certainly be greatly missed and the sympathy of the entire community goes out to his sorrowing wife and family. He was an ardent churchgoer and a life-long member of the Anglican Church. The funeral will be held on Friday afternoon.

SUGGESTS A WADING POOL.

In connection with the very fine work that is being done in the improving of Riverside Park, a well-known citizen comes forward with a suggestion well worthy of attention when he declares that the plans for this splendid park and recreation area might well include a cement wading pool for small children.

As this citizen points o ut, it is a common thing to see little boys and girls, clad in bathing suits, wading in the river on the Ashburnham side, and the conditions there cannot be regarded as safe, because of the current, the uncertain depth and the danger of injury from glass, tin cans and other sharp-edged articles.

There is ample room for a wading pool to be installed, and there is not the slightest doubt of its advantage as a place for small youngsters to cool off and to enjoy themselves amid absolutely safe surroundings.

Many Ontario cities have such pools, and they are used every day during the hot weather by thousands of children.

Riverside Park would undoubtedly be an ideal spot for a play facility of that nature, and parents and children alike would appreciate the opportunity for the latter to mitigate some of the worst effects of summer hot spells under circumstances that would ensure absolute safety.

A WAR MUSEUM.

The officers of the Peterborough Rangers in planning a war museum at the Armouries are launching a very commendable movement that will be appreciated by the majority of war veterans and by the public.

Hundreds of ex-service men in this city brought back interesting souvenirs of their war service, and for the most part these articles are not on display, many of them being shoved away in bureau drawers or consigned to the attic or the cellar.

As the years pass the historic value of these relics of the Great War will become increasingly great, and the interest in them correspondingly intensified, so that it is advisable that some thought should be given to the question of storing war souvenirs where they will be carefully preserved and where the public will have some opportunity of examining them.

There is no more suitable place for such a display than in the Armouries, the headquarters of all local military activity and the building in which the vast majority of our war veterans enlisted for the great adventure overseas in the 1914-18 period.

The Armouries already contain an interesting collection of South African war souvenirs, and the proposal that a similar but, of course, much larger display of relics of the Great War should be arranged is likely to meet with much approval.

Citizens generally will wish the Rangers every success in the movement they have set on foot.

A SPLENDID SERVICE.

The Y.M.C.A. is to be congratulated upon the success of its free course in swimming for pupils of the Public and Separate schools.

Some 200 boys of tender years have been taking advantage of this opportunity of learning the art of swimming, and the progress that has been made by the vast majority of these novices is most gratifying.

Peterborough, situated on a beautiful river and with many lakes in its immediate vicinity, is naturally a community where bathing and boating are popular recreations, and it is of great importance therefore that every child should learn how to take care of himself in the water.

In recent years, thanks to such institutions as the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A., it has been possible for children to learn to swim under safe auspices, and the result is that the swimming population of this city runs to a surprisingly large figure—a matter that should occasion general satisfaction.

The Y.M.C.A. in throwing open its splendid facilities and in placing the services of its staff at the disposal of youngsters unable to swim is doing a very commendable piece of community work, the value of which should be appreciated not only by the parents of the boys who have benefitted but by the public as well.

STEADY AND SUBSTANTIAL PROGRESS.

The annual review presented by Major L. L. Anthes, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, at the 63rd annual general meeting of that body in Montreal yesterday was full of encouraging features.

According to Major Anthes, "a gradual and continuous revival in most departments of economic activity has been evident since we met at this time last year."

The president of the Manufacturers' Association declared that the key countries in the world's march back to better times have been the United Kingdom, France and Germany in Europe, the United States and Canada in North America, Argentina and Brazil in South America, the Union of South Africa in Africa, and Australia and New Zealand in Australasia.

As to Canada, the report was most optimistic.

"The affairs of Canada, as you are well aware," says Major Anthes, "have made steady and substantial progress since a year ago. Wherever one goes and whomever one meets, one hears good news."

In support of that contention, it is pointed out that the mines are prospering, even more than last year; the production of forest products and their export have increased; the fisheries have been more active; the prices of many agricultural products have risen; the factories are making more goods; more people are employed; the transportation companies are carrying more freight; the merchants have larger sales; the financial institutions report better monetary conditions; and, in brief, the C.M.A. president says the mental outlook of the great majority of people has definitely changed for the better, and the whole tone of business and industry is much more cheerful as the country's progress continues and accelerates

AVOIDING THE SHOALS.

Since this is the season for June weddings, anything pertaining to marriage might be a timely topic. To those who are entering upon a state of married bliss, it would be superfluous to offer suggestions on the best ways of making married life one grand honeymoon—they are already convinced that no matter what happens they will always be happy together.

Far be it from us to suggest anything otherwise.

However, there are some husbands who apparently believe that married life can stand a little thoughtful study, and that there are certain ways in which the male member of the campact can conduct himself, so as to avoid the rocks, in the matrimonial sea of life.

Some of them in Oklahoma City, after long and deep deliberation, have formed a "Husbands' Gratitude Club," and here is the pledge they have taken:

"I solemnly pledge myself daily to embrace my wife, kiss her, and tell her I love her.

"I promise to compliment her at least once each day on some particular part of the menu she prepares.

"I promise to perform at least one kind and unexpected deed for her daily."

Of course, it shouldn't be necessary for any husband to take such a pledge—those are the things he should do without any sort of prompting. While there may be no need to urge Chatham husbands to form such an association, we pass on the information for the benefit of those who are just starting out as benedicts.

Some of these days the wives in some part of this continent may form a "Wives Gratitude Club," and if they do we will publish their pledge as well—for the benefit of the brides.—Chatham News.

PLAYING ON THE ROAD.

Magistrate Burbidge of Hamilton says it does no good to warn children they must not play on the streets. If they insisted on endangering their lives in this way he would have to resort to fines and make them stiff enough to act as a deterrent.

It is, of course, dangerous for children to play on the streets. There are so many automobiles now and most of them seem in a hurry to get some place or other. Passenger cars, trucks, delivery cars—they all use the road where the children want to play.

Playing on the road used to be such a simple process. It seemed to be the proper place to go. We recall so easily that in summer time the dust lay thick there, the sort of fine dust which would come up between the toes of bare feet. In the middle of the day it would be hot, but in the evening it was cool. It was better than the board sidewalks. They used to get very hot and were inclined to shed their slivers.

A ball game could easily go on out on the road. Home base was right in the middle of the road; first base was a shade tree just on the edge of the ditch. Second base was also in the middle of the road, and third base was at a hitching post.

Of course, there was not much traffic then. The milk man had made his rounds before the game started, and not until around 11 o'clock was the butcher's wagon liable to arrive. Things were very simple. They were not speeded up like they are to-day. There were not so many conveniences on the road or in the homes. But as we recall it, they did not injure or kill children on the road then. No doubt we are much improved now to what we were in the village when ball games took place in the road, but when one stops to consider the number of children who are picked up from the city roads to-day it must be admitted that we are paying a pretty stiff price for the improvement.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

VICE-PRESIDENT SHOWS SENSE.

About the most inconsequential and insignificant cog in the whole administrative machinery at Washington is the Vice-President. In the event Mr. Roosevelt got sick and was unable to finish his term, the Vice-President would automatically become President until 1936. But so long as the President is up and doing, the Vice is just a backstage nonentity. It is doubtful if one American citizen in ten, Democrats included, could say off-hand who the present holder of that office is.

John Garner is his name; John Garner of Texas. And Vice-President John Garner deserves a word of praise for keeping his feet on the ground these hysterical times. As Vice-President a popular magazine offered him $2,000 for a 2,000 word article, the kind of offer that is never made to bona fide journalists. And this is what the Vice-President said in reply:

"Nobody would pay John Garner a dollar a word for any article, and nobody can pay the Vice-President a cent for it. If you want the article you are welcome to it."

This is an era when men who are elected to public office are offered fabulous sums by rich newspapers and magazines for articles on public questions. If they had not been elected their opinion would not be asked at all, not even at a cent a word. But the magic of their name at the top of the article is supposed to invest it with a market value far beyond anything they ever dreamed. Many accept such offers and probably hire good newspapermen to write articles for them, knowing that the newspapermen will do it better than they.

Mrs. Roosevelt has capitalized on her official position ever since she has been at White House. She has broadcast on sponsored programs on dozens of occasions and written many articles. For these she gets handsome fees, having, it is reported, got as much as $3,000 for a single broadcast talk. However, she does not take a cent of the money, but passes it on to charities and organizations in which she is interested.

But it is not very dignified for public officials or their wives to capitalize th eir temporary positions—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The politicians have been having trouble convincing the farmers that the country needs anything more than a good two days' downpour of rain.

The campaign is rapidly drawing near its final stages, despite the fact that most people seem to be unaware that it has started.

All the political parties are unanimous in the belief that there will be two big nights' fun at the Rotary Carnival next week.

Canada's customs and excise revenue for April and May was $11,000,000 higher than for the same period a year ago. More evidence of the upward trend of business.

NOT A MORAL BREAK-DOWN

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—What appears to be a great moral break-down the world over will and I think your Mr. Mahood will bear me out is merely the inability of people and the nations to handle modern developments. We are away beyond our depth but if we could get back all this moral failure would disappear with which we are not strong enough at present to grapple. What is called popular education has tended very largely to mislead people as to our capabilities.

TAG DAY ON SATURDAY

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Sir,—The Peterborough Humane Society ask for all the help and support it can get on its Tag Day, June 9th. The objects of the society are protective and educational and it strives for justice and mercy for all creatures. Rescue and proper disposal of neglected domestic animals are one of the important features of its daily work. Hundreds of cats and dogs are brought in by the society every year and many of them diseased and injured. Imagine the condition of this city if this work was not carried on. Suitable homes are found for dogs and cats that are valuable and in good condition. Veterinary service is maintained for emergency calls and street accidents. Recently humane educational work has been done through the schools in the city and county as the result of the Society's efforts. While much progress has been made in the past the aim of the society is to hasten the time when the equipment of slaughter houses everywhere with electric stunners that will insure the least amount of suffering to animals used for food purposes. Also for an improvement in the trapping industry, hoping that humane traps may be found that will take the place of the torture inflicting ones that have always been used by trappers.

The society does not wish to prosecute if there is a better way to kill cruelty, but aims to rally additional hundreds to its ranks and asks for the co-operation of all citizens to create humane sentiment and help to curtail cruelty and preach the kindness message which eventually will be effective.

On behalf of all creatures who are at the mercy of men and cannot speak for themselves an earnest appeal is made to the public to help in this worthwhile and indispensable work.

Thomas E. Sargent,
President.

PAYING HONEST DEBTS

The Editor Peterborough Examiner.

Dear Sir,—It is refreshing to find that there are still people in this city and country of ours who believe that when they contract a debt they are under moral obligation to meet it and discharge it. The case in point is the "lucky" holder of a Sweepstakes ticket (I pass over the righteous or wrongness, legal and moral, of the lottery) who, when questioned by The Examiner in its usual inimitable fashion as to how he purposed spending the money, is reported to have replied, "I'm going to pay my honest debts."

Here, apparently, is a man who has something of that integrity which characterized our forefathers who while trying to better their conditions, yet lived within their means was the the most important factor in the bettering of their conditions.

Here, apparently, is a man who does not say: "Well, I've had a stroke of luck, and By Heck! I'm going to get some fun out of it. Let the doctor, the dentist, the grocer, the butcher, wait. Let them all wait! I deserve some fun after all this year's hard plugging and short pays. The doctor was very decent about it when the little girl was sick,—but he won't mind waiting—anyway, he has a car and I haven't. The grocer has carried us along for the last two months or so, and I suppose he did have to pay cash for the stock on his shelves—but he can't be so badly off when he lives in a nice house. I'll just pay a little bit on the bill each week, and then I'll be able to spend the rest on a car."

Here, apparently, is a man who reasons: "Here is a dentist's bill which I haven't had the money to pay these last two years, although I have paid small sums on it when I had a little. Here is a grocer's account which has been getting bigger each week. These men trusted me, they helped me when I was in a tight corner, and By Heck! I'm in a position to pay them, and I' going to clear them up to the very last cent. I may be in a tight corner again sometime, and will want their assistance. I'll wait to buy that car, that chesterfield, until I have paid up what I already owe. If I can't afford a car, I'll wait. I don't want anybody saying 'There goes a car bought with money that really belongs to me.' Or: 'I'm really buying the gasoline for that fellow to ride around'."

No, Mr. Editor, you may say that such a little sermon is superfluous in this fair city of ours. But I am sorry to say that you would be wrong. Ask any doctor, any dentist, or any merchant, who out of the kindness of his heart and because of his faith in human nature, has ever extended credit. They will tell you true tales that would harden the hearts of the kindest of mortals, that would weaken the faith of the staunchest believer in his fellow man.

Oh yes, you will say Mr. Editor, that these are unusual times, that more credit has had to be extended, and for a longer period. True, and no merchant is unwilling to give credit (if he can) if he feels certain that his customer will look upon his obligations as did our friend, the sweepstakes winner, and feels that sometime, in the not too remote future, he will be repaid. But how can he feel thus, when he is forced to remain at home for economical reasons, and sees people who owe him money, going away for a week-end trip, or taking in the "show" regularly every Saturdady evening? How can he help but feel wrathful when he has extended credit to an individual out of work, who never comes near him when the pay cheques start again?

'Twas ever thus, but the situation has become more acute. Why have so many people gone out of business in this town? The instalment plan has aggravated the situation, in more ways than one. People, I fear are getting the idea that you don't have to pay unless forced to, that the merchant and the doctor are legitimate game. What kind of training do children get, when they are sent to the door when the butcher tries to collect with the story "Mother isn't at home?" I wonder if the teacher could assist in correcting this attitude, especially the Domestic Science teacher, in her classroom, and inculcate the principle "Pay as you go?"

Shakespeare the practical man of affairs, was speaking when he puts into the mouth of Polonius the following admonition:

"Neither a borrower nor a lender be:
For loan oft loses itself and friend.
And borrowing dulls the edge of husbandry."

Yours,
Pro Honestate Civitatis.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

ANNAPOLIS ROYAL, NOVA SCOTIA

The town of Annapolis Royal owes its name to Queen Anne, who reigned from 1702 to 1714. The town was named in 1710 by Col. Francis Nicholson who captured it from the French, who changed the name from Port Royal.

Port Royal was discovered in June, 1064, by a little company of French colonizers at whose head was the Sieur de Montz. A settlement was made at Port Royal the following year, 40 years after St. Augustine in Florida was settled by the Spaniards. It is the oldest settlement north of the Gulf of Mexico.

In 1613 an expedition from the English settlement of Virginia captured Port Royal. This was the first of the nine changes which Port Royal experienced in passing back and forth between French and British, although the changes were not always captures.

The capture of Port Royal by the British in 1710 is significant in that it was the beginning of the downfall of the French regime in Canada. The capture in 1710 was the final one. There were a number of attacks on the fort but none was successful.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

HOW BIG IS THE WORLD?

It is indeed a small world.

You pack your bag and travel to the heart of Africa, and beside a stream where a hippopotamus puffs and wallows, you meet a man with whom you used to play marbles in a little town in Ohio....On a street in New York you encounter a fine lady who used to be your skinny little girl friend in Memphis, Tenn. ....You can eat breakfast in San Francisco, lunch in Los Angeles, dinner in San Francisco, if you ride the air....You send a message to Germany and receive an answer that very evening....Is IS a small world.....A man finds a diamond in South Africa and the next day's paper has the news in Emporia, Kas.....A man steals in Sweden and a family in Nevada is impoverished. ....An archduke in Serajevo was killed and millions died in every corner of the world...A man named Einstein puts a complicated formula on paper in Germany and people he will never meet decide that God does not exist and life is hardly worth living—while other men are convinced that God does exist and life is more wonderful than ever....It is, all men admit, an exceedingly small world.

It is also a most enormous world. ....There are so many people you do not know and will never encounter....So many hills and valleys and little towns that will never meet your eye, where you will never set foot....So many songs you will never hear, so many messages that will never reach your ear....So many experiences that will never be yours....Stretch your arms wide, broaden your spirit though you may, you cannot encompass everything.

You are but one small person. You cannot be everything in one. There are dreams and there is action. There is discipline and there is rebellion, economy and extravagance, beauty and ugliness, poetry and prose, storm and peace, wild wandering and staying-at-home, sickness and health, loneliness and company, talk and silence, starvation and plenty, agony and content, all manner of things in this wide world....You cannot touch them all, you cannot be everything. Attempt this vain endeavour and you end by being nothing. Struggle to know all men and you know not one of all the millions who surround you....The world is deep and wide and, praises be, a large one.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THE GOVERNOR' GENERAL'S GUARDS

On this date in 1872 a militia general order issued at Ottawa read: "The formation of a Battalion of Foot Guards at Headquarters, Ottawa, to be designated the First Battalion Governor General's Foot Guards is hereby authorised to be raised by Major Thomas Ross. The corps to be special and under the direct orders of the Adjutant General at Headquarters, and to have the same precedence and status in the Active Militia of the Dominion as Her Majesty's Food Guards in the Imperial Army."

The foundation of the regiment was well and firmly laid. Its history since is one of high honor. Many of its officers have been civil servants, thereby carrying on tradition, for not a few of the original officers and men had been members of the Old Civil Service Rifles, organized at Quebec, when that city was the capitol of the Province of Canada.

Many people look upon the G.G. F.G. as merely a ceremonal regiment, which parades at the opening and proroguing of Parliament; but it has been far more than that. It was represented among the Nile voyaguers sent to aid Wolseley in his expedition to Khartoum in 1884; it had a company of its own, the famous sharpshooters, in the North West in 1885; it gave officers and other ranks to the regiments that served in South Africa; and sent hundreds of officers and men to the C.E.F. It is particularly identified with the famous 2nd Battalion of the First Canadian Division, whose battle honors it carries with pride on its colors; and it gave many officers and men to the Princess Pats and to the 77th Battalion. The O.C.F.C. has also been a cradle of rifle experts, heading whom is Captain Desmond Burke who won the king's prize at Bisley.

Is it any wonder that Ottawa is proud of its Foot Guards?

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Mrs. Dorothy Coones,
11 Wilkes St., Brantford, Ont.

Your handwriting for analysis depicts you as an individual who is never satisfied with a day's work. You always wish you could have done just a little more. There are times when you let yourself worry a great deal over occurrences which really ought not to worry you at all. You are thrifty and utterly abhor debt of any kind. You are gifted with a noteworthy sense of proportion, and have an ardent love of family pride. You observe your friends from a standpoint of their hereditary background. The characteristics in your handwriting lend an air of refinement to you. Many many times you are disillusioned and tired. You feel that life is not worth very much after all, but just as you reach the depths of inertia, something inspires you. You see and remember some beautiful, bright spot in your life, and encouragement flows back into your veins, then you lift up your head and carry on. Your number is 8 Your sign Gemini the Twins. You are ruled by Mercury. April and August are your lucky months, Friday your lucky day.

Mary Marrocco, 483 Elm St., City.

Your writing indicates impulsiveness and a very decided tendency to pout over things if you cannot have them your own way. Of course you are quite young yet and will no doubt outgrow many characteristics as the years progress. Your sign is Aries the Ram. You are ruled by Mars. June and July are fortunate months for you. Tuesday seems to be your lucky days. Five is your number. Housework your vocation up to date, but please remember that the next few years will make a big change in all your definite characteristics.

Irene Parsons, 588 Sherbrooke St., Peterborough.

Your writing shows a keen mental disturbance, and, if, as I suspect you have had a disagreement with the gentleman whom you regard rather highly. It is a blessinug to discover the plain unvarnished truth now rather than when it would have been too late to effect a remedy. There is a reserve shown in the writing as though you were holding yourself in leash, but as I feel sure that happiness awaits you this summer, especially if you will 'look' eagerly for it, and let that 'chip' fall off your shoulder. You see, you are a follower, not a leader and work best through friendly co-operation. You are rather emotional and difficult to understand. Your best mate will be found either under Virgo, Libra or Cancer. Cancer is from June 22 to July 22nd. Libra is from September 24 to October 23. Virgo is from August 24 to September 23. Your own sign is Pisces the Fishes. You are ruled by Neptune. Saturday is your best day. May and June your most fortunate months. Your number is 9. You will find that people who have an odd number according to numerology will be more in sympathy with you, than those who respond to even numbers.

Vera L. Ernest,
Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough.

Your handwriting submitted for analysis describes you as kind-hearted and friendly. You are generous and artistic, quite intelligent and energetic. Your disposition is one of the best and is usually about the same so that your friends are seldom disappointed in you. You possess a splendid will-power but it does not tend to make you aggressive or obdurate. You make up your mind what you want then you manager to obtain your desire without any 'thundering.' You are thrifty and sensible. You do not crave things which you know you cannot have. You are fond of music and flowers, lace and fine linen. Your biggest object in life seems to be to do anything at all for the sake of peace and quietness. Your general character is very good.

NEW YORK, June 7.—No good ever came of trying to paint the lily, but if the lily has been mixed up with mud, then a clean bath would be helpful. When the Stock Exchange Bill was going through the mill many unfavorable things were said about it. Some were wholly true, others partly, and still others exaggerated. Now that the bill has been adopted, cleansing water is being applied and its good points will be revealed and given wide publicity. Before the bill is two years old, many in Washington will wish that it had never passed because it will create in the minds of public the belief that Washington has taken over full control of market movements. As long as that belief exists Washington is going to be blamed for anything that occurs to "upset the apple cart."

The public has always believed in a mysterious "they" and perhaps envisioned them as a group of bankers or insiders who manipulated the strings to make the market get up or go down. The public is now being led to believe that the old "they" have been dispossessed. There can be no more talk about banking support, because banking affiliates are all going out of business. Moreover Section 16 for the new bill eliminates the "insider" bugaboo, since that section practically escrows all the insiders' stock. Thus, if the public demands a dramatization of the mysterious "they" it will have to visualize a few officials at Washington pulling the strings to make the market go up or go down. Then who will be blamed for the market if it has a break. We think there are several bullish features to the new control bill which will later on have an accelerating effect upon price advances. There actually is the silver lining to the Stock Exchange Control Bill.

Meanwhile, the current of inflation now being generated at Washington is reaching out in wider and wider circles. Just now it has a very low voltage, but its potential is being built up and in time, it will shock the nation into a mass movement away from money and bank deposits and into goods, etc.

gram by the railways, possibly assisted. He had been frequently approached by locomotive and car building companies on that point.

It all depended upon the trend of business, Mr. Hungerford said, and was difficult to estimate, but he believed such a program might be justified.

Referring to the president's statement that idle equipment was being stored, William Duff (Lib., Antigonish-Guysboro) observed that he saw many cars lying on sidings all across the country.

"Is that what you call 'storing' them?" he asked.

Mr. Hungerford replied that it was obvious they could not store their railway cars under cover.

A Cure?

LINDSAY, Ont., June 7 (CP) —A local merchant was shocked on coming down late to open his store when he found a black crepe and bouquet of pansies on the door, together with the notice that the store wouldn't open until 12 o'clock as the proprietor was sleeping in this morning. It isn't expected that he will "rest in peace" so long in future.

BIGGER GOLDS SHOW ADVANCES

Sylvanite, San Antonio, Macassa and Siscoe Also Up in Second Army Group.

NORANDA ACTIVE.

TORONTO, June 7.—(C.P.)— The upward slant, noticeable in the gold shares over several recent sessions, was carried further to-day with action mainly in the big producers and the so-called sceondary group including Sylvanite, San Antonio, Macassa and Siscoe. Advances up to about $1.50 were recorded. Noranda starred for the base metals, adding $1.25 on heavy turnover while the silver group displayed a firming tendency.

Interest in the high-priced golds was shared with New York from which point buying orders were received by Toronto brokers. Lake Shore advanced $1.25 to $63. McIntyre $1.50 to $48.50, Dome 28 to $41.50, and advances of 10 cents to 25 appeared for Hollinger, Bralorne, Teck Hughes, Wright Hargreaves and Pioneer.

'Fish Flies' Swarm Hit Cars Like Hail

A huge cloud of "fish flies" swept over the Lakefield Road, near the Waterworks, at 9.30 last evening. Motorists stated to-day that the flies swarmed over their cars, not only being a nuisance but making driving dangerous.

"They spattered against my windshield like hail," one motorist said. "They made a sound like rain as they hit the top of my car. The grill in front of my car became plugged with them."

"Fish flies" are said to be uncommon here, but for years they have been a nuisance around Kingsville and Chatham. This fly is about three-fourth of an inch long and has a double tail. During the "fish fly" season in Kingsville one cannot walk along without crunching a dozen or more flies under foot at nearly every step, while cars have been known to be forced to a stop because of the greasiness of the road caused by the bodies of the dead flies. During the same period, red bulbs are installed on the street lights instead of clear ones, in order that too large a group of the flies may not be attracted around the lights.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

Misleading Advertising

The committee to-day turned to merchandising practices and mark-ups of the Toronto organization which has branches and depots in all parts of Canada. Two members, including Chairman H. H. Stevens, agreed on one instance of "misleading advertising" when Simpson's advertised 1,500 coats at $25 with hundreds at $35 value and some as high as $65. Actually, the coats made in Simpson factories were marked up 69.9 per cent on cost. Of the 827 bought from outside firms, the mark-up was as high as 89.10 per cent, with the average of 52.72 per cent.

Of the 1,500 coats, 500 cost less than $15.

Depends on Bargaining Power

The Robert Simpson Company, Limited, Toronto retail and mail order house, depends on the bargaining power of its buyers to determine the quantity discount it receives from manufacturers. The discount will run as high as the buyer can reach and the manufacturer will stand.

This information was given by George Adamson, Toronto auditor.

Along with all departmental stores, Simpson's also receive free goods from manufacturers, said the auditor, in place of discounts. He instanced an order of five gross of quinine to which the drug manufacturer added 10 dozen as a bonus. This practice, which seemed general among drug distributors, sometimes permitted Simpson's to make a fair profit at a figure lower than the cost price of individual retailers.

DIONNE BABIES GAINING WEIGHT

Doctor Hopes to Place Each in Separate Incubator—Mother Recovers Slowly.

RECALL MARIPOSA CASE.

CORBEIL, Ont., June 7.—(CP)—Emilie, who spins the indicator to the two-pound mark when she is placed on the scales, is gaining weight more speedily than any of the other Dionne quintuplets.

Dr. A. R. Dafoe said today she gained three and one half ounces, leading four sisters in the race to put on more weight. Yvonne, who weighs 38 3-4 ounces and Cecile, 30½, made no gain from yesterday but Annette, at 36¼, showed an eighth of an ounce gain and Marie was ¼ of an ounce heavier at 25½.

All five infants were doing well today but their mother, Mrs. Oliva Dionne has not shown great improvement and Dr. Dafoe has decided not to permit her to leave her bed before the week-end. There are no complications in her condition, he said.

Mrs. Dionne has never stayed in bed more than three days after the birth of six other children which came singly. She was near death the day the quintuplets were born but with expert care has almost entirely recovered.

They showed an average gain of half an ounce this morning," he stated. "How is baby Marie?" he was asked. "She's fine, coming along with the rest of them now.

One Birthmark.

"Marie has a birthmark," the doctor said gleefully. "We found it this morning, so there will be no trouble identifying her even though a mix-up did occur," he said with a laugh.

To-morrow Dr. Dafoe expects to move the infants into new incubators each of which will hold one of them. At present three are in one incubator and two in another, and there is the danger of infection any one might contract spreading quickly to the others and ending their young lives.

While Dr. Dafoe happily reports the children's continued improvement, he is careful to emphasize that their lives hang by the slenderest threads and the death of any of them would not be unexpected.

MARIPOSA QUINTUPLETS.

LINDSAY, Ont., June 7 (C.P.). — Victoria County once had a quintuple birth, but it wasn't a happy event like that at the Dionne home in Northern Ontario. In recalling this event, R. F. Whiteside, 88, of Mariposa, said that Annie Bell, of Mariposa became the mother of five babies at the same time, but that the mother and four of the babies died. They were buried with her, two in each arm. This multiple birth took place on the site of the present Mariposa Station about the year 1860. It isn't known what became of the fifth baby.

Rain Aids Maritimes.

Long-awaited rainfall reduced fire menace in Canada's Maritime provinces last night, and to-day rangers hoped to gain complete control of areas that had burned unchecked for more than a week.

A dozen serious fires were doused by heavy showers in Nova Scotia. Flames crept up within three miles of New Germany and rain quickly halted their approach.

But the sudden heavy rain in New Brunswick brought a new menace—lightning. An electrical storm of great intensity struck down on tinder-dry forest lands and set three new areas ablaze.

A fire-fighting force of nearly 1,600 men took their places again to-day on the various fronts in Restigouche county, N.B., for a determined effort to smother the conflagration that has wiped out thousands of acres of valuable forest land in the last 10 days.

TWIN BROTHERS 75 YEARS OLD

FORMER AT HASTINGS.

HASTINGS, June 7 (Examiner Correspondence) — On Tuesday, June 5th William David Barry of Hastings and Patrick Francis Barry of Rochester, N.Y., celebrated their seventy-fifth birthday. The twin boys were born to William Barry and Mary Holland on June 5th, 1859 in Douro Township at what was known as the "Red Mill." Seventy-two years they came to Percy Township and settled on the farm now occupied by W. J. Barry.

William D. Barry after he reached manhood worked on farms in Percy Township for a number of years in the summer and in the winter he worked in some of the largest camps in the North where he was rated as an expert woodsman. Later he farmed the place where his father settled in Percy until a few years ago he moved to Hastings.

Patrick Francis Barry left this district when a young man for New York state where he entered the electrical business and prospered. He lives retired now in Rochester.

The entire community wish the twins many more such happy occasions.

Last Winter's Ice Is Found In Cistern

BAILIEBORO, June 7 (Examiner Correspondence)—Although the weather has been extremely warm in the district, registering from eighty to ninety degrees in the shade for some days past, still the ice hasn't all disappeared as yet in the district.

While holidaying at a summer cottage at Rice Lake, Mr. W. Thompson of Peterborough found ice in the water which he was taking from his cistern on Monday. It was generally believed that the water which was in a large cistern beneath the cottage had been frozen solid during the winter months and there is still ice left at the bottom of the large tank.

Farmers while removing the barnyard manure during the past week report finding ice beneath the straw.

C. C. F. TO HAVE "GINGER GROUP"

in the Ontario House as a certainty. If the C.C.F. does not succeed in gaining control of the Ontario Government, its group will fight for honest, intelligent government in the same aggressive manner of the "Ginger Group" in the Federal House, he said.

"The C.C.F. is not merely challenging a few seats. It is challenging the Government and the Liberal party. And the C.C.F. is not putting its men and women into the field without public approval, for the participation of the party in the present election is the result of a widespread popular demand. Every day we are receiving letters in Toronto from all points of the province endorsing and encouraging our activities."

Asserting that the broad object of the C.C.F. is "to replace the capitalistic system with an economic order in which human needs and rights are considered above money rights," he claimed the movement to be essentially religious. The Christian religion is a condemnation of the capitalistic system, under which every man is for himself, he argued. Since the C.C.F. is the only party having a program in which the principles of Christianity find a place, it is the only party which has a right to claim that it embraces Christianity, he said.

System Inefficient.

The present economic system has proven itself completely inefficient, he continued. The individual business which goes to make up the economic set-up is not necessarily inefficient, yet the system as a whole is a failure. It is a failure, for it has failed to provide work for men and women able to work; it has failed to provide a livelihood for those who are working; it has failed to distribute wealth justly, and it has failed to maintain an even level of prosperity, he declared. There is no limit to the abundance of products the profit system provides, so there should be no want of food and shelter if it were not for a faulty system of distribution. And the fact that three per cent. of the people of Canada have sixteen per cent. of the wealth, while the farmers, for example, representing thirty per cent. of the population, have only seventeen per cent. of the wealth, is obvious proof that wealth is unjustly apportioned, he said.

"The C.C.F. is out to restore to the community its right to produce and distribute the great wealth of this country. A line must be drawn between the exploiter and the exploited. Our slogan in this election is, 'Work, security and welfare'."

Slum Clearance.

Mr. Spry said the C.C.F. would have no difficulty providing work, and that it would not be content with supplying merely three weeks of work before each election through ditch-filling projects. In Ontario there are houses to be built, slums to be cleaned up and hospitals and schools to be erected, he said. Dealing with security, he pointed to the first plank in the C.C.F. Ontario platform promising no evictions from farms and homes. "People should not be turned out of homes on account of depressions for which they are not responsible," he argued. "If it is a question of the community as a whole contributing to the rent, the C.C.F. says it must be done.

"Don't be carried away by the Stevens Committee," he said as he directed a word to the exploitation of the producer of raw materials and the worker. "The direction the committee is taking might as well be Fascist as Socialist—more likely Socialist."

Then he spoke of the C.C.F. intentions in regard to the production and distribution of stable commodities. The C.C.F., he said, will wipe out coal import monopolies which make it possible for coal to sell at one dollar a ton at the pit-head, five dollars a ton laid down in Montreal and fifteen dollars a ton in Peterborough. Through a thorough organization of the baking industry in Ontario, $10,000,000 could be saved the consumers each year. And through the abolition of monopoly and, at the same time, wasteful competition in the gasoline field, five to six cents on a gallon could be saved, he said.

Prices Kept Up.

"The prices which the masses are paying for the stable commodities, such as milk, bread, coal and gasoline, are kept up by the profit-making motive. The C.C.F. challenges the right of any group to prey upon the masses through control of production or distribution."

George Leader declared: "We believe we have a solution. We are not like the Henry Government with no platform, but beer and wine. Does Henry think we citizens can be bought like a common loafer at the bar with a glass of beer? Show your manhood and womanhood and throw him out. He has been forced to do what the brewer and distiller has told him to do."

He attacked the Liquor Control Act as another illustration of Conservative promises which have failed. The Tories promised that the L.C.A. would bring to an end drinking and bootlegging, yet a business man informed him recently that there are twelve speakeasies on Hunter street alone, he claimed. The present proposal for beer and wine in restaurants will be "a hundred times worse" than the old bar system, for it was seldom that a young boy or girl was found in one of the old bars, he argued.

He had a word for the Liberals, referring to the Hepburn party as the "acquiescers." "I'd rather have Mr. Henry, blank as his program is, than Hepburn, because he doesn't even know what he is," he said.

"If we are put in power, the C. C. F. will strive for the greatest good of the greatest number. We believe it is the God-given right of every man, woman and child to have sufficient food and clothing and a shelter."

William Abbott, vice-president of the local club, served as chairman.

Presentation Made Miss Etta Garbutt

LAKEFIELD, June 7.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A group of young people of the Lakefield United Church with their pastor, Rev. W. R. Archer, B.A., called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Garbutt on Monday evening and presented Miss Etta Garbutt with a handsome pen and pencil set on the eve of her departure for Toronto where she will enter the nurses' training school at the Ontario Hospital. The presentation was from the Efficiency League and the Sunday School of the United Church, where Miss Garbutt was a faithful and efficient worker. Although taken by surprise, she made a graceful reply. A social hour was spent before the gathering dispensed, all giving the heartiest good wishes to Miss Garbutt.

Band Concert.

One of the most successful open-air band concerts ever held in the village marked the King's birthday when at 8.30 a record crowd gathered in the Memorial Park and listened to a delightful sacred concert put on under the direction of the bandmaster, W. Madill. A feature which captured the crowd was a number played by the junior band members, who have been in training all winter and are now full-pledged members of the band. The duet by Messrs. Boorman and Ford was another high spot, and the accordion selection by Mr. Stephen Alford was also a pleasing novelty. The entire program reflected great credit on the members of the band. The following is the program:

National Anthem.
Review March (Geo. Southwell).
Cornet duet — Selected, Messrs. Boorman and Ford, of Peterborough.
Overture—"Nugget Nell" (George Southwell).
Hymn—"Creation" (Hayden).
Accordion selection—By Stephen Alford.
Hymn selection—"Sandon," junior band members.
Grand Sacred Potpourri (George Southwell).
March — "The Music Master" (Charles Southwell).
Sacred Medley (Barnard).
Accordion selection—By Stephen Alford.
Overture Inspiration (Al Hayes).
March—"New Ideal" (Nackie-Bryer).
Evening hymn.

Six Nurses Graduate from St. Joseph's Hospital

MISS KATHLEEN TOWNS WINS PRIZE FOR GENERAL PROFICIENCY

Young Ladies Present Beautiful Picture at Graduation Exercises.

STRIVE FOR THE BEST.

"We extend to you the sincerest expression of our congratulations on this the day of your graduation. It is a gladsome, a joyful, an important day in your life and we desire to associate ourselves with your joy. Our good wishes will follow you across the years of the future. If you are not kept busy, that will speak well for the health if not the wealth of the people.

"May you strive to reach always the highest in your profession, not content with mediocrity. If a thing is worth doing, it is worth doing well.

"May you be successfu, may you be happy and may the blessing of God go with you."

With the above sentences, His Excellency the Most Reverend Denis O'Connor, D.D. LL.D., Bishop of Peterborough, addressed the graduates of the Training School for Nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital, at the annual Commencement Exercises held yesterday afternoon in the auditorium of the Collegiate Institute, and attended by between two and three hundred of the relatives and friends of the graduates.

The Bishop, as is his wont, spoke from the floor and his short address was listened to with the interest which always greets his very brief utterances.

The graduates of this year were six young ladies: Miss Kathleen Towns (the Valedictorian), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Towns of R. R. No. 1, Campbellford; Miss Alfreda Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cox of Nassau; Miss Dorothy Tower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Tower of Huntsville; Miss Margaret Moher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Moher of 238 Caddy street, Peterborough; Miss Marie Woodhouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Woodhouse of 209 McGill street, and Miss Alice Milne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Milne of Port Hope.

Special Awards

The prize for General Proficiency was won by Miss Kathleen Towns; the prize for Practical Work by Miss Alice Milne, who also received the second prize given for Bandaging; the prize for highest marks in Theory went to Miss Alfreda Cox; for Loyalty to Rules (presented by the Alumnae of the Hospital), to Miss Marie Woodhouse, the first prize for Bandaging was won by Miss Dorothy Tower, and the prize for Neatness was awarded to Miss Margaret Moher.

The young ladies presented a beautiful picture in their spotless white uniforms and caps. Their arms were filled with gorgeous Talisman roses tied with gold tulle, the combination of white uniforms and golden flowers using the colors of the Training School of the Hospital.

They were seated on the stage, and behind them, in their trim outfits of blue and white, were the pupil nurses. A blue back curtain rose against the white wall and the whole stage was decorated with quantities of ferns and palms and beautiful summer flowers; roses, peonies, iris lilies, carnations and snapdragon, the tall reed baskets tied with bows of colored tulle. A border of little green ferns in pots edged the proscenium opening and a basket of deep crimson peonies formed the central note in a lovely decorative scheme.

V. J. McElderry, K.C., acted as chairman and presented the graduates with their medals and diplomas, tied with the school colors of white and yellow. Mr. McElderry spoke briefly in preface of the scheduled program and also closed the afternoon, after a little less than an hour had elapsed, with a few remarks.

"Your future years will be full of labour, doubtless, but they will also be full of help to your fellow creatures and interest in their lives. It is a calling that does credit to those who choose it; to make your own living and at the same time to be of service to mankind."

The presentation of prizes was made by Dr. W. S. Fitzpatrick, accompanied by congratulatory remarks, and Dr. G. S. Cameron gave the closing address of the afternoon.

Three Centuries Ago

Dr. Cameron told about the beginnings of the nursing profession in Canada, referring to a book entitled "Sister Marie," which recounts the efforts of the nuns who came from France three hundred years ago, to labour among the disease-ridden white and Indian dwellers on this new continent.

"It required great courage and heroism and a belief in something better than this world can offer, to come to the Canada of that time and labor as those women laboured. To them we offer our meed of praise."

One of the first trials encountered by the nursing sisterhood, said Dr. Cameron, was an epidemic of smallpox followed by an epidemic of measles, which at that time was nearly as destructive to life as the first-named disease. Tuberculosis also claimed many victims, especially among the Indians.

"And why has the situation changed to such a great extent?" he asked. "Because we have had such a tremendous revival in medical care and research and the application of that research work to benefit the people at large."

The speaker referred to the discovery by Dr. Jenner, a country practitioner in England, of a preventive vaccine for smallpox, about the year 1800, and said "All the great things of the world have not been discovered in research laboratories."

He spoke to the graduates of the wide fields which are opening everywhere to-day ahead of the graduate nurse, in public health work, which he prophesied would receive a great impetus at the lifting of the depression, in administrative and instructional work in hospitals, and in specialized industrial fields. He also referred to the necessity of a higher standard of preliminary education for nursing candidates, in the way of University training, as a preliminary to effort in the fields alluded to.

Valedictory Address

The Valedictory for this year was read by Miss Kathleen Towns, and was a beautifully-worded composition which opened with a little verse, emblematic of the sentiments contained in its paragraphs.

"A work done by skilled hands directed by a cool head and inspired by a loving heart" was an apt description of the ideal nurse. The speaker went on to outline the routine followed by the pupil nurse, who finds the 'Soul of the Hospital' in "kindly words with a Christ-like touch—they cost so little; they mean so much."

"Like skilled workmen, our instruments gleaming and ready, we began courageously to fit in place each block of our life's edifice. As Ruth of old, leaving her home and country to follow Naomi, cried 'Thy people shall be my people, thy God my God,' this cry expressed the whole-hearted giving of ourselves to the love and service of those entrusted to our care.—

"We rejoice that we have completed our path to the gateway of the nursing profession. Upon life's hilltop the dawn of the future will soon be breaking. Around us everywhere on the road are souls, souls very dear to God entrusted to our care. May we, as we journey onward, always be vigilant to lessen the sufferings of mankind. May we not be over solicitous for financial return for our efforts but may we rather practice those principles of compassionate ministration, enthusiasm, unselfish service and cheerfulness, which were inculcated during our training. In the days that lie ahead shall we not try to use every encouragement. Then too let us hope that when the top of the hill is reached and the last milestone of the years lies far behind, that we may hear from the lips of the gentle Christ, the words 'Well Done.'"

The music of the afternoon was very pleasing. The orchestra of St. Peter's High School played some of their bright, snappy music during intermissions, and also played the welcome hymn, "Ecce Sacerdos," at the entrance of the Bishop.

Vocal solos which were greeted with much applause were very attractively rendered in excellent voice, by Mrs. Leo Picard and Miss Geraldine Collins. Mrs. Picard sang Henschel's' "Morning Hymn," and "Will o' the Wisp," and Miss Collins sang "Ah, Love, But a Day," and "I Hear You Calling Me." Their piano accompaniments were played by Miss Veronica Scollard, A.T.C.M., who also played a pretty musical accompaniment to the words of Sam Foss' moving sermon in verse, "The House by the Side of the Road," which had a very effective rendition by Miss Helen Ross.

Three Fine Steers Of Type Produce High Grade Beef

With the government inspection of beef a decided increase in the Canadian consumption has been noticed. Above is shown three fine steers of the type that produce high-grade beef.

GOVERNMENT INSPECTION OF BEEF SUCCEEDS IN INCREASING DEMAND

Home Consumption Amounts to Sixty Pounds Per Capita.

BEEF NOW GRADED

By MARCUS ADAMS,
Central Press Canadian Writer.

Turn back the pages of history for more than two millenniums and it will be found that beef was the meat of the festal holiday season; also the main course in the ordinary menu. References to cattle and their importance to the tribal position of the Patriarchs are found in Genesis. The mythology of the Greeks and the Egyptians have much to say about the gods' regard for beef.

No other viand is so intimately associated with the history of Britain. Fortified by prime beef, her sons and daughters have gone out to colonize half the world.

Search the records of beef-eating in England and you will get a cross-section of the history of the people. The beef-eaters several hundred years ago were the elite and most loyal of the people. Henry VIII. made them a part of the royal entourage. Bluff, corpulent, Henry VIII. equipped them with heavy, gay uniforms, so that their apparent bulky forms would seem to diminish his own obesity. Their successors, clad in all their Tudor glory, are the custodians to-day of the Tower of London.

Eat 60 Pounds Annually.

When the earliest British settlers came to this side of the world, they brought with them the national love of beef, and it seems natural that this meat constitutes a very important item of food for Canadians. They eat nearly 60 pounds of beef per person annually, or a total of about 600,000,000 pounds.

The raising of beef cattle in Canada from the pioneer settlement days has been a notably important industry. The best of the stock for many years, however, was exported, and the fact was that the beef offered on the domestic market was not usually of a notably high grade.

By 1926 various interests representing producing, marketing and consumers' organizations arrived at the conclusion that both the producer and consumer would be helped by some method of assuring the consumer of the quality for which he paid. The result of this meeting was the recommendation to adopt a system of beef grading so that the consumer could easily recognize and identify quality.

Beef Now Graded.

Graded or branded beef was introduced on the market by the livestock branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture in the latter part of 1929, and the new system is proving a success beyond expectations. The red or blue band which can be seen in a rippled line along both sides of a beef carcass are the hall-marks of quality.

This stamp should not, however, be confused with the little circle enclosing the words "Canada Approved," which is the guarantee of healthy meat, not of quality. At every packing plant abattoir where beef is graded, Government inspectors watch for any sign of disease in any part of the animal, and all unwholesome meat is condemned and must not be sold for human food.

In 1931, the second year after the beef grading service went into effect, the total sales of this beef throughout the country were 17,240,748 pounds. The next year they advanced to 21,748,768 pounds, and in 1933 they were 30,682,009 pounds. This is evidence of a rapidly increasing appreciation of the dependable quality of branded beef.

How to Select Beef.

Until the introduction of branded beef, few housewives were able to judge good from indifferent beef. It takes a great deal of experience to be able to know just by looking at a cut of beef whether it is tough or tender, juicy or dry, full-flavored or tasteless, unless it carries the red or blue brands as an assurance of good quality.

There are three principal points to be considered in selecting beef:

First, the size and kind of cut desired. The kind of cut naturally depends upon whether it is wanted as a roast, steak or boiling piece.

The second point is to be sure of freedom from disease. Graded or branded beef is slaughtered in plants that are under Government inspection.

The third point is quality. Here again the red and blue brands assure this. It should have a marbling of fat throughout the lean. It indicates tenderness and flavor.

There are more than 100 inviting recipes for meals in which beef is the chief constituent.

Even the famous British beef-eaters of earlier days knew nothing of the almost infinite variety of ways which beef can be cooked and served. Probably no other viand is more attractive to the appetite. Beef is a meat that stimulates the secretion and flower of the digestive fluids and aids digestion. Medical science has found this incontrovertibly true. Meat, and beef particularly, not only contains many of the elements necessary for the proper growth of the human body, but it supplements and improves to a great extent the value of many of the nutrients found in grains and vegetables. Moreover, beef is a very valuable source of protein, which is a tissue-building and repairing food; the fat furnishes heat and energy, and the mineral salts, such as iron and phosphorus, as well as the vitamins, are in a form that are readily assimilated.

With the advancing appreciation of good beef in Canada, beef steak clubs may eventually be formed in some of the larger cities of the Dominion. They have been in existence in England since the reign of Queen Anne. The chief wits and notables of the nation were among the members and they were proud to wear the club badge—a small golden gridiron.

SECEDE FROM THE EMPIRE

ried letters of introduction to the famous Huguenot pastor, Rev. Wilfred Monod of Paris.

"It seems to me," I said, "that more and more of you South African Dutch are going to Holland. Are you trying to renew the cultural ties with the old motherland?"

Buying in Holland

"Cultural ties," snapped the Boer minister in his terse, almost rasping, Dutch, "not only cultural ties, I assure you. We appointed an ambassador to Europe and we put him in residence in Holland and not in England. We are buying heavily at the present moment in Europe, steel for bridges and railways and our government is buying that stuff in Holland and in Germany, not in England."

"You must have something against England?" I suggested.

"Something?" he exclaimed. "Something? Everything!".

"But General Smuts...." I began. He did not let me finish.

"Don't talk about that man," he said. "We are through with Smuts and his pandering to England. We are out for a Dutch South Africa and we have no use for any of the old fence-straddlers."

"How are you going to make Dutchmen out of Anglo-Saxons?" I asked him and I added: "the other way seems hard enough but your enterprise seems almost impossible of realization."

"Either they'll become Dutch or they'll get out," he snapped again.

"What do you mean, become Dutch; can a leopard change his spots?"

"I mean they will have to talk 'Afrikaans' or keep their mouths shut."

Afrikaans is the name given to the Dutch dialect which is spoken in the Union of South Africa.

"Are they, though?" I asked. "Speaking Dutch, I mean?"

"Sure they are," said the reverend. "To get any government job whatever a person must now speak Dutch in South Africa."

Talk of Secession

"I would like to hear it," I said. "You must have a lot of fun in the Old Transvaal. It's a pity Oom Paul Kruger isn't there to hear it!"

"Well, come over some day and you'll see the show. I tell you what," went on the Boer divine, "in ten years' time we'll have broken with the British empire and maybe before that."

"Now you are talking like an Irishman," I said. "Do you really mean it? Are you fellows going to fight again?"

"No, we won't need to fight. We have the right to secede from the British empire any time we choose."

"Well, why don't you?"

"We are biding our time. The moment hasn't come yet. But our nationalist movement is growing by leaps and bounds. The young Boers are turning away from English culture. They begin to realize that we have something of our own. Three of the four universities in South Africa are Dutch to-day and this time they'll stay Dutch."

"I am told you have a great admiration for Herr Adolf Hitler in South Africa and that quite a few Boers are in favor of a national-socialist policy on the model of the Nazis."

"That's true, we admire Hitler. We think he is on the right track."

"Including his anti-Jewish policy?" I asked.

"Yes, the Jew must be kept in his place."

"What place, the ghetto?"

Restrictions on Jews

"Maybe, but at any rate he must be deprived of the chance to take direction of the spiritual life of the country. South Africa must be Dutch, neither Jewish, nor English. We have put restrictions on Jewish immigration to begin with. Other measures will follow."

"I take it your reverence is of the Calvinist persuasion," I said, and when he nodded his head I went on: "How can a Calvinist, steeped as he is in the Old Testament, deal harshly with the people of Israel? You are literalists, so you do believe every word in the Bible inspired. Doesn't it say the Jews are God's chosen people? Would you add to the woes of God's people?"

"They are not God's chosen people any longer," he replied. "They rejected the grace of God offered them freely and first in the death of Jesus Christ. We are the successors. Moreover the Jews are the agents of England...."

"I have heard them called the agents of Moscow, the agents of Wall Street and American plutocracy and the agents of the Devil, but this is the first time I have heard anyone call them British agents."

"What about Palestine? Aren't they Britain's agents there?" he asked.

No Sympathy for England

"Not precisely. The Jews and the English are partners there in the upbuilding of the country. Ultimately we'll probably see a sort of British-Dutch condominium in Palestine. Doesn't that interest you as a believer in the Scriptures? Isn't the return of the Jews to Palestine a condition for the second coming of Christ and a sign that the consummation of the age is at hand?"

"I have no interest or sympathy with anything England has a hand in," he came back doggedly.

"Perfidious Albion, eh? You seem to have an anti-English complex."

"Sure I have. Why haven't you?" He was turning the guns on me now. "What kind of a Dutchman are you?" he asked angrily. "Have you never read your Dutch history? If that doesn't make you hate England, what will?"

"Didn't England deal justly, mercifully, with the Boers after the war of 1901?"

"The English had no business in South Africa then and they have no business there now. And we Boers won't rest till they are out, root and branch. Africa for the Afrikanders, that's our motto."

Pattullo Again Advocates $200,000,000 Public Works Program in Canada.

LOAN WITH NO INTEREST.

VANCOUVER, June 6. (CP). — Premier T. D. Pattullo returned to-day to his long-time advocacy of a $200,000,000 public works program in Canada, and at the same time declared British Columbia would pay the principal of her debts 100 cents on the dollar.

Addressing a joint gathering of the Vancouver Board of Trade and Canadian Clubs, Tuesday night, he outlined his public works proposal.

"I don't want to inflate," he said, "I don't want to take a dollar from a man who has it, but he is going to lose it if unemployment continued."

The difference of opinion between his government and the Dominion on public works, was not one of principle, but of amount.

He suggested sufficient currency could be issued to create a credit of $200,000,000(which could be loaned to the provinces on a per capita basis without interest. It would be paid back through a sinking fund within the life time of the works undertaken. The increase in debt would not be sufficient to hurt the country's external credit.

Lower Interest

While British Columbia intended to meet the principal of its debts infull, he believed both the Dominion and the provinces would have to carry out refunding operations to secure a lower rate of interest, for all were maintaining the integrity on borrowed money.

The Premier declared in his recent final negotiations with Prime Minister Bennett the question of the province's autonomy had not been raised and there was no control by the Dominion over expenditures "within our own jurisdiction."

The coast delegation had been behind Prime Minister Bennett's declaration that the integrity of Canada should be preserved. They had not proposed that this province through lack of patience or forebearance should be the first to knock the props from under Canada's financial integrity. There was another way out.

Our Dietitian, Miss G. G. Taylor, suggests some very tempting and surprise sandwiches for the "Out-of-doors"

Wednesday Closing Hours

SALAD SANDWICH, LOAF

Remove all the crusts from one whole, small sandwich loaf and cut in four slices, lengthwise. Spread the two middle ones on both sides and the top and bottom on one side only. On the bottom slice, butter side up, arrange lettuce and mock chicken salad, which is made by mixing finely chopped veal and celery with mayonnaise. Cover with slice buttered on both sides. In the middle layer put a mixture of white cream cheese, green pepper and mayonnaise. Place your second slice, buttered on both sides. Then repeat your salad layer and put on the top slice, buttered side down.

Press under light weight so that layers will stick together.

If you wish, the whole surface of the loaf may be spread with mayonnaise or cream cheese moistened with cream or salad dressing. Pack in a box for your picnic and cut in one-inch slices for serving.

Ham & Pineapple Salad

Fresh pineapple is a treat anyway and we know you will find it tasty in this sandwich. Cut fine, or mince some cooked ham. Add half the amount of shredded pineapple. Moisten with mayonnaise and spread on white or brown bread. When fresh pineapple is out of season, use canned pineapple.

IN MEMORIAM.

RONCO. — In loving memory of Joseph Ronco, who passed away June 7, 1931.

Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.

Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days;
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories he left behind.

I have lost my soul's companion,
A life linked with my own;
And day by day I miss him more
As I walk through life alone.

Peaceful be thy rest, dear father,
It is sweet to breathe thy name;
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.

HEART ATTACK PROVES FATAL

Henry F. McKeown, Foreman at Quaker Plant, Dies Suddenly.

COLLAPSED AT DESK.

Henry F. McKeown, one of the original employees of the Quaker Oats Ltd., collapsed and died at his desk half an hour after his arrival at the plant at seven-thirty o'clock to-day. He was 64 years of age.

Coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young stated death was attributable to heart failure, and no inquest would be held.

Popularly regarded and esteemed as one of the oldest and most respected employees, Mr. McKeown was foreman of the mechanical department. He entered the service of the American Cereal Company (now Quaker Oats, Ltd.), when the firm originally located here thirty-two years ago.

Mr. McKeown had not complained of being ill, it is stated, and was in his usual apparent good health and spirits when he entered the plant this morning. As recently as last night he engaged in one of his favorite pastimes, that of lawn bowling, playing with a rink at Peterborought Lawn Bowling Club.

Born at Garden Hill, Ontario, he was a son of the late Robert McKeown and Mary McElroy, and was in business with his father as a millwright after coming to this city some years before entering the services of the old American Cereal Company.

Outside of his home and business interests, the late Mr. McKeown was actively engaged in the work of the church. He was a member of the session of St. Paul's Presbyterian church and for a great many years successfully taught a 'teen age boys' Sunday school class.

In addition he was formerly a member of the church choir, and also Peterborough Male Voice Choir, in which organization he sang as a tenor soloist.

Besides his widow, formerly Edith H. Hall, the late Mr. McKeown is survived by one daughter, Miss Violet McKeown, both residing at the family residence, 536 Waterford street; also two brothers, Alfred M. McKeown of Stewart street, and Walker McKeown of Toronto; and two sisters, Mrs. J. C. Martin of Strasbourg, Sask., and Mrs. W. G. Gist, of Canton, Ontario

Local Conservatives then persuaded him to run for East Hamilton in the provincial election of 1923 and he rolled up a substantial majority. Hon. G. Howard Ferguson recognized his ability, and in the same year, asked him to accept the position of minister without portfolio in the provincial cabinet, which he held until his resignation in 1926.

In that year, he took up his duties as sheriff of Wentworth County.

FIND MURRELET'S EGG, NEST NEVER BEEN FOUND

ITHACA, N.Y., June 7 (C.P.).—Dr. George M. Sutton, curator of birds at Cornell University, reported from Vancouver Island the discovery of an egg of a marbled murrelet, a bird whose nest has never been found. Dr. Sutton is with the Carnegie Institute-Cornell Bird Expedition.

In his letter, dated from Comox, B.C., Dr. Sutton said it was the second find of its kind known. The first was made in Alaska in 1897.

The egg is perfectly formed, Dr. Sutton wrote, and is surprisingly large for a small bird. It is delicate, apple-green marked with brown spots.

HAVELOCK YOUNG CANADA CLUB HOLDS LIVELY SOCIAL EVENING

Young and Old Dance to Round and Square Tunes Till Early Hours.

T. P. LANCASTER SPEAKS.

HAVELOCK, June 7 (Examiner Correspondence). — The Havelock and Belmont Young Canada, Liberal-Conservative Club was at home to more than three hundred of their friends throughout the district on Wednesday evening. Voted by all present as one of the nicest social functions on record, young and old enjoyed Douglas Hutchinson's music until the wee sma' hours of the morning.

George Kennedy proved himself to be a most capabe master of ceremonies and introduced E. J. Leeson, former reeve and president of the Young Canada Club. Mr. Leeson welcomed the large gathering and spoke briefly of the work covered by the organization and how its growth had progressed steadily until it now embraced more than seventy clubs in Ontario.

Urges More Interest

Mr. Lancaster, just plain "Perce" on this occasion, was quite at home with the large group of young folk, and his appearance on the platform was greeted with continued applause. Briefly, he said he was glad to see that more and more each year the young people were taking a greater interest in political issues and was sorry to say that in the past the older folks had neglected getting the youngsters interested. It was his ardent hope that the local organization would not only function from now until election day; but continue many years after. He felt if he could enlist the group present with all their friends and acquaintances it would not be difficult to put the election over. He hoped they would take their responsibility seriously and all work together.

Both round and square dancing were enjoyed by the large gathering and free lemonade was dispensed by the entertainment committee.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

The famous Dolly Madison, wife of the fourth president of the United Stiaes, was greatly renowned for her fair, delicate loveliness. Dolly was a bright gal, too, and she gave a lot of thought to her appearance. As one of our modern poets puts it in a descriptive poem about her, "She loved fine clothes though she was a Quaker. She wore linen masks so the sun wouldn't bake her."

Back in that century of American history, I suppose suntans were practicaly unknown. At any rate, they must have been regarded as a detriment to feminine loveliness, rather than as a smart summer skin tone for females. For like Dolly, many of the women of that age used linen masks to protect their faces from the sun's burning rays.

Of course, I can't quite imagine any of our modern mermaids concealing their comely faces beneath such masks when disporting themselves on our sunny beaches. Yet there are a good many girls who prefer to retain lily-white complexions during the summer months, rather than become bronzed. And such girls always must give their skins some measure of protection.

If you are in this class, and don't wish to become suntanned, you've go to master well the technique of protecting your skin. Always guard your face as much as possible from the direct rays of the sun. Wear broad-brimmed hats as often as possible. You'll find them smart for wear on the street, as well as on the beach, this year.

In addition, you must protect your skin through the use of a good cream. Always, before going out in the sunshine, apply a coating of some good sunburn preventive cream or powder base to your face. Over this apply your make-up, including a generous but not mask-like coating of powder. You won't look like a ghost if you use proper shades of cosmetics, and blend your make-up skillfully.

If you desire to preserve your camelia-like skin coloring during the summer, another thing you can utilize is a good bleach. This will remove all discolorations from your skin. Be careful, however, never to use the bleach if your skin is burned or irritated. And use plenty of nourishing cream after the bleaching treatments, in order to counteract any drying effects.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Camomile Rinse

Grayce: The camomile rinse is excellent for bringing out the highlights in brown hair. Boil a handful of camomile flower in a pint of water, strain the mixture, add a pint of clear water to the solution, and use it as the last rinse.

Large Pores

Ruth G.: Correct cleansing methods, the proper used of a good astringent and frequent face masks, will help to refine enlarged pores. Your paper should carry the prices of my booklets.

Reducing

Miss Knott: The Epsom salts baths are not very helpful, as they merely sweat the water out of the tissues. And any lost weight is regained as soon as a sufficient amount of liquids is consumed.

Your Health

By DR. LOGAN CLENDENING

The ductless glands, although they form one system and mix their secretions in the blood stream to produce their effect, are widely scattered in the body. By taking an outline of the entire body, it is easy to visualize the location of these structures.

At the very top is the pineal gland, about the function of which we still know very little. Below it, still in the skull, is the pituitary which, with its three lobes, governs growth, weight, reproductive function and water balance. In the neck, the most familiar of all the ductless glands, the thyroid, has a general supervision over bodily heat, weight and mental activity.

Behind the thyroid, four little glands—two on each side—the parathyroids, governs the fixation of calcium in the body. Since calcium enters into the structure of bones and into the activity of muscles, disease of these glands produces bony decay or muscular irritability.

In the chest is the thymus gland, which also has to do with growth, and disappears at about the age when growth is completed—that is, at about 15 years.

In the abdomen there are the Islets of Langerhans in the pancreas, which produce insulin, a substance which governs the utilization of sugar in the body. On top of each kidney are the adrenal glands, which are not of the same structure all the way through, but consist of two parts. One part secrets adrenalin which very largely determines the muscular contraction of blood vessels and hence distributes the flow of blood in the body similar to the act of blushing. The other part of the adrenal gland has to do with hair distribution and growth on the body, with pigmentation and with the activity of the reproductive glands. Lastly, the reproductive glands, male and female, called in general "the gonads."

Diagram showing location of ductless glands in the body.

In the summary it will be seen that these glands control (1) growth, weight and nutrition, and (2) reproductive functions. They are closely inter-related, the action of one stimulating or decreasing the action of others. The thyroid, parathyroids, the Islets of Langerhans and the middle part of the adrenal are almost purely concerned with nutrition of some kind. The pituitary has so many functions that it is the general regulator of all these glands and controls growth, activity and nutrition by affecting the thyroid, adrenals and pancreatic cells and it affects reproductive functions by its action on the cortex of the adrenal and the gonads.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

O. Z.: "Is cod liver oil assimilated when rubbed in the skin? I have always heard that vegetable oils when rubbed into the skin of a human being are not assimilated."

Answer: Oils of nearly all kinds, including cod liver and olive oil, as well as many other substances, are assimilated when rubbed in the skin. The practice is often used in medical treatment and is called "inunction."

BEST CUSTOMERS OF U.S. BARGAIN ON TARIFFS

WASHINGTON, June 7. (A.P.)—A rush to the tariff bargain counter began to-day.

A select list of the best customers of the United States came to talk business with President Roosevelt, just granted unprecedented powers to negotiate reciprocal treaties to promote world trade.

A bill, giving the President authority to move tariffs as much as 50 percent up or down in fostering give-and-take with other nations, passed Congress yesterday. The President is expected to sign it promptly.

Quickly, Argentina and Germany made overtures at the state department. Others planned to get in the forefront of the 27 nations with which treaties are expected.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

WINNING 10 OF 11 TRICKS

This is an end play problem, which arose in a match game. North was playing a contract of 6-clubs. He won the opening lead of a spade. He won the next trick with K of clubs. The 11 cards then held by each player are shown. North is to lead and win 10 of the 11 tricks, against any defence open to the defenders. Yesterday we saw how North could win the desired 10 tricks, provided East won the first lead made of a small trump, after North leads off his ace of diamonds, followed by a low club. Today we see what will happen in case East refuses to win the first trump lead.

	♠ A 10 9 8 3 ♥ Q 2 ♦ A ♣ A 5 3
♠ Q 7 2 ♥ 9 5 6 3 ♦ Q J 10 9 ♣ None	W. N. E. S.	♠ None ♥ J 10 7 5 4 ♦ 7 8 2 ♣ Q 10 6
	♠ 4 ♥ A K ♦ K 8 6 4 ♣ J 9 8 7

Lead the ace of diamonds. Lead a low club through East, and have that player pass the trick. Dummy will win with the 7 over East's 6, or with the J over the 10. In either event East will hold the good Q and a low club which dummy can pick up.

Lead a low diamond. Trump with declarer's ace. Lead North's last club. East either must win with his Q of clubs, or allow dummy to win the trick. In the latter case dummy will lead a club, thus forcing East to win with his last trump, and make a return lead. Holding back the Q of clubs can do no possible good.

Suppose East wins the fourth trick with his Q of clubs. He has left a losing trump, no spades, a losing diamond and 5 hearts. Dummy holds 2 trumps, 2 diamonds including the good K, a single spade and the A-K of hearts.

If East leads a heart, dummy's K will win, then dummy will pick up East's last trump. If East leads his last diamond, instead of a heart, dummy will win the diamond trick with the K, then pick up East's last trump. Instead of leading a card of either red suit, when East takes his trump trick, he may lead his losing trump, and allow dummy to win the trick, but that will not alter final results. North and South always can win 10 or 11 tricks, and with the 2 tricks first won, always can go 6-odd against any defence open to opponents, after East has made an opening lead of his singleton spade.

With perfect play, against any defence, North must win 3 spades, 1 diamond, 1 club and 1 diamond ruff with the ace. South must win 2 hearts, 1 diamond, 2 clubs and 1 spade ruff. East can win only a single trick, with the Q of clubs.

Millbrook

Rev. S. C. Moore, B.A., B.D., of Toronto, preached in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday, the pastor being absent at conference at Brockville. Mr. Moore was a former pastor of the Cavan South circuit.

An error was inadvertently made in speaking of the tea recently given by Mrs. J. R. Eakins as a 'talent tea.' Instead it was an afternoon tea for which Mrs. Eakins was hostess at her home, King street, in honor of Mrs. R. J. Doak, of Orillia, the guests including seven ladies who had been co-workers with Mrs. Doak in Grace Church when she was a resident of Millbrook, the social hour together being greatly enjoyed.

Byam and her son, Lloyd, motored to Toronto on Monday owing to the illness of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Martin, who last week underwent an operation for apendicitis in the Western Pavilion, Bloor street. The A.Y.P.A. of St. Thomas' Church, which won the district cup at the recent competition for one-act plays in Peterborough, presented its prize-winning play, "At the Movies," last Thursday evening in the local parish hall. As many had not an opportunity of seeing the clever comedy, it is hoped the dramatic club will repeat the play at an early date with wider advertising to give community residents the knowledge of its presentation.

Wide spread interest is attached to the "Service of Remembrance" to be held at 3 p.m. in St. John's Church, Ida, with His Lordship, the Bishop of Toronto, as the guest speaker. The historic cemetery in which St. John's stands has graves of many pioneer residents, and friends from far and near gather on this occasion to decorate the graves previous to the service in the church. The Bishop will conduct confirmation in St. Thomas' Church at 7.30 p.m., and a reception will afterward be held in the parish hall, this being his initial visit to the parish of Cavan.

The woman who does not like to do cooking, nor prepare the meals for her family, may find the ideas of a literary woman of this sort helpful. She set one of the most tempting tables I have ever sat down to. The food was well cooked and daintily served. She laid the table with artistry. Everyone enjoyed her dinner and luncheon invitations.

* * * * * * *

She said, "The only way I can get any pleasure out of this part of my work is by making it artistic. I want dishes to look pretty as well as taste right. If I can prepare an ordinary meal so that it 'looks like a million dollars', I feel rewarded—that is if the dishes taste as good as they look.

* * * * * * *

She came to have pride in her accomplishment, as her culinary ability eventually turned out to be. She chose foods that combined well in color. Always a green vegetable, never two white ones together. She thought of the dishes she served at a meal as parts of one whole creation. The flavors must each contribute something toward a good ensemble. She would mix up a sauce that would lend the right zest to foods which were not full flavored, and she would soften too pronounced a flavor by blending others as pronounced with it to equalize the taste.

* * * * * * *

She was very particular to use garnishes such as parsley, water cress, celery tops when delicate and well-leafed, also occasionally edible flowers when in season such as nasturtiums, rose petals, violets, etc. She washed them well and they lent beauty to many a salad.

* * * * * * *

She was careful to have attractive centerpieces, flowers when she could, potted plants when she had no blossoms to cut, or fruit, or some dainty ornament when variety or novelty was important.

* * * * * * *

The napery was fresh, the silver well polished, the glass sparkling, and the china the best she could afford. But above all the food was of an excellence due to proper cooking, that can be had only at home tables where attention is paid to culinary matters.

While hot, add 1½ cups of granulated sugar and juice of 2 lemons. Then shake or stir contents well, until sugar is fully dissolved. Fill container with cold water. Handy Economy

Save all left-over bread slices and heat slowly until very crisp. Cool and roll and you will have a supply of crumbs for escalloping mixtures or croquettes. Store in a tightly-covered glass jar.

Dip the tops of bottles containing fluids in paraffin when you move. It prevents the contents draining out and spotting other things. Also saves the liquid.

NEW MODERATOR HAD B. A. DEGREE WHEN NINETEEN

Rev. Dr. James Sinclair Shortt Been Pastor at Barrie 10 Years.

SCOTTISH PARENTAGE.

Was Considered a Moderate During Church Union Controversy.

BARRIE, Ont., June 7 (C.P.).—Rev. Dr. James Sinclair Shortt, M.A., D.D., elected last night in Toronto as Moderator of the 60th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, has been minister of St. Andrew's Church, Barrie, for the past 10 years, during which time his congregation has prospered greatly. During the Church Union controversy he was never an extremist, and was always considered a moderate, although strongly supporting his Church in its stand.

James Sinclair Shortt, B.A., M.A., D.D., was born of Scottish parentage at Walkerton, Bruce County, Ontario, his father, George H. Shortt, and his mother, Mary Shields, being natives of Berwickshire. His father had a grist mill at Walkerton, its chief product, oatmeal, naturally finding a ready market among the Scots of Bruce County.

Youngest of Family.

The new Moderator, the youngest of the family, attended public and high schools in his native town and then took his final year before entering college, in Kingston Collegiate Institute. On matriculation he took first-class honors in English and won the matriculation scholarship in classics. Entering Queen's University, he took the honor course in classics, and in his second year won the sessional scholarship in philosophy. When 19 years of age, he graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Arts with first-class honors in classics.

Following the completion of his Arts course, Rev. Dr. Shortt spent some time in the mission fields of Western Canada, and, returning to Kingston, he took his M.A. degree in 1897. In the same year he entered the course in theology at Queen's, in his first year he won a scholarship in New Testament Greek and in the second year the Leitch Memorial Scholarship tenable for three years for post graduate study abroad.

He also ranked first for the Scholarship in Hebrew and took the Lewis Prize in Homiletics.

Taking advantage of his travelling scholarship, he spent two sessions at the University of Edinburgh and the Free Church College there.

Went West

Returning to Canada, Mr. Shortt was called to Picton, Ont., but he declined this call, as the work in Western Canada made a stronger appeal to him. Going West to Calgary, Alberta, he was assistant minister of Knox Church there, before accepting a charge at Innisfail, Alberta. From there he went to Olds, Alberta, where he was minister for seven years. In 1913 he was elected Moderator of the Synod of Alberta, and was Clerk of the Synod from 1917 to 1924.

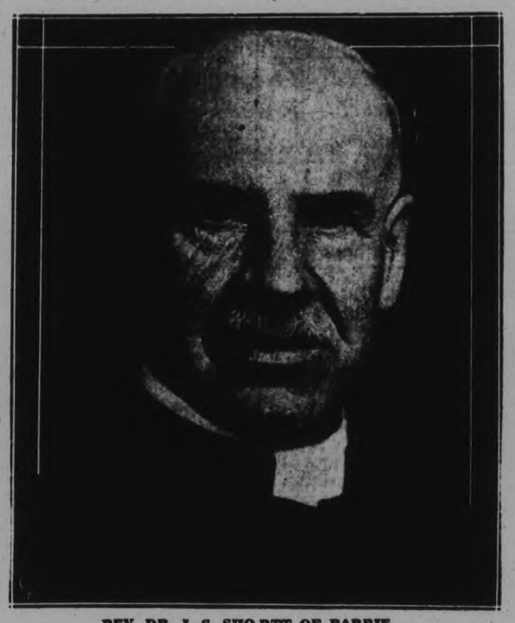
Rev. Dr. Shortt was a member of the committee on church union from 1917 to 1923, and was made a member of the general board of the Presbyterian church in 1922. In 1924 he became minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Barrie and during his 10 years incumbency, the church has prospered under his direction.

Mr. Shortt's hobbies are horticulture and curling. The former he practises in the manse garden and at his summer home at Kincardine, Bruce County. He was president of the Olds Horticultural Society for six years.

Dr. Shortt is a younger brother of Dr. Adam Shortt, former professor of economics at Queen's University and chairman of the Canadian Civil Service commission.

He has one son and one daughter, students of Barrie Collegiate Institute. His alma mater, Queen's University, Kingston, conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity in May 1932.

Moderator Of Presbyterian Church



REV. DR. J. S. SHORTT OF BARRIE

who last night was elected Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada at the opening of the Sixtieth General Assembly in Knox Church, Toronto.

Campaign Notes

An audience of nearly two hundred attended the Liberal meeting at Mt. Irwin in Galway township last night which was addressed by the candidate, James Hawthorne, J. J. Duffus and Dr. Honey. Henry Coons, former reeve of Smith township and Wm. Scollard accompanied them on this trip to the northwestern boundary of the riding.

It was reported this morning as one of the best meetings in Mr. Hawthorne's' direct personal appeal to the electors. Mr. Duffus discussed the Henry government's record, reviewed the Hydro administration and also the financing of provincial highway construction.

He quoted promises by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson and Hon. Mr. Price to reduce the debt of the province and to put into effect economies in the government's' annual expenditures. On the strength of such promises of retrenchment the Conservative party succeeded in defeating the Drury Government. Under the Henry administration, Mr. Duffus said, Ontario's' debt has increased at the rate of $81,000 a day, and is now approximately $600,000,000, and the annual interest $29,000,000, with a population of more than three million people in this province. In this failure to carry out their pledges the Henry government had not been true to its trust. Mr. Duffus declared. The first thing the government did was to increase the annual indemnity of the Cabinet Ministers by $2,000 a year, from $8,000 to $10,000, and the Prime Ministers from $12,000 to $14,000. On the other hand the government went to such limits of raising funds that they increased the fees for high school students trying their examinations, and in one instance a widow in the northern part of this county had to pay $21 for such fees.

Dr. Lou Teskey of Toronto, who was coming to Peterborough on June 9 to speak in behalf of Rev. Mr. Sutherland, C.C.F. candidate will not be here until Saturday, June 16.

J. F. Battle, K.C., and T. P. Lancaster will speak at Douro Friday night. Mr. Lancaster will be at Hall's Bridge Saturday night.

Mosquito Ammunition Getting Very Scarce

Local citizens, whether they know it or not, have just about run out of ammunition for their nightly battles with mosquitoes.

Operators of drug stores reported to-day that there has been such a "run on" citronella during the past week that their shelves have almost been emptied of it. Citronella is a liquid that is supposed to be most obnoxious to mosquitoes and persons who rubbed it on their face, arms and legs are supposed to be safe from the winged pests.

At several drug stores The Examiner learned they have been completely sold out of citronella. One druggist said: "We are not out of it. We have these two small bottles left, but these would have been sold to-day if the cool weather had not arrived."

Druggists said they were going to "stock up" with more citronella immediately.

Magistrate's Court

William Driver, local taxi operator, faced two charges in Magistrate Langley's court to-day. As a result of an accident on May 22, when he is alleged to have driven his car into a crash with a parked car, he was charged with reckless driving. The other charge was of employing Jerry Donovan, a non-holder of a driver's permit, to drive a taxi. Both cases were adjourned until Tuesday.

Home and School Association News

QUEEN ALEXANDRA SCHOOL.

Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr was the guest speaker at the June meeting of Queen Alexandra Home and School Association held on Monday evening in the kindergarten room, with the president, Mrs. E. Telford, presiding. Dr. Barr's topic was "The Family as a Factor of Religious Education," and in this he dealt with the relationship between the home, the church and the school, emphasizing that these three must co-operate or life will be lop-sided. These three forces must work together that families may grow up to be good, upright, and honorable men and women, capable of taking their places as worthy and useful citizens. In Dr. Barr's opening remarks he spoke of the youth movement which is harnessed to disarmament and a program of peace. Youth has also realized that there are other things to live for than amusement, that life has some meaning. School and church are striving to send out citizens of character, and parents must do their part towards training their children to this end. Dr. Barr spoke of the influences pressing in on the child in the medium of literature and motion pictures, and urged parents to fulfill their duty as educators in the home, by being on guard and supervising the child's reading material and amusements at all times. Summing up his very interesting and constructive address, Dr. Barr said that the place of the family must be recognized as a factor of education, home life must be simplified in order that there be more time for the family to live together, and the place of religion in the home must be given proper recognition.

At the conclusion of his address, Mrs. Telford extended the appreciation of the Association to Dr. Barr for his very helpful talk.

Very enjoyable musical numbers of the program were a vocal duet and encore given by Margery and Marion Foster, with Mrs. Foster playing piano accompaniments. A piano solo and encore by Ruth Telford were also much appreciated.

Plans were completed for the holding of the annual school picnic on June 22nd at Nicholls Oval.

It was announced that Miss Walker's class had won the treat to be given for having the largest number of mothers present at the meetings, the most times during the year.

The recent paper collection was the largest yet recorded, 6,300 pounds having been collected by the pupils.

The president reported that the study groups are well under way and making good progress, the next group meeting to be held on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. W. Rogers.

Mrs. Foster played piano accompaniment for the singing of the National Anthem.

Manufacturers Employing As Many Hands As In Six Peak Years Following 1921

That a check-up in the number of persons now actually employed in local manufacturing plants would probably prove to at least equal the local employment figures in the six peak years from 1920, was the opinion expressed by Robert Abbott, who last evening presided over a reorganization meeting of the local branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Over a dozen of the larger manufacturing plants in the city were represented at the meeting, and the various delegates were inclined to the view that Peterborough's industries must be employing as many hands at the present time as at any other period of the city's history.

Many of the plants, it was stated, are now employing more hands than was the case in the pre-depression years, and while some other plants are employing fewer workers that condition has been offset by the introduction of new industries in the past few years such as the A Wander Company and the Martin-Hewitt Containers Limited.

A suggestion by the chairman that the newly organized association should be utilized as a clearing house for information of general value and interest to the manufacturers, was enthusiastically received.

R. E. Layfield, assistant works manager, Canadian General Electric Company, expressed the opinion that a check-up as suggested by Mr. Abbott ould show that, "little or no spread exists between employment figures in this city in the peak period and at the present time." He believed the association could be of valuable use in providing the press with facts relative to local industry, which individual manufacturers might not feel they were qualified to give to the press.

Weddings

MASTERSON—DOYLE

One of the prettiest of the early summer weddings was solemnized at eight o'clock this morning a St. Peter's Cathedral, when Gertrude Agnes Doyle, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Doyle of 308 Charlotte street, became the bride of Herbert James Masterson, youngest son of Mr. J. C. Masterson of 23 Park street north and the late Mrs. Masterson.

The ceremony was performed by the bridegroom's brother the Rev. J. V. Masterson, D.D.

The wedding music was played by Miss Veronica Scollard, A.T.C.M., and Miss Geraldine Collins was the soloist, singing Gounod's "Ave Maria" also singing during the Offertory a hymn to the Immaculate Conception taken from the "Coronal of Mary", composed by the Sisters of St. Joseph in Toronto, where Miss Doyle received her education.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was a charming picture in pure white. Her long gown of white satin, with a short train, was form fitting. The long sleeves, puffing at the top were shirred to the wrists. The top of the frock was of pintucked net, with white satin piping outlining the neck and tiny white satin buttons down the back.

The bride's veil was of white embroidered net, with a slender silver bandeau holding it in place in cap effect at the back. Forming a halo above the face in front, the net was wreathed with a fine line of orange blossoms that ended in clusters at either ear.

Silver brocade slippers with sheer silver hose, were worn, and long mittens of white silk lace. Instead of the conventional bouquet, the bride carried an "Orange Blossom" prayer book of gold-embossed ivory. A shower of narrow white satin streamers served as book marks and from the end of each streamer depended a calla lily. Around her wrist was a rosary of real pearls and gold, the gift of her aunt, the Rev. M. Bibiana of St. Joseph's College, Toronto, to whom it was presented on the occasion of her jubilee.

The bridesmaid, Miss Catherine Doyle, sister of the bride, wore an exquisite dress of shell-pink point d'esprit and lace. The skirt was ruffled from waist to hem with a succession of tiny double rffles, to match the little ruffled shoulder cape. Her hat of pink mohair was very large, with cartwheel brim, and a shallow crown wreathed with pale pink and green satin ribbon ending in a bow at the side. She wore white kid slippers, flesh colored hose and lace mittens, and carried an old-fashioned nosegay with a heart of Butterfly roses, bordered in turn by sweet peas, lily of the valley and lace flowers.

Mr. Joseph Collins was groomsman, and ushers were brothers of the bride and bridegroom, Mr. Richard J. Doyle of Chicago, and Mr. Leo Masterson of Peterborough.

After the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at Walkerfield House, attended by the relatives of the young people, numbering about twenty-five. Receiving with the bridal party were the parents, Mrs. Doyle wearing black satin and lace, with black hat, pearl necklet and ear rings, and corsage bouquet of roses and sweet peas.

Decorations were carried out with flowers, white bells and streamers. The table was daintily arranged with white iris and pink tulips and centered by the bride's cake.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Masterson left by train for Toronto, enroute to Chicago. On their return, they will reside at 318 Charlotte street.

The bride travelled in a pure white ensemble, with dress and three-quarter length coat of crinkle crepe, white hat of stitched crepe, white kid shoes and flesh colored hose, white silk gauntlet gloves, white purse and pearl costume jewellery.

The gift of the bridegroom to his bride was a sterling silver monogrammed vanity set, to the bridesmaid a lovely rainbow bracelet and to the best man a silver cigarette lighter.

The young peoplereceived many beautiful gifts from a large circle of friends.

FORBES—NICOLL

The wedding took place quietly at high noon yesterday, at the Manse of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, of Edna Beaven Nicoll of Peterborough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Nicoll of Highland Grove, Ontario and Mr. Vernan Erskine Forbes, eldest son of Mrs. V. Forbes of 340 George street south and the late Robert Forbes of Toronto. The Rev. Dr. Barr officiated.

The bride wore an ensemble of navy blue, with white hat, shoes and accessories, and corsage bouquet of Talisman roses and lily of the valley.

The bridesmaid, Miss Jean Walters, was in an ensemble of beige crepe, with brown hat and accessories and corsage bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Mr. Nelson Forbes acted as best man for his brother.

After the ceremony, a dainty wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bridegroom's mother, where decorations of the table were in roses, sweet peas and spirea.

On their return, they will live at 340 George street south. They were recipients of many beautiful gifts, with a quantity of silver.

HALL—MONGOUR

On June 4, St. Barnabas' Church, Danforth Ave., Toronto, was most tastefully decorated for the occasion of the marriage of Miss Marguerite Mongour, formerly of Peterborough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Mongour, of 285 Bain Ave., Toronto, to Mr. Leonard Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Hall, of Warrington, England.

Mr. John Lovick playing appropriate music for the occasion.

Rev. Bert Jackson, cousin of the bride officiated, assisted by Rev. Powell.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked beautiful in a gown of ivory satin in princess style. The sleeves were long and tight fitting, forming points over the hands. Her tulle veil was very becomingly arranged in Juliet cap style. She carried a large bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and orchids.

Mrs. W. W. Pearce, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, becomingly gowned in powder blue georgette with pink accessories and carried a nosegay of cornflowers and Sweetheart roses.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. C. Mongour, Miss Ina Flink, Miss Beatrice Curtis, made a very pretty picture attired in pink embroidered organdy with blue accessories and carried nosegays of Sweetheart roses and cornflowers; colors matching gowns.

June Pearce, niece of the bride, looked charming in ankle length dress of peach georgette, with matching hat in Dolly Varden style. She carried a nosegay of sweet peas and baby's breath.

Mr. Charles Mongour, brother of the bride, acted as best man.

The ushers were Mr. Tom Brobbin, Mr. Arnold Armstrong, Mr. Thomas Seaman of Norkfolk, England.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Bain Ave. Mrs. A. Mongour, mother of the bride, received her guests, wearing an ensemble of triple sheer with hat and shoes to match. She wore a corsage of Talisman roses.

Later, the bride and groom left for Montreal to sail on the Duchess of Atholl for Europe.

For travelling, the bride wore a chartreuse gown of Jericho crepe with brown accessories.

ROYALS BLANK WINGS.

(By the Associated Press).

Credit Johnny Salveson, the bespectacled young right hander, with one of the best pitching comebacks the International League has seen in a long time.

Salveson did most of his hurling in the bull pen when he was with New York Giants, and when he first was farmed out to the Royals it looked as if he was still pitching in batting practice. He was knocked out on his first two starts and pounded once as a relief flinger before he finally beat Toronto. Starting then on May 27 with his first complete game, Johnny has won four in a row, reaching a climax of some sort yesterday when he shut out the League - leading Rochester Red Wings 2-0.

The game was a mound classic in which Salveson and his opponent, Tony Kaufmann, allowed only four hits apiece. It required only an hour, 11 minutes of playing time. The only scoring came in the fifth and it was Salveson who drove in the first and deciding run with a single over First-Baseman Estel Crabtree's head. Denver Grigsby and Ray Fritz started the rally by getting a base hit apiece, then working a double steal.

Royals Gain Full Game.

The victory enabled the Royals to gain a full game on three higher ranking teams as both Newark and Toronto came out on the short end of night game scores. The Bears took a 6-1 trimming from Albany by a game that was out short by rain after the sixth. Homers by Del Bisonette in the first and Bill Brubaker in the sixth proved more effective than one circuit swat by Norman Kies.

A home run also gave Buffalo the decision, the Bisons winning 9-7 when Jack Smith hit for the circuit with Ollie Carnegie aboard with two out in the ninth. Buffalo had rallied for five runs to tie the score in the sixth after Walter Hilcher had whiffed nine in the first five frames.

Ahead of Buffalo.

Syracuse Chiefs remained ahead of Buffalo by taking an afternoon contest from Baltimore Orioles 6-4, after blowing a 4-1 lead in the 7th, the Chiefs collected their winning tallies in the next frame when "Foots" Blair smacked a single off Musky Aube with the bases loaded.

CHICAGO CUBS GO 13 FRAMES TO BEAT CARDS

Giants Take National League Lead When Grimm Clan Win 12-6.

8TH WIN FOR HUBBELL.

In much the same way Chicago Cubs helped out the Giants by going 13 long innings to defeat St. Louis Cardinals 12-6. After 12 innings of battling, winding up when Frank Frisch, Cardinal manager was chased for an argument with Umpire Rigler, the Cubs landed on Tex Carleton and Jim Lindsey in the 13th and doubled their score with five hits. The defeat dropped St. Louis a full game behind the Giants.

Pittsburgh improved its fourth place considerably by taking two games from Cincinnati Reds, 3-1 and 5-1 behind the fine hurling of Bill Swift and Al Birkofer.

In the other games the Phillies made it four victories in a row by taking a "goofy" 12-4 decision from Brooklyn, slugging out all their runs in three big innings, and the Browns turned back Chicago White Sox 3-2 when a pair of Chicago errors in the fourth gave St. Louis all its runs. Philadelphia's Athletics and Washington were rained out.

Win Is Necessary For Foster Outfit

C.G.E. plays Fosters at six o'clock tomorrow evening down in the Exhibition Grounds in an East Peterborough Baseball League fixture. The Foster crew has a chance of pulling up on even terms in second place with C.G.E. by knocking off the Electrics in this number, whereas C.G.E. can move into a tie with Cogs for first place by repeating their previous victory over the Foster outfit. Since the latter team has been strengthened up, it should put up a real battle and has an even chanceof 'taking' C.G.E. in this game. It promises to be a good ball game.

The opposing pitching selections are unknown, but Lefty Field appears to be the logical choice to send in for C.G.E. Both Hetherington and McGillen are available, also. Fosters are likely to pin their hopes in this struggle on Gene McCarthy, Keene hurler, who has been loaned them by the senior Petes. If Mac's control is right, he will be a hard hurler to solve. A good crowd of fans is expected for this E.P.L. fixture.

Douro Elmwoods Beat Indian River

Centre Douro Elmwoods beat Indian River, 9-8, in the second game of the East Peterborough Softball League, an early lead for the visiting team proving sufficient to carry them through. Both pitchers threw good ball, bearing down in the pinches. A late start made it necessary to call the contest in the fifth owing to darkness. The teams:

Elmwoods—W. Towns, 1b; E. Allen, c; Garvey, rf; Moher, ss; H. Allen, 3b; C. Towns, p; O'Connor, 2b; Walsh, cf; Carveth, lf.

Indian River—Lonergan, 3b; J. Walsh, p; Holmes, 1b; M. Doherty, 2b; Quinlan, c; Spencer, ss; F. Doherty, rf; D. Walsh, lf; Fitzgerald, cf; Cruikshanks, lf.

Score by innings:

Elmwoods .....1 5 3 0 0—9
Indian River .....0 1 5 1 1—8

Umpires—Neil Clark at plate, Frank Kennedy on bases.

Tigers Defeat Indians To Head American Race

Tuning Up For Title Collision

As the date (June 14) draws near for their title battle at New York, Champion Primo Carnera and Challenger Max Baer (below) put on a final training spurt at their respective camps. Da Preem, at his Pompton Lakes, N.J., quarters, favors the skippingrope as a conditioner, while Baer at Ashbury Park, N.J., displays his right hook.

BOB WEILAND ALLOWS ONE HIT BUT INDIANS LOSE OUT 2 TO 1

Charley Gehringer Provides Blow That Gives Tigers the Victory.

BOSTON BOWS 15 TO 3.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

It is a baseball custom to say that a pitcher who allows only one hit has just missed the "hall of fame", a place reserved for the no-hit hurlers. Bob Weiland the big southpaw who went to Cleveland Indians in the deal with Boston for Wes Ferrell, had missed a bit more than that to-day. He not only had pitched a one-hit game but he had lost it.

Weiland gave Detroit Tigers just one single in yesterday's mound duel with Lyn Rowe. But it came off Charley Gehringer's bat in the sixth after Gooselin and Gerald Walker had drawn walks, and drove in the first run of the game. A force-out brought Walker home with the second. The final count was 2-1 after Weiland had been lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth and Mel Harder finished. The Indian's only satisfaction was that he halted Goslin's hitting streak after 29 consecutive games.

Detroit's triumph, the 10th in 13 games, carried the Tigers into first place and presented a brand new pair of league leaders to the fans. At the same time New York Giants climbed back to the National League lead with a 6-2 decision over Boston gained when they bunched five of their seven hits for five runs in the first inning.

Yankees Fail

The Tiger advance was aided by the failure of New York Yankees, erstwhile leaders, to get more than an even break with Boston Red Sox. The Yankees slugged Mose Grove and Henry Johnson for 25 hits and a 15-3 triumph in the opener but Boston came back to win the second 7-4. The Sox drove Red Ruffing out in the eighth and continued against Burleigh Grimes, who was cooled off when a shower halted the proceedings in the midst of a four-run rally.

SENIOR GAMES START AT 2.15

Petes and Oshawa Dukes to Hook-up in Scheduled Double-header.

Saturday's senior baseball double-header is billed to start sharp at 2.15, with the second game commencing right after the first one finishes. The first one will be a nine-inning game, and the second will go seven frames—the same arrangement for double-headers as is used in the International League. Oshawa Dukes and the Petes meet for the first time this year, both games counting as regular Central Ontario League contests. Hugh Brown, president of the Oshawa club, has promised to bring a full team down for these tilts and to win them both, if at all possible. Fans will be keenly interested in seeing how the Dukes stack up against the locals, and how Red Hollingsworth — last year's Pete's shortstop is performing with the Motor City crew.

Knotty Lee is uncertain yet what pitchers he will send in, but it is probable Spook Scrriver will get the call in the first and Bill Calladine in the second. He will have Archie Deyell and Lefty McIlwaine available for relief roles if necessary. The Petes have won and lost a game to date and if they can take both ends of Saturday's double-header from Oshawa, will be sitting pretty. It shouldd be a fine baseball offering.

ADA MACKENZIE OUT OF RUNNING

ONTARIO LADIES' GOLF.

KITCHENER, Ont., June 7.—(CP)—Four of Ontario's star woman golfers started today across the Westmount Golf and Country club course on the semi-final round of the Ontario ladies' golf championship. A familiar figure in semi-finals and finals of the last five years will be missing. She is Miss Ada MacKenzie, holder of the crown for five years.

Miss MacKenzie fell victim to the strokes of Mrs. M. MacIntosh of Galt who has played competitive golf for seven years but appears for the first time in the Ontario title march. Mrs. MacIntosh eliminated the Toronto golfer 3 and 2 and today she meets Mrs. J. W. Wallace of Woodstock in the other semi-final Miss Mary Hunter of Glendale will play Mrs. A. B. Rutherford of Owen Sound.

The Woodstock golfer entered the semi-finals by a 3 and 2 victory over Miss K. Bishop, Brantford representative, and Miss Hunter defeated Miss Agnes Garvey of London two up. Mrs. Rutherford eliminated Miss Betty Francomb one up.

Mrs. Wallace's win was unexpected as the Brantford player was predicted as one of the semi-finalists, and the result was a real climax to the upset of the champion who also holds the Canadian open and closed crowns. Miss MacKenzie's downfall came on the 12th hole which her opponent captured. From then on she was behind and Mrs. MacIntosh walked away victor when the 16th was reached.

CALIFORNIA MAXIE CLAIMS HE NEEDS THE EXTRA SEVEN DAYS TO GET INTO BETTER CONDITION

Carnera and His Handlers Bitterly Oppose Any Delay in Title Go.

GARDEN ALSO OBJECTS.

Members of New York State Athletic Commission Not Agreed on Proposal.

By EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, June 7. (AP). — This heavyweight title duel of Max Baer and Primo Carnera that once could summon up thrilling visions of high drama at the mere mention of their names has taken on a kind of a comic opera aspect —and pretty low comedy at that, if you ask the huge Italian champion.

The date has been set for months—one week from to-night, 15 rounds in Madison Square Garden's bowl on Long Island. The fighters have been training for almost two months. And now Baer, the challenger, to the absolute consternation of the Garden and the champion, asks for a week's postponement so that he may get in better condition.

Meet Commission Friday

Baer and his manager, Ancil Hoffman, and his adviser, Jack Dempsey, will appear at the New York State Athletic Commission offices Friday to plead for the delay, with Carnera and his handlers, the Garden and possibly a few legal lights, objecting just as strenuously, and just a little panicky.

"Either we fight June 14 or we do not fight at all," stormed Carnera in his training camp. The monster man is in such perfect condition right now, browned a light chocolate and weighing only 258 pounds, that any delay now would wreck his training.

"It's a larcenous attempt on the part of the Baer people to keep Carnera working another week and bring him into the ring stale so they'll win the championship," screamed Jimmy Johnston, boxing manager at the Garden. "They won't get away with it. We'll fight 'em tooth and nail. Baer's been down there in Asbury Park six weeks and he's in good shape. It's a trick."

"We can't do that," said Col. John R. Kilpatrick, a trifle aghast. "All the people that have arranged so that they could be there that night. . . ."

But placidly down in Asbury Park spoke William Harrison Dempsey, who has a 7½ percent interest in Baer and learned about ballyhoo from the master, Tex Rickard:

"Baer has seven days left to get in shape and that's not enough. The public is entitled to plenty of action for their money and they should see both men at their best. Carnera is ready. Baer isn't."

Too Close for Comfort

There have been rumors for several days that someone would ask a postponement because of fear that the gate receipts would be affected adversely by such close proximity to the spectacular Barney Ross-Jimmy McLarnin battle only a little more than a week ago. The Garden vehemently denied any intent to seek delay. A couple of days ago, however, Bill Brown, one third of the New York State Athletic Commission, said that if his personal examination to-morrow did not reveal Baer in top shape, he'd order a postponement.

The other two members of the commission, John J. Phelan and D. Walker Wear, said he'd do no such thing, and there's a very good preliminary to the big show right there.

QUEEN OF GOLF IS DETHRONED

Ada MacKenzie is Eliminated From Ontario Championship Tourney.

SEMI-FINALS REACHED.

KITCHENER, Ont., June 7 (CP) —Ada Mackenzie's long reign as Ontario women's golf champion was ended yesterday when Mrs. M. MacIntosh, of the Waterloo County Golf Club, defeated the Toronto ace 3 and 2 in the eighths of the provincial title tournament.

Wins yesterday also sent Mrs. J. W. Wallace, Woodstock, Miss M. Hunter, Glendale, and Mrs. A. B. Rutherford, Owen Sound, into the semi-finals to-day.

Mrs. Wallace defeated Miss K. Bishop, Brantford, 3 and 2, Miss Hunter finished two up on Miss Agnes Garvey, London, and the Owen Sound golfer beat Miss Betty Farncombe, London, one up. To-day Mrs. Wallace will meet Mrs. McIntosh while Miss Hunter clashes with Mrs. Rutherford.

Mrs. MacIntosh modestly said she had beaten the defending champion because Miss Mackenzie was off her game yesterday. Her ambition when she started out with the Toronto golfer was to make it close.

PONIES VICTORS OVER NATIONALS

Neither Team Scores After Second in C.O.B.L. Contest at Belleville.

FINAL SCORE 3-2.

BELLEVILLE, June 7.—Held up nearly an hour by wind, hail and rain in the third inning, Kingston Ponies went on to hold Belleville Nationals runless and win a scheduled C.O.B.L. game, 3 to 2. The locals scored twice in the first on two hits and an error. Kingston got their three runs in the second when Quinn doubled, St. Louis and Scruttan singled and Smith barged into Mills at the plate, and J. Arneil escaped with some apparently intentional interference at the plate.

"Speedy" St. Louis held the locals to two hits after the first frame, and Jack Williams allowed but three after the second. Williams whiffed eleven during the game, walking two, while St. Louis fanned three but issued no passes.

Scruttan and Quinn had two safeties for Kingston, while Scarlett with two singles and Utronki and Weir with doubles gathered all the local hits.

WINS CORONATION CUP

EPSOM DOWNS, England, June 7 (C.P. Cable).—King Salmon won the important Coronation Cup this afternoon, with the American campaigner Mate second, and the filly Chatelaine third. There was only one other starter.

The masquerade tournament held last night may not have been the biggest ever held—but it certainly was the best. While the entry list was rather small, everybody present had a good time. The committee that has been trying to create sport out at the club certainly deserved more support.

Many of the regulars were conspicuous by their absence. Maybe it was the heat—and again, maybe it was not.

The judges, Mrs. C. Graham and Mrs. R .Turner, had quite a job on their hands, but did it well.

The prize-winners were: Fancy dress, ladies, Mrs. Borland; fancy dress, gentlemen, R. Bacon; comic dress, gentlemen, N. Killingbeck; hard times dress Mrs. Welch.

Rink prizes:

President J. S. Mackey of the Central Ontario Lawn Bowling Association has announced the following tournament dates for 1934:

Mark St. Bantams Gain Top Of Loop

Mark Street Bantams moved to the top of the ladder in the Church Softball League yesterday by taking a sectional game from All Saints, 12-10, a big fifth inning doing the trick. The St. Paul-Mark Street game of June 8th will decided the other play-off team in this section. The teams:

All Saints.—Tillcock, 2b; L. Ackford, lf; Morley, 1b; McDougall, p; R. Ackford, ss; Hotrum, 3b; Abraham, c; Csumerick, cf; Dale, rf.

Westclox Girls Cop Second Straight Win

Westclox nabbed their second straight win of the first half in the Ladies' City and District Loop last night at Central School Grounds, in a heavy hitting duel with Sixth Line that finished up 23 to 14. Both teams gave mediocre fielding performances, but the losers added to the looseness of the battle by tossing the ball at random.

Mae Payne pitched the first three innings for the Liners, and gave a nice performance. She fanned three, walked two and allowed six hits. Edwards relieved her in the third, but only lasted while three batters faced her and Lil Bowie was selected as the third hurler. The latter girl finished the game, fanning one, walking one and allowing eight hits. Marie Ferguson pitched the first frame for the Clock-makers, Barb Blade starting in the second and finishing the game.

Merle Bell, May Payne and Edwards clouted homers for the visitors, while Harris, right fielder for the winenrs, pounded out two circuit clouts, and Dot Webb got one, and a neat triple.

The teams:

Sixth Line— Nelson, lf; Tucker, c; Weir, ss; Davis, 3b; R. Millar, rf; Edwards, cf; Bell, 1b; Bowie, 2b, p; Payne, p; M. Miller, cf, ss; M. Hope, rf.

We didn't see much of the gals' softball game at Central last night. We were there for several innings but were stymied back of the eight-ball, as it were. A big guy, built for a truck driver was directly in front of us; we were hemmed in by an enthusiastic Englishman, and two excitable ladies. And we got talking to a boxing fan. So we didn't see much of what went on out there on the diamond. However, we were told later that it wasn't much of a game. Westclox beat Sixth Line, 23-14; the Lion outfield had a million errors; five pitchers were used—none of them too brilliant; and a slew of homers were conked.

• • • • • • •

Dot Merrett Westclox leftfielder, had just pulled off one of her nifty catches when this boxing bug spotted us. "That's just the way Sammy Mandell picked McLarnin's punches out of the air," he tells us, "and still they wonder why that guy couldn't lick Ross!" We asked him politely which Mandell-McLarnin bout he referred to, the first one which Sammy won in a romp or the second one that Jimmy copped. "The frst one, o' course. That second was in the bag, but how Sammy danced and jabbed him to death in their first meeting! I saw that scrap in N'Yawk." And all this time there was a gals' softball game going on.

• • • • • • •

We managed to peek over the truck driver's shoulder in time to see a red-haired lass playing short for Sixth Line grab a neat pickup and sling it to first for the out. "Well played, by Jove," chortled the Englishman, while the excitable ladies on the other side out loose a couple of yips that sounded like murder in Room 17. "Yeah," says the other bird, "the heavy dough is riding on the Irishman and it looked like a cinch for a hard socker and a guy that can take it like him to slap the ears off this wop weakling in three canters, but what happens?" A roar interrupted our reply and we tried hard to squint through the truck driver's legs. "Aw, it's only another homer," grunts the leather-pushing fan. "But what I was saying, the real sugar was...."

• • • • • • •

"Dash it all," roared the Briton, "that was a beauty, did you see it?" We replied coldly: "No, how can one see anything here without X-ray eyes?" But the Mack chauffeur didn't get it—too much yodelling from the women (no, they couldn't have been ladies) next us. However, the guy with the broad "A" informed us that a gal playing second for Westclox had made a "jolly fine catch of the ball with one hand." We thanked him, and the Mandell rooter went to work on us again. We weren't having much success seeing the game and we weren't in the mood for ring reminiscing, so we mumbled something about having to go to work, and pulled an am-scray. Had we known that it was a pretty poor game anyway, we might have enjoyed sitting back and chatting about boxing more.

Herb Ralph's Terriers juvenile entry in the City Baseball League, walloped Bailieboro Intermediates, 19-3, in an exhibition game last night at Riverside. The game was billed for the Exhibition Grounds, but a mixup occurred and they had to run it off on the senior diamond, disappointing a gang of fans in the southend, but suiting another big bunch in Ashburnham. Herb still has his eye on an Ontario juvenile title for Peterborough—the only minor loop flag that has never come here. And he thinks this summer he has a squad capable of going right through. His team last year went to the finals and gave the champions a tough three-game series. He hopes to have another exhibition game here shortly with a Lakeshore Intermediate League team.

• • • • • • •

Don't think the Terriers aren't experienced. Every player has been at the game several years and most of them could catch intermediate—if not senior—with a little more coaching. On the pitching staff are Mollmoyle, Lefty Field and Tip Anderson, all good heavers. Eddie Starr, the young veteran, is the catcher. Thorburn plays first, Kingdon second, Al Clark short and Dunkley third. In the outfield are Grant Clark, Connolly and O'Leary, while Vitarelli and Caccavelli are utility fielders. Herb has nursed these players along carefully for several years and we hope he has the honor of bringing us our first Provincial juvenile championship this fall with these kids.

• • • • • • •

That must have been a nifty number in Belleville yesterday, that C.O.B.L. game. Kingston won out, 3 to 2, after a grand pitchers' battle between Chief Williams and Speedy St. Louis. The latter held Belleville to four hits, while the Indian allowed only seven, most of them in the second, as he fanned eleven. But true to past performances, Kingston hitters came through in the pinches to get three runs in one inning and win. Smith and Jimmy Arneil both pulled off interference plays at the plate—according to the reports — barging into Mills. Evidently, the Ponies intended to live up to their rep as fighting ball players. We like them that way.

• • • • • • •

The Petes took a night off last eve from practising but will be back at it again this p.m. and tomorrow. They expect two hard games with Oshawa here Saturday afternoon and will have no alibis if licked. Scriver and Calladine are the probable hurlers for the Petes. We don't know how good the Dukes are when at full strength but have been assured they'll keep the locals hustling every inning, the two clubs.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

READ THIS FIRST

John Tait, stepson of wealthy Lady Tait, is engaged to marry Lucy Burnham, a widow. This is resented by Alysia Naylor John's cousin, who has been making her home with her sister, Etta, and her brother, Claud, at Tait's abode in London. Lady Tait sees her stepson talking with a beautiful girl, revealed as Gillian Dundas, in the hotel lobby at Vichy where she, Tait and Lucy are stopping. Gillian, it seems, is blackmailing Tait for a past indiscretion. Back in London Lady Tait shows John a letter from her dead son's wife, an Italian woman she despises, demanding money for her son, Lady Tait's grandson. Tait learns of the fatal shooting of his business associate, Lord Mills, for which his valet, Brown, is held. Tait had recommended Brown for the post. Reggie Claridge, Alysia Naylor's fiance, attracted by Gillian Dundas whom he met in Paris, follows the latter and a strange-looking young man in a cab. Miss Dundas returns to the station and Claridge follows the man into an apartment. He comes upon a human fiend sitting before a mirror. The stranger spies him, runs after him but Claridge leaves him behind. Tait goes to Lord Mills' quarters in an effort to have Brown, the valet, released from police custody. At Scotland Yard Superintendent Dartmoor talks over the Mills shooting with Chief Inspector Pointer and tells him of Tait's interest in the case. Back at Lady Tait's Mrs. Burnham, her guest, defends Gillian Dundas whom she has "taken under her wing" since her dismissal from the employ of a Mrs. de Sousa. Lady Tait has no use for Miss Dundas.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 17

Next morning, Lady Tait's maid began fussing about the bedroom after she had set down the cup of tea. She quite needlessly burnished up the back of one of Lady Tait's tortoise shell brushes with her hand. When she adjusted a stand of dangling manicure instruments, her mistress knew that she had something on her mind, which she wanted to get rid of.

But Lady Tait was too interested in reading in the paper about Lord Mills' death to speak for a moment. She had heard of it last evening, but there were one or two fresh items.

"Lord Mills' death must have been a shock to Mr. John," she said, finally laying the paper down. "Both are interested in the same tea companies." Then a thought struck her. "I didn't see him last evening. When did he get in?" The thought that had struck her was of Gillian Dundas under the same roof.

To her surprise there came a little pause. "My lady," Rainer said under her breath, "Ewart thinks he got in around half-past 12." Ewart was the footman who acted as John Tait's valet. "But Mr John had been in the house nearly half an hour by then," the maid went on.

"Oh?" Lady Tait knew what was expected of her, and besides, a premonition of something unpleasant, something probably connected with Gillian Dundas, had come to her.

"In the library ——" the maid went on, "talking to Miss Dundas." She said the last two words importantly, as one who puts the final stone to the pyramid they have been building.

The effect on Lady Tait was all that could have been hoped for. Turning, she stared silently at her maid with eyes that demanded an explanation.

"Well, my lady, this is what happened. Miss Dundas came in around nine. She said she had had dinner, and went straight to bed. Mrs. Hopkins has given her the room looking onto ——"

"I know! I know! Lady Tait for once showed her impatience.

"Well, just before 12 I heard the front door open. I thought it was Mallard again. He's always slipping out the front door when he gets the chance and Mr. Hopkins isn't looking. I peeped out, but it was Mr. John. He stepped into the library, and he couldn't have been two minutes in there when Miss Dundas come slipping down stairs. In she goes into the library too. Well, I don't mind owning, my lady, that I—well—I just happened to pass the door and there wasn't any 'Fancy meeting you here! Or—oh! Are you staying here?' Or anything of that kind as you might expect. No, it was a meeting. And then, hardly a minute or two passed, before the front door opened again. This time it was Mr. Claud."

"Oh?" Lady Tait's tone showed her lack of interest in Claud Naylor. As it had once before in Vichy.

"I think he just happened to come in, my lady. For he sort of started when he heard voices in the library. He must have recognized Miss Dundas, my lady, for he turned the handle. My lady"—Rainer was not even pretending to adjust anything now—"it was locked! And he says quite quietly, 'Open the door, John.' Excuse me, my lady, for speaking so familiar."

"Go on! What else did he say?" Her mistress really was startled.

"Nothing. Well, after a second, the door opened. Mr. John flung it wide—and there was no one in it but himself to be seen! I had come a step out into the hall. Well, Mr. Claud, he says nothing but he gives the other one look, and then steps right across to the heavy curtains over the bay window, and as he does so, Miss Dundas nips out from behind the door, without a sound, and is out of the room and across the hall and up the stairs like some one moving in a film, my lady. Not a sound from her. Why, even her dress didn't swish. Give me the creeps it did. She moved like nothing human. And that quick! And that light!"

"What about the gentlemen?" Lady Tait interrupted.

"Well, Mr. Claud turns round from the window and he says, 'Where is she?' Just like that, and Mr. John he says, 'Who?' And Mr. Claud he says, 'You know who.' And Mr. John without a word, goes striding out of the room, and leaves Mr. Claud standing there, staring after him, as though he didn't rightly know what to think. Or no," Rainer corrected herself. "It wasn't like that. He knew what to think, all right. He thought Miss Dundas had been there, as she had been. But he couldn't see how she got out. I could have told him. But he never saw me. None of them saw me." Rainer gave a faint, twisted smile. "Pity, ain't it, my lady, if the two, as has always been such friends, is to fall out because of a young lady."

"Jenny," her mistress moved her hands abruptly among her letters, "I can't understand things at all. You know"—she looked at her maid almost helplessly—"you know, I'm partly responsible for the engagement between Mr. John and Mrs. Burnham, and if anything happens. . . . There were lots of men she could marry, and lots of women he could marry. But it was through me—through my accident—they met." There was a short silence. The use of her maid's first name marked the stress of the moment. It carried both women back some 30 years to when Jenny had been an underhousemaid.

"I'm going to ask you a very odd question," Lady Tait said again, after that momentary pause. "But I know I can trust you. I hinted at it in France—are you quite sure that Mr. John and Miss Dundas at Vichy didn't see much of each other than the rest of us knew about? When they thought they weren't noticed?"

Jenny Rainer stroked the bristles of a hair brush reflectively, as though it were a cat.

"The other way, my lady. I thought he disliked her. He certainly tried to avoid her. And she the same. I thought . . . I wondered at it a bit, In our Mr. John. I mean, he likes the ladies, doesn't he, until of course he met Mrs. Burnham. That's what I finally put it down to, my lady. The effect of true love."

"Rainer, don't fuss with my hair. I want it done quickly. What on earth does it matter if the wave is over my right or my left temple!" Lady Tait was under no illusions as to the youthfulness of her looks. "I refuse to be done out of the comfort of being 70," she had once explained to the shocked Rainer. "Where's Mr. John?"

Lady Tait finished her dressing in silence. That interview with Gillian Dundas last night. What could it mean? And Claud evidently aware of it and indignant about it. It would be no use asking Claud for an explanation. He and his cousin had always been good friends. But John . . . could she learn anything from him? He was softer clay. Meetings at night in her house with his fiancee's protege called for some explanation. Yet she shrank from asking for that explanation. What she would do instead, she told herself, was to get Gillian Dundas out of the house—out of John's way, out, dared she really think it, of unsuspicious Mrs. Burnham's way. But how to do this?

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, June 8

A very lively, eventful and memorable day is the augury according to the lunar transits. There may be great enterprise in launching new projects and very satisfactory agreements made with rings, combines and secret bodies, or through methods of strategem or tact. The personal associations may take on a surprisingly romantic turn, possibly causing change in the life interests, associations and environs. Much happiness and satisfaction are assured.

Those whose birthday it is are justified in anticipating a happy, prosperous and generally gratifying year, with new projects, contacts and interests. The purely personal affiliations also may encounter change with romantic and secret phases of a felicitous nature. Writings should thrive and change is due.

A child born on this day should have many artistic, romantic, idealistic sides to its character, carrying it far on the road to achievement and happiness as well.

Standings Changed In Senior Section

The Senior section of the Church Softball League was changed around somewhat last night, with Mark Street jumping into first place by beating George Street, 16-14; and Knox taking second place by dropping an 11-9 decision to Trinity. Incidentally, Trinity have won all their Junior and Senior games from Knox for three years. Last night's contest was a hurling duel between A. Wedlock and Ward. The former fanned 13 and walked 7, while Ward walked 6 and struck out 10. Knox had three on in the sixth and none out, but failed to score. A. Wedlock, R. Charlton and Hayes led the hitters. NO AGREEMENT IS REACHED ON SUMMER TIME

Matter is Left to the Individual Manufacturer Following Meeting.

PLAN TO RE-ORGANIZE.

Commitee is Appointed to Revise the By-laws of Association.

Peterborough Branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association which has been virtually non-existant for the past year, is to be reorganized according to decision of a representative group of manufacturers who met at the Chamber of Commerce last evening. Robert Abbott, general manager Canadian Raybestos Company presided, and was named as chairman pro tem pending election of officers, and complete revision of the by-laws of the Association.

The Daylight Saving Time question featured on the agenda of the meeting, and proved to be a problem incapable of solution by the manufacturers as a group. It was generally agreed that the matter so far as the manufacturers are concerned will have to be dealt with by individual manufacturers as they see fit.

In bringing the question before the meeting the chairman remarked, "If we can decide on a course one way or the other we can probably influence the merchants of the city." There were, he said, only about two factories working to the same time schedules and he could not see why Peterborough could not work to daylight saving time as other cities were doing.

Among the factories represented at the meeting were the following: Canadian Raybestos Company, Canadian Nashua Paper Company, Martin-Hewitt Containers Ltd., Canadian Johnson Motor Company Ltd., G. Walter Green Company Ltd., Peterborough Lock Company, Canadian General Electric Company, A. Wander Ltd., Peterborough Brinton Carpet Company, Quaker Oats Ltd., Western Clock Company, Dominion Woollens and Worsteds.

The newly reorganized Association it was explained would be an organization in which the various manufacturers in the city could get together to discuss their various problems, and to exchange ideas on such questions as the daylight saving time matter.

In deciding that nothing could be done in regard to the daylight saving time matter this year by the manufacturers as a group, the opinion was expressed in some quarters that the confusion resulting from lack of unanimity might be a means of stimulating greater interest on the part of the electorate when the next daylight saving time by-law is put before the ratepayers for their consideration.

Messrs. J. J. Turner, R. E. Layfield and William L. Ferguson were appointed a committee to revise the by-laws of the Association.

PETERBORO PRESBYTERY SUGGEST HOSTELS FOR COLLEGE STUDENTS

Plea Comes From Cape Breton to Reinstate Pastor Cited in Divorce Case.

DEPLORE HIGH SALARIES.

TORONTO, June 7 (C.P.)—Thirty-five overtures were presented to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, which opened in Knox Church last night, by Synods and Presbyteries of the church throughout the Dominion.

Prominent in the list is one from the Presbytery of Cape Breton and Newfoundland asking for the reinstatement of Rev. S. Robertson Orr who was dropped from the church rolls in 1928 because he was cited as a co-respondent in a divorce suit. In 1931 assembly appointed a special committee which recommended he be granted full Presbyterial standing not later than Dec. 31, 1931.

The overture declares: "Mr. Orr, during the five years of discipline has been a faithful minister of the gospel, ministering the word of God to a loyal congregation, living a consistent Godly life and helping in many ways the poor and needy," and "the ends of discipline have been served."

Salaries Too High?

Deploring payment by many congregations of high salaries to ministers and accord of meagre support to the budget fund, the Maitland Presbytery proposed confining salaries to the minimum stipend "unless such congregation is giving, or agrees to give, an amount equal to at least 25 per cent of the salary offered.

Problem of surplus ministers is referred to in several of the overtures. Protest against receiving ministers from other churches is voiced by the Presbyteries of Bruce, Lanark and Renfrew, and Toronto.

Appointment of a committee to consider establishing a mutual fire insurance system for church property is suggested by the Synod of Kingston and Toronto. Another proposal from the same synod urges abolition of the Board of Administration.

The Presbytery of London would not make grants to Mission funds until the ministers stipend is brought above $1,500 with manse.

Peterborough Presbytery suggests hostels for students in the Theological Colleges, and Brandon Presbytery wants more accurate statistical records.

Popular Astronomy

THE MOON

BY H. W. L. MAHOOD

Every object in nature has some striking outward feature. The sea has its waves tipped with white caps. The rose its petals red like blood. The mountain its rim in brilliant silver or in rich gold. The Moon has its craters, and walled plains. By some astronomers the craters are held to be of volcanic origin. By others they are held to be from explosions of vast accumulations of gas in the interior of the Moon.

The seas and islands and continents of the earth have been mapped. Long time and great expense and loss of life have been the price paid. Just as costly, has been the price paid to map the Moon craters. Thirty-three thousand have been outlined and named. Individuals rather than institutions or government-supported scientists have accomplished this major task. There are at least 200,000 yet to be sketched.

The walled plains have many attractive features. The diameters are from forty-five miles to one hundred and fifty. About these walled plains are irregular and often interrupted lofty mountain boundaries. The mountain peaks, many of them rise twelve thousand feet above the enclosed plains. The surface of the craters within are usually level. The scenery of a few of those mapped are diversified by very small craters, or in some cases by tiny mountains. Most of these walled craters are in the southern hemisphere. The Lunar craters have a shorter diameter than have the plains. The more a person knows about the Moon the more fascinating grows the study.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point.—Wheat, 98c to $1; oats, 40c to 45c; barley, 48c to 50c; corn, 65c to 70c; rye, 48c to 50c; buckwheat, 58c to 60c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Some moisture and much cooler weather contrasting with recent widespread drought and abnormal heat led to material setbacks of grain prices yesterday.

Lowest quotations reached for wheat, 3c under the days top figures, were witnessed at the last after a succession of unusualy numerous changes. Northwestern advices indicated likelihood of recovery of crop prospects in some areas, although in other sections of domestic wheat terrtiory it was asserted that even under the most favorable circumstances hereafter the crop would be light.

Wheat closed weak, 1¼c to 2c under Tuesdays finish; corn, 1¼c to 2⅛c off; oats, ⅛c to 1c down, and provisions varying from 5c decline to a rise of 2c.

MONTREAL PRODUE

Prices generally had a steady tone on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market yesterday.

Fresh No. 1 butter sold for 22c to 22½c a pound in car lots or less. Receipts were 314 boxes. Small lots to the retail trade were quoted by jobbers at 23c for solids and 24c for prints.

The cheese market remained unchanged, with Ontario colored being quoted at 10¼c to 10½c a pound. Arrivals amounted to 646 boxes.

The price of eggs was steady, the price of graded shipments in car lots being 21c a dozen for A-large, 20c for A-medium, 19c to 19½c for B, and 18c for C. Receipts totalled 1,568 cases.

On the potato market, New Brunswick Mountains and Quebec Whites sold for 75c to 80c per 80-pound bag, while Prince Edward Island Mountains were 95c to $1 per 90-pound bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 7. —Late weakness at Chicago more than offset heavy export demand on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday, and changed an advance of about 1¾ cents into a net loss of ¾ cent to ⅝ cent.

July wheat closed at 77⅞c, with October at 79c. Foreign sales of Canadian wheat were between 1,000,000 and 1,500,000 bushels, but buying against this business had been completed when the late selling entered the market.

The export sales and liberal buying by Eastern and Southern interests had previously lifted prices about 2½c from bottom levels, but the upturn was short-lived.

Considerable wheat changed hands in the pit during the morning. Profit-taking operations started the market down right after the opening and from then on prices charted an erratic course. Liverpool wheat closed the day 1d to 1¼d lower.

Cash grains spreads, influenced by the export business, showed fractional improvement, and coarse grains were all relatively steady.
